Grantsville Radio Station Helping With Storm Relief

He's Alive Radio, Inc., of Grantsville, has organized a relief drive for the victims of Hurricane Andrew in Florida. The staff members are combining their efforts with area churches from the tri-state who have agreed to be drop-off points to collect the items that are desperately needed.

After hearing the reports of the damage and requests for assistance, General Manager Dewayne Johnson decided to get involved. He said he believes that the people in the tri-state area will "sacrifice and give to this worthy cause." He's Alive Radio is working with Pastor Roy Shook of the Nazarene Church in Naples, Fla. Pastor Shook's church was not damaged by the hurricane, but he has taken it on himself to help those churches and people that were affected by the storm by distributing the food and clothing that is collected.

There are 11 drop-off points throughout the tri-state area. They include: Grantsville, He's Alive Radio; Keyser, W.Va., Living Faith Fellowship; Oakland, Pleasant View Baptist Church; Frostburg, God's Ark of Safety; and Cumberland, First Baptist Church.

They are collecting such things as: non-perishable food items (canned vegetables, meats, fruits), baby supplies (diapers, formulas, baby food), toiletries (soap, disinfectants, toilet paper), cooking supplies (grills and charcoal, kerosene lanterns, bottled water, batteries, clothing, blankets, over the counter medicine (aspirins, bandaids, alcohol, and bandages).

He's Alive Radio Network can be heard on WAIJ-Grantsville, (90.3 FM), WLIC-Frostburg, (97.1 FM), WRIJ-Masontown, (W.Va.) (106.9) FM), and a translator in Johnstown, (Pa.) (91.1 FM). For more information regarding this relief effort, persons may call (301) 895-3292.

Wellness Together/GCMH To Provide Free Prostate Cancer Screening Tests

Garrett County Memorial Hospital and Wellness Together will provide at no charge a Prostatic Specific Antigen (PSA) prostate cancer screening test at the Area Agency on Aging's senior health fairs. The health fairs will be held Friday, September 11, at the National Guard Armory, (8th Street, Oakland) from 7:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., and Saturday, September 12, at the Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident, from 7:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

To receive the free screening, participants must receive a 12-hour fasting blood chemistry test which will include blood sugar, cholesterol, thyroid, anemia, potassium, and kidney function screenings that will be offered at the health fairs.

Garrett Memorial is conducting the PAS screening to promote the importance of prostate cancer screening awareness. Over 30,000 men die each year from cancer of the prostate gland, according to a hospital spokesperson. Most men who get prostate cancer are 55 years of age or older, and the risk increases with age. The American Cancer Society recommends that men, after the age of 40, receive annual health exams that include a digital rectal exam.

The PSA is a test that is useful in screening for the cancer. This procedure identifies cancer earlier, making the disease more treatable, and bringing about a higher cure rate.

For further information on the health fairs, persons may contact the Area Agency on Aging at 334-5856.

Clarification Noted

In the August 20 issue of The Republican, the Garrett County Sheriff's Office report included the bench warrant arrest of Barbara L. Butler, 31, Oakland. The defendant is not to be confused with Barbara Ann Butler, 38, of Oakland, who is married to William Butler and who is employed by the Garrett County Board of Realtors.

Tfc. G.S. Becker is investigating.

One Man Treated For Head Injury After Physical Fight; Alleged Attacker Arrested

A 25-year-old Deer Park man was arrested early last Friday morning after he apparently hit another man in the head with the wooden stock of a rifle. August C. Knapp III was charged with reckless endangerment and battery after the altercation that sent the 32-year-old victim, William T. Sachs Jr., to Garrett Memorial Hospital with a head injury. Sachs was treated and later released from the facility.

Knapp also faces a destruction of property charge after causing damage to a door on the home of Bessie Friend. The defendant was incarcerated shortly after the incident, according to the press release.

In other sheriff office's news, Roy C. Arnold, 70, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested on the charge of theft and trespassing. According to the report, Arnold had removed items from a home under construction. The defendant had apparently taken various items over the past several months, according to a sheriff's office spokesperson, and he was observed trespassing on the property by Det. Jeff Murphy last week.

Terry L. Ford, 29, Oakland, was arrested Monday and charged with DWI (driving while intoxicated). Ford was apparently observed by a police officer as he handled a quart bottle of beer while driving. The officer stopped him on Underwood Road and detected the odor of alcohol on his breath. Ford was also cited for driving with a suspended license, according to the arrest report.

Also charged with DWI in a separate incident was Dailey F. Lewis, 41, Swanton. Lewis was arrested on August 27 at 2:15 a.m. Dep. C. Feller made the arrest on Rt. 219, according to the report.

Brian S. Keiling, 23, La-Vale, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant issued from Garrett County District Court. Keiling apparently failed to appear in court on July 21 to face battery charges.

Investigation Status Of SHS Vandalism

Sheriff's deputies are continuing to investigate the destruction of property that occurred at the Southern High School football field early last week. Dep. Randy Shaffer reported that he has several strong leads in the case and is hopeful an arrest will be made in the near future.

The cost of repairing the items damaged at the facility has been estimated in the hundreds of dollars.

ATV Accident Reported

A 30-year-old Swanton man was treated for injuries at Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a four-wheeler accident. Thomas F. Diehl, operating a 1989 Yamaha 350 all-terrain vehicle, was reportedly traveling through a field, property of Leo Custer. As he approached a barbed wire fence, Diehl apparently had trouble with the vehicle's brakes and went through the fence, breaking three strands of barbed wire.

Diehl was wearing a protective helmet and goggles at the time of the accident. He was transported to the hospital by a private vehicle and was treated and released.

Mikulik Couple Found Guilty Of Drug Charges

A couple formerly of Grantsville was found guilty of drug charges last week in Garrett County Circuit Court. Timothy A. and Rose L. Mikulik, both 35, were charged with manufacturing marijuana, possession of marijuana, and possession of drug paraphernalia. Mr. Mikulik was found guilty by jury of all counts, and Mrs. Mikulik was found guilty of possession of marijuana. She was acquitted of the two remaining charges.

Judge Fred A. Thayer presided at the hearing and ordered a pre-sentence investigation for both defendants, revoking their bail.

The Mikuliks were arrested following the July 7, 1990, execution of a search and seizure warrant at their rented Grantsville home, located on Twin Churches Road west of Lower New Germany Road. According to the report, police officers located approximately 10 live marijuana plants growing near the residence, several pipes containing marijuana residue, and other drug paraphernalia.

The pair was remanded to the custody of the Garrett County Sheriff pending sentencing, according to the report.

Mettiki Miners Reject Union By 178-52 Margin

Employees of Mettiki Coal Corporation voted resoundingly against representation by the United Mine Workers of America in an election conducted Friday by the National Labor Relations Board at Mettiki's underground coal mine. Of the 232 employees eligible to vote at Marylands' largest mine, 178 voted to oppose unionization while 52 voted in favor of the UMWA.

Charlie Wesley, Mettiki's vice president of operations, said, "Today, the miners and employees of Mettiki gave me and the management philosophy I represent an overwhelming vote of confidence. The explicit defeat of unionization at Mettiki is important because it underscores the employees' desire to represent themselves. Mettiki miners are true professionals; they operate in one of the most difficult coal seams and in some of the most difficult operating conditions in the Eastern United States. Together, with their experience and expertise and our management philosophy, I am confident Mettiki will become one of MAPCO's premier coal mines and one of America's most productive and competitive operations."

Joseph W. Craft III, president of Mettiki Coal Corporation, added, "We are pleased Mettiki's miners rejected the UMWA. I fully support

1992 Grads Give GCC High Marks

Garrett Community College ranked high as an educational institution in the estimation of the members of its 1992 graduating class, according to results of a survey completed this spring.

Of the 43 students responding to the survey, 32 stated that they would attend GCC if they were to start college over again. Six said they would probably attend GCC, six others were uncertain, and only one said he/she would not attend the local college.

A total of 38 students ranked the quality of education at GCC as excellent or good, and five ranked their education as average. The same numbers were recorded in answer to a question about whether their education at GCC had improved the quality of their lives.

In a listing of specific aspects of GCC, a majority of students rated the following as good or excellent: quality of instruction, grading system, faculty attitude toward students, concern for the individual, availability of courses, and preparation for future occupation.

Also receiving a majority of good or excellent ratings from the students were services offered such as academic, advising, financial aid, developmental assistance, registration, business office, and library.

Three Persons Remain Hospitalized As Result Of Alleged DWI Mishap

Three persons remain hospitalized at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, as the result of an alleged drunk driving accident Friday night, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, McHenry.

Listed in serious condition at the local hospital is Lawrence R. Nicklow, 53, McHenry, while Sandra L. Wilson, 28, McHenry; and Suzanne B. Mitchell, 27, Swanton, are both listed in "stable" condition, according to a nursing department spokesperson at the hospital. Nicklow reportedly sustained serious chest injuries, while both women, traveling in the same vehicle, reportedly received serious leg injuries among other injuries. All of the injured had to be extricated from the wreckage.

Tfc. S.H. Anderson investigated for the Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, and stated that the accident occurred when Nicklow, operating a 1989 Subaru GL south on U.S. Rt. 219, .07 miles north of the Glendale Road, traveled left of center "for no apparent reason" and sideswiped a 1990 Dodge Ram, operated by William H. Ziefel, 54, Graysville, Pa. The Nicklow vehicle then continued on and struck a 1989 Plymouth Colt, operated by Wilson, head on. Wilson had traveled almost completely to the northbound shoulder in an attempt to avoid collision with the Nicklow vehicle, but was unsuccessful.

Neither Ziefel nor his wife, Madeline M. Ziefel, 55, were reportedly injured in the 7:25 p.m. mishap which held up traffic in the area for over an hour.

Nicklow has been charged with DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) and other numerous charges against him are pending. One source indicated that he was driving on a revoked Ohio license.

Southern and Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad personnel transported the injured to the hospital. Garrett County Emergency Management also dispatched Deep Creek Lake volunteer firefighters to the scene.

TWO HOSPITALIZED

Two persons were admitted to Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va., Sunday following a one-vehicle mishap on Interstate 68 near Friendsville, according to state police.

William Vanantwerp, 21, Herndon, Va., remains listed in "fair" condition, while Michelle Hull, 25, Reston, Va., has been released from that facility, according to a hospital spokesperson.

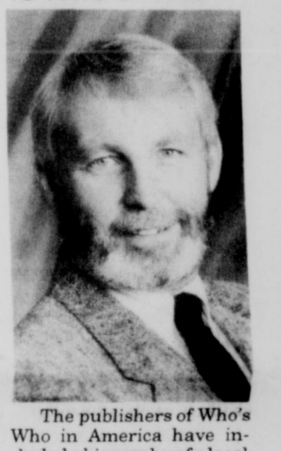
Vanantwerp was the operator of 1989 Ford Mustang which was traveling east on I-68 in lane one near the seven-mile marker, west of the Old Morgantown Road. The driver reportedly swerved to avoid hitting a deer and the vehicle ran off the left side of the road into the median, striking a culvert. The vehicle then struck an embankment, causing the vehicle to overturn and to eject Hull, the passenger in the vehicle.

Both were transported to Ruby by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad for treatment of reported trauma injuries.

Tfc. D.W. Broadwater investigated for state police and charged Vanantwerp with seatbelt violations.

ONE ADMITTED

One person was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, Sunday, as the result of a two-vehicle accident, but has since been released, according to a hospital spokesperson.



Annie E. Wilburn, 60, Grantsville, was admitted to the hospital after she was injured in a two-vehicle accident that occurred on the Hare Hollow Road.

Tfc. J.W. Hare, investigating officer, stated that the accident occurred when Jason P. Holliday, 18, Grantsville, was backing his 1978 Ford Mustang out of a farm lane onto Hare Hollow Road and collided with a 1992 Plymouth Acclaim, operated by Delores J. Tilgner, 32, Grantsville. Wilburn was a passenger in the Tilgner vehicle.

The Holliday vehicle was reportedly unregistered and he was charged with driving an unregistered vehicle and with unsafe backing.

Wilburn was taken to the hospital by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

NHS Science Teacher Named To Who's Who

The publishers of Who's Who in America have included a biography of a local science teacher in Who's Who in Science and Engineering. Richard Farrar, on the faculty of Northern High School, has been recognized in the first edition of that reference work for contributions to his field.

Farrar began his science career as a research psychologist at Hines Veterans Administration Hospital in Chicago. Involved in investigations of brain damage in the wounded from the Vietnam War, he also taught at the University of Illinois and pursued research in the biological basis of learning, memory, and intelligence.

In the 1970's, he turned his attention to environmental issues, publishing research in coastal ecosystems, colonial waterbirds and metabolism of wintering birds. He also founded Cape May Bird Observatory in New Jersey and the Vermont Institute of Natural Science, where he was the first executive director. VOLUNTEERS SOUGHT FOR PARK CONCESSION -- The Maryland Department of Natural Resources, State Forest and Park Service, recently announced the addition of a multi-use building at Swallow Falls State Park which serves as an information booth and a concession for gift items such as T-shirts, ball caps, and postcards. For the past few weeks, local resident Nancy Nemith has been volunteering one day a week to staff the new building, and park officials are hoping that more residents will be able to volunteer to help staff the concession building. After Labor Day, the Herrington Manor/Swallow Falls State Park staff will be reduced from 40 to 10 rangers so volunteer help will be even more crucial. "This would be a great opportunity to work in a beautiful park and meet a variety of people while helping them learn more about DNR's state parks and the Garrett County area," stated Baker. Anyone interested in volunteering a few hours or a day should call Baker at 301-334-9180.

Registration is still being taken at Garrett Community College for fall semester classes that begin next Wednesday, September 9. According to a college spokesperson, the Registrar's Office will remain open from 8:30 a.m. until 6:30 p.m. weekdays through September 16 to accommodate persons who are employed during the day.

Although some classes have already been filled, as the college is experiencing an upsurge in enrollment, students interested in one of these classes should inquire about the possibility of an additional section being opened. Waiting lists are being kept, and when a demand is perceived, new sections will be added to the schedule where possible, according to a GCC spokesman.

Miners Reject

Charlie Wesley's efforts to lead Mettiki and believe we now have in place a formula for success. The key to success is working together to become the low cost producer in these very difficult economic and coal market conditions.

He continued, "Job security was a big issue during this campaign. Our employees recognize the UMWA cannot provide job security as the trend of layoffs and mine closings continue at unionized coal operations throughout the country. I understand Mettiki's employees' frustrations prior to Charlie Wesley becoming vice president. However, I am confident that with the support of these miners and his management team, Mettiki will become a very successful operation."

Wesley said he hopes the significant number of no votes means that "we can put this distraction of the UMWA behind us," adding "I am looking forward to working for this great group of miners."

Under the National Labor Relations Act, the UMWA is barred from making another attempt at organizing the Mettiki work force for 12 months from the date the election results are certified.

Keeping Prescription Prices In Check

No one is more aware than pharmacists of the cost of prescriptions. In the United States, the typical prescription charge is about $22.00. And although prescriptions represent only a small portion of overall health care spending, people seem to be especially concerned about drug costs.

We keep your prescription drug costs in check in a variety of ways. We may recommend a less costly generic drug when we feel that it is just as good as a branded drug. Or we may suggest that you purchase certain medicines that are not subject to rapid deterioration in larger, more economical quantities. And on occasion we may talk with your physician about using a double potency tablet and suggest that you take a half tablet. With some medicines, cost can be reduced significantly in this manner.

DWI Arrest Ends In Drug Charges Against Pa. Men

Two Pennsylvania men were charged with drug counts after the operator of the vehicle had been stopped and charged with DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs), according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W., McHenry.

Lyn H. Sheppard, 37, Scottsdale, Pa., was operating a vehicle on the Marsh Hill Road Saturday when he was stopped for driving left of center. He was charged with DWI and a search revealed a bag of marijuana in his pants pocket. A search of the vehicle revealed a small metal pipe with the odor of burnt marijuana still in it under the front seat.

Sheppard, along with his passenger, Robert W. Zerilla, 35, also of Scottsdale, were charged with one count each of possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Both were taken to the Garrett County Jail where they were later released after posting bond.

CDS ARREST

A routine traffic stop on U.S. Rt. 219 last Thursday led to the arrest of a Bethesda man for possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

Thomas Bradley Peavey, 32, was charged with possession of marijuana by Tfc. Paul R. Brown who had stopped Peavey for an equipment violation near Pleasant Valley Road.

Peavey also posted bond at the local lock-up.

MORE DWI ARRESTS

Two additional persons were charged with DWI this past week by the Maryland State Police.

Roy W. Bittner, 23, LaVale, was charged with DWI by Tfc. G.S. Becker on Sunday.

Dean F. Norton, 29, Swanton, was apprehended for DWI Monday by Tfc. A.S. MacLane.

W.Va. Man Found Guilty Of Drug Possession Charge

A Bayard, W.Va., man was found guilty of possession of marijuana and sentenced in Garrett County District Court last week by Judge Jack R. Turney.

Larry D. Hoffman, 32, Bayard, W.Va., was handed a one-year suspended jail term, fined $100, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation. A second charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted in a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office.

Hoffman had been arrested on October 13, 1990, by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office for DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs). A search revealed a small metal pipe commonly used for smoking marijuana in the defendant's jacket.

Hoffman's trial date had been postponed a number of times because he was serving time in a Virginia prison for other crimes.

In other District Court news, Michael S. Wharton, 19, Cumberland, was found guilty of failure to comply with a police officer's order and with remaining in an area closed to the public after certain hours.

He was handed a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $150, and placed on one year of supervised probation for the first offense and fined $50 for the second offense.

Wharton had been charged by the Department of Natural Resources Police after an incident in Big Run State Park on July 11.

Robert K. Davis, 38, West Union, W.Va., was found guilty of malicious destruction of property and littering.

He was handed a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $10 on each count, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation.

Davis had been charged after he allegedly threw a rock at a vehicle being operated by George V. Futch, Swanton. He also threw a glass bottle in the direction of Futch's truck.

Lillian S. Guthrie, 47, and James E. Guthrie Jr., 58, both of Frostburg, had been charged with two counts of detaining a child. Those charges were not prosecuted because the complainant, Jewell Guthrie, did not appear in court.

Jewell Guthrie charged the two with keeping her two children in their custody 48 hours after the lawful custodian demanded the children be returned.

Kim Dillion Reams, 31, Oakland, was found guilty of assault and the judge ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

Reams had been charged by Anna Donoghue who claimed that Reams had called her names and threatened her when visiting family. She also stated that Reams pointed a hunting knife in her face.

Town Meetings, Hearings Noted

Several town meetings have been scheduled in various sections of Garrett County concerning zoning issues.

The Mountain Lake Park Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on Wednesday, September 9, at 7 p.m. in the town hall. The board will review an application on a docketed case involving an application made by Timothy Nine for a Special Exception permit to allow for the addition of one apartment to a duplex house located on Oakland Drive.

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing this evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Planning Commission Meeting Room (Third Floor, Oakland Courthouse). The board will review applications on the docketed case concerning Richard L. DeWitt's application for a Special Exception permit to allow the establishment of a Business Service on his Thayerville property.

The Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville will conduct a public hearing on Tuesday, September 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the town hall. The council will review a petition for rezoning made by William Welch on behalf of Mountain Surf, Inc., to change a parcel of land from its current zoning of C-Commercial to I-Industrial. The property is located on Maple Street. Interested persons are urged to attend the hearing.

Lots of Good...

Reporting on the negative events of life and man's sinful nature seems to dominate the electronic and print media, as crime, disasters, economic troubles, unethical political activity, and warfare continue to plague the world. Our newspaper carries its fair share of disturbing stories because it is our job to report the news, good and bad.

However, in scanning the pages of just one issue of The Republican (today's), we are pleased to see that there is much good going on in our community and that hundreds of people are involved in at least one activity to make life better for their fellow human beings.

Through the efforts of a local radio station, Garrett County is reaching out over 1,000 miles to assist the victims of Hurricane Andrew.

Conversely, people from other areas came hundreds of miles to Garrett County to donate a full week of volunteer service to the local Habitat for Humanity.

The local emergency service organizations - rescue squads and fire departments - which are composed entirely of volunteers continue to give of their time and talents to aid and assist their distressed neighbors.

A relatively new organization, the Alliance for the Mentally Ill, is helping another special group of people by attempting to erase the general public's ignorance and misunderstanding about mental illness.

There are scores of adults involved as coaches and assistants for athletic teams, all of whom are (hopefully) helping to instill good lessons and values in our young people.

The Garrett County Literacy Council, more volunteers, continues to strive to wipe out illiteracy in our county and thus greatly improve the quality of life for another special group of people.

The Commission on Drug and Alcohol Abuse, which includes many volunteers, continues its quest to battle this enormous problem in society.

The members of our many civic clubs continue to contribute money and support to our community in numerous forms.

Over 70 local residents have spent literally hundreds of hours preparing the Garrett Choral Society's "Showstoppers of Broadway" for the delight of sell-out (we hope) audiences, as entertainment provides a temporary release from life's pressures.

Adult volunteers involved in scouting and other youth programs continue to provide guidance, knowledge, and fun for so many of our young people.

These are "good news" stories in just one issue of The Republican, which is not intended to be a plug for the quality of our newspaper, but rather to emphasize that there really is so much good going on in our community and in the world, much of which is taken for granted and allowed to be over-shadowed by the bad.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

With the upcoming weekend expected to be a heavily traveled one, we are reminding all of you, no matter where seated in a vehicle, to buckle your safety belts and especially to buckle up your kids in safety seats or belts. State and local police will be on the lookout for drinking drivers and boaters, who are endangering their own lives as well as others around them.

Besides being the law and besides showing common sense, buckling up is probably your best defense against drunk drivers, so please show your friends and loved ones you care by wearing your safety belt and insisting they wear theirs.

To the Editor:

The crews of "Nine-O-Nine" and "All American" have found their second home! Most of the towns they visit give them terrific receptions, but Cumberland was one of the best. The city is very attractive; the airport great (and very convenient); the people warm and friendly. This is one place they would really like to re-visit.

The rooms provided by Braddock Motor Inn and Holiday Inn Historic Downtown Cumberland were greatly appreciated, as was the surface transportation provided by Jan Smith's Allegany Rent-a-Car. Jim Stahl, chairman, Potomac Highlands Airport Authority, really made things happen! Without his enthusiastic support, this great show may not have been possible. Francis A. Kenney and Harland Ridder eased the way with appropriate introductions.

There is no way that we can adequately express our gratitude to Bill Armstrong, manager of Cumberland Municipal Airport. He originated so many of the extra features that added to the enjoyment of the occasion. He arranged the display of other aircraft, the food concession, the Civil Air Patrol breakfast service, the sightseeing flights, the many airport services, the directional signs on Route 28, the parking facilities and, no doubt, much more. Bill's courtesy and enthusiasm were a great comfort to The Collings Foundation personnel and to those who attended. He even helped furnish the 800 gallons of aviation gasoline. Wasn't it nice to have the hum of aircraft activity, as a backdrop to the bomber display? And how about that strange looking Rutan craft and that beautiful, classic Packard automobile?

Much of the success of this display was due to the excellence of the publicity, both before and during the show. Here, again, the indefatigable Jan Smith worked her magic. Jan brought all of the elements together; housing, transportation, press, radio, TV, and she even had her son out there directing traffic! The Cumberland Times-News was generous (at times, perhaps, extravagant) in their coverage. Mona Ridder's work was very effective. Don Sincell, editor of The Republican, Oakland, was also very supportive. Patty Hastings, Mineral News, Keyser; Patrick Gregg, Garrett County Weekender; Christopher Frear, Bedford (PA) Gazette, also carried the news.

On the radio front, we were obliged by Curtis Durst, WKLP, Keyser; Jim Butscher, WMSG, Oakland; Ed Enderly and Warren Gregory, WJJB-100, Cumberland; Charles Harris and Jim Robey, WCBC, Cumberland. TV coverage was provided by Darrell Lee Powell and Shawn Metheny, WHAG-TV, Channel 25. How could two historic aircraft fail to attract a crowd with publicity provided by such an elite group?

Western Maryland is blessed to have a caring population. It is, therefore, reasonable to expect their businesses and corporations would also be public-spirited. Such spirit is epitomized by Cumberland's own Kelly-Springfield Tire Company who so generously provided transportation to Akron-Canton Airport for a number of persons involved in The Collings Foundation program. Pilots Dave Bingham and Earl Wilson provided very comfortable service directly to "Nine-O-Nine" and "All American's" planeside in Ohio, so eight persons could experience the thrill of riding into Cumberland Airport aboard the Warbirds. While they were in Akron-Canton Airport, McKinley Air Transport, Inc., furnished courtesy transportation between the Collings exhibit and the airport terminal building.

Now, just a further word about TV man, Darrell Lee. He carried a big, heavy video camera in the waist of the B-24 from which he shot a good deal of footage of the B-17 and features of the terrain below. Jon Rising, the youthful pilot of the B-17, gave his passengers an exhilarating, exciting ride, as he swooped above, below, over and under the B-24. He flew the 11 other positions of a 12-plane formation, sometimes close enough that the crews could read each other's lips! Deep Creek Lake provided the "piece de resistance," flying over the Lake and treetops at no more than 300 feet altitude, the planes made pass after pass between Glendale Bridge and Deep Creek Yacht Club. Darrell Lee was trying to shoulder his camera and aim it effectively while striving determinedly to avoid being hurled out of the open waist window; neither he nor his camera was tethered. The steep banks and rapid altitude changes, as the planes charged back-and-forth made his duty difficult to discharge. He was trying to record, among other things, the actions of a latter-day Barbara Fritchie (Marin Day), as she stood on her dock waving the U.S. flag. It did become a little bumpy, just as in a boat circling in the water! In salute to Mrs. Day, the co-pilot, Craig McBurney, caused a simulated "contrail" to issue briefly from No. 2 engine much to the consternation of passengers on board and observers on the ground who believed they were about to witness an engine failure. But Darrell Lee stood his ground! The planes then flew down the railroad, over Deer Park, Loch Lynn, Mountain Lake Park, Oakland, then Broadford Lake, Luke, Westernport, Keyser (perhaps) and Cumberland. Even a couple folks who experienced a wee bit more motion than comfortable enjoyed the exciting ride.

Many of you may be familiar with Lee Teter's painting of the Vietnam Veterans' Memorial in Washington entitled "Reflections." A copy of this moving rendition was displayed courtesy of The Framers' Gallery, Keyser, Someday, in the normal course of events, "All American" will become a memorial on account of the hundreds of veteran names inscribed on the fuselage. For some it already is a memorial. Many of us hope that Mr. Teter may become inspired to apply his touch to a similar treatment for "All American."

There is more that could be said, but this was intended to be a brief note of thanks to those who helped and the thousands who turned out to honor this glimpse of the past glory of our armed forces. The Collings Foundation salutes you and hopes to see you all again!

Irving M. Day Jr.
Lead Bombardier,
"All American" B-24

To the Editor:

Another successful season of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival closed last Friday night with the final performance of the Symphony at Deep Creek. It was a good season and provided a variety of entertainment to home folks and visitors alike. No performance, no matter how excellent, would have succeeded, however, without the help of a number of volunteers who gave of their time to attend to the many unapplauded tasks that go to making any venture of this type successful.

We try in our programs to thank all those who did participate in this capacity. Human beings, however, are fallible and oversights do occur. In this regard, a very important person and loyal volunteer to this, and many other endeavors in this community, was overlooked. Mrs. Jacquelyn Shirer, known to most everyone here as "Jackie" has assisted the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival for all the years of its existence. She has served in the box office, a sensitive job since it involves dealing with the public in sometimes adverse situations. She has also supported this and other causes in the community with donations, service and leadership.

During my early residence in Garrett County I became involved with the Garrett County Arts Council, at that time a rather weak organization. I remember quite clearly that Jackie Shirer was one of the first persons to respond and has always been a patron of that and other worthwhile causes in Garrett County.

Out Of The Darkness

AS NEAR AS YOUR PHONE
by Carol Cox

Our last column dealt with the groups and individuals currently coming together in a vast support network. Although its not a formal entity, these caring and concerned people are all working toward the same goal; namely, special interest and concern for those affected in any way with mental illness. That includes family members, friends, neighbors and the victims themselves.

As we've stated many times over the past year - no one has to face the fear and the unknown of the many forms of mental illness alone. We are here to help.

The counselors, doctors, nurses and office personnel at our mental health offices are all trained to answer your questions, listen to your problems, and help you find the solution that's right for you and your loved ones.

If the idea of approaching an office full of strangers is not appealing to you, then perhaps you'd feel more comfortable speaking with your family doctor or your pastor or priest. They can guide you in the proper direction.

If none of those solutions sound like something with which you would be comfortable, then I ask you to contact me or another one of our AMI members. We know what you're going through. We've all been there before. Our loved ones are victims of some form of mental illness, and we know just how frightened and confused you are.

Just call and we will listen. We've felt the same terror and lived the same nightmare you think you're facing alone right now. We can help. Questions? We can answer them. Call me, Carol, at 334-4357 or Mary Ann at 895-5366. We want to help.

An Update From The Superintendent

Of Garrett County Public Schools

The New A La Carte Menu In Our School: Go For It!

Written in conjunction with Richard Buckingham, assistant in food service

The Garrett County Board of Education in conjunction with the Food Advisory Committee which includes students, parents, cafeteria managers, and the Garrett County Health Department nutritionist has designed a new school lunch menu and a new a la carte menu. When we first set out to re-design these programs, we talked with students, teachers, and parents to see exactly what direction they would like to see this program take. We received some very surprising requests. They wanted more healthy food and snacks. They wanted less "junk food" full of empty calories.

With the school lunch program, the menus have been designed to have less sodium and fats in them. The recommended amount of calories from fat is approximately 30% or less. This was kept in mind when the menus were being prepared. Mrs. Ann Sherrard from the Garrett County Health Department is now in the process of evaluating whether or not our menus will meet these goals. However, since the Garrett County Health Department was instrumental in the menu planning, the probability of succeeding is good. Once the results are available, the menus will once again be reviewed.

The new a la carte menu has had many changes. To mention just a few, all chip type products have been removed, as have homemade candy, Little Debbie's, drinks of less than 100% juice, slush, and ice cream. Ice cream type products will still be available, but will be ice milk with far less fat content. Added to the a la carte menu will be bottled water, several types of pretzels, popcorn at Northern Middle and Southern High and frozen yogurt at Southern Middle and Northern High. Also offered will be regular yogurt, stuffed potatoes, soup and sandwiches, pepperoni rolls, and bread sticks with sauce, to mention a few. Some of these will be served every day and some on an every-other-day schedule. We are also going to merchandise the a la carte program under the logo "Go for It!" Most of the changes will be effective with the first day of school; others will be phased in as availability dictates.

The Garrett County Board of Education is taking a giant step in an effort to offer our youngsters in Garrett County not only a healthy mind, but also a fit body to go with it. We all know that if you do not have your health, nothing else really matters. We are asking for the support of all parents, teachers, administrators, and the general public to make the program a success with our students. Now is the time to join hands and "Go for It."

What's Happening in Our Schools?

* Monday, Sept. 7, schools will be closed for Labor Day.

* Southern Middle School will have its 8th grade "Back to School Night" on Tuesday, Sept. 8, from 7-8:30 p.m. An ice cream social will be part of the program. Both students and parents are invited.

* Both Northern and Southern High School's football seasons begin on Sept. 4, with Northern at Westmar and Southern at Preston County. Northern's first home game is set for Sept. 18 against Beall, and Southern's first home game will be against Frankfort on Sept. 11.

The Minds Wander

by Pam Ashby, Sherry Frantz, and Mary McEwen
(the lackies in the newsroom)

William Shakespeare said, "Every why hath a wherefore." Well, as poetic and insightful as that sounds, it strikes us as a tad too simplistic here in 1992 because we are plagued with numerous questions about the way of the world, the country, the state, the county, the individual, etc., that cannot be adequately answered.

We have, however, conjured up some possible and impossible wherefores for some of our most mystifying whys. The reader is invited to play along. (You must use a Number 2 pencil.)

Q: Why did Governor Schaefer's recent gag order (euphemistically referred to as a "directive" by his staff) slip by us so relatively unchallenged?

A: 1) Because the citizens of Maryland are so accustomed to his illogical, maniacal behavior, it no longer has any effect on them.

2) Because the people in the best positions to challenge the order had the most to lose ($80,000/year jobs, for instance).

3) Because he wlirthjweoithorwhglerkjngoedkfjowerihtoeodfsnwerfkaj;dkljf;dljfoeihehkehdjhkjd;djlsdk

(Note: Sherry has just been swiftly and abruptly removed from her desk by two thugs in polyester suits and shiny black shoes. No further word on her whereabouts was available at press time. Oh well, we'll just go on as if nothing has happened.)

Q: Why is it that the Republicans think God is an exclusive member of their party?

A: 1) Because they traditionally suffer from delusions of grandeur.

2) Because God came to Dan Quayle in a dream and said, "Hey potato(e)head, you've got what it takes to be president . . . (Of course, Dan didn't hear the rest of God's sentence . . . "NOT").

3) Because they just do.

Q: Why is it that Bill Clinton can explain his sins away so easily to his followers?

A: 1) Because he doesn't inhale when he's having extra-marital relations.

2) Because he doesn't inhale or exhale when he's jogging. He just passes out and doesn't have to explain anything.

3) Because everybody opposed the Vietnam conflict. Right, Dan Quayle?

Q: Why is it that food that tastes the best is the worst for you and vice versa?

A: 1) Because even though its not nice to fool Mother Nature, she sure likes to jerk us around.

2) Because you have to experience kah-kah to appreciate yum-yum.

3) "I don't know why!" - Robin Leach.

Q: Why is it that health insurance companies charge all us healthy, hard-working stiffs outrageous premiums, yet when it comes time to have a baby vaccinated against deadly diseases at over $70 every two or three months, the company spokespeople say, "Sorry, ma'am. We don't cover that."

A: 1) Because everyone surely has $73 lying around the house collecting dust, so why not put it to some good use?

2) Because vaccines have nothing to do with health - they're just silly preventive things that keep babies from getting something deadly. Now, if our babies get some horrific disease, why of course the insurance companies will be there to pay a percentage of the hospitalization. "Perhaps you could shoot for that, ma'am."

3) Because insurance companies are at the mercy of impending lawsuits brought by people who are guided by money-grubbing lawyers who scan the newspapers for possible suing situations. Insurance is way outa line, and we think cash-hungry, unscrupulous lawyers (not all lawyers, mind you) are at the bottom of this whole mess, lounging there next to a few fat-cat insurance company owners.

Q: Why is it that on this year's voting ballot, Question 1 and Question 2 are absolutely identical, word for word, as are Questions 3 and 4?

A: 1) Well, because, uh, because that way a bigger number of votes will be tallied for each one, and . . . um, that will make it real impressive and stuff. And besides, somewhere, somehow, it's gonna cost the taxpayer some dough.

2) Because someone really goofed.

3) Because members of the state government are anxious to keep the public confused, and this is apparently an effort to make the voter stand in the booth scratching his head thinking "Why, I'm just too stupid to figure this out. What a poser. Those state officials sure are smart. I better vote 'em all back in." Wrong.

Q: Why is it that a highly-paid employee of the Garrett County Board of Education felt it necessary some weeks ago to announce at a public County Commissioner meeting that when he retires, he's going to be making even more money than he is now?

A: 1) Because life isn't at all fair and he's here to make sure we realize that fact.

2) Because he completely forgot where he was.

3) Perhaps answers 1&2 are both dead-ringers.

Senior Citizens' Menus

"Eating Together" sites which operate two days per week will use Day 1 and Day 2.

The menu for the week of Sept 7-11 is as follows:

Day 1 - Tomato aspic or fresh tomato w/cottage cheese, cheese rarebit over toast, spinach, fruited jello, cookies.

Day 2 - Cranberry sauce, turkey w/dressing, whipped potatoes, buttered carrots, wheat bread, raisin bar.

Day 3 - Garden salad w/green peppers, lasagna w/meat sauce, baby limas, garlic bread, pears.

Coffee, tea, and milk are served with all meals.

On occasion, a site may opt to make a substitution in the menu. Senior citizens who wish to eat at one of the "Eating Together" sites are asked to call the individual site to check the menu for the day and to make reservations.

Telephone numbers of individual sites are as follows: Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident, 746-8824; Bull's Restaurant, Bloomington, 359-3035; Finzel Fire Hall, Finzel, 689-8388; Old Mill Grill, Friendsville, 746-5414; Old Mill Restaurant, Gorman, 334-4865; Starner Hill Apts., Grantsville, 895-5092; Jennings Community Building, Jennings, 245-4204; Kitzmiller Community Building, Kitzmiller, 453-3445; Oakland Senior Center, Mtn. Lake Park, 334-3399; and Swanton Community Building, Swanton, 387-9191.

All sites will be closed on Sept. 7 in observance of Labor Day.

The Oakland Senior Center will be closed Sept. 11 because of the Health Fair. However, meals will still be delivered to the Home Delivery Clients.

The omission of her name as a volunteer in the closing edition of the Garrett Lakes Art Festival is therefore greatly regretted.

My sincere thanks to her and to all the volunteers, others I may have missed, for serving as box office assistants, ushers, concessions -- tasks that complement any successful production. My thanks also to the Business Office personnel and the custodial staff of Garrett Community College for their patience and support.

To the Editor:

The League of Women Voters is currently soliciting questions from Garrett Countians to be used in candidates' forums and the League's Voters' Guide which will be printed in The Republican October 22. The LWV's focus this election is on Board of Education (Charlotte Sebold, Hannah Sincell and Charles Teets), U.S. Senator (Barbara Mikulski and Alan Keyes), and Representative in Congress (Roscoe Bartlett and Tom Hattery).

The forum for BOE is scheduled for October 18th from 1:45 to 4:15 p.m. at Northern High School. Invitations were extended July 23rd to Bartlett and Hattery to participate in a forum tentatively scheduled for September 28th. To date, only Bartlett has responded.

Likewise, Mikulski and Keyes were invited July 27th to participate in a forum at a time of their choice, and to date neither of them has responded.

The LWV requests that questions for the candidates be submitted to the League by September 14th. Questions may be mailed to LWV, P.O. Box 115, Oakland, MD 21550.

Respectfully submitted

To the Editor:

My wife and I are relative newcomers to Garrett County and we are enjoying the beauty of the mountains year-round, boating on the lake in summer, skiing in the winter, and the particular character of the people who live here. We have recently taken up bicycling along with a group of friends and it is truly a satisfying and rewarding sport. We choose to stay off the main roads because of danger from cars.

We have cycled on the C&O Canal towpath and we've ridden the bike/hike path between Ohiopyle and Confluence, Pa., many times. We try to find places to ride in Garrett County, but good trips are hard to find. We've found only one nice ride along Big Run on a road that has very little traffic.

There could be lots of beautiful bicycle paths built at very little expense if they followed slower moving streams and around the existing lakes. These paths would not have steep grades and would blend in with the country surrounding without disturbing it. We believe that the existence of such a network of off-road bicycle paths would attract a rapidly growing group of tourists who are also cyclers. Think of it, cycling is non-polluting, good for both mind and body and not expensive. Wouldn't it be possible for the county to provide this simple, safe recreation? Might a project like this also increase tourism and indirectly build the tax base and pay for itself many times over?

Youth Employment Training Program Deemed Success

The 1992 Summer Youth Employment and Training Program involving 182 area youths was a successful program in every aspect, according to Dan Ledden, program director. The project is funded through the Federal Job Training Partnership Act which is administered by the Western Maryland Consortium. The Garrett County Board of Education operates the main part of the program.

The 182 youths, aged 14-21 years, were enrolled and placed in various work assignments. The regular work one hundred forty-two were in the regular work experience and 40 were in the Learning Alertness Program.

The regular work experience program utilized about 40 different public sector worksites. These worksites included all the county's state parks and forests, most of the schools, and several towns, as well as the various agencies along with Garrett Memorial Hospital and Garrett Community College. A roving crew of older youth also completed several projects including one at Deep Creek State Park. They also painted the new Oakland Town Hall and the Crellin Community Center.

The Learning Alertness Program (LAP) served youth aged 14 and 15 years old. These teenagers met at Garrett Community College (GCC) each morning for instructional activity. Each afternoon they were transported to various worksites to complete assigned projects under the supervision of their instructors. Worksites that benefitted from the 2,572 hours of work that these youth performed were Herrington Manor and Deep Creek Lake State Parks, Broadford Park, Northern High and Middle Schools, Grantsville and Broad Ford Elementary Schools, GCC, and Hickory Environmental Center.

LAP also presented speakers and sponsored field trips. Those who served as speakers were Garrett County Sheriff Van Evans, Judy Giffin from First United National Bank and Trust, Roger Riley and Lisa Baker from Herrington Manor State Park, and Maryland Tomorrow case managers Patricia Yoder and Harry Biggs. LAP field trips were taken to Penn Alps Summerfest, Garrett County Courthouse, Fort Necessity, Friends' Country Store, and Snowydell Arabian Ranch which included the observation of a beaver dam and explanations of the beavers' activities by Lad Friend, Terra Alta, W.Va. Herrington Manor State Park workers provided a hay ride through the Cranesville Swamp area.

The major field trip for the regular work experience youth was to the Carnegie Science Center in Pittsburgh, Pa. Approximately 120 teenagers participating in the one-day trip, visiting the Omnimax Theatre where they saw "Ring of Fire," a documentary of the active volcanoes of the earth. They also visited the planetarium, toured a submarine, and had time to visit the four floors of hands-on science exhibits, Ledden said.

A special training program was initiated this year for all regular work experience youth. They met for a total of 18 hours over a six-week period. Each week the teenagers took a different approach to the overall theme of "personal and social responsibilities as it applies to work." These training sessions were held at 15 different worksite locations. Employability skills and the application of math skills were also included in these sessions.

Students who had not passed their functional math or citizenship test were given the opportunity to review this material and re-take the test. Eleven students were thus able to pass the test, which is required for graduation.

The staff for this year's program included Ledden, Elmer Redinger, lead field advisor; Kimberly Czuchrey, Sheila Miller, and Georgia Yoder, all field advisors; Doug Oxford, field advisor/civic remediation; Harry Biggs and Patricia Yoder, Maryland Tomorrow case managers; Gary Teichenbecher and Jill Evans, LAP instructors; Brenda Caldwell, LAP assistant; Lara Carlson, Michelle Zollner, and Jo Ann Vent, instructional field advisors; Christina Harvey, instructional field advisor/math remediation; Wayne Coller, bus driver and assistant LAP work supervisor; Tim Sines, roving crew supervisor; and Gail Dixon, office secretary.

The impact of the Summer Youth Employment and Training Program for the county has been substantial this year, Ledden reported. Approximately 200 families have been directly impacted, as well as about 60 different work stations. Over 30,000 work hours have been logged, according to Ledden, and the participants have earned about $150,000. He said the total grant brought $232,000 into the Garrett County economy.

The program is a joint action under the general direction of the Private Industry Council. The Western Maryland Consortium completes all the participant applications and processes the disbursement of funds.

The births of six infants this week at Garrett County Memorial Hospital were announced this morning by a hospital spokesperson.

A daughter was born August 28 to Kurt O. and Susan Lynn Shinnamon Lear, Oakland.

A son was born August 28 to Ronald Samuel and Lori Ann Moore Friend, Oakland.

A son was born August 28 to Jeffrey Wayne and Ronaya Elizabeth Fries Paugh, McHenry.

A son was born August 30 to Michael Allen and Angela Denise Glotfelty Rogers, McHenry.

Area Pastors To Be Special Guests Of AMI

Pastors from throughout Garrett County and neighboring areas are slated to be special guests at the first of several community awareness meetings planned by the Garrett County Alliance for the Mentally Ill.

The meeting will focus on the role of a pastor in identifying church families who may be facing mental illness for the first time or who are attempting to cope with a known problem.

AMI has an informational round-table discussion planned, during which time questions will be answered and each pastor will receive a copy of the Mental Illness Awareness Guide for Clergy. This publication outlines ideas for the ministry including practical and important ways to serve the mentally ill and their families; special worship plans; special music and prayer; recognizing the warning signs; contact information and additional resources.

This special session will be held Friday, September 11, at 7 p.m. in the Genus Center, Lower Level, Rt. 219 N, Oakland.

Further information is available by calling AMI president Carol Cox at 334-4357 or Mary Ann Brenneman at 895-5366.

The meeting is open to all area clergy and participation is strongly encouraged.

The New Horizons office is located at the McHenry Campus of GCC in the Center for Community and Continuing Education, Room 302.

The New Horizons Program is jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College. Grant funds in the amount of $45,000 are made available to the program through Career and Technology Education, which is 89% of the total program budget, with Garrett Community College contributing an additional $5,600, which is 11% of the total program budget.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB SPONSORS BULL ROAST -- Approximately 100 persons attended the 1992 Bull Roast sponsored by the Garrett County Democratic Club Friday at the Garrett County Fairgrounds "despite the dwindling wrath of Hurricane Andrew which brought forth inclement weather," according to Doris Goldsborogh, chairperson of the event. Democratic candidate for the Sixth District Congressional seat, Delegate Thomas Hattery, was introduced to the group by Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey. Hattery spoke to the group, stating that he will work toward bringing jobs to Western Maryland and the need to turn the economy around in Western Maryland. He also stressed his support for national health care reform, and concluded by stating, "I'm hopeful about the future of our country and Garrett County." Also speaking briefly before the group were Dan Rupli, Western Maryland coordinator of the Clinton-Gore campaign, and Nina Conway, representative for U.S. Senator Paul Sarbanes. District 1 Senator John Hafer and District 1-A Delegate George Edwards were among the state officials in attendance. A plaque in the memory of the late Margaret DeWitt (who died just days before the event) was presented recognizing her contributions. Member Helen Fitzwater talked about DeWitt's contributions to the club and gave the invocation. Goldsborogh stated that she felt this year would be "the year of the Democrats." She was assisted with the event by Don and Anna Mary Fratz, Ted and Joan Raynovich, Bruce Opel, Jann Swiger, Helen Fitzwater, Tom Pratt, Harry Stone, and John Braskey.

Realtors Support Legislation For Home Tax Credit

The Garrett County Board of Realtors announced this week it has received notice of a proposal advancing in Congress that would provide a $2,500 tax credit to first-time homebuyers.

The credit is contained in the Senate version of H.R. 11, a major tax bill that will be voted on this month. It would allow first-time buyers who purchase after July 27, 1992, but before January 1, 1993, a tax credit evenly divided over tax years 1992 and 1993. A tax credit, unlike a deduction, is taken directly against one's federal income tax obligation, thus representing a tax reduction of $2,500 for most taxpayers who qualify.

A person generally would be considered a first-time buyer if he or she had not owned a home over the past three years.

According to the National Association of Realtors, in order for this incentive for first-time buyers to become law, Congress must retain it in H.R. 11, pass the bill, and then President Bush must sign H.R. 11 into law. Congress will resume consideration of H.R. 11 around the second or third week of this month.

Further information about the proposal and how one can contact congressmen regarding this legislation is available from local realtors or the Garrett County Board of Realtors office at 334-8405.

League Of Women Voters Spearheading National Drive

An estimated 70 million Americans might be rendered mute on election day because they're not registered to vote. To give citizens a political voice, the League of Women Voters of the United States is sponsoring a National Registration Drive September 12-19.

"They can't hear you if you don't vote," says Becky Cain, president of the League of Women Voters of the United States. "Many Americans are disappointed with their elected officials and with our nation's electoral system generally. But change only occurs when citizens, empowered by the vote, fight to take back the system.

As part of the drive, 1,100 state and local Leagues across the country will work with Wal-Mart stores, Kinder Care learning centers, and national organizations such as the NAACP and the American Association of Retired Persons to register voters. The Garrett County League will join forces with The Garrett County League of American Association of University of Women and businesses.

AAUW and LWV will be at McDonald's in Oakland and at Keyser's Ridge, Saturday, Sept. 12, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The groups will be promoting the McVote program as well. Representatives will also be at Southern High School Sept. 15-17 from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., at the Garrett Community College cafeteria on Sept. 16 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and at Northern High School Sept. 15 from 11:15 a.m. to 1:45 p.m.

AAUW and LWV will be available for home registration by appointment. Persons may call 334-3826 and leave a message. Any person may register at The Silver Tree Inn, McClive's, The Stray Cat, Will O' the Wisp, The Wisp, Hill Top Fruit Market, and Lohr Distributors during normal business hours.

"Forming such partnerships enables the League to expand its traditional voter registration efforts by reaching more diverse communities. I urge everyone to register during the League's drive so that elected officials hear a strong and powerful message from the ballot box," says local league president Connie Margison.

Nationally, the League has recruited cable and broadcast channels such as NBC, American Movie Classics and Lifetime Television to promote voter registration. More than 80 other national groups and organizations endorse this effort.

VOTER REGISTRATION DRIVE PLANNED - Members of organizations including the League of Women Voters (LWV) and the American Association of University Women (AAUW) are currently planning to participate in a national voter registration drive. The drive is scheduled for September 12-19. There will be registration sites throughout the county at Southern and Northern high schools, Garrett Community College, Hill Top Fruit Market, Stray Cat Cafe, The Wisp Resort, and Will 'O the Wisp. Pictured above are drive organizers. In the first row, left to right, are Connie Margison, Barbara Flinn (both LWV members), Jean Clark (LWV and AAUW), and Elaine McDonald (Silver Tree Inn). In the back row, same order, are Bill Crawford and Jan Finkle (both of LWV), and Janet Archer (AAUW).

OHS Reunion Held At Elks Club August 8

The third annual Oakland High School reunion was held Saturday, August 8, at the Elks Club, Oakland.

The reunion began with a tour of the old Oakland High School which now houses the Board of Education administrative offices. Hostess for the tour was Lucille Ludvigsen. Some 375 people then gathered for the social hour and dinner at the Elks Club.

The hall was decorated with hundreds of red and white helium-filled balloons. Small white lights adorned potted tree branches throughout the room. Tables were marked with years from 1919-1952. Decorations were organized by committee members, Mary Naylor Bennett and Ann and Linn Grant. Name tags were done by Nina Keefer and Mary Bennett. Jerry Moyer coordinated the menu and arranged for shuttle service to and from the hall.

The evening began with a welcome from Mayor Asa McCain, followed by the invocation by alumni member the Rev. John Grant. Robert Stockslager, master of ceremonies, then recognized some special persons. Mr. Oliver Smouse, now a resident of Florida, was the oldest member present (class of 1919). He was presented with a carnation boutonniere. Also receiving corsages were Mary M. Bolden Helbig and Gwendolyn Johnson. Nina Gnegy Keefer, class of 1938, was presented a special plaque in recognition of her work in initiating the first alumni reunion in 1990 and for her continued involvement.

Music for the evening was provided by a "no charge" juke box with over 100 selection of oldies. The sound system was provided by Tom Tressler.

Class pictures of some of the classes were displayed. Efforts are being made to find copies of all graduating classes (1908-1952). Jerry Moyer is collecting that information and may be reached at 334-3338.

The alumni reunion is held every year on the second Saturday in August and is for everyone who ever attended the high school. Persons wishing to attend who are not on the current mailing list may send the names and addresses to Robert Stockslager, Route 1, Oakland, MD 21550.

Several Certified As Soccer Refs

A soccer referee's clinic, sponsored by the Mountaintop Soccer Association, was conducted this past weekend at Bausch and Lomb by state-certified instructors Bruce Steele and Mike Park.

As a result of this two-day course the following are now state certified referees: Rick DeLoach, Jim Hart, Ned Holloway, Don Nuce, Tom Peterson, Dr. Bill Pope, Tom Powers, Dr. Karl Schwalm, Don Sincell, Dave Spirk, Derek Spirk, and Butch Sumpter.

According to Clinic Coordinator Tom Peterson, "It was an excellent clinic; well-done by experienced instructors." The course included the 17 laws of soccer and the psychology of refereeing.

Adult Soccer Team Captures Opening Victory

The local adult soccer team, sponsored by A&A Realty, opened its season of competition Sunday afternoon by recording a 3-2 win over Lonaconing.

A&A wasted no time getting on the board, as Steve Prosser fed Eric Biser for the first goal just one minute into the game. Lonaconing responded with a goal at about the 10-minute mark and the score was tied 1-1 at halftime.

A&A took the lead for good when Seth Brownlee passed to Mike Seibert who headed a pass to Bob Isaacson who in turn headed the ball into the goal. A few minutes later, Isaacson scored again on a feed from Prosser.

Lonaconing added a final score midway through the first half to conclude the scoring. A&A goalie John Steele recorded a number of saves.

A&A will play again Sept. 13 on the Southern Middle School field.

Oakland Jets To Open MTYFL Season Saturday

The Oakland Jets of the Mt. Top Youth Football League will open their season this coming Saturday night at 8 p.m. at the Southern High School football facility. The Jets will face the defending league champs, the Northern Steelers, in the second game of a twinbill which pits the Oakland Raiders against the Thomas/Davis Rams at 6 p.m in the first game.

The Jets will be looking to improve on the 1991 season which saw them lose some hard fought games and end the season without any wins. Head coach Vic Compitello stated, "This opening game will be a real good test for our young group of athletes. The Steelers are a perennial powerhouse and I am sure this year won't be any different. We feel this game will be a great gauge for us to see how our season is going to unfold. Our young players have worked extremely hard during the four weeks of preseason practice and they are really anxious to play against some different kids."

The Jets will run out of the I formation on offense and return several starters and players who saw considerable action last season. Chad Warnick returns at quarterback, while Howie Crosco and Mike Welch are battling it out for the tailback spot. Scott Schroyer and Noel Smith are vying for the fullback spot. Crosco or Chris Gidley will fill the slot back position. Billy Stoner will anchor the offensive line at the center position with guards Aaron Newcomb and Tommy Gank. Steve Shiflett and Tommy Sweitzer will also see action at the guard positions. Providing strong blocking from the tackle position will be Clyde Holland and Walter Fike. Nathan Rickman will fill the tight end spot while Shawn Smith and Noel Smith will share time as the wide outs. Mike Welch and Andy Seib will also see action at quarterback.

Offensive coordinator Kevin Liller stated, "If we can keep everyone healthy and if some of our kids make weight, this can be a very exciting offensive football team. We have some really fine skill people and strong offensive line. The big key is that some of our best kids are right on the border line for making weight."

The Jet defense will be anchored by Crosco and Rickman at the ends and Holland and Newcomb at the tackles. Shiflett and Fike will

Huskies Hope To Keep Winning Ways On Track

With two straight playoff appearances behind them, seven returning starters on offense and six on defense, and the largest turnout of players in recent years, Northern High School Coach Tom Vent is feeling optimistic about his team's chances this year on the gridiron. The Huskies will open their season this Friday evening at Westmar in Lonaconing.

While suffering through several agonizing seasons in the late 1980s, Vent and his staff were finally able to convince the Huskies that they could, indeed, be winners. The tide slowly turned, from 19 consecutive losses (1985-86) to mediocrity in the late 1980s to a playoff appearance in 1990 and again in 1991, when they finished their regular season with a 7-3 record.

"IT'S THIS WAY, GENTLEMAN" - Giving instruction to the Northern High Huskies during a practice session this week were assistant coaches Gary Long, left, and John Snelling (partially hidden), as the Huskies prepare for their season opener set for this Friday night at Westmar High School. A winning season and a third straight trip to the Class C playoffs are among the goals of Coach Tom Vent and the Huskies, who are counting leadership from a small group of seniors and support from a large group of juniors to accomplish those goals. Pictured below, left to right, are Jon Houser, assistant; Coach Vent; and Phil Carr, assistant.

"It's been a long climb and we really aren't where we want to be yet," the seventh year coach said. "Our goal is to build a program that is consistent, year after year, and hopefully we are on the right track."

Fifty-one players came out for football this year, 15 of whom are freshmen and only seven of whom are seniors. The bulk of the team is composed of juniors, many with experience, many out for the first time.

"We like to tell our seniors each year that this is their football team, and we have seven very good leaders," Vent said. "But our juniors are, obviously, an integral part of our program.

"We're also really excited about our 15 freshmen, who have been looking good in scrimmages."

Gone from last season's squad are All-Area first team kicker Jon Houser, who started at fullback and linebacker, and second-team All-Area lineman Mike Fike, both of whom are now playing for Glenville State College. Houser led the team in scoring with 90 points, was second in rushing and tackles with 66. Fike, a three-year starter, finished with 53 tackles and three fumble recoveries.

Also graduated were quarterback Chad Anderson, Todd Burdock, and Jarrett McKenzie. Anderson was a consistent quarterback and was also a first team All-Area defensive back. Burdock led the team in tackles with 71 and McKenzie recorded 60.

Among those returning from a defensive unit that last year allowed a total of only 105 points and held six of the 10 teams it faced to one touchdown or less is second team All-Area senior lineman Greg Wagner (5-10, 205), who recorded 61 tackles. Other starters back are tackle Jason Fazenbaker (6-0, 215), junior linebacker Bill Younkin (6-3, 190), senior cornerback Chris Wachter (6-0, 160), senior safety Paul Edwards (5-11, 175), and junior free safety Alan Sebold (5-10, 170).

Other probable starters on defense are junior Chris Bittner (6-0, 160) at end, junior Larry Wakefield (5-11, 170) and senior Chris Rowe (5-5, 145) at linebacker, and newcomer Rob Speicher, a 5-10, 150-pound junior at cornerback.

Starters back on offense are Wagner at guard, Fazenbaker at tackle, Younkin at tight end, Wachter at wide receiver, Sebold at running back, Wakefield at running back, and senior tackle Brad Hoover (6-0, 220). Younkin led the team in receptions last year with 14.

Others expected to start on offense are Edwards at quarterback, junior Tim Hinebaugh (6-0, 185) at tight end, senior Robert Beachy (5-11, 165) at guard, and junior Robert Fritz (5-9, 185) at center.

While the Huskies have been primarily a power team on offense in recent years, Vent feels his team this year can use its better than average speed to go to the outside more often.

"We're a little smaller, but we're also faster, so we have made some offensive adjustments that will hopefully let us take advantage of that," he said. "Edwards, Wakefield, and Sebold have nice size and good speed coming out of our backfield."

What has impressed Vent the most in recent days, however, is the play by his defensive unit. "They are really coming off the ball and doing some hitting," he said.

Vent is also pleased that he finally has some depth on his team. "We are still somewhat limited in that area, but at least we will have someone to fill the spot if needed," he said.

The Huskies have had some tough scrimmages in recent days against Allegany, Fort Hill, and Keyser, but Vent said the best way to improve is to play the best teams. "We did well in the areas we had hoped to do well," he said.

The Huskies opening encounter this Friday night at Westmar, according to Vent, will tell him a lot about what kind of team he really has this year.

"We saw them scrimmage against Southern and Fort Hill and they are a much improved football team," he said. "They are still a run-and-shoot team with a lot of strength out of the power-I. They have 14 lettermen back and they are tough to beat on their own field."

Much of that line power on both sides of the ball is supplied by senior tackle Brian Grove (6-3, 277), while senior quarterback Mike Bennett (5-11, 163) and senior running backs Ray Mayhew (5-10, 155) and Evan Orndorf (5-8, 164) are among nine returning offensive starters.

The Westmar contest will open a 10-game slate for the Huskies, as Pocahontas High School was just added to the schedule for November 6. The home opener will be September 18 against Beall.

Vent said the staff and team have dedicated their season to the memory of the late Chris Younkin, an outstanding player for the Huskies the past three years who was killed in an automobile mishap just prior to his graduation this spring.

"We all went to Chris's grave the other night and Mrs. Younkin spoke to the kids about lessons in life and things that are certainly far more important than football," Vent said. "She really put things into perspective and gave all of us something to think about. It was a very moving experience."

Added to the Huskies coaching staff this year are former collegiate player and new county resident John Snelling and former Southern High School standout Gary Long. "These guys are real assets to our program," Vent said. Also back is Phil Carr, who is serving as offensive coordinator this season.

Vent said that reserve-seat season tickets for the Huskies' five home games and all home junior varsity games are available for $20 for adults and $10 for students. He said the tickets may be purchased at the school after 1:30 p.m. or during one of the after-school practice sessions.

Rams To Bank Heavily On Large Corps Of Juniors

The Southern High Rams are facing one of their most difficult schedules in recent history this season, but Coach Fred Gregg and the Rams will begin that campaign with at least one luxury that they didn't have last year: depth, thanks primarily to a corps of 20 juniors.

The Rams, who open this Friday night at Preston County, will be looking to improve on their 5-5 finish last year, when the varsity roster actually fell below 20 players late in the season because of a low turnout in the beginning and a rash of injuries. The banged-up Rams dropped their last three games to three of the toughest teams on the schedule - Hedgesville, Allegany, and Bishop Walsh.

While a number of seniors were lost to graduation, the Rams return some of the most skilled players in the area, including senior tailback Jeremy Bosley (5-9, 173), a second-team All-Area pick last year, who led the team in rushing last season with 719 yards (4.4 average), scored 10 touchdowns, led the team in receptions with 10, and from his cornerback position was third in tackles with 72 and grabbed five interceptions. He also averaged over 23 yards per return on kickoffs and 18 on punts.

1992 SCHEDULE

Sept.	4	Preston County	A
	11	Frankfort	H
	18	Musselman	H
	25	Keyser	A
Oct.	2	Hampshire Co.	A
	9	Northern	H
	16	Tucker County	H
	23	Hedgesville	H
	30	Allegany	H
Nov.	7	Bishop Walsh	A

GOING AT IT in an intra-team scrimmage this week were the Southern High Rams, who will open their 1992 campaign this Friday night at Preston High School in Kingwood. While the Rams lost a number of key players to graduation, Coach Fred Gregg is enjoying some larger numbers this year, as a total of 29 varsity and 40 junior varsity players are on the roster. Ram fans will see a new look by Southern's offense, which has abandoned the power-I format in exchange for the wing-T. The coaching staff this year, pictured below, consists of (left to right) Terry Kendall, Dave Bosley, Gregg, Jay Stewart, Steve Liller, and Scott Harvey.

Other returning starters are: senior quarterback C.J. Getson (5-11, 162), also a second-team All-Area selection, who was second in the area with 57 completions in 140 attempts for 786 yards and six touchdowns and also recorded 167 yards rushing; junior running back Josh Woods (5-8, 155), who was second on the team in rushing and in receptions with five; junior tackle Galen Glotfelty (5-10, 217); junior wingback Pete Strawser (5-8, 152); and junior split end Mark Elliott (5-11, 150) at split end.

Coach Gregg has decided to drop the power-I formation that the Rams have used for many years and go to the wing-T for this season. "We don't think we have the personnel to stay with the power-I," he said. "We will still run power plays and primarily keep the ball on the ground, but we plan to use a lot of motion and finesse with the wing-T, with Jeremy (Bosley) as the go-to back."

With Getson's proven ability in passing, Gregg said that the Rams will also put the ball in the air, "but we plan to throw when we want to and not when we have to."

Others expected to start this week or see considerable action are: senior Jason Groves (5-10, 185) and junior J.R. Reams (5-11, 162) at guard, junior tackles Larry Shreve (5-10, 213) and Mike Purdy (5-9, 185), and junior center Sonny Livengood (5-7, 162).

The most experienced segment of Southern's defensive unit is the secondary, where Woods and Elliott return as safeties and Bosley and sophomore Jeremy Fitzwater (5-9, 155) will be at the corners.

Seeing most of the action in the linebacking corps will be composed of Livengood, sophomore Josh Hinebaugh (5-11, 213), who has been nursing a pulled groin muscle, sophomore David Crosco (5-9, 156), and senior Jason Groves (5-10, 185). Juniors Brandon Ross (5-11, 162) and Steve Eyler (5-11, 147) will most likely start at outside linebacker positions.

The defensive line will consist of senior noseguard Danny House (5-7, 168), junior Cole Bauer (6-2, 228) and Dave Hammersla (6-0, 179), and sophomore Todd DeWitt (6-0, 260).

"We really feel like we're on schedule with what we want to do this year," Gregg said. "We don't have great size overall, but we have better than average speed. We have a lot of young players and a new system on offense, but I think once we get a few games under our belts we have the potential of being a good team."

In commenting on the 1992 schedule, Gregg made no bones about the calibre of competition that awaits the Rams. "From top to bottom we see absolutely no breathers on our schedule," he said. "I know every coach says that, but it is absolutely true in our case. Preston, Frankfort, Musselman, Hedgesville, Allegany, Bishop Walsh, and Northern are all very tough, Keyser is a much improved team, Hampshire is a very good team...but it makes it interesting and it's good to play a competitive schedule."

The first test this Friday at Preston will be formidable, according to Gregg, as the Knights are coming off a big 28-7 opening win over Clarksburg Washington Irving.

"Preston is a much improved football team," Gregg said. "Their speed is about the same as last year, but their overall line play is dramatically better. Their line averages over 200 pounds and they really surge off the ball. They are fundamentally more sound than last year."

The Knights' wing-T offense is led by two excellent running backs in seniors Joey Rodeheaver (6-0, 173) and Ken Stewart (5-9, 177), senior tight end K.C. Childers (6-3, 184), and junior quarterback Dave Cale.

"Rodeheaver and Stewart are both very good athletes," Gregg said. "Rodeheaver was fast last year, but this year he is not only fast, but also a lot stronger."

Ram fans will have the opportunity to enjoy six of Southern's 10 games at home this year, with the home opener slated for next Friday, Sept. 11, against Frankfort.

Final Weekend Of Summer Sailboat Racing Series Held; Results Reported

A cold front blew through Garrett County for the last weekend of the July-August Deep Creek Sailboat Racing Series, compelling skippers to seek wool sweaters and extra crew weight to cope with the fall-like weather conditions, according to a spokesperson for the event. Chill winds whipped white caps on the lake under overcast skies.

Race Commander Jack Carpenter laid out a triangular course Saturday in the slot between Turkey Neck Point and Thousand Acres, which is the "windiest area of the lake," the spokesperson reported. Although most skippers did not risk using their spinnakers, the first Saturday race took the least time of the year. There were no capsizes, but Al Riebel was demasted before the start.

John Meredith, who had already clinched first place in the series, sailed with novice Al Caretto and Melanie Kirby. They crossed the line first and second on Saturday, but were not scored with A fleet.

The sun reappeared Sunday and the wind turned blustery and shifty with 20 mile-per-hour gusts. Don Griffin, with weekend guests as crew, made a bold port tack start, crossed the fleet, and moved into the lead. The seven leg course and erratic winds allowed many position changes. Griffin was third when he was involved in a crunching collision with Chad and Bill Lovett at a downwind mark. A protest jury later found Griffin at fault and disqualified him.

Don Hott, on race committee for the weekend, stated that the "Filemyrs made things interesting for us with three photo finishes, and won them all."

Paul Hill gambled on flying the spinnaker at every opportunity, and was rewarded with two first places. He was second "by a nose" in the last race.

The weekend results are as follows: Laser, first race - 1. Kevin Rissell, 2. Keith Spinnenweber, 3. Dave Mahan; second race - 1. Kevin Rissell, 2. Dave Mahan, 3. Keith Spinnenweber; third race - 1. Kevin Rissell, 2. Bruce Spinnenweber, 3. Keith Spinnenweber.

Flying Scot B, first race - 1. Paul and Joyce Hill, 2. Mo Willey, Vicki Jeffrey, 3. John Frank, Paula Swayne, Charlotte Hott; second race - 1. Paul and Joyce Hill, 2. Mo Willey, Vicki Jeffrey, 3. John Frank, Paula Swayne, Charlotte Hott; third race - 1. Mo Willey, Vicki Jeffrey, 2. Paul and Joyce Hill, 3. John Frank, Paula Swayne, Charlotte Hott.

Flying Scot A, first race - 1. Chip and Jeanette Dodd, 2. Harry and Marilyn Filemyr, 3. Tom and Frank Wolffe; second race - 1. Chip and Jeanette Dodd, 2. Don Griffin and guests, 3. Harry and Marilyn Filemyr; third race - 1. John Meredith, Melanie Kirby, 2. Tom and Frank Wolffe, 3. Harry and Marilyn Filemyr.

The Racing Association's final event will be the annual Labor Day weekend five-race "Commodore's Regatta."

An additional Magellan Cup "Round-the-Lake-Race" is scheduled for Saturday, September 12. This annual event is sponsored by the Flat Earth Society of Deep Creek Lake. It is open to any sailing craft. no club or association membership is required. The course is the length of the lake south of Glendale Bridge and into most of the coves. Handicap scoring gives any boat and skipper an equal chance. The start is at the dock of the Turkey Neck Club and will be at 11 a.m. The race finished at the same dock. Awards (stained glass) and pizza and beer on the club deck will follow immediately.

HONORED BY ST. MARK'S - A special presentation was made by the council and congregation of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, during a recent ceremony for the dedication of the church's new Moller organ. Elsie H. Sincell, who served as the primary organist for the church for over 50 years, was recognized for those decades of service and was awarded a special plaque by Lowell Leitzel, church council president. The wooden plaque serves as a base for three metal plates representing different times and events in Mrs. Sincell's tenure as organist: one that had been on the organ in the old St. Mark's church building, one for the trumpet stop that was purchased in the 1970s in Mrs. Sincell's honor, and one from the Moller organ company.

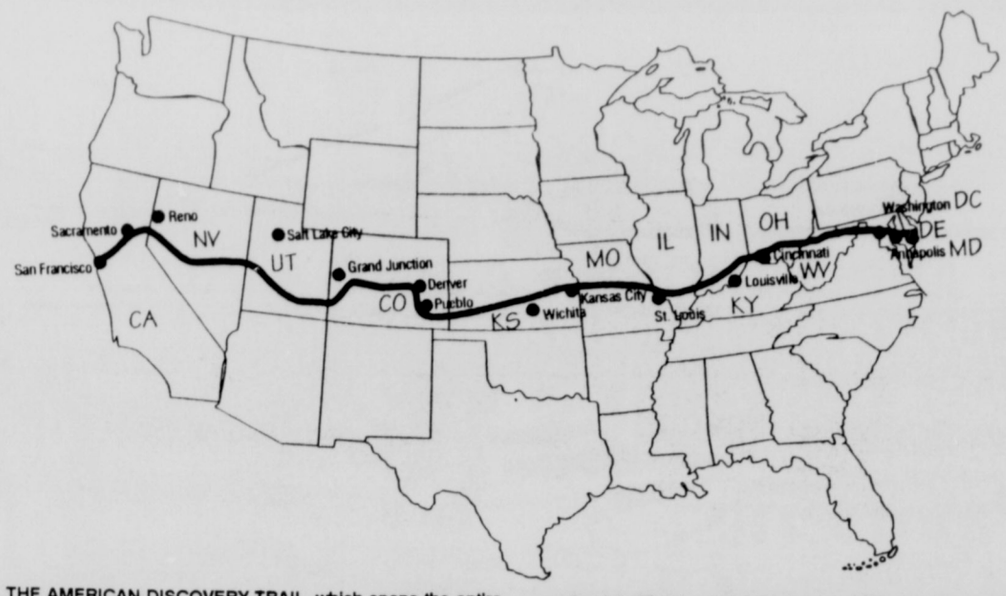
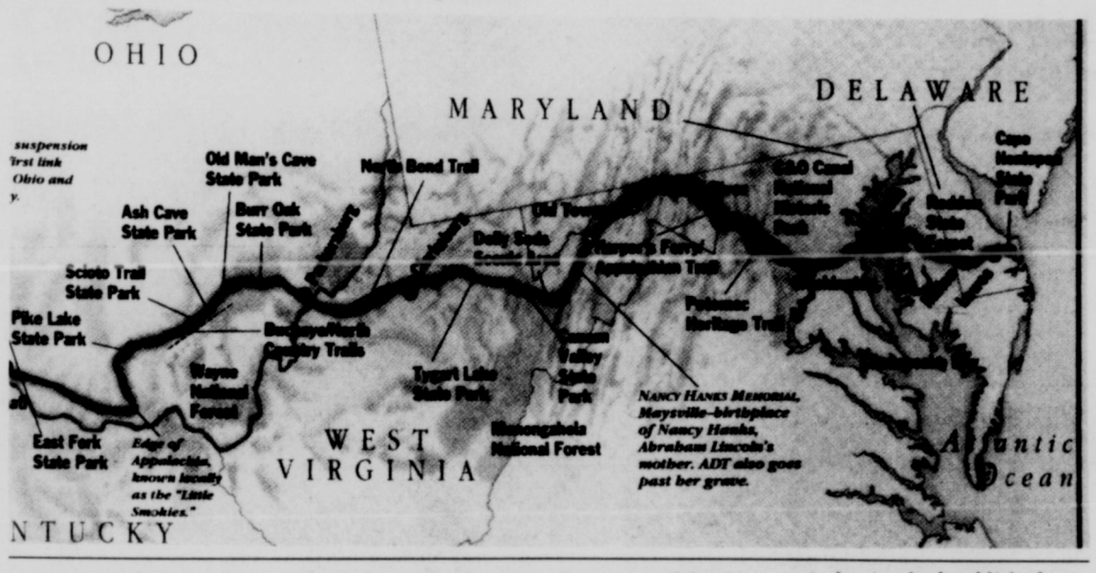
Local Scouts To Hold Jamboree At Dolly Sods



Local Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts will be among those participating in the American Discovery Trail Blazers Day, an awareness event set for September 12 that is being sponsored by the Rockport Shoe Company in coordination with the American Hiking Society.

The focus of the awareness effort is the American Discovery Trail (ADT), which covers 4,900 miles from California to Delaware, passing through the panhandle of West Virginia, through the Dolly Sods area, and the western panhandle of Maryland at Oldtown and along a portion of the C&O Canal tow path.



The Deep Creek District of the Potomac Council, BSA, will participate in the program by holding its fall camporee near the trail at Red Creek Campground in the Dolly Sods area. The local scouts will hike and perform trail maintenance on the trail under the guidance of U.S. Service personnel. It is expected that about 80 local Cub and Boy scouts and their leaders will participate. Each participant will receive a special souvenir pin from Rockport Shoe Company.

The ADT passes through 12 states and the District of Columbia, and connects with the Pacific Crest, Pony Express, Continental Divide, Santa Fe, Lewis and Clark, North Country, and the Appalachian trails, in addition to the Potomac Heritage Trail of which the C&O Canal tow path is a part. It has been walked in its entirety by an American Hiking Society team and guidebooks for various sections are available or being prepared.

Other persons interested in obtaining more information about the ADT Blazer Day or the scout jamboree may contact Paul Shogren, local ADT coordinator and scout master, at 334-1386.

THE AMERICAN DISCOVERY TRAIL, which spans the entire nation, is the focus of an awareness day set for September 12 called American Discovery Trail Blazers Day. Because the trail passes through the Dolly Sods area of West Virginia before crossing into Maryland at Oldtown, local Boy and Cub scouts will hold their fall jamboree at Dolly Sods on Sept. 12 and help clean up the trail area. "We are really hoping for a big crowd for the home opener against the Steelers," Compitello said.

Assisting Compitello are Tim San Julian, Jeff Cooley, and Tracy Rinard.

The Jet JV football team will also open their season on Saturday night with a 16-minute game immediately following the varsity game against the Steelers' JV team. Starting at the linebackers will be Schroyer and Welch, with Seib and Shawn Smith at the corners. Fighting for the safety spots are Noel Smith, Gidley, Warnick, Aaron Mountain, and Scott Beitzel.

Defensive coordinator Ed Panther stated, "Our kids have worked really hard to learn their defensive responsibilities. We knew we had some fine athletes, but they have really started to gel over the last week or so. We are expecting big things out of our defensive unit this year."

tigate pollution in a major river system on a continuing basis. The latter work was the foundation for Vermont's first successful court test of water quality laws, and student involvement in the effort provided a model for national "Adopt-a-stream" activities.

Farrar is also a writer, having had published several books and popular science articles. His The Hungry Snowbird and The Birds' Woodland received children's science book awards from the Children's Library Council and the National Science Teachers Association in 1975 and 1976. He started and edited two natural history magazines, Vermont Natural History and New Jersey Audubon.

Among other honors, Farrar was named as research advisor for New Jersey's Coastal Facilities Review Act (CAFRA) efforts and to that state's Natural Resources Council in 1978. He has also served as field executive for the National Wildlife Federation and received awards from the Connecticut River Watershed Council and the National Association of Biology Teachers.

In 1987 Farrar retired from a later career in medical economics to settle in Garrett County. Since then he has been the science teacher at Northern High and, with his wife, raises Highland cattle on a farm near Friendsville. Mrs. Farrar is a science teacher at Southern Middle School.

Homecoming Bible Conference Planned

Miss Lacie Berkebile

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Birkby

The annual Homecoming Bible Conference services will be held August 9-13 at the Grace Brethren Church of Accident. Several guests are scheduled to present programs, messages, and special music. Services will be held each night of the event beginning at 7 p.m. and on Sunday morning. A homecoming dinner will follow Sunday morning's Sunday School and worship and will be served by the ladies of the church in the Accident Fire Hall dining room.

The attending guests include Rev. Raymond McCoy, Cumberland, who will play the saxophone and present the Wednesday night message. Rev. Joseph Nass, Grafton, W.Va., will speak on Thursday night with singers Thelma Bowman and Opal McCartney. Rev. Shimer Darr, Meyersdale, Pa., will speak Friday night assisted by area singers.

The Alan Birkby family of Grantsville will present a musical gospel program Saturday night, and Miss Lacie Berkebile, Accident, will play the violin. Jeffrey Mohler, grandson of the pastor, will speak during the Sunday School hour and Rev. Richard Boggs, Franklin, W.Va., will give the homecoming Sunday morning worship sermon. Several other local singers will present sacred music throughout the event.

The Grace Brethren Church is one of the oldest buildings in the area, according to a spokesperson, and is located on Bumble Bee Road, just off of Rt. 219, south of Accident. The congregation invites all to attend the conference. Transportation will be provided if desired.

Campaign Stresses GC School Meals' Role In Learning

Garrett County Schools plan to increase participation in the county's School Meals program by taking part in a new statewide public awareness campaign. The campaign's slogan, "School Meals: We serve education every day," emphasizes the connection between regular, good nutrition and a student's ability to do well in school.

Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer said studies show that school meals offer an inexpensive and established means to improve performance in the classroom and on standardized tests. "School breakfasts and lunches really fulfill an undervalued community service," he said. "Not only do we serve free or reduced-priced meals to underprivileged students, but we also provide all other students and their parents a convenient, economical, and healthy alternative for school-day nutrition."

According to Richard Buckingham, Garrett County's assistant in food services, a full-priced elementary school lunch costs $1.15, while the middle school lunch price is $1.25, and high school lunch costs $1.30. Breakfast is served in elementary schools for $.50. Each full meal includes a combination of milk, vegetable, fruit, bread, and meat or other protein-rich food. The county receives federal and state subsidies and each meal it serves that fits this pattern. This keeps the price of a full school lunch well below the comparable price of a similar brown bag meal or for a fast-food lunch, Buckingham said.

The campaign also aims to publicize the ways the meals themselves are changing, according to Buckingham. Students today increasingly find more choices on the lunch line, he said, and, more and more, menus are planned to decrease fat, sodium, and salt, without sacrificing taste.

In Garrett County, about 58% of the kids in school on a given day eat the school lunch, and about 27% each breakfast. Statewide, participation is 44% at lunch and 7% at breakfast. The figures tend to be higher than average for younger students and lower than average for secondary students.

State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick said she hopes heightened public awareness of the many cost-effective benefits of school meals will encourage increased participation. "We have to let people known that we're not merely serving children food," she said. "We serve education every day, with every meal we provide to every student."

For more information about school meals in Garrett County, persons may call 334-8917.

A PERSISTENT FEVER CAN BE A WARNING

When a raging fever fails to cool down after 24 hours — beware. This could mean that your body may have a serious problem that it cannot handle without medical help.

If, despite your self-treatments, a continuous low grade fever persists for several days or weeks, this may be your body's warning of a chronic infection, such as rheumatic fever, mononucleosis, etc. You would be wise to let your physician find out what may be wrong.

Body and Soul

Contemplate the connection...work and soul.

Work and the body...a straightforward concept; whatever our work, we must utilize our body, whether primarily brain or brawn.

Work and the soul...now ponder this. How do you feel, physically and emotionally, after an active and satisfying workday? Perhaps a feeling of stimulation...of elevation...of the body and the soul...sometimes coined "a good tired". Why? Because work done with dedication is also good for the soul.

A new concept? Hardly. Over one hundred years ago, the philosopher, Henry David Thoreau, wrote, "Good for the body is the work of the body, and good for the soul is the work of the soul, and good for either the work of the other."

Inclusive in our celebration during the week of Labor Day, as we worship, may we praise God as the source of our talents and our vigor.

"He who labors as he prays lifts his heart to God with his hands."
— St. Bernard of Clairvaux

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHEN GOD SAYS "GO"
September 6, 1992

Background Scripture:
Genesis 11:27 through 12:9.
Devotional Reading:
Genesis 13:14-18.

Although Abram's story is set in a time some thousands of years ago, it has a lot of relevance for the world we live in today, for ours is a time of rapid and radical change. People are on the move today and it would seem that the one thing of which we can be certain is uncertainty.

These are times that severely challenge our faith. For faith is easier to come by when things are relatively stable. But in a world marked by instability, it is harder to trust.

The word "faith" can denote what we believe. When we speak of the Lutheran faith or the Methodist faith, we are speaking about the doctrinal ideas held by Lutherans and Methodists. Let us make no mistake about Abram's faith. The writer of Genesis is not talking about ideas, creeds or doctrines. Actually, we know practically nothing of the content of Abram's beliefs. What the writer of Genisis is depicting is Abram's trust in God. When God said to Abram, "Go from your country and your kindred and your father's house to the land that I will show you" (12:1), Abraham trusted God and obeyed him. That was Abram's faith.

BUNGEE JUMPING

Recently I saw some people doing bungee jumping. I'm sure you know what it is: people are harnessed to a very strong elastic cable and then jump from a great height for the sake of the thrill of the free-fall, the elastic cable saving them from splattering themselves on the ground far below. I was fascinated by the daring of what appeared to be some rather ordinary-looking people. Early this week I read an article in our morning paper, indicating that, with care, this activity can be relatively safe.

Now, I want you to know that I believe what that article said -- rightly done, bungee jumping is probably pretty safe -- but don't expect me to try it! In my mind, I believe it could be safe, but that belief does not extend down into my legs. Jumping off a high perch requires more than believing an idea. I must trust that idea to the point that I can commit myself to it. My beliefs have to be stronger than my fears. And I confess I am not going to entrust my life to a long, rubber cord, no matter how strong it is and no matter how many statistics you show me.

That's the challenge that came to Abram. God said "Go", and the question was not whether he believed in God, but whether he trusted him enough to journey into the unknown. Perhaps his father, Terah, was the original recipient of the call to go to the promised land. Terah and his family did leave Ur of the Chaldeans for the land of Canaan. But when they had covered a little more than half the way, they stopped and settled in Haran.

INTERRUPTED JOURNEY

I can relate to that, for sometimes my life has been like the interrupted journey from Ur to Canaan. Sometimes God has called me and I have trusted him enough to start off on my venture. But later, I realize that somewhere along the way I have settled down considerably short of the goal. Often, when I have stopped and settled down along the way, I have not realized that I was stopping and settling for something less than that for which I began the venture.

I'm sure that, along the way, there were times when Abram was tempted to do just that. What makes him a person of faith, then, is that he met two great challenges: to trust God enough to both begin and continue the journey to the end. Itt is not enough to go when God sends us; we have to keep going until we get to the end of the line.

One of the jumpers said, "Once you leap, there's nothing but that long thin line to depend on"! Religious faith, then, is a little like spiritual bungee jumping. Essentially, when God says "Go!" it is the leap of faith, not calculation, that we must make.

These firms invite YOU to a House of Worship each week.

COVER STORY

The best and the worst of the new fall season

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

Some of the new fall series have already begun to premiere, and in the next three weeks, the trickle will become a flood. A few look so promising that every viewer will want to check them out. A few others are to be avoided at all costs.

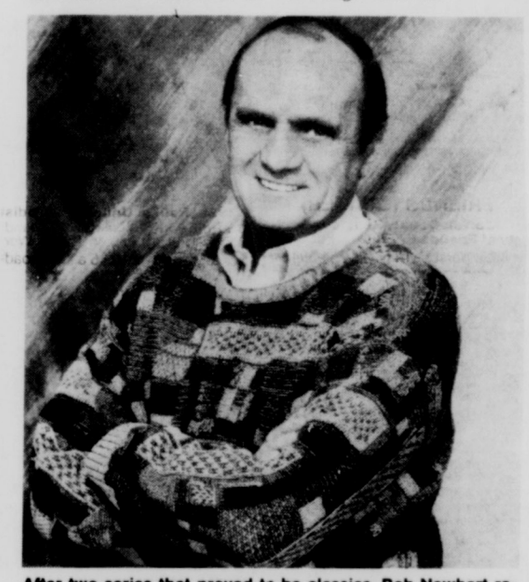
The Best

• "Bob" (Fridays, CBS): Amazingly, this looks every bit as good as Bob Newhart's two previous efforts. It sneaks up on you: mildly amusing at first, then suddenly can't-stop-laughing funny.

• "Hangin' With Mr. Cooper" (Tuesdays, ABC): Two junior-high-school teachers, one a novice (Mark Curry), the other experienced (Dawnn Lewis), share an apartment with a third roommate (Holly Robinson). It sounds like a retread of "Three's Company," but it's considerably more, thanks to the charm of Curry and Lewis.

• "Going to Extremes" (Tuesdays, ABC): This new effort from producers Joshua Brand and John Falsey ("I'll Fly Away," "Northern Exposure") centers around American students attending a medical school in the Caribbean. Its characters are well-drawn, and there's plenty of room for drama and humor.



• "Laurie Hill" (Wednesdays, ABC): Frankly, we'll be surprised if this one lasts; we're not sure anyone wants to watch a show about a pediatrician (DeLane Matthews) whose demanding job doesn't leave her enough time for her child. But we've rarely seen a TV series that rings this true; it's a half-hour of true quality.

The Worst

• "Rhythm and Blues" (Thursdays, NBC): Roger Kabler stars as Bobby Soul, a white disc jockey who is accidentally hired by a black radio station. Kabler is a talented mimic, but he projects zero charisma as a personality in his own right. And it's painful to watch the talented Anna Maria Horsford and Ron Glass try to get laughs out of the weak lines they're been given.

• "Out All Night" (Saturdays, NBC): Its cast is loaded with talent, but the show is flat and lackluster. Patti LaBelle does a caricature of her recurring role on "A Different World," and Morris Chestnut ("Boyz N the Hood") is stiff and ponderous as her protege.

• "The Hat Squad" (Wednesdays, CBS): We usually enjoy the action-adventures of producer Stephen J. Cannell, but this one is strictly third-rate. It's about three foster brothers, all policemen, who frequently step outside the letter of the law. Unfortunately, in order to justify the heroes' extra-legal activities, the criminals have to be vicious - beyond-the-fringe vicious. And that quickly undercuts any spark of humanity that the series might have had.

After two series that proved to be classics, Bob Newhart returns to weekly television in the new comedy "Bob," which will air Fridays on CBS.

Shea, Dawber discover horrors of child abuse

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

A disturbing drama about child sex abuse, "Do You Know The Muffin Man?" (CBS, Sept. 6), is rebroadcast. Police officer Roger Dollison (John Shea) and his wife, Kendra (Pam Dawber), are shaken out of their domestic tranquility when they discover one of their children (Brian Bonsall) and some of his school classmates are the apparent victims of molestation at the hands of their preschool teachers. Roger uses his position in the police department to search for evidence against the accused molesters but becomes fearful that the testimony of the children will not be believed in court. This work of fiction is obviously patterned on several real instances of institutional child abuse that made local and national headlines and often inspired violent reactions on both sides.

Pam Dawber

• PBS encores an unusual "Masterpiece Theatre" presentation about a Victorian woman's struggle with mental illness in "The Yellow Wallpaper" (Sept. 6; check local listings), starring Julia Watson and Stephen Dillon. Watson portrays early feminist author and lecturer Charlotte Perkins Gilman, whose autobiographical novella, "The Yellow Wallpaper," concerned a young woman confined to an isolated country home on her doctor's orders for nervous fatigue. Forced to give up her writing and remain in bed, Charlotte has nothing to occupy her mind but the wallpaper in her bedroom, which begins to sprout strange images and dramatizes Charlotte's intellectual deterioration.

• Levar Burton hosts this week's "Our Favorite Movies" on TNT. Burton's pick is, appropriately enough, the science-fiction classic "Forbidden Planet" (TNT, Sept. 10) directed by Fred McLeod Wilcox and considered one of the better 1950s fantasies. Leslie Nielsen travels to a distant planet where renegade Walter Pidgeon rules a small flock of disciples, including Robby the Robot, in this 1956 film inspired by William Shakespeare's play "The Tempest."

• A Showtime original movie called "Devlin" (Sept. 12) airs with Brian Brown ("F/X 2") as a New York cop framed for murder. Frank Devlin (Brown) finds himself up against his ex-wife's powerful family, headed by Big Jim Brennan (Lloyd Bridges), when he's penned for murdering his brother-in-law. Devlin's painful past of alcoholism and a bad marriage resurface under the scrutiny of the Brennan clan in this adaptation of the Roderick Thorpe novel.

THIS WEEK

Brian Dennehy

PRESSER Time: On Saturday, Sept. 12, HBO premieres the original movie "Teamster Boss: The Jackie Presser Story." Brian Dennehy stars in the docudrama as the former head of the Teamsters union. Jeff Daniels, Maria Conchita Alonso, Eli Wallach and Robert Prosky also star. • Fox gives its new weekday show "Batman: The Animated Series" a prime-time slot on Sunday, Sept. 6. • Fox's "Parker Lewis" returns to Sundays beginning Sept. 6, replacing "True Colors," which has had its final broadcast. • Michael Jeter, who plays Herman Stiles, directed the repeat episode of "Evening Shade" that airs Monday, Sept. 7. • On Tuesday, Sept. 8, cable's Discovery Channel premieres "Brain Sex," a potentially controversial documentary on what researchers claim are genetically determined behavioral differences between the genders. • On Friday, Sept. 11, CBS airs "Disney's The Little Mermaid Primetime Special: A Whale of a Tale," an animated half-hour based on the popular 1989 movie. • WBC Super Lightweight Champion Julio Cesar Chavez takes on Hector "Macho" Camacho in a pay-per-view boxing bout airing Saturday, Sept. 12.

IN FOCUS

A special "Firing Line" debate, always a lively affair, airs this week. The subject: "Resolved: Industry Does Not Need Protection or Tariffs." Those arguing the affirmative, who include William F. Buckley (pictured), might fare better if the proposition read, "Industry SHOULD Not Need Protection or Tariffs." Columnist and TV commentator Michael Kinsley moderates. It airs Friday, Sept. 11, on PBS. (Check local listings.)

SOAP SCOOP

'GL' loses McKinsey; 'GH' gains Anthony

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

Beverlee McKinsey, who has played the divinely vulnerable, vinegary villainess Alexandra Spaulding on "Guiding Light" since 1984, is leaving the show. Early speculation is that McKinsey, a widow, wants to live closer to her son Scott, a director who lives in California.

Last spring, the soap community was in an uproar over two deserving soap-opera actresses who failed to receive nominations for the Best Actress Daytime Emmy Award, which was ultimately won by Erika Slezak, who plays Viki on "One Life to Live." One was McKinsey, who had a fantastic acting year. The other was Kate Collins, who played sisters Natalie and mad Janet on "All My Children." Now, within a two-week period less than two months after the Daytime Emmys ceremony, both actresses have left their shows. Ver-ry interesting.

• Wow! Here's some unexpected but welcome soap news. The very talented Gerald Anthony has joined "General Hospital" as Marco Dane, the role he made famous on "OLTL"! Marco, of course, was the manic devil who shook up life in Llanview for years. Now Marco turns up in Port Charles as Tracy Quartermaine (played by Jane Elliot) hires him to get information on the woman Tracy's husband, Paul (played by Paul Satterfield), loves - her own daughter-in-law, Jenny (played by Cheryl Richardson). Tracy Quartermaine and Marco Dane in the same scene - breathtaking! Anthony's first air date was Sept. 2.

• We met Ryan Phillippe, the 17-year-old actor who has made a splash as Billy on "OLTL," at the taping of the sequence involving the Names Project/AIDS Memorial Quilt in Morristown, N.J. This summer, Billy confessed to his parents that he is homosexual.

Phillippe, who says, "I went to a Baptist high school! I never had personal gay friends until I got into the (entertainment) business," recognizes how special Billy's story is.

"I feel a certain responsibility since I've taken the role, and I think the show does too," Phillippe says, adding that he has been deluged with mail. "Out of 500 letters, only one has been negative. That's not bad at all. Thirty percent of my mail has been from gay men and teens. It's really heavy stuff. One said, 'I'm contemplating suicide, but I'm waiting till the end of the summer.' I'm not a hero or anything, but I've taken letters like this to a psychiatrist. And I've sent out teen-crisis hotline phone numbers."

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

'RANGER' STAKEOUT - I've been a fan of Gene Autry's since he began appearing in motion pictures. One of my favorite films is "Ride, Ranger, Ride." It's been so long since I've seen it that I've forgotten who else was in it, but I'd like to look for it on video. - L.P., Greenfield, Mass.

Gene Autry

"Ride, Ranger, Ride" ran 59 minutes and was Autry's 10th outing as a star in Republic Pictures' B-movie Westerns. It was filmed in only 11 days and was released in 1936. Among the songs featured in "Ride, Ranger, Ride" are the title tune, "We'll Rest on the Sunset Trail," "Song of the Pioneer," "Going Down the Road," "Bugle Song" and "Yellow Rose of Texas." All were performed by Autry and The Tennessee Ramblers. The cast included Smiley Burnette, Kay Hughes, Monte Blue, George Lewis, Max Terhune, Robert E. Homans, Lloyd Whitlock, Chief Thundercloud, Frankie Marvin, Iron Eyes Cody, and, of course, Autry's horse, Champion. As far as we can determine, it has not yet been released on video.

HORSLEY ON HORSEBACK - I loved "Guns of Paradise" because it was such a sophisticated and well-written Western, and Lee Horsley was just great in his role as a gunfighter-hero. What has become of him? How old is he? Isn't he from Texas? - R.M., Beaumont, Texas

Horsley was born in Muleshoe, Texas, on May 15, 1955, which makes him 37 years old. He was raised in Colorado. Fans are accustomed to seeing him in action shows such as "Matt Houston" (1982-85) and the 1988-91 Western "Guns of Paradise" (which was originally titled "Paradise"), but this summer he turned up in a low-key crime series called "Bodies of Evidence," playing a police homicide lieutenant named Ben Carroll. The dashing star got his first regular series role in 1981's "Nero Wolfe."

OPRAH'S OPUS - Wasn't Oprah Winfrey in the movie "The Color Purple"? How old is she? - Q.T., New Orleans

Talk-show host Winfrey, who is 38 years old, made her movie debut in 1985's "The Color Purple" as Sofia, for which she received an Academy Award nomination. She also was the executive producer and starred in the 1989 miniseries "The Women of Brewster Place" and the 1990 series based on it, "Brewster Place."

SPORTS CALENDAR

Cunningham will lead Philadelphia to the top

BY CHRISTOPHER HULL

The National Football League celebrates 100 years of professional football when the 1992 season kicks off Sunday, Sept. 6, on CBS, NBC and TNT.

Here's a look at how we see the divisional races in the upcoming season:

NFC East: Philadelphia Eagles. It's the strongest division in football, and the cream of this crop is Philly. The key factor is the full return of quarterback Randall Cunningham. And the Eagles' defense is still the NFL's best. Washington and Dallas (who meet Sept. 7 on ABC's "Monday Night Football") should make the playoffs as wild cards.

NFC Central: Detroit Lions. Were the Lions running on emotion last year after the paralyzing injury to teammate Mike Utley? Probably, but it's still hard to see Chicago bettering them this year.

NFC West: San Francisco 49ers. The Bay Area hopes quarterback Joe Montana can return from the elbow trouble that sidelined him all of last season. But even if he can't, the 49ers are unmatched in the West. And both Steve Young and Steve Bono are capable of leading the team. New Orleans should win a wild-card slot.

AFC East: New York Jets. Call us crazy, but the J's look ready to step up. Their 8-8 record last year included six losses by six points or less, and, even if a long-overdue new quarterback calls the signals, they will be noticed. Buffalo, returning with essentially the same lineup as last year, will probably be demoralized after its second straight Super Bowl loss but should make the playoffs as a wild card.

AFC Central: Houston Oilers. The Oilers won the division after five straight wild-card seasons. Their passing game is the league's best, and they have something to prove after falling flat in last year's playoffs.

AFC West: Denver Broncos. After a bedazed season following their 55-10 thrashing by San Francisco in the Super Bowl three years ago, the Broncos rebounded and were less than a touchdown away from a trip to last year's big game. Kansas City and the Los Angeles Raiders should be wild cards.

• As major-league baseball heads into its last month, ESPN airs the Boston-Oakland game on Sunday, Sept. 6.

• CBS continues its live match coverage of the U.S. Open tennis championships this week. On Friday, Sept. 11, it airs the women's singles semifinals, and, on Saturday, Sept. 12, the women's singles final and the men's singles semifinal.

On Wednesday, Sept. 9, it's time once again for that tribute to the spandex-clad, "The 1992 MTV Video Music Awards." Dana Carvey (pictured) hosts the festivities, airing live from Los Angeles. Best Video nominees include Def Leppard, Nirvana, the Red Hot Chili Peppers and Van Halen. Also scheduled to perform are U2 and En Vogue. Guns N' Roses are slated for a set and to pick up a Video Vanguard Award - assuming they show up.

IN FOCUS

Beginning Saturday, Sept. 12, Nick at Nite celebrates the addition of "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" to its schedule with "The Marython" – continuous, weeklong showings of episodes of the 1970-77 series that will pre-empt all regular Nick at Nite programming. Mary Tyler Moore stars as interminably perky assistant producer Mary Richards. A different season of the comedy will be highlighted each night. Oh, Mr. Grant!

Improvement In Maryland's SAT Scores Reported

Maryland SAT scores rose slightly this year, suggesting an end to a decline in the scores that began in the state and the nation in 1987, State School Superintendent Nancy Grasmick announced last week.

Scores released by the College Board show that Maryland's top students and African American students are improving faster than their counterparts nationally.

Average SAT scores for Maryland's high school class of 1992 increased by three points over the previous year. The verbal score was up two points to 431, while the mathematics score was up one point to 476. Maryland scores were eight points above the national average verbal score and the same as the national mathematics score.

"These gains are a positive sign that we are improving our schools and our students are learning more," Governor William Donald Schaefer said. "I am really pleased to see that some of our students who have not performed well in the past improved this year."

Dr. Grasmick said Maryland students surpassed the national average verbal score by eight points even though 66 percent of Maryland's seniors took the test, 24 percent higher than the national average SAT participation. "Our SAT scores reflect the performance of nearly two-thirds of our seniors, not just the top students," Dr. Grasmick said.

In the class of 1992, Maryland's African American students gained four points on their verbal score and one point on their mathematics score. These gains were greater than those registered by Africa Americans nationally and place the state's African American students seven points ahead of their national counterparts in their verbal scores and two points ahead in mathematics.

Despite these improvements, however, the state's African Americans' average scores of 359 on the verbal test and 387 on the mathematics test left them 72 points behind the state average verbal score and 89 points behind the state average mathematics score.

Evidence of the strong performance by the Maryland's top students is found in the scores on the College Board achievement tests taken by students applying to the nation's most demanding colleges. Maryland's average achievement test score of 573 was up four points from last year and was 24 points above the national average achievement test score of 549.

Maryland's college-bound students also compare favorably with their U.S. counterparts in taking rigorous academic high school programs, which the College Board reports as the number of years of academic and honors courses taken. In Maryland, 50 percent of students took four or more years of academic course work, compared with 41 percent in the nation as a whole. More Maryland students took algebra, trigonometry, physics, chemistry, biology, and U.S. and European history.

This year 400 more Maryland students took calculus than last year, bringing the total number of students to 5,434. Half of the students in these classes were female students, an improvement in girls' participation in higher level mathematics. Nationally, 53 percent of calculus students were males.

College Board officials noted a national trend toward a more rigorous high school program, which, they said is clearly linked to higher SAT scores and better college preparation.

FSU Cultural Events Series Tickets Now Available; Schedule Noted

For the second consecutive year, the Lane Center at Frostburg State University is offering the public the opportunity to be season subscribers to the FSU Cultural Events Series. By subscribing, patrons are guaranteed tickets to what are often sold-out performances, reserved seating, and a 15% discount off individual ticket prices.

Opening the series this year will be the Beijing Song and Dance Ensemble, with members of the China Acrobatic and Magic Troupe, Saturday, September 26. Ballet Gran Folklorico de Mexico will perform Friday, October 30. Real Music recording artist Jim Chappell will bring his new age and jazz piano virtuosity to the Lane Center Friday, November 11. Rounding out the series will be a performance by the world-famous Boys Choir of Harlem.

The Beijing Song and Dance Ensemble is an art troupe featuring graceful dancing and singing in a lively Oriental artistic style, accompanied by musicians playing traditional instruments. A as messenger of friendship around the world, the China Acrobatic and Magic Troupe has performed in over 50 countries. Selected members of this 400-plus group will travel to FSU to perform stunning acrobatic fetes and Chinese magic tricks.

FSU will celebrate the 1992 Quincentenary Commemoration with a special guest appearance by the Ballet Folklorico de Mexico. This fast-moving spectacle includes songs and dances of a thousand years of Mexican history. Accompanied by the rhythms of the Mariachis, the Marimba and a special Jarocho trio, the authentic dancers are complemented by colorful costumes from Mexico. "A family entertainment, swirling dancers, exuberant singers and talented musicians explode with energy and rhythm to the amusement of young and old," stated one critic.

Perhaps best known for writing and performing original compositions that capture those poignantly memorable moments, new age pianist Jim Chappell has distinguished himself as a strong creative force in contemporary music. His latest album, "In Search of Real Music," his first on the Real Music label, was released this month.

The Boys Choir of Harlem has performed for audiences world-wide with a repertoire classical and modern music, popular song, spirituals, gospel, and jazz, highlighted by choreography and showmanship. The Choir provides hundreds of inner-city children an opportunity to realize their creative potential. The 35-member touring company features the tenor and bass voices of boys in secondary school, as well as younger treble voices. They will perform Sunday, February 7. This program is made possible by a grant from the Mid-Atlantic Arts Foundation in partnership with the Maryland State Arts Council and the National Endowment for the Arts. Also making it possible are the DeWitt-Wallace Reader's Digest Fund, the New York State Council of the Arts, and the Pepsi-Cola Company.

Season tickets are available to the public through September 26 at the FSU Lane Center; the Book Centre, Centre Street, downtown Cumberland; Disc Jockey Records, Country Club Mall and Main Street Books, Frostburg, and are $22 for all four events. FSU faculty and staff season tickets are $15, available at the Lane Center only. Tickets for individual events are also available.

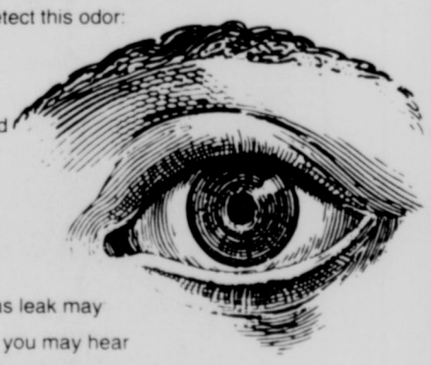
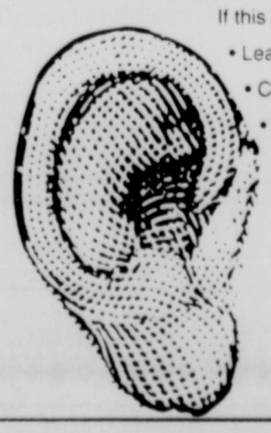
SOME COMMON SENSE WAYS TO DETECT A GAS LEAK.



Even with a system as safe and secure as your natural gas service, a leak could occur. That's why you and your family should learn some basic safety rules.

In cities, towns, or suburban areas.

Your gas company adds a special scent to the otherwise odorless natural gas that's delivered to your home. If you detect this odor:



- Don't use matches or operate electrical switches, equipment or appliances.
- Leave your home, business or building and call the gas company from another site.
- Don't return until a gas company representative arrives.

In parks or rural areas.

Outside some cities and towns, a natural gas leak may not be detectable by scent. In these areas, you may hear a blowing or hissing sound or see dirt blowing into the air; water bubbling or being blown into the air at a puddle, pond, creek or river; brown patches in vegetation on or near a gas line; or fire coming from the ground or burning above it.

If this happens:

- Leave the area and warn others to stay away.
- Call the gas company and the police and fire departments.
- Don't try to extinguish a gas fire or operate any pipeline valves.

Chances are you'll never experience a natural gas leak. But, if you do, follow your senses.

Back to Breakfast

School bells ring.
The morning pace picks up.
It's time to get back to breakfast.

Most families find their morning routines become more hectic with the arrival of fall. Breakfast is often forgotten as everyone runs out the door to work or school. Yet breakfast is essential to making it through a busy morning.

When breakfast is skipped, blood sugar levels in the body drop, and you run out of gas by mid-morning. Grabbing a doughnut or pastry may seem like an easy solution, but sugar-filled foods increase blood sugar too quickly. They provide an instant burst of energy, but bring you down as quickly as they pick you up.

This array of family-pleasing recipes makes it a snap to prepare a nutritious, wholesome breakfast. For added convenience, prepare and serve them in versatile, attractive Corning Visions cookware. It goes on the stove top, under the broiler, in any oven and then to the table to save on after-breakfast cleanup, too.

The simplicity and smooth texture of Cream of Wheat® hot cereal make it a perfect ingredient for bringing out the hearty flavor combinations in Cheese 'n' Bacon Spoonbread and Nutty Apple Starter.

The delectable Dutch Baby Pancake with Spiced Fruits looks elaborate, but the light pancake shell simply bakes up in the oven. An autumn bounty of fresh fruits and spices combines with Welch's® Totally Fruit Apricot Fruit Spread for an all-natural fruit filling. Totally Fruit means it's 100 percent fruit with no added sugar.

For mornings when time is of the essence, a cool, refreshing Fruity Grape Shake, made of Welch's Grape Juice, a banana and lowfat yogurt, whirls together in the blender in minutes.

If you're having trouble getting the kids interested in breakfast, try a little creativity. PB&J Bread puts a scrumptious twist on a noontime favorite. And Cream of Wheat hot cereal takes on a whole new look when it's in funny cut-out shapes drizzled with a syrup of grape jelly.

So, as you get into the swing of fall, get back to breakfast and send your family off with the energy they need to face the day.

USDA Plans Feed Grain Program, Invites Comments

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is planning the 1993 Feed Grain program and asking for public comments by September 14 on whether the acreage reduction percentage (ARP) for corn, grain sorghum and barley should be 0, 5, 7.5, 12.5, or some other percentage within the considered range.

By law, the 1993 oats ARP must be 0, according to Kenneth R. Bachtel, chairperson of the Garrett County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

"Feed Grain program options are published in the August 3 Federal Register which include estimated planted acreage, production, domestic and export use, ending stocks, season, average producer price, program participation rate and cost to the federal government," Bachtel said.

To obtain a copy of the regulatory impact analysis, farmers may contact Philip Sronce, director, Grains Analysis Division, at (202) 720-4417.

Bachtel said comments on the 1993 Feed Grain program must be received in Washington, D.C. by September 14 to be considered. The remarks may be FAXed to (202) 690-1346 or mailed to the Deputy Administrator, Policy Analysis, USDA-ASCS, Room 3090-S, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013-2415.

USDA's Extension Service Targets Farmers With Disabilities

A sprayer tank fell. It crushed his spinal cord. Suddenly a paraplegic, Joe thought his farming career was over.

It wasn't. He continues farming, producing grain and livestock on his northwest Iowa farm.

These days Joe operates a lift-equipped tractor and combine. He has an elevator in his house. With determination and a little assistance, Joe is doing what he enjoys, farming.

Joe is one of the hundreds of case histories taken from the file of farmers, ranchers, family members and agricultural workers who have participated in state and regional programs for farmers with disabilities. One such effort is the "AgrAbility Project."

"The AgrAbility Project's name reflects our goal of enabling agricultural workers with disabilities to improve their capabilities in farming and ranching," said Myron D. Johnsrud, administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Extension Service.

Designed to educate and assist farmers with disabilities, the AgrAbility Project supplies farmers with information on worksite and home modifications that accommodates their disabilities whether physical or mental.

Each year about 120,000 farmers, ranchers and agricultural workers suffer injuries which often result in permanent disabilities.

Johnsrud says the $2.5 million awarded to state and regional programs since 1991 identifies farmers with disabilities and provides them with technical assistance in adapting to and using modified farm equipment and tools.

Brad Rein, the ES national program leader for farm safety, says the AgrAbility Project joins the expertise and infrastructure of the Cooperative Extension Service with private non-profit disability organizations, primarily the National Easter Seal Society -- to provide direct education to farm families enabling them to accommodate disabilities.

The project also trains rural rehabilitation providers, agricultural specialists, agricultural agents, and others in agricultural worksite modifications, on-site consultation in appropriate technologies and assists with developing community-based volunteer rehabilitation resources, Rein said.

"If you've got the drive to get back into it (farming) you should do so as quickly as possible," said Arlan Bookwalter, an Indiana farmer who suffered a spinal injury. He participated in Extension's AgrAbility project at Purdue University's Breaking New Ground Research Center.

"We pretty much do the things we always did, we just do them differently," Bookwalter said about farming with a disability.

"At first, I thought what can they do?" said Dan Gwin, an Indiana farmer paralyzed from the waist down as a result of an accident. While Gwin recovered in an Indiana hospital, a vocational rehabilitation counselor suggested he contact the Breaking New Ground Research Center. "This made all the difference," Gwin added. "I never realized how much they could do." The BNG Research Center put Gwin in touch with vendors who taught him to modify his farm equipment and tools. As a result, he was able to farm again.

Today, Gwin is considering part-time employment advising other farmers with disabilities. "The way I see it," Gwin said, "someone helped me and I can at least return the favor."

AgrAbility Projects exist in 14 states: 1. Illinois; 2. Indiana; 3. Iowa; 4. Louisiana; 5. Michigan; 6. Minnesota; 7. Montana; 8. Idaho; 9. New York; 10. North Dakota; 11. South Carolina; 12. Wisconsin; 13. Vermont and 14. New Hampshire.

Future goals are to expand networking capabilities with other programs in more states, assist farmers with disabilities in a wider range of farm-related activities, and improve outreach capabilities.

In Maryland, cash receipts from the sale of milk by dairy farmers amounted to $204,190,000.

Animal Facilities Act Becomes Law

Legislation that makes it a federal crime to physically disrupt an animal enterprise was signed into law last week by President Bush.

"The president's signature of this law sends a strong message to animal rights extremists and is a major victory for Farm Bureau," according to Richard Newpher, executive director of the American Farm Bureau Federation's Washington office.

It is now a federal crime --punishable by a fine and/or up to a year in prison--when at least $10,000 in damages is done to an animal enterprise. Life imprisonment is possible if serious injury or death results. The law covers any commercial or academic enterprise using animals for food or fiber production or research and testing, as well as fairs, zoos, aquariums or competitive events involving animals.

Sen. Howell Heflin (D-Ala.) and Rep. Charles Stenholm (D-Texas) were the primary sponsors. Newpher credited state Farm Bureaus with obtaining the 264 co-sponsors who were the key to the legislation's passage.

Warm Week In A Cool Summer

By August 30 crop maturity again slowed and some crops were two weeks behind normal. Farmers are hoping the first frost will not be early and shorten the growing season.

An average of 5.4 days was suitable for fieldwork during the week ending August 30, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Across the state, 16 percent of the topsoil was short of moisture and 84 percent had adequate moisture. Subsoil moisture was short in 17 percent of Maryland, while the other 83 percent had adequate moisture.

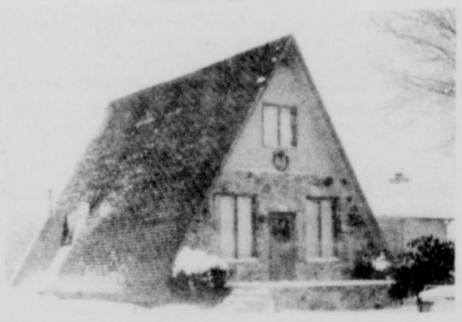
Soybeans were fair on the Eastern Shore and mostly good elsewhere. Most are blooming and over half are setting pods; only a few plants are beginning to turn. Corn and sorghum are in good condition across the state. Corn and sorghum maturity are lagging. Pastures were in excellent condition, with adequate hay supplies. Apples and peach crops were in good condition throughout the state; almost three fourths of the peaches are harvested, but few apples have been picked.

Maryland's progress for the week ending August 30 was as follows, listing the item, this year's percentage, last year's percentage and a percentage for the 5-year average.

Soybeans blooming, 86, 97, 91; setting pods, 63, 87, 75; corn silked, at least, 97, 99, 99; dough, at least, 64, 93, 88; dent, at least, 32, 81, 66. Sorghum headed, virtually completed, N/A; turned, 52, 10, N/A.

Hay harvested: Alfalfa, fourth cutting, 10, 32, 19; other, third cutting, 27, 22, 25. Peaches harvested, 71, 89, 79; apples harvested, 13, 23, 24.

N/A: Not available.



WEATHER

Maryland weather for the week ending August 28 was slightly warmer than normal with moderate precipitation. Precipitation averaged 0.33 inch, ranging from none at many of the stations to 2.19 inches at Salisbury. Regional averages were: Western, 0.57; North Central, 0.19; Southern Maryland West of the Bay, 0.14; and Eastern Shore, 0.48 inch. Temperatures averaged 75.0 degrees, 1.8 degree above the normal of 73.2 degrees for the August 22-28 period. Minimum temperatures were mostly in the low 50's. Maximum temperatures were in the low 90's.

In the state, dairying accounted for 15 percent of the cash receipts for all farm commodities last year.

Total milk produced in the state last year amounted to 162 million gallons.

Package only $14,900.00

Being in the construction business for over 16 years, we have become the innovators in our area with modular homes by using modular components to economically custom build distinctive homes in the Deep Creek Lake and Garrett County area. We are the first company to introduce the "SUPERIOR WALLS PRECAST FOUNDATION SYSTEM." Superior Walls can be set up in less than a day, which saves you time and money, and it is incredibly easy to finish the foundation inside since the walls are pre-insulated and have concrete studs ready for wiring and dry-wall, which cuts the cost of finishing the lower level in half.

Our newest achievement is "THE CABIN IN THE WOODS." By using the Post and Beam theory and the use of insulated roof panels, we were able to design a spacious, elegant, yet economical home with cathedral ceilings, which we offer to you in many levels of completion, starting with just the package to completing your new home inside and out.

Call us today to let us show you the latest methods that save you time and money in the construction of your new home.

Crops Notes

* Many of you have made the decision to go ahead and harvest the alfalfa rather than wait for a frost. There's a gamble, but I would make the same decision if I had alfalfa ready to harvest providing the alfalfa was in a healthy condition. I would recommend that you apply around 200 pounds of K2O (Potash) per acre as soon as the hay comes off the field. Potash is important in developing winter hardiness in the alfalfa plant.

* As soon as you take your cutting of orchard grass, I would recommend an application of 50 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre. You will get a good return on the dollars invested.

* Most of the farm magazines are predicting an early frost. Even if we don't get that early frost, it's going to hustle a lot of corn to reach maturity. We are probably about two weeks behind in normal maturity rate.

* Are you scouting your corn fields for the Western Corn Rootworm beetle?

Hurricane Andrew Devastates Crops In Florida And Louisiana

Hurricane Andrew -- the costliest hurricane ever -- hit agriculture operations in both Florida and Louisiana with the same force that created an overall picture of destruction in those two states.

In Florida, farms, nurseries and thousands of homes were destroyed or battered and damage is in the tens of billions of dollars. In Louisiana, crops such as sugarcane in Andrew's path were devastated.

For farmers in and around Homestead, Fla., which bore the brunt of the storm, the story is much the same as for other residents. Tropical fruit trees were literally blown out of the ground. More than 800 nurseries lost their foliage to the storm. The farmers' market and dozens of packing sheds were ripped apart. Farm equipment was overturned and greenhouses shattered.

"While the area hit hardest is a small land area, it represents one sixth of Florida's $6 billion agricultural economy," said Scottie Butler, a spokesman for Florida Farm Bureau. "So this will obviously be quite a blow to the state's agriculture."

A report coming in from the University of Florida Agricultural Research Center in Homestead stated that all of the pole barns, temporary buildings and greenhouses at the research facility are gone. The roof of the main building was also damaged and there was a lot of water damage to the interior and equipment, according to Dr. John Neilson, assistant dean for research at the university.

"A hugh number of trees are down," Neilson said. "The trees are blown out of the ground. Uprooted."

The university is in the process of assessing the same and making plans to get the facility back in operation, but it will be six months to a year before any research can be done, he said.

At Florida Farm Bureau Insurance headquarters in Gainesville, a toll-free hotline set up to process claims had logged nearly 1,200 calls by Wednesday night, less than three days after the hurricane hit.

More than 100 adjusters from Florida and surrounding states are in the devastated area of southern Florida settling claims and helping get people, whose homes and lives have been blown apart, back on their feet.

Farm Bureau and other groups and organizations across the state are also collecting food, water, clothing and other relief supplies to send to south Florida.

There are several reports of residents who literally can't find their homes. The storm tore down street signs, ripped out trees and made it difficult for people in the area to find their way around.

Specific damage reports are still being gathered in Louisiana, where Andrew flattened sugarcane, soybeans and cotton fields.

Late last week, thousands of Louisiana residents still were without electricity. Those who had been evacuated were making their way back home. It was too early to estimate the amount of crop damage.

"I'm sure it (crop damage) has to be in the tens of millions of dollars," estimated Louisiana Farm Bureau's Michael Danna. "Everywhere the hurricane went through, the sugarcane is blown over, flat. The soybean crop looks like it's been stripped."

The southernmost sugarcane-growing parishes -- particularly Iberia, St. Martin, Terrebonne and Lafayette -- were hardest hit. In Pointe Coupee Parish, cotton damage was so bad "they won't even be firing up the cotton gin," Danna said.

President Bush's promised federal aid will help, but the disaster program is a sore point for many farmers, who lost crops to severe floods last year. Some say they have not yet received disaster payments for that damage.

"Two bad crop years in a row really compounds a bad situation," said Danna.

Maryland Corn Production Up 11 Percent

The production of corn for grain in Maryland is forecast to be 11 percent more than last year's production based on August 1 conditions. Despite some very dry conditions in some areas of the state, most agricultural producers are optimistic about this year's crop conditions.

Most of the state's growing season has only slightly below rainfall and cooler than normal temperatures. Only during a period of a couple weeks in mid-July did temperatures rise to above normal levels. Rainfall was in short supply during mid-July but more adequate at the end of the month.

Corn for grain yield is expected to average 105 bushels per acre harvested off 450,000 acres for a total production of 47.3 million bushels, 11 percent more than the 42.8 million bushels harvested in 1991.

Soybean production, at 17.4 million bushels, is forecast to be 2.6 percent more than the 17.0 million bushels harvested in 1991. Soybeans are expected to average 32 bushels per acre on the 545,000 acres to be harvested statewide.

All hay production for 1992 is forecast at 315,000 tons, 40 percent higher than 1991. A record high yield of 3.34 tons per acre is expected on the 220,000 acres statewide.

Commercial apple predicted production, at 40.0 million pounds is 2.0 million pounds less than last year's production. Commercial peach expected production is 10.0 million pounds, down 5.0 million pounds from 1991.

In the United States, the first corn for grain production forecast of the 1992 season is 8.76 billion bushels, 17 percent above last year's crop. The U.S. average yield per acre is forecast at a record high 121.3 bushels, up 12.7 bushels from last year's yield. The first soybean production forecast of the 1992 crop is 2.08 billion bushels, up five percent from the previous year. Yield is expected to be a record high 35.8 bushels per acre, up 1.5 bushels from 1991.

Climb the Mountain!

Picture a group of 20 rugged mountain climbers headed for Mt. Everest. They have the equipment, the knowledge, and the physical training to reach the summit.

Pretend also that you can hear them talking as they begin traveling towards their base camp. "I hope it's not too cold" says one climber. "I hurt my ankle the last time and had to turn back," says another. "I just don't know if I can make it all the way to the top" says a third member of the party.

Does something about the conversation you are hearing sound just a little odd? What do you think are the odds that this tentative group will even make it halfway up the mountain?

There is something missing, something very, very important to the success of their climb. That something is "commitment."

No matter what mountains must be climbed in life, the most important ingredient is the faith or belief that you will reach the summit. Only the flaming desire to accomplish your goals will keep you on the road to achievement when the trail becomes rough.

What does commitment have to do with the real estate agent you choose when buying or selling a house? Everything. Many steps must be taken along the trail from your first introduction to the successful conclusion of a real estate transaction.

Look for an agent who is "surefooted" when it comes to uphill climbs on an uncertain path. Once you begin to market your home as a seller, or begin house hunting as a buyer, there should be no need for turning back.

The committed agent can lead you carefully in the right direction, avoiding the pitfalls of faulty decisions, while heading straight for your objectives. There will be no need for doubling back or abandoning your quest.

Look carefully for the traits of commitment. A positive attitude, coupled with a history of achievement can be a clear barometer that you will reach the summit!

If you'd like to purchase a home, but feel out-of-touch with what's happening in real estate, give us a call today at 387-5303 or drop by our office at McHenry Plaza.

Habitat For Humanity Receives Help From Numerous Workcamp Volunteers

Garrett County Habitat for Humanity sponsored eight workcamps this summer to repair and improve 13 substandard homes and to work on one new home for a Habitat family. Some 165 volunteers from seven churches, from one college, and from one high school traveled a total of more than 2,582 miles to Garrett County, bringing with them their building skills their energy, and more than $12,980 to pay for building materials on the projects. They were housed in three private homes, in the Accident Head Start Center, and in the Eagles's Nest at the Wisp Ski Area. Nineteen churches, three service organizations, and several private businesses provided food for the workcamps.

The first group which worked from March 1-7 was from Loyola Christian College in Baltimore, consisted of dean of the college, his wife, and seven students on spring break. They worked for a family and with a family who had experienced a grease fire in their kitchen six months previously. In their school newspaper they stated their motto, "Expect nothing, gain everything." They said they were "delighted" with the home overlooking Deep Creek Lake which was provided for them, and surprised at "how much fun" their group had working with the family.

"The final surprise came in the friendliness and hospitality of the people in Garrett County," stated one member of the group. All their meals were provided by churches and businesses. They stated in their newspaper, "Overall the Garrett County group indeed, 'gained everything.'"

From April 27 to May 1 12 students and five adults came from the Lancaster Mennonite High School, Lancaster, Pa., to tear down part of an old house belonging to a Habitat family and repair part to be used as storage. They were housed by Henry and Esther Yoder. Elmer and Ida Maust, and the Cherry Glade Mennonite and the Oak Grove Mennonite churches provided the meals.

Seventeen volunteers from Christ Church of Hamilton and Wenham in the Boston area were here June 21-27 to repair a house that had had no water, no heat, and no electricity for a year. The family had used a kerosene stove for heating and cooking. They stayed at the Accident Head Start Center and provided their own food.

The following churches sent workcamps this year and many of the seven years that Garrett County Habitat has had workcamps: The First Presbyterian Church, Vienna, Va. (22 volunteers); Christ Reformed Church, Middletown, (10 volunteers); United Church of Christ, Frederick, (10 volunteers); Damascus United Methodist Church, Damascus, (15 volunteers); the First Baptist Church, Waynesboro, Va. (15 volunteers); Rockville United Church Rockville, (26 volunteers); and the Lakes Forest Presbyterian Church, Lake Forest Ill., near Chicago, (26 volunteers). Homes were repaired in Crellin, Grantsville, Friendsville, Mtn. Lake Park, Oakland, Hutton, Bittinger, Shallmar, and Gorman.

"Garrett County Habitat for Humanity and the families it serves are truly grateful to all the workcamps and to the churches, businesses, and individuals that housed and provided food for the workcamp volunteers," stated Richard Tepper, president.

Habitat for Humanity not only repairs substandard houses, but builds new homes for qualified families who contribute 300 hours of "sweat equity." These homes are sold with 15- to 30-year, interest-free mortgages. Labor on these homes is done by volunteers. No government money is accepted. Tax-deductible contributions can be sent to Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, P.O. Box 363, Oakland, MD 21550.

VOLUNTEERS FROM ALL OVER came to Garrett County this past spring and summer to assist Garrett County Habitat for Humanity in its effort to provide adequate, affordable housing for many local families. Some 165 volunteers from seven churches, one college, and one high school traveled a total of nearly 2,600 miles just to Garrett County as participants in one of this summer's eight workcamps that were held. Pictured above left working on a local Habitat house are some of the 26 volunteers from Lake Forest Presbyterian Church, located near Chicago. Painting ceilings in the above right photo are two students from Loyola College, Baltimore. Below left, volunteers from First Baptist Church in Waynesboro, Pa., install ceilings in a local house, and constructing a roof in the photo below right are volunteers from the United Church of Christ, Frederick.

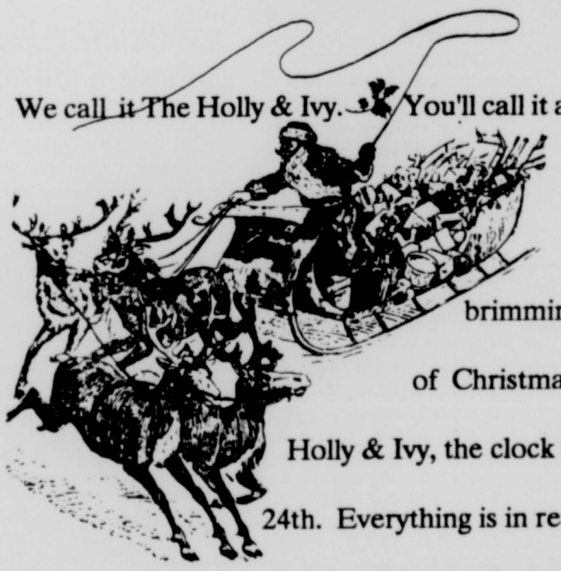
Bartlett Among Visitors To GOP Booth At Fair



Roscoe Bartlett, Republican candidate for United States Congress for Maryland's Sixth district, spent three days during the recent Garrett County Fair week working in the Republican Booth and introducing himself and his wife to the people of Garrett County. Bartlett hopes to capture the Congressional seat being vacated by Congresswoman Beverly Byron, who was defeated in the Democratic primary.

The Garrett County Republican Central Committee, which annually sponsors the booth at the Fair, distributed literature for Republican candidates and encouraged all to vote in the November 3rd general election. Twenty-five new voters were registered during the course of the week.

The Republican Central Committee also reported that over 1,200 individuals visited the booth to enter the drawing for a free $50 U.S. Savings Bond which was won by Bradley Lilly of Oakland.

According to a spokesman, the Republican Central Committee noted its appreciation to the volunteers who worked in the booth, as well as those who visited during the week. Special appreciation was extended to Rudy, Sandy, and Michael Shockey of Finzel for the design and construction of the booth.

Wellness Together Reports Success With Fair Booth

Representatives of the Wellness Together program once again visited with area residents at the annual Garrett County Fair. The annual booth, sponsored by the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and in coordination with the Garrett County Health Department, offered several "give-away" items and presented various displays concerning a health lifestyle.

Approximately 5,000 pencils, 3,000 bookcovers, 2,500 message boards, 2,500 children's magic slates, and other items such as band-aid dispensers, telephone stickers, and health-related information were given away to people who visited the fair.

The booth display featured photographs of the 1992 "Healthstars" as seen on the Wellness Together calendar, mailed to over 23,000 households in January. Area residents were invited to fill out a 10-question health risk appraisal designed by the staff to address the health concerns of children, teenagers, and adults. The appraisal included a form to fill out qualifying that person for a nightly t-shirt give-away.

The health risk appraisal challenged persons to change health habits to reach the "Healthy 2000" goals that the nation is currently aiming for. Over 700 people per day filled out the forms that quizzed them on topics such as smoking status, safety belt compliance, stress management, weight control, nutrition status, and cholesterol levels.

The Wellness Together program has classes and screenings available to try to help individuals, families, workers, and community groups to improve their lifestyles for better health by achieving these goals.

WELLNESS TOGETHER FAIR BOOTH IS SUCCESS - Thousands of visitors stopped by this year's Wellness Together Garrett County Fair booth, filling out health quizzes and getting advice on improving their lifestyles through good nutrition, exercise, stress management, and other activities. Over 700 people per day completed forms that quizzed them on these issues. Thousands of gifts were handed out including pencils, telephone stickers, and message boards. In the photo above, staff members from both Wellness Together and the Garrett County Health Department are shown as they volunteer their time to answer area residents' lifestyle questions. See story.

GARRETT COUNTY

92-PO-0036 - Class III Waters. Maryland Department of Natural Resources Bureau of Mines, 69 Hill Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532, proposes to construct a small pond as part of the reclamation of 30 acre abandoned surface mine site (Franklin Hill Slide). The proposed pond which will be located 3.2 miles northwest of Westernport in Garrett County has a drainage area of 29.8 acres and will have approximately 4 acre feet of storage, 0.7 acres of surface area, and 2 feet of normal pool.

The embankment will be 9 feet high with approximately 1.3 feet of freeboard above 25 year design storms. The principal spillway will be an 8" PVC pipe with its invert 2 feet above the bottom of the pond, allowing a 2 feet deep normal pool. The top of the dam will be at elevation 1906 feet where the crest of emergency spillway will be elevation at 1903.5 feet.

The principal spillway providing extended detention, the removal of sediment, and overall stabilization of the mine site are being proposed for water quality enhancement to Aaron Run, a tributary to Savage River.

The peak discharges, pond design, and necessary hydraulic analyses were performed utilizing methodologies such as SCS TR-55, Maryland Mine Drainage Handbook, National Weather Service Simplified Dam Break Analysis, MD-378, and other related methodologies accepted by the engineering society.

MADE-TO-ORDER BUILDING

Garrett Community College is currently accepting requests for a Made-to-Order building to be constructed by this year's carpentry class. The building design must incorporate the following features: wood building of conventional frame construction, minimum dimensions 10 ft. x 12 ft., maximum dimensions 12 ft. x 18 ft., standard pitch gable roof (shingled), minimum of one door and one window opening, no interior finish (although this may be negotiable). Siding to be of client's choice. The cost of the building will be for materials only; all materials are to be supplied as needed by the owner. In addition, the owner is responsible for all arrangements and costs of moving the completed structure from Garrett Community College. The project completion date will be Spring of 1993.

Interested persons should contact Mr. Ed Norman at 387-6666 for more information. Building requests will be considered in the order received and on the basis of how well the design incorporates the requirements listed above. In the event that several requests are received, the College reserves the right to make the final project selection based on how well the building design fits course requirements. 27-1

New Classes At GCC Will Focus On Effective Management, Supervision

New fall classes at Garrett Community College will offer the opportunity for business managers and supervisors to strengthen their skills in meeting the many challenges of supervision.

According to Sandy Major, program coordinator, these classes are designed to build the skills and knowledge that will be most practical and valuable in meeting the diverse needs of the employees, managers, and owners of area businesses. All class materials have been revised and upgraded for the new school year in order to incorporate specific elements of quality management.

Participants may choose to take one or all of the six mini-classes being offered as part of Fundamental Skills of Management and Supervision Series. They have been designed to meet the specific needs of those who manage or supervise employees in business, health, service organizations, or school settings. The content of each of these classes is interrelated to the content of the other classes. In order to address the individual needs of each participant, each class is limited to 12 students.

"Managing to Hire and Develop Good Employees," the first of the series, begins on September 22. Participants in this class will gain new effectiveness as supervisors by focusing on practical issues that are critical to hiring, developing, and keeping good employees, Major said. Key topics include: employee selection; orientation; training and development; job descriptions and policy manuals; performance evaluations; effective supervisory techniques; legal responsibilities; progressive discipline; and termination. The class will meet September 22 and September 29 from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m.

"Building Employee Productivity" is designed to help each participant explore and strengthen motivational and leadership skills that will help assure a productive, motivated work force. Key topics include: basic motivational techniques; the dynamics of effective leadership; developing team building skills; delegating to motivate; using situational leadership; and the components of personal change. The class will meet October 6 and 13 from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m.

Major said "Strengthening Your Assertiveness and Communication Skills" will enable participants to build confidence and personal power by learning to effectively use assertiveness techniques and basic communication principles. Practical "hands-on" learning experiences will be offered in: assessing and strengthening assertiveness skills; practicing effective communication techniques; focusing on listening to communicate; and giving and getting positive feedback. The class will meet October 20 and 27 from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m.

THOMAS LINCOLN'S GRAVE, located on Backbone Mountain off U.S. Rt. 50, will be among the sites visited by those who participate in a tour sponsored by the Garrett County Historical Society on September 12. Lincoln, who was a cousin of President Abraham Lincoln, was from Carmichaels, Pa. He suffered from tuberculosis and came to Garrett County for treatment at the Conneway House, an inn that was located along the National Highway. He died there in 1902. Reservations for the tour ($9 including lunch) can be made by sending a check to the Garrett County Historical Society, Rt. 3, Box 4542, Deer Park, MD 21550.

Ms. Major said "Communication Challenges for Supervisors" will help supervisors confront the "really tough" supervisory and managerial situations in a positive "win-win" fashion. In order to participate in this class students must have completed "Strengthening your Assertiveness and Communication Skills." The class will include skill building opportunities in: dealing with problem employees; managing difficult customers; terminating employees; conducting performance evaluations; and coaching and team building. The class will meet November 3 and 10 from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m.

"Making the Time To Manage" is designed to enable students to discover ways to manage time that will help them handle stress and enjoy their jobs. Practical and individualized learning experiences will be focused on: values, goals and priorities; time management techniques; getting past procrastination and personal time wasters; increasing and using prime time; and conducting effective meetings. The class will meet November 17 and 24 from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m.

The final class, "Planning, Organizing and Controlling" is designed to help students focus on improving the quality of products and services. Participants will improve skills in: operational planning, organizational structures, implementing control systems and decision making. The class will meet December 1 and 8 from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m.

Since space is limited, Ms. Major said those interested in these classes should register immediately. To obtain information on any of these classes or other business classes, persons may call Sandy Major at 387-6666, ext. 180.

Task Force To Address Safety In School Zones

As a result of growing interest to improve school zone safety for children, the State Highway Administration (SHA) is attempting to identify and address safety problems near schools along state highways.

With the support of Governor William Donald Schaefer, a task force has been created including SHA representatives, legislators, police officers, and members of parent/teacher, local government and transportation organizations to devise programs solving school zone safety issues.

Members of the task force include SHA staff, Maryland Delegates Joan Cadden and Joan Pitkin, State Senator Leo E. Green, Carolyn Roeding of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc. (MCPT), Corporal Mike Fischer of the Maryland State Police, as well as representatives of various county school systems.

"Marylanders are very concerned about the safety of school age children on our street and highways. We need consistency in monitoring and enforcing school safety throughout the state," Governor Schaefer said.

According to O. James Lighthizer, Maryland Department of Transportation secretary, the School Zone Safety task force has taken an inventory of all schools along state highways and is reviewing the effectiveness and consistency of traffic control plans at those schools.

"We will list necessary improvements for the 1993 school year and study safety issues at schools which may have a high potential for safety problems," said Lighthizer.

Other goals of the task force include addressing pedestrian crossings with high accident records, establishing improved communication between SHA and school officials and implementing the safety programs developed by SHA on Maryland's road system. The task force will meet regularly to address school safety statewide.

"We now have plans to hold a workshop in the fall for educators, legislators, police, State Highways and other concerned parties to discuss school zone safety issues," said Hal Kassoff, SHA administrator.

The task force has created subcommittees to deal with specific school zone safety issues. "For example, we want to develop a definition of 'school zone' that all state and local parties can accept and work with. We want to revise the State Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices and its impact on schools," said Carolyn Roeding, who chairs the School Zone Safety task force.

"We plan to create a handbook for school administrators and parent groups to guide them with questions like, who paints crosswalks on school grounds, who do you call if there's a problem with inadequate parking for school buses, can speed limits be changed around schools? We need a uniform system of school safety that everyone can use, whether you're in Garrett County, Dorchester County, or any place in between," Roeding said.

In November 1991, representatives from approximately 20 Maryland schools met at SHA Office of Traffic to report on aspects of their safety programs in an effort to create a statewide program for all schools. "The result of that meeting was the creation of the task force," Kassoff said.

According to State Senator and task force member Leo Green, while legislation was considered in the General Assembly session to set standards to address safety issues, "it was deemed a good approach to have teachers, parents, SHA and other groups work together in exploring safety issues and possible improvements. The creation of the task force is indicative of this team effort," Green said.

Firewood Permit Cost Increased

Savage River State Forest firewood permits increased in cost from $5 to $8 per cord as of September 1. According to a DNR spokesman, this increase brings uniformity to all the Maryland State Forest operations. For any further information, suggestions or comments, persons may contact Forest Manager Larry Maxim at (301) 895-5759.

Area Emergency Personnel Invited To Attend Course

A special training course dealing with bloodborne pathogens and infectious disease protection will be offered to area emergency medical service attendants, fire fighters, and police officers in September.

The course instructor will be Diane May, who also teaches emergency medical technician certification programs and emergency services training instructor at Westvaco in Luke. Programs will be offered on September 13 from 1 to 6 p.m. at the Cumberland Memorial Hospital Auditorium, and on September 26 at Garrett Community College in McHenry from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Room 305 of the Learning Center.

According to an Emergency Medical Services spokesman, the issue of infectious disease and the need for infection control has become extremely important to public safety workers in the past several years. Recently federal and state guidelines require extensive training and infectious disease prevention programs to be implemented by ambulance/fire services and police services. The inherent rise of infection, as well as these new regulations, make the timeliness of this course extremely relevant, the spokesman said.

Ms. May will cover a multitude of areas in her program. Included will be terminology associated with infectious disease, the ability to understand and identify how Hepatitis B virus attacks the body, how to identify the proper cleaning and disinfectants solution for Hepatitis B, and understanding of vaccines and limitations, and the steps and procedures should an exposure occur. A complete explanation of the new regulations pertaining to fire/ambulance and police services and bloodborne pathogens will also be given.

Courses are approved for five hours of CEUs in these categories: ALS-B and BLS-Medical.

All EMS, fire, and police personnel in Allegany and Garrett counties, and the surrounding West Virginia and Pennsylvania counties, are invited to take advantage of this training. To pre-register, persons may contact the MIEMSS Region I Office at (301) 895-5934 or 746-8636.

Police Target Drunk Drivers On Land And Sea

Maryland State Police Superintendent Larry W. Tolliver and Maryland Natural Resources Police Superintendent Franklin I. Wood are sending a strong message to drivers this Labor Day Weekend -- drunk drivers won't be safe on land or sea.

State Police and Natural Resources Police have joined forces to form a "drunk driving dragnet" that will cover Maryland's highways and waterways this holiday weekend. Both departments will be concentrating on getting drunk drivers from behind the wheel, whether it is the wheel of a car, or the wheel of a boat.

Governor William Donald Schaefer added his support to this effort and warned that drunk driving will not be tolerated. "Maryland has no tolerance for those who choose to jeopardize the safety of others through the abuse of alcohol and drugs," Governor Schaefer said. "Maryland has taken a united stand against this abuse and the joint effort of these law enforcement agencies is an excellent example of our combined efforts."

Tolliver and Wood announce their combined effort and stress the need for agency cooperation in combatting the menace of the drunk driver.

"A drunk driver is still a drunk driver, whether operating an automobile or a boat," Tolliver said. "Our intent is to prohibit drunk drivers from endangering Marylanders either on the highway or the waterway."

"With more boaters on the water than usual, boaters need to become aware that alcohol and operating watercraft don't mix," Wood said. "Our officers are committed to making Maryland's waterways alcohol and drug-free for the state's boaters. Through this joint effort, not only will the state's motorist be safer, but so will those enjoying Maryland's waters."

State troopers will patrol Maryland roads looking for drunk drivers. Troopers will also strictly enforce the 55 m.p.h. speed limit and the seat belt law.

Natural Resources Police will be out in force on the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries. Officers will watch for erratic and unsafe boat operation, which can indicate an operator who is under the influence.

Many boaters spend the day drinking and feel they are capable of driving home at the end of the day, Wood said. State troopers will be especially alert for signs of drunk driving by boaters returning home.

Motorists who refuse to submit to a chemical test for alcohol, or whose test results register a level of .10 or higher, will have their driver's license confiscated immediately. Only the presence of an odor of alcoholic beverages is needed for drivers under the state's legal drinking age of 21 to face the loss of their driving privileges.

The same legal limit of intoxication for motorist applies to boaters while they are operating a vessel on the water. Boaters who are operating a boat while intoxicated will be arrested, processed and taken before a court commissioner, just as those arrested while operating an automobile.

During last year's Labor Day Weekend holiday, Maryland State Police arrested 158 motorists for drunk driving. Three people died in traffic accidents during the same period. Maryland Natural Resources Police reported two deaths during the 1991 Labor Day Weekend.

More Spent On Entertainment Despite Economy

While revenues from the income and sales tax showed lingering effects of the economic downturn, statewide entertainment spending registered an upward trend in fiscal year 1992, says Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein. "Marylanders spent about $439.4 million or 5.8% more on taxable entertainment during fiscal year 1992 than during the same period of the previous year," Goldstein said. Fiscal year 1992 ended June 30, 1992.

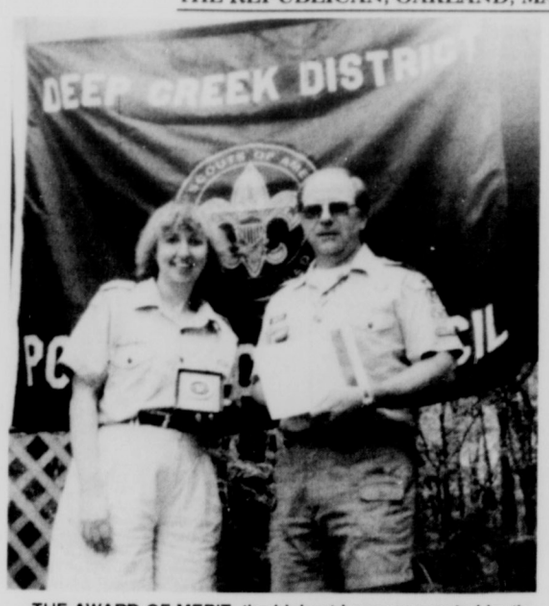
Increased spending at athletic events, golf courses and for athletic equipment and facilities help make 1992 entertainment spending grow at an even faster rate than last year.

"All of this spending for entertainment generates admissions and amusement tax revenue which our office collects for Maryland's counties, cities and towns," Goldstein said. The comptroller noted that checks totaling $29,899,712 have bee distributed to local governments as their share of the admissions and amusement tax receipts for fiscal year 1992.

Garrett County received $209,739, a 9.26% increase over the FY '91 total of $194,206.

"The fiscal year 1992 distribution is about 8.8% more than the $27.5 million we returned to the local governments for fiscal year 1991," Goldstein said. "We collect this revenue at rates set by local officials and return the money to local governments each quarter."

All major entertainment categories showed increases in spending except motion pictures. Marylanders spent more than $57.3 million on athletic events, an increase of about 33% over fiscal year 1991.



"Last year's mild winter weather also contributed to increased entertainment spending," Goldstein said. "For example, golf greens fees and cart rentals were responsible for consumer spending of $39.5 million, up 14.4% from fiscal year 1991."

Statewide spending for athletic facilities and equipment rentals increased by 4% over the same period of the previous year, to about $12.8 million.

Consumers also increased spending on live theatre and concerts by about 7.8% to $16.3 million in fiscal year 1992. However, spending on movie tickets registered a slight decline of about 1.5% to $77.4 million in fiscal year 1992.

Despite the mild winter weather, ski slops and ski rentals, and skating and skating shoe rentals attracted more entertainment dollars in fiscal year 1992 than during the previous fiscal year.

Spending for boat rides and rentals also increased by about 9.7% to $13.8 million.

THE AWARD OF MERIT, the highest honor presented by the Deep Creek District, Boy Scouts of America, was recently presented to Mike Reed, scout master of Troop 82, Accident. Making the presentation at the District's recent annual appreciation picnic at Broadford Park was Betty Eaton, District chairman. Reed has served as advancement chairman for the District, scout master, cub master, and Order of the Arrow Lodge financial advisor. He is also a life scout.

"This increased spending can be largely attributed to the recreation facilities at Baltimore's Inner Harbor and Ocean City," Goldstein added.

During fiscal year 1992, the Maryland Stadium Authority received $2,209,795 as its first year's share of admissions and amusement tax receipts.

Cook Exhibition Held In Nebraska

Don Cook, an Oakland resident, recently opened his exhibition, Bobby & Brenda: Talking Walls, in the historic Missouri River town of Brownville, Nebraska, as part of his summer Bemis Foundation Visual Artist Residency. The artist's residency, a cooperative project of the Bemis Foundation, Omaha, and the Brownville Fine Arts Association, is part of the Bemis' Rural Outreach Program.

The exhibition uses sculpture, text, and an architectural model and imagery to present various layers of Brownville's history. Bobby & Brenda: Talking Walls is also a proposal which offers new approaches to visualizing Brownville's past using site works, a visual guidebook, and computer imaging.

The artist had the following comments concerning his exhibition: "The old adage, 'if these walls could talk,' expresses a longing for the active voice of history in one's life. This exhibition is a small attempt to make the walls, talk; to spark the layers of time alive by passing the fictional voice of two contemporary characters, Bobby and Brenda, through the mute walls of old photographs, chronicles, and the architectural record of Brownville."

An opening reception for the artist was held at the Brownville Land Office Tourist Center on Saturday, August 22. The exhibit continued through August 30.

The Bemis Foundation Alternative Worksite, in Omaha, Neb., is a residency program proving studio/living spaces and a stipend for artists.

Camping Permits Will Cost $2.00

SOUND OF MUSIC
MUSIC MAN

by Melissa Groves

Tula Ellice Finklea started ballet lessons in Amarillo, Texas, at age 6. You know her as Cyd Charisse. She gained fame as a co-star of Fred Astaire and Gene Kelly in lavish movie musicals of the '40s and '50s, then turned to movie dramas, TV specials and a touring nightclub act with singer Tony Martin, whom she married in 1948. It wasn't until 1992 that she debuted in what she calls the World Series of show biz: a starring role on Broadway, in the musical "Grand Hotel."

Tree Planting Monies Remain In State Program

Governor William Donald Schaefer today announced that the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Forestry Programs still has monies in the Forest Stewardship Program which need to be disbursed to implement forest stewardship plans before the end of September, 1992.

"The DNR program, funded by federal grants, provides opportunities to accomplish great things in the state's forests," said Governor Schaefer. "Forest Stewardship encourages forest landowners to utilize their land to enhance Maryland's natural resources."

When enrolled in a Forest Conservation and Management Agreement, Forest Stewardship Cooperators can also benefit from a substantial savings in their property taxes. Landowners with five or more acres of forested land may qualify to receive assistance in implementing an approved Forest Stewardship Plan.

DNR Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D., said, "With only four weeks to commit these allocated funds, DNR's foresters are encouraging landowners to take advantage of this cost sharing opportunity."

DONATION TO HABITAT -- The Rockville United Church held a "Mexican Fiesta" and yard sale last fall to raise money for their Habitat for Humanity workcamp project in Garrett County. Since some people were unable to participate in the workcamp an additional $751.99 was raised and donated to the Garrett County Chapter of Habitat for Humanity. Dr. Ken Fisher, pictured above right, presented the check to Don Little, chairman of the Building Committee. In addition to working at two Garrett County Habitat Workcamps, the Rockville United Church manages a homeless shelter in Rockville, assists with a homeless shelter in Washington, D.C., and participates in several other humanitarian activities.

DNR Promotes Boating Safety Over Labor Day

Labor Day is traditionally the last big holiday weekend of the summer, with a greater number of boats on the waterways than usual. Maryland's Department of Natural Resources (DNR) urges boaters to be alert to the rules of safe boating.

Boaters should:

*Know and observe the rules of the water.

*Don't overload your boat; have no more aboard than your boat can safely hold.

*Have a personal flotation device (PFD) on board for each person. Wear them - don't sit on them!

*Be a responsible skipper. Don't drink and boat.

Labor Day may be the beginning of Maryland's hurricane season as well. As always, before going out on the water, persons should check their local weather forecasts. People should not be on a boat if a severe storm threatens. Boat should be secured at least 48 hours before the arrival of a storm.

For more information about hurricane preparedness, person may call the DNR Boating Administration at (410) 974-2918.

There is still time to take a safe boating course. Persons may call (410) 974-2247 for information.

Dougherty Files For Sixth District Congressional Seat

Wayne S. Dougherty, Brunswick, recently announced that he has filed as a write-in candidate for election to the U.S. House of Representatives from Maryland's Sixth District. Dougherty was nominated as the candidate of the Libertarian Party of Maryland, according to the candidate.

"The federal government is responsible for 99 percent of the ills that afflict our society today. Americans must take back the control over their lives and communities that the career politicians and bureaucrats have slowly taken from them," said Dougherty.

"Once a benign servant, government has become a benign tyrant," he added. "Our individual liberties and the fruit of our labors are being taken from us. We must put the genie of socialism back in the bottle, and re-create the limited government defined in our Constitution."

Dougherty spoke of "onerous taxation" that impoverishes both the state and local governments. He stated that his short-term goal is to cut government spending by $500 billion "by implementing the recommendations of the Grace Commission on government waste, abolishing the Departments of Education and Energy, ending foreign aid, halting the issuance of government regulations and mandates, and reducing income taxes across the board to lighten the burden that is sapping the vitality of our economy."

Dougherty is a life-long resident of Maryland, and is employed as an electronics technician. He resides with his wife and three children.

The Libertarian Party is the nation's third largest, and its platform supports civil liberties, economic freedom, and a non-interventionist foreign policy.

Commission On Alcohol, Drug Abuse Meets

Members of the local health and law enforcement agencies, along with various representatives from the community, met recently with state officials to discuss Garrett County's alcohol and drug programs and concerns.

The Garrett County Health Department's offices of Addiction Services hosted the information meeting on August 17. State interests were represented by Dr. Neil Soloman, chairperson of the Governor's Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse; Floyd Pond, executive director of the commission; and James Reagan, chief of quality assurance for the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Administration of the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. District I Senator John Hafer and District 1-A Delegate George Edwards also were in attendance.

"We have attempted to meet with every county in the state of Maryland where alcohol and drug abuse programs are taking place," stated Dr. Soloman. "By inviting local government and agency people, we are able to collect information on the needs of the individual counties and hear the views of the community members."

Garrett County Health Officer, Dr. Rex Archer; Deputy Health Officer, Jay Cross; and Don Swogger and Joelle Plauger of the Addiction Prevention program discussed various aspects of the Garrett County Health Department's prevention spectrum with the group. Cross asked for the continuing support of the state in communicating statewide statistics to compare with local facts. Dr. Archer spoke of the positive results of local control of health programs, and current prevention programs, such as those for senior citizens and head start children, were discussed by Don Swogger.

Phil Fisher, director of Addiction Treatment Services in Garrett County, informed the visiting state representatives of recent trends in local efforts to help with the problem of the alcohol and drug abuse.

Recent community programs and future goals of the Garrett County Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse were explained at the meeting by Tom Bratten, president of the Council, and Floyd Baker, the Council's past president.

"We are working on new projects for area youth and are continuing our support of programs such as the Designated Drivers Initiative and October's National Red Ribbon Campaign," stated Bratten. "Our projects are working, but are in need of financial support."

Other local representatives at the meeting included Anna Bishop, speaking on behalf of the Garrett County Board of Education, Sergeant Dan Stanton of the Maryland State Highway Patrol, and Oakland Sheriff Van Evans.

Evans pointed out the "involvement of the Sheriff's Department in all aspects of the alcohol and drug abuse issue, including prevention, enforcement, education, and treatment."

The state representatives concluded the afternoon meeting by complimenting Garrett County on its efforts in programming and educating in the alcohol and drug abuse area.

"We are always glad to see all aspects of the community -- law enforcement, health services, legislators, schools, and individuals from the area -- working together to provide effective efforts in the fight for a drug-free environment," stated Dr. Soloman. "That is what is working here in Garrett County."

STATE COMMISSION MEMBERS VISIT -- Shown above are two state representatives from the Governor's Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse who recently shared information with local representatives at a meeting hosted by the Garrett County Health Department's offices of Addiction Services. Posy Woman, Fact or Fancy?
by Charity Janssen

Did you have a great aunt who planted flowers only when the "signs" were right? Did she insist that cucumbers planted in the wrong "sign" would not produce bloom or that onions set when the moon was new would heave out of the ground?

Not so many years ago, The Old Farmer's Almanac was the final authority on farming. Its calendar, still available, labeled each day with the sign of the Zodiac that ruled it, and indicated the phase and position of the moon for that day. Also available were numerous astronomical calculations by which farmers not only planted and harvested, but predicted the weather.

Our forebears considered that each sign had a specific influence on fertility, moisture, or bloom. Some signs were better than others for burning, killing noxious weeks, and setting fence posts. Root crops fared better in one moon phase, above ground crops in another. A small figure holding a watering can appeared over each date of the planting calendar that fell in the sign favorable for producing abundant blossoms. Your great-grandmother probably would have avoided planting on any day not in "Posy Woman."

Information about such practices is found today in reference books labeled," Agriculture, Folklore."

But is it really only "folklore?" Natural astrology is the study of the behavior of the heavenly bodies, in order to predict movement of the sun, moon, and planets. It should not be confused with judicial astrology which claims to be able to predict natural phenomena as well as the fate of individuals. Natural astrology was the father of astronomy upon which the early civilizations of Chaldea and Babylonia based their agricultural systems. Many modern-day gardeners continue practices based on the natural rhythms of the universe and insist recent scientific evidence support their beliefs.

Just as man has known for thousands of years that the moon has a connection with the rising and falling tides, we know that all bodies of water, large or small, are also subject to the same tide-producing forces. It has also been established that there are air tides which have highs and lows twice daily, with a high stage equal to the ocean's spring tides. Furthermore, scientists have discovered earth tides caused by gravitational pull of the moon. Tiny differences have been charted, measuring the "ebb and flow" of the land. It has been demonstrated that the ocean tides off the coast of the United States cause the earth's crust to bend because of its weight. This action adds about one inch to the distance between high and low earth tides at the coastline.

When other less scientific findings are considered, such as engineers' observations in southern Oklahoma that salt water in abandoned oil wells was slowly replacing oil, and that the oil rose and fell in measurable proportion with the phases of the moon, one is inclined to wonder if The Old Farmer's Almanac may have been newer that we suspected.

For those interested in reading further about lunar planting, Planetary Planting by Louise Riotte is suggested reading. This book and copies of The Old Farmer's Almanac are available at the Ruth Enlow Library. Now I must go to check my calendar to see if tomorrow is in "Posy Woman."

"Maryland Outdoors Begins With Me" Month Proclaimed

Governor William Donald Schaefer has announced that the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and Maryland Jaycees have kicked off "Maryland Outdoors Begins With Me" with the Sow a Tree Seed project at the Maryland State Fair Volunteer Marketplace on August 30.

In proclaiming September as "Maryland Outdoors Begins With Me" Month, the governor is asking Marylanders to join DNR and the Jaycees in doing something for the environment. Torrey C. Brown, M.D., secretary of the Department of Natural Resources, and David Bopst, president of the Maryland Jaycees, presented the Governor with a "Maryland Outdoors Begins With Me" membership kit to officially inaugurate the month-long, statewide volunteer effort. The September goal is to sign up 10,000 families to take part in at least three activities that will enhance Maryland's outdoors.

"The program is an ideal way to attract Marylanders to take an active role in protecting and enhancing the natural resources and the beauty that Maryland's outdoors has to offer," said Governor Schaefer. "By this effort, Marylanders can learn that becoming involved is easy, and the benefits are passed right back to themselves."

The membership kit includes: a subscription to "Maryland Outdoors," the Department of Natural Resources' official newsletter; official Pepsi "Gotta Have It" membership card, with discounts from hundreds of participating "Gotta Have It" retailers in Maryland; a certificate for a free tree seedling; "Maryland Outdoors Begins With Me" refrigerator magnet; discount coupons for state park admissions; and a Department of Economic and Employment Development Calendar of Events.

The project consists of seven groups of activities supported by DNR programs, all of which will encourage Marylanders to do their part in improving and conserving the state's natural resources. Areas to become involved include volunteering in the state's parks and forests, planting trees, assisting in the conservation/stewardship of forests, or conserving water. Other potential areas to become involved are recycling at home, or learning about fishing or how to start an environmental awareness group at school, helping protect wildlife, or using safe and environmentally sound boating practices.

The Sow A Tree Seed project, coordinated with the Maryland Jaycees, will feature the distribution of Maryland-grown Norway Spruce tree seeds in cups (supplied by AMOCO) filled with leafgrow (a humus soil amendment produced by Maryland Environmental Service). The Jaycees aim to distribute 10,000 seedling kits through their regional chapters during September.

For more information on "Maryland Outdoors Begins With Me," persons may call the Maryland Department of Natural Resources at (410) 974-3991.

Cooperative Extension Service for better living in Garrett County

by Irmgard R. Koscielniak
Extension Agent, Home Economics

AGENCIES TO TACKLE NUTRITION PROBLEMS OF AGING

Research has shown that 15 to 50 percent of elderly patients in U.S. hospitals and nursing homes suffer some degree of malnutrition that is both detectable and treatable. These individuals tend to have longer and more expensive hospital stays, suffer more complications and are more likely to die than their peers who eat healthy diets. Free-living elderly also are vulnerable to nutrition-related problems.

The 1988 Surgeon General's Workshop on Health Promotion and Aging called for a stepped-up, coordinated national effect to promote nutrition screening and early intervention.

This call resulted in a five year nationwide nutrition screening initiative supported by the American Academy of Family Physicians, the American Dietetic Association, and the National Council on the Aging. The initiative is funded in part through a grant from Ross Laboratories, a manufacturer of health and nutrition-related products.

In Maryland the nutrition screening initiative is being spearheaded by the Maryland Office on Aging and the Cooperative Extension Service, the outreach educational arm of the Maryland Institute for Agricultural and Natural Resources, a part of the University of Maryland System.

Representatives of the Office on Aging and the Cooperative Extension Service signed a memorandum of understanding August 13 that outlines the roles each agency will play in the nutrition screening initiative.

"I'm so pleased that our office will work with the Cooperative Extension Service in carrying out recommendations in the join memorandum of understanding," said Rosalie S. Abrams, Director of the Maryland Office on Aging.

Dr. Barbara Clarke, from the Maryland Office on Aging, will work closely with Dr. Jean Anliker and Dr. Mark A. Kantor, Extension Nutrition Specialists based at the University of Maryland College Park.

For more information, pleased contact Irmgard R. Koscielniak, Extention Agent, Home Economics, 202 S. Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550; telephone (301) 334-1990.

CIVIC CLUB ENTERTAINED -- Members of the Civic Club of Oakland met recently and were entertained with a piano medley of Broadway show and Big Band era music by member Ruth Shrum. Mrs. Shrum, a summer resident of Garrett County, plays the organ at St. John's Episcopal Church and the Log Church in Altamont as a volunteer during those months. Off season, she resides in Front Royal, Va. An organ major at Lawrence University Conservatory in Wisconsin, she was a church organist until retiring 10 years ago. After the death of her husband she returned to music and, at age 75, began a new career as a swing-jazz pianist. More recently, she has been concentrating on playing piano at anniversaries, reunions, and parties in the Front Royal area. She leads an active life (having hiked the Skyline Drive) and does volunteer work by entertaining regularly at nursing homes.

Number Of Fire Deaths Lower In First Six Months

Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele has announced a reduction in fire deaths for the first six months of 1992 as compared with this same period of 1991. From January 1 through June 30, 43 fire deaths have been recorded by the State Fire Marshal, compared with 48 fatalities for this same period in 1991, a reduction of 10.4% in fire fatalities in 1992 over 1991. During the first six months of 1992, 27.9% of the fire death victims were 12 years old or younger as compared to 25.1% for this same period last year.

Careless smoking continues to be the number one cause of fatal fires, accounting for 18.6% of all fire deaths between January and June of 1992. However, this is a significant decrease from the 35.4% of fire deaths attributed to careless smoking for the first six months of 1991.

April was the cruelest month during the first half of 1992 with 11 fire deaths recorded during the month.

During the first half of this year, 51.1% of all fatal fires occurred between 10 p.m. and 4 a.m. Also, 37.2% of the fire deaths occurred on Tuesdays followed by 18.6% of all fire deaths on Saturdays.

While Baltimore City fire fatalities decreased by one during the first half of 1992 as compared with the first six months of 1991, the majority of fire fatalities (48.8%) continues to occur in the City.

Both Gabriele and Governor William Donald Schaefer said they are "pleased" with the reduction in fire deaths during the first half of 1992, however, both officials have urged Marylander s to be more cognizant of the extreme dangers of fire and to follow proper fire safety practices in their homes and where they work.

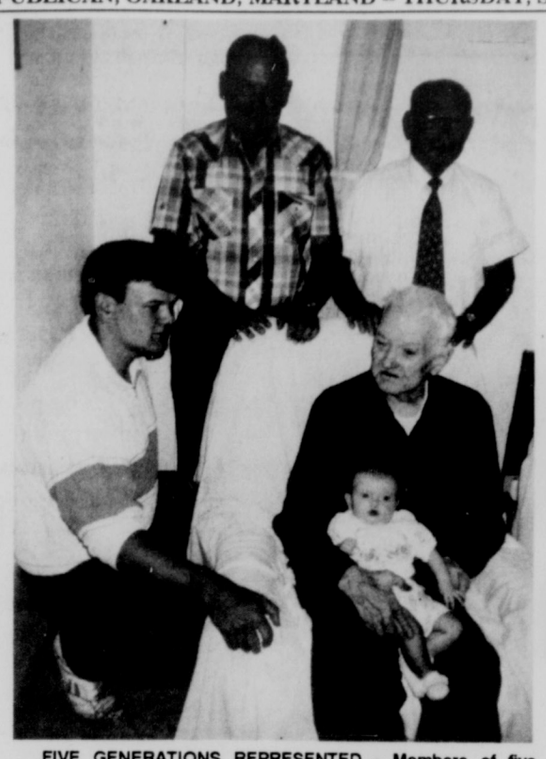
Local Habitat Officials Attend Regional Event

Duane Yoder, Don Little, and Lorraine Little attended the Eastern Regional Conference of Habitat for Humanity at Bridgewater University in Virginia, July 24-25. The purpose was to present an inservice on workcamps for members of a number of new chapters of Habitat in the eastern region (District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia).

Since Habitat was organized in Georgia in 1976, there are now Habitat organizations in 850 locations and in 38 countries. Organization for Garrett County's Habitat began in 1983, making it one of the oldest units in the Eastern Division. The Garrett County unit representatives were able to instruct other units in setting up workcamp programs.

Duane Yoder led a workshop on the steps that are taken to recruit volunteers. He discussed housing and feeding of workcamp volunteers and the money volunteers need to bring to pay for building materials. He also touched on some of the problems that are encountered by workcamp groups.

Don Little led a workshop on the pre-workcamp preparation, the orientation of the workcamp workers, the actual work, and the final day at which certificates of achievement are presented.



Lorraine Little, secretary of the Garrett County Chapter, attended several inservices, including one on fundraising, by Millard Fuller, founder of Habitat for Humanity.

Nazarene Church Slates Program For Area Children

The Oakland Church of the Nazarene has announced the beginning of a new children's ministry called Caravan.

According to Pastor Bruce Knorpp, the Nazarene Caravan Ministry is a Christian organization for children from age 4 through grade six. He said it is a ministry that includes aspects of both a club and a scouting-type organization which involves weekly meetings, membership requirements, special sign and group pledges, badges, and advancement with opportunities to earn top awards. He said it emphasizes Christian development in all areas of life -- social, mental, physical and spiritual.

"A non-competitive format that teaches children new skills and encourages the development of a wide range of interests and abilities," Pastor Knorpp said "The club-type structure helps children build friendships, develop social skills, accept responsibility, and complete assigned tasks." He said the Caravan is "a journey of skills, interests and abilities. It is a journey in learning. On their journey the children learn about God, about themselves, about their world, about other people and about their church."

Each child's journey and accomplishment is marked by earned badges that are displayed on the official Caravan uniform. The Caravan will meet on Wednesdays from 7 until 8:30 p.m. at the church, located at 203 South 8th Street (at the corner of 8th and Alder streets) in Oakland. It will begin Wednesday, September 9. For further information, persons may call Pastor Knorpp or his wife, Anita (who is the Caravan director) at 301-334-9161.

Let me share with you -- Stories of a Family Resort

by Ed King

The deer and I love Deep Creek Lake! We both chose Garrett County for our families!

Deep Creek Lake means wholesome, family recreation to most people. Quality time with loved ones is something which is being squeezed from our busy, rush-rush lives in the city. Garrett County offers natural recreational opportunities the entire family can enjoy. Most of them are as free as our air and our water. Petting the wild deer was very special. It didn't harm the deer nor cost me a cent!

The picture below is the cover photo of A&A's Color Guide to Homes, available at our offices or by calling me. I don't want to write about buying or selling homes. Instead, I want to tell you what this photo means to me. Then, you may understand just a little about why I am so hooked on Garrett County and Deep Creek, what they have meant to me and my family, and why I am so at ease representing the product I love so much.

Look at the photo below. You will see the obvious: a row boat, a fishing boat, a sail boat, and a power boat - four levels of boating activity offered here on the lake. The State Park in the background offers picnicking, camping, hiking, mountain biking, swimming, fishing, boat ramming, and more. The boat dock in the foreground indicated property ownership of a lakefront home. These are some of the things that are evident in the photo. There are, however, many, many more things evident to others who look at the photo.

If the photo of the lake could speak to us and share some of its stories from years gone by -- I'm sure it would bring back mental images for you, the reader, of your own experiences and memories from perhaps another part of Deep Creek Lake, or some other place, or possibly from somewhere in your dreams. Remember, reality begins with a dream. So if you are a first-time visitor to Garrett County, like most of us were at one time, let your imagination place you in the center of this lovely scene and listen to these stories.

STORIES BY ED . . .

My daughter, Micki, and son, Jeff, learned to slalom water ski in this cove; and asked me to make for them their own custom-ski with a painted Indian head design on the tip.

The neighboring kids - Billy, Jeanie, and Mike -- and my children all slalomed together here behind the same boat. The 90 H.P. engine required that each child start on two skis and then drop one. Needless to say, the chase boat had its work cut out for it picking up all those dropped skis.

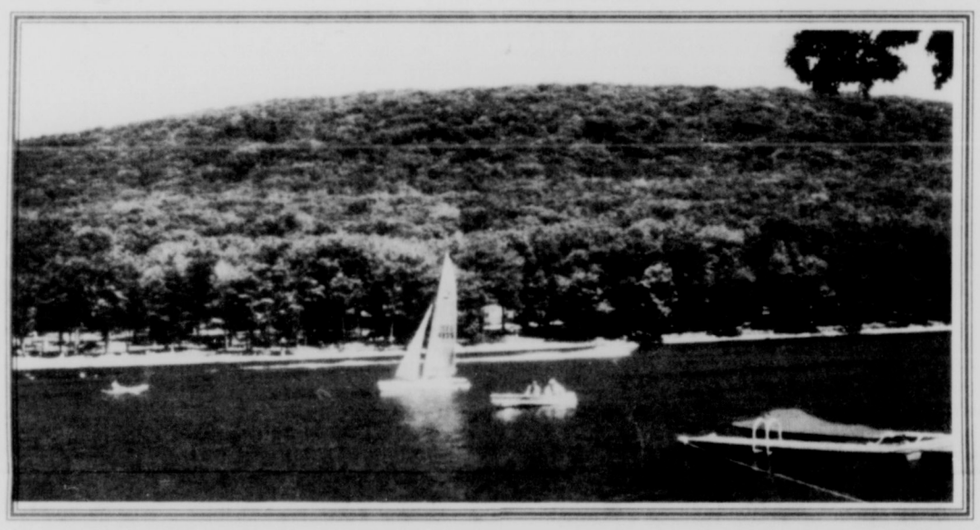
My son, Jeff, and his buddy, Billy, upset a canoe in the ice-cold lake on an unseasonably warm New Year's Eve day. By a wonderful stroke of luck, our neighbors, Keith and Mike, heard the boys' calls for help and were able to get their Dumphy inboard boat launched from winter storage, down the tracks to the water and make a successful rescue. This was not a pleasant memory but an event that ended happily, thanks to these fine neighbors.

The beautiful catamaran in the photo is being crewed by our neighbors, Jack and Mike.

For my 50th birthday celebration, this setting was the staging area for a water-ski pyramid show in my honor. I've requested the same show for my 60th birthday!

Our two Irish Setters and I have jogged regularly along the far shoreline in the crisp, cool air of the early-morning hours. Sundance died this past December nearing 15 years of age. And now his offspring, Laddie, and I continue to run the waterfront - sometimes accompanied by a Black Lab named Shadow, who is a neighboring pal of Laddie's.

My brother Darwin and I went swimming along the banks in the foreground with our pastor (Reverend Confer) in the 1940's when State Park Road was only an overgrown logging road. My father thought the water was too cold and would not give us permission to swim. But Rev. Confer sneaked us away from our campsite; we each hung our underwear on a twig, and dived in for a swim!



Also in the 40's, my father and I enjoyed a two-night camp-out where the Deep Creek Lake State Park is today. We had only a pup-tent in a forest of hemlock trees. That entire weekend, we saw only two other boats!

For several years, my dogs and I, while jogging, were visited by an enormous red-shouldered hawk that would swoop down over our heads. I saw him again just last Thursday - what a magnificent bird!

My wife, Jean, and I have a traditional celebration each year a day or so after Labor Day. We pack a picnic, paddle our canoe far out to the center of the lake, and let the soft autumn breezes waft us home. This celebration marks for us the return of Deep Creek Lake to its "other three seasons" of the year -- those months of wonderful tranquility that so few people have the opportunity to enjoy as do those of us who are blessed to live here year-round.

In the early 1960's, the Deep Creek Lake Ski Club had a ski jump just off the beach area of the park, and had weekend shows.

Along the shoreline in the foreground, the monks of the Discalced Carmelite Fathers would swim from the monastery (now the Carmel Cove property) in Meadow Mountain Cove to the cliffs beside the Glendale Bridge -- approximately a mile each way. At the cliffs, they would visit with the late Fulcher and Marie Smith at their home.

Through the years, two quite-unusual boats have navigated my waters. The graceful Swan Boat would glide slowly from one end of the lake to the other -- a thrilling sight for children of every age. There was also the majestic whaling boat from Holy Cross camp, with cadets in uniform rowing the length of the lake. These wonderful scenes are missed.

Few people knew his name as other than "Old Blue Sails." The late George McLaughlin was a masterful sailor. He could sail away from all "comer's" by taking advantage of tricky or shifting winds and would appear to be sailing directly into the wind. He even had running lights on his Flying Scot for taking his family sailboat riding in the moonlight. One of George's dreams was, one day, to be able to sail boats under the Glendale Bridge to and from the southern end of the lake.

In the summers of 1990 and 1991, many people along State Park Road sighted a bald eagle soaring over this area of Deep Creek. What an inspirational sight - remind us of the song "You are the wind beneath my wings!"

Last winter, several hundred migrating loons were spotted resting here on the water. During the fall and early winter months, many whistling swans and Canada geese frequent these waters.

In 1925, Stan Johnson and Eddie Frye won a trophy for the "Fastest Power Boat" on Deep Creek Lake. The race, just one year after the lake was flooded, was held in the vicinity of this photo. The Silver Loving Cup awarded to these gentlemen was left, to remain at the lake, in the care of Ed King.

Along the shoreline in the foreground, a summer recreation program for developmentally-disabled adults was begun by Dr. Don Rabush and Carol, his wife, at their first Deep Creek cottage. Within the past couple months, "Target" - as this group is known - has moved into a new, specially-designed facility at Thousand Acres. The "Lodge at Sawmill Hollow" offers vacation experiences and activities taken for granted by most of you. If you would like to know more about "Target" or become involved with its programs, contact Ed King.

Toward the left of the photo, there is a ridge of land just beneath the water's surface which is visible from the air later in the summer. Many years ago, Bobby Fuller was running his racing shell boat over that area when his outboard engine hit a rock and was ripped from the boat. His father was furious. To this day, the engine remains on the bottom of the lake.

Slightly to the left of the area in the photo is "west." As the sun sets, it is a common occurrence for motorists to stop here along State Park Road to photograph the scene and to enjoy those last few rays of the sun as it disappears.

What is missing from this photo? The most obvious are those stress-producing factors of the everyday urban hustle and bustle. There are:

NO telephones
NO traffic lights
NO computers or fax machines
NO shopping malls or drive-thru's
NO drugs, crime, muggers, etc.
NO carbon monoxide fumes
NO gridlock
NO cash registers or check-out lines
NO parkways or airports

I hope you have been able to project your own dreams and memories into similar picture in your mind. Deep Creek Lake is not necessarily "owning property." Most of the things mentioned here are things of natural beauty and wholesome enjoyment. Twenty-seven years ago, we invested in property here. At the same time, we were making an investment in our family.

Quality time is what it's all about! Sharing moments and hours as a family are in the "use it or lose it" category. Precious moments are never repeated. Hopefully, though, precious moments can be re-created many times. Isn't it better to make sure of it and to live each day with as much quality family time as possible.

Labor Day Draws Numerous Visitors To Garrett County

The Labor Day holiday weekend brought numerous visitors to Garrett County, a total of 1,964 persons stopped by the Youghiogheny Overlook Information Center along Interstate 68 east of Friendsville.

The Center was visited by 91,724 travelers to date in 1992, compared to 77,598 for the same period in 1991. The Center is open seven days a week and is staffed by Robin Smith, supervisor, Joan Dixon, Hazel Klotz, and Lee Tacket, travel counselors.

The Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Information Booth, located along U.S. Route 219 south of the Deep Creek Lake Bridge, closed for the season on Monday. A total of 8,617 persons visited the booth for the season, with 445 of those visiting over the Labor Day weekend. Visitors to the booth during the 1992 summer season were from 37 states and eight foreign countries. The majority of inquiries received were for directions, especially to recreational facilities, lodging, and restaurants.

The Information Booth is open annually from Memorial Day through Labor Day weekend and was staffed this summer by William Stemple, Mtn. Lake Park, and Edgar Bender, Grantsville. Both information facilities are operated by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council.

THE BUCKS STOP HERE, at Canaan Valley State Park in nearby Canaan Valley, W.Va., that is. These two magnificent bucks were captured (photographically) by Pam Ashby Monday on one of her many summer excursions with her family to watch the progress of the deer that roam free in the park/resort. Pam recounted that she was reprimanded for feeding the deer by a gracious park ranger. Tsk. Tsk. It is a rule of the park that people not feed the deer. Rangers explain that some of the hand-outs given to the deer can severely damage the digestive systems of the deer. So, people who think they are helping are actually hurting the deer they love to watch. Also, the deer will come to expect the food year 'round and when it isn't there they won't have learned to fend for themselves the way nature intended. Good point. Also, there is the chance of being bitten by a hungry deer, and they can carry rabies, just like any other animal. Pam said they spotted eight eight-point bucks Monday and she said the trip was worthwhile even if one doesn't feed the deer. "Just to see between 80-100 deer each trip is worth the half-hour drive over there from Oakland," she stated.

Local Citizens Commended By Md. State Police

Two local citizens were recognized Wednesday by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, for "meritorious and exemplary assistance" to state police.

Walter William Fearer, 59, and William Curtis MacLane, 64, both of Friendsville, were awarded certificates of appreciation for coming to the aid of an off-duty state policeman and a uniformed state police officer at the Friendsville Fiddler's Contest on July 18.

Sgt. Gary A. Berkebile recommended that the two be recognized after they assisted him and Tfc. A.S. MacLane, who was at the contest in an off-duty capacity.

Berkebile stated that there was a disturbance near the entry gate of the event and that Tfc. MacLane attempted to stop an argument between the gatekeeper and Rodney Gene Rounds, 26, Grantsville. Rounds was reportedly telling the gatekeeper that he had already paid admission to the event.

When Berkebile arrived on the scene he found Rounds to "be obviously intoxicated and shouting and

Local Post Offices To Assist Customers In Supply Drive For Hurricane Victims

In an effort to "lend a helping hand" to victims of Hurricane Andrew, the employees of the Oakland Post Office and its branch offices in Mountain Lake Park and Deer Park have initiated a food drive similar to the "Harvest for the Hungry" campaign held earlier this year. "Harvest for the Hungry" is an annual food drive by the United States Postal Service in which collected foodstuffs are donated to local "foodbanks." Foodbanks for Garrett County are the Community Action offices and the House of Hope.

According to an Oakland Post Office spokesperson, the generosity of local postal customers during the recent food drive was "overwhelming," with over 1900 pounds of food being donated from the Oakland area.

The current hurricane relief drive has been organized by the local postal employees to assist local citizens who wish to help those in need, but who cannot get their items to area drop-off sites. Postal custom-

Single-Story House Destroyed By Fire Friday

The cause of a fire which destroyed a single-story wood frame house along White Rock Road near Cranesville Friday morning is still under investigation by state fire investigators.

Friendsville and Deep Creek fire fighters were sent to the Doy Sisler residence after the Garrett County Office of Emergency Management received a call for help from a neighbor, Wanda Sisler, at 11:23 a.m. The structure was fully involved in flames upon their arrival. Mr. Sisler was reportedly not home at the time of the blaze.

Also sent to the scene was the Northern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Sending units to stand by at Friendsville's and Deep Creek's stations were Accident and Oakland VFDs.

Firemen remained on the scene until about 1 p.m. There were no further details available.

Voters' League Requests County Make Prompt Improvements In Recycling Efforts

Representatives from the League of Women Voters of Garrett County met this week with Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey in an effort to determine the current status of Garrett County's recycling program. According to the league members, the success of the program is in question in light of recent reports that recyclables deposited at the dumpster sites are being taken to the county landfill instead of proper recycling markets.

Braskey confirmed that some of the items -- especially glass containers -- are being taken to the landfill and dumped because the buyers have refused to accept them. "It's understandable that they wouldn't," he said, "because people are not separating the different colors of glass when they place them in the recycling bins -- the general public is not cooperating."

But league member Bobby Andersen responded by stating that some residents have complained to league members that it's useless to attempt to recycle if those items they deposit in the bins are merely being dumped at the landfill. "We can't blame the public," she said.

"We're here to clear up some of these things because people are more apt to recycle if they think there is cooperation," she added. She did agree, however, that a problem exists with many residents who do not properly sort their recyclables before depositing them.

Andersen went on to say that the county commissioners have maintained a "very low-key" profile on the issue, indicating that more positive support from the board would improve the county recycling program.

Braskey indicated that an attempt is being made to improve the efficiency of the program. "We are in the process of doing something to prevent the misuse of the bins," he said.

Lee Thorne, Garrett County Recycling coordinator, was also on hand at the meeting and explained to the league members that he is working with the new owner of the bins to improve the sites. "We're considering

Belgian Company Acquires Garrett Optical Business

The Garrett County Commissioners this week issued a news release announcing the acquisition by Belgium-Buchmann Optical Holding N.V. of the manufacturing assets of Garrett Optical Company, as well as the trade receivables and inventory of the Custom Optics sales and distribution division of Garrett Optical. The acquisition was made through the subsidiary, Buchmann Optical, Inc., Plainview, Long Island, N.Y.

Both companies, Garrett and Custom Optics, were previously controlled by John Francis, a Canadian businessman, and other minority shareholders, according to the news release.

President of both Buchmann Optical Holding N.V. and Buchmann Optical, Inc., Jacky Buchmann, stated, "Our immediate goal is not to re-invent the wheel but rather to establish Buchmann Optical, Inc., as the industry's reliable source for a full range of high quality ophthalmic lenses coupled with a total commitment to customer service was the reputation of Custom Optics in the early to mid-1980's."

Buchmann continued, "Our approach has proven successful within the past two years with our Briot machinery operation, and now we continue with our commitment to further establish our North American presence as a major integral part of our multi-national optical business."

He noted that Buchmann Optical Holding and its subsidiaries employ in excess of 700 persons with 1992 sales of approximately $100 million U.S. dollars.

School Opening Reviewed By Education Board; Various Policies Re-Evaluated

The Garrett County Board of Education met Tuesday for its regular monthly meeting and discussed the opening of the county schools. A report was given on the status of the new a la carte lunch menu, and a decision was made concerning a problem in the work-release program for Southern High School students. Another discussed item concerned the board's athletic eligibility policy.

Food Service

A new menu for the a la carte lunches at the county's middle and high schools has been available for students since the opening of school and will be for the first six weeks. The new menu is focused on more nutritional foods, following the American Cancer Society's "Changing the Course" program. Garrett County is the first county in Maryland to adopt this program, which incorporates an education series in the elementary and middle schools' health classes with the serving of nutritious, low-fat, low-sodium meals.

The a la carte foods consist of items sold separately from the completely prepared lunches. These items have been changed from potato chips, cookies, and cakes to popcorn, fresh vegetables, fruits, and other nutritious items. Although Richard Buckingham, assistant in food service, and Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of schools, were both hesitant to switch to the new menu for fear of losing too much money, both reported that they were "pleasantly surprised" by the initial success of new food sales. Buckingham reported that the bottled water item was the most popular, with nearly 700 bottles being sold per day. Other popular items include popcorn and baked potatoes.

"The food service employees have responded very well to this change," Ryscavage reported. "They are working as hard as they possibly can to make this a success."

Board member Mikal Moomau spoke to several food service employees who were in attendance at the meeting, expressing her gratitude for their hard work in adjusting to the new menu and for ultimately helping students become healthier people and better learners.

"It's easy for me to sit at a table and say 'yes, this is the food we will serve,' but I don't have to be the one fixing these meals. I know you all work extremely hard at your jobs and I can't say thank you enough," she said.

The new a la carte menu will be monitored and evaluated after its six-week trial. Moomau mentioned that Garrett County is the first to

Thayer Sentences CDS Offender To Three Years

Judge Fred A. Thayer of Garrett County Circuit Court sentenced an Oakland man to three years and a half year in prison for offenses involving a controlled dangerous substance (CDS).

Jeremy S. DeWitt, 20, will serve three years in the Maryland Department of Corrections on the charge of distribution of marijuana, to which he pleaded guilty at a July hearing. The defendant also pleaded guilty to the charge of possession of marijuana, for which he will serve an additional six months by order of Thayer. The judge gave DeWitt credit for time served, which was 149 days.

The defendant was arrested following a Garrett County Narcotics Task Force sting operation in the early months of this year. DeWitt apparently sold the CDS to a confidential informant at an Oakland apartment complex.

Oakland Man Dies As Result Of Injuries From Single-Car Mishap

An Oakland man died Friday morning (September 4, 1992) as the result of injuries sustained in a single-vehicle mishap on Md. Rt. 560, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry.

Elliott C. "Mick" Harvey, 68, lost his life when the 1989 Ford F150 pickup he was operating south on Md. Rt. 560, just north of the Gorman town limits, ran off the right side of the roadway and struck a guardrail, police said. The vehicle then continued along the guardrail and struck an embankment before traveling over the embankment and coming to rest in a small creek.

Garrett County Emergency Management dispatched the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad to the scene as well as Gorman volunteer firefighters. Tfc. D.W. Broadwater investigated the 8:50 a.m. fatal mishap for state police.

Born March 26, 1924, in Oakland, Harvey was the son of the late George Wilson and Bessie (Fitzwater) Harvey.

Mr. Harvey was a farmer. Survivors include one sister, Mrs. Lucille Sines, Friendsville, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Friends were received in the Durst Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service was conducted Monday at 11 a.m. at the funeral home with the Rev. Kenneth Montgomery officiating.

Interment was in the Oak Grove Cemetery.

FALL ASLEEP

Two motorists were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital Sunday, according to a nursing spokesperson, after they both apparently fell asleep at the wheel in separate single-vehicle accidents.

Michael A. Fulmer, 20, Mtn. Lake Park, was slightly injured when he reportedly fell asleep at the wheel of the 1989 Chevrolet pickup he was operating on U.S. Rt. 219, south of Oakland. Police said the vehicle traveled off the left roadside and struck a ditch and a telephone pole before overturning in a corn field.

Tfc. P.R. Brown investigated the 7:40 a.m. mishap and filed no charges. Fulmer

Literacy Council Finishes Building Entrance Project

The work on an entrance to the rear basement area of the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland which will soon house the headquarters of the Literacy Council of Garrett County has been completed, according to Mary V. Beckman, executive director.

"The Literacy Council Board is excited about the new possibilities for expanded tutoring hours and the accessibility of literary resources for our volunteer tutors and reading students," Mrs. Beckman said. "This much needed improvement has been the combined effort of a number of businesses, community organizations, and individuals who have contributed money, material, and time to the completion of this project. We are deeply grateful to the Library Board and Miss Edith Brock for providing this space for our programs."

Those who provided building materials and labor include Fairfax Concrete Products, who donated over one-half of the concrete needed; Piper Building Supplies, who donated the exterior doors; Beachy Lumber, who donated the interior door; Mark Arnold of Arnold Excavating, who donated part of the excavation; Clarence Glass, general contractor, who donated part of the construction labor; and A.D. Naylor and Company, who donated part of the electrical work.

Still to be completed is the interior remodeling. "We envision having adequate office space for the executive director, restroom facilities, a small waiting area, and three tutoring cubicles," Mrs. Beckman said. "The tutoring areas will be conveniently available every weekday both during business hours and in the evenings. This will simplify the scheduling of tutoring times and spaces which have been at various locations previously."

The Literacy Council, which has been in existence since 1987, assists adults and out-of-school teens in improving their reading and comprehension skills using trained volunteer tutors. The service is free, and has aided an increasing number of needy students in improving their literacy.

Those seeking further information may call Mrs. Beckman or visit her at her new location. The number is 334-8606.

Police Probing Theft Of Items Worth Over $2,000

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is currently investigating the theft of household items from a local home. Other thefts are also currently under investigation by the sheriff's deputies and detectives.

William Corbin reported to police that someone entered his home, located on Rt. 50 near Table Rock Road, sometime during August 25-26. The culprits removed several household items, according to the report. The loss has been estimated at $2,865. Any person with information about this crime is urged to contact the sheriff's office at 334-1911.

In a separate theft case, Anita Teter told police that a bearded man entered her store, "Grandma's Attic," located on Rt. 50, west of Red House, and removed approximately $120 from the cash drawer. A light blue Chevrolet vehicle was seen leaving the establishment shortly after the crime, according to the report. The thief was wearing a blue jacket.

A Homelite Weedeater was reported stolen in late August. Becky Mellinger told sheriff's deputies that the appliance was on her front porch at her Hutton Road residence when someone stole it. The weedeater is worth approximately $70, according to the report.

MSP Investigate Reported Thefts

The Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, is currently investigating the reports of two thefts in the county.

Mt. Zion United Methodist Church, Rt. 40, east of the Green Lantern Road, was the scene of reported theft sometime between September 4 at 7 p.m. and September 6 at 8:30 a.m.

Tfc. S.H. Anderson is investigating and indicated that the culprit(s) gained entry into the church by prying open a rear door. Taken was a Quasar 19-inch color television with built-in VCR valued at $575. It appeared as though the culprit(s) searched for other items, but nothing else was reported stolen.

A second theft was reported by Gladys E. Meyers, Grantsville, who told police that someone broke into her home sometime between September 2 at 10 a.m. and September 6 at 3 p.m. and removed two mag lights, several porcelain beer steins, several baseball caps, and several small "pistol" cigarette lighters. Loss is estimated at $352.

Tfc. Anderson investigated and said the suspect(s) gained entry through the basement door by breaking a hasp lock. The items were taken from various rooms of the house.

Persons with any information about either theft are requested by Anderson to call the barrack at 387-5511.

Lake Ford Road Bridge Closed

The Garrett County Roads Department has announced that the bridge on Lake Ford Road over Muddy Creek will be closed for a period of approximately eight weeks beginning Tuesday, September 8.

The scope of the project includes repairing the existing substructure and installation of a new superstructure. During the time of road closure traffic will be detoured through Cranesville, W.Va.

Roads Department officials anticipate that the project will be completed within the eight-week time frame; however, delays caused by weather conditions will increase the time required to complete the work.

Elk Garden Man Charged With Two Counts Of Battery

An Elk Garden, W.Va., man was arrested by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office Sunday after apparently repeatedly battering his girlfriend as she tried to contact police. Denver L. Simons Jr., 24, also reportedly punched another female in the chest as she attempted to help the first victim.

The incident occurred in Kitzmiller where the victim was apparently visiting. According to the report, Simons was in a vehicle and the victim was on foot, attempting to get away from him. He reportedly assaulted her several times before she successfully contacted the sheriff's office. When officers responded to the scene, they found the victim to be bruised and covered with dirt and grass stains, according to the report. Both she and the other female were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where they were treated for various injuries and released.

Simons was charged with two counts of battery and was incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail. He was later released on $2,000 bond.

In other sheriff's office news, an Oakland man was arrested and charged with embezzlement and felony theft after an investigation revealed that he apparently had stolen various amounts of money from an elderly relative. John E. Miller, 57, was apparently acting as caretaker of an incapacitated aged man and was using the patient's money on a regular basis. Det. Jeff Murphy made the arrest after conducting an investigation.

Barbara Lynn Butler, 31, Oakland, was arrested by Dep. Randy Shaffer on Tuesday on the strength of a warrant. Butler was charged with theft, resulting from writing a bad check to Gabriel's in Cumberland, according to Shaffer. (Note: Butler is not to be confused with Barbara Ann Butler, 38, Oakland, who is married to William Butler.)

David W. Troshak, 35, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested this week for driving while intoxicated. The defendant was stopped for a speeding violation, according to the report, and the officer detected the odor of alcohol. Troshak signed the citation and was taken home by the police officer.

Pa. Woman Found Guilty Of Drug Possession Count

A Pennsylvania woman was found guilty of possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia by Judge Jack R. Turney in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week.

Leslie J. Werling, 32, West Mifflin, was handed a six-month jail term (all was suspended but 60 days), fined $50, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation on the drug possession charge. She was fined $50 on the paraphernalia charge. She was also barred from the Keyser's Ridge Truck Stop and a psychological evaluation was ordered.

Werling was found not guilty of theft scheme.

Werling was arrested by the Maryland State Police after they received a complaint from an employee of the Keyser's Ridge Truck Stop who stated that a female ordered food and before she paid for it she placed three cartons of cigarettes and a T-shirt in a white plastic bag she was carrying. When she paid for her food she paid for one carton of cigarettes and not the other two cartons or the T-shirt. She then left the establishment and fled in a black Subaru. At that time, police were unable to locate her. She later returned to the truck stop and police were summoned and apprehended her. A search revealed marijuana in her purse.

In other District Court news, Arlie M. Ison Jr., 23, Mtn. Lake Park, was found guilty of possession of marijuana. He was handed a 90-day jail term (all was suspended but 48 hours and credit was given for time served), fined $100, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation.

Ison was arrested by the Maryland State Police on May 2 following a routine traffic stop on Deep Creek Drive, north of Point View Inn. He was placed under arrest for DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) and a search of his vehicle revealed two suspected marijuana cigarettes and two suspected marijuana cigarette butts. He is appealing his case to a higher court.

James D. Prady, 41, Pittsburgh, Pa., was found guilty of operating a boat while intoxicated and failure to display navigational lights. His case was heard by Judge Paul J. Stakem, from Allegany County District Court, who was sitting on the bench in the absence of Judge Jack R. Turney.

Stakem handed Prady a 30-day suspended jail term, fined him $250, and placed him on one year of supervised probation for the DWI charge. He was fined $10 for failing to display lights.

Prady was charged with those offenses by the Department of Natural Resources Police following a June 27 incident on Deep Creek Lake.

Charles R. Thomas, 27, Accident, had five charges against him placed on the stet docket, which means the case can be re-opened within a year if the court deems it necessary.

Charges against him included disturbing the peace in a public place, malicious destruction of property, reckless endangerment, battery, and trespassing on private property. He was ordered to pay $240 in restitution to Douglas DeWitt, owner of Spanky's Bar, and to have no contact with DeWitt.

Thomas had been charged with those offenses by the Maryland State Police after they responded to a complaint filed by DeWitt stating that Thomas entered a stockroom for employees only. DeWitt reportedly told Thomas to leave and he refused. DeWitt then forced him out the back door of the bar.

Thomas re-entered through a side door went back to the pool room of the establishment. He was allegedly cursing and spitting after DeWitt again told him to leave and to return the beer glass he had in his possession. Thomas then reportedly struck DeWitt with the glass. A struggle ensued. Thomas was again physically forced from the bar, but returned a few minutes later for his coat. DeWitt told him his coat was not there and Thomas grabbed an ashtray and threw it across the bar, striking a customer's glass and causing it to break. DeWitt came toward him and he fled. DeWitt's watch and necklace and two drinking glasses were damaged in the altercation. DeWitt also required several stitches in his head.

Russell "Rusty" Rounds, 32, Oakland, was found guilty of battery and a presentence investigation was ordered. Charges of breaking and entering and malicious destruction of property were not prosecuted in a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office.

Rounds had been charged with those crimes by Rodney Swiger following a July 29 incident in which Rounds reportedly came into Swiger's house while he was asleep and began beating and kicking him. In the scuffle, Rounds reportedly broke the kitchen table and damaged the linoleum floor before forcing Swiger outside where he and his friends allegedly continued to beat him.

Anita D. Messer, 38, Oakland, who was found guilty of violation of probation by Judge Stakem last week, was ordered to serve 10 days in jail beginning September 6.

Those 10 days were part of two 30-day jail terms initially imposed but suspended in May 6 court proceedings. The conditions of her probation are to remain the same.

Original charges against Messer had been filed by Paula Upole in October of 1991. Upole stated that

Found Guilty

Messer continued to harass her and her husband, Bradley, after being ordered not to.

The violation of probation charge was filed when Messer reportedly attempted to pass a note of apology to Bradley Upole at a ball game this summer. When he refused the note from her and reminded her of the terms of her probation, she allegedly attempted twice, according to witnesses, to have her son give the note to Upole.

Mary Welch, 45, Oakland, was found guilty of disturbing the peace by Judge Stakem, but he revised her sentence to probation before judgment and fined her $50 and placed her on 18 months of unsupervised probation. She was also ordered to stay away from Linda Shillingburg and from Bud's Place.

A charge of harassment against Welch was not prosecuted in a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office.

The charges against Welch were brought by Linda Shillingburg on July 20 who stated that Welch came into Bud's Place where she was employed and called her a name and told her to come outside. When Shillingburg refused, Welch allegedly said she would be back. Shillingburg said those types of incidents had been happening since May.

Carole A. Porter, 31, Mtn. Lake Park, had a charge of harassment against her placed on the stet docket. She is to have no contact with Anita Aronhalt, who filed the charges against Porter. Aronhalt contended that Porter made an obscene gesture and followed her around town and tried to hit her car.

In a related case, Anita Aronhalt, 21, Accident, had a charge of harassment against her placed on the stet docket and she is to have no contact with Carole Porter, who stated that Aronhalt gave her the finger and motioned her to follow her, but then refused to stop. She said Aronhalt also calls her at work and then hangs up.

Jeffrey L. Haenftling, 26, Frostburg, was found guilty of three counts of battery. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered. Charges of petty theft, malicious destruction of property, and possession of a controlled dangerous substance against him were placed on the stet docket.

Haenftling was arrested by the Maryland State Police on July 29 after being summoned to the Haenftling residence in regards to a domestic dispute. It was determined that Haenftling had battered three family members during an altercation. One family member stated that 50 Xanax tablets (a prescription drug) had been taken from her.

Haenftling reportedly admitted to police that he had taken eight of the tablets. A hospital report confirmed that he had consumed at least six of the tablets.

CORRECTION NOTED

In a District Court story that appeared in the June 25 edition of The Republican it was inadvertently reported that Chris T. McRobie, 24, Deer Park, was found guilty of maintaining a drug nuisance. The word "not" was left out of the sentence, completely changing its meaning. Mr. McRobie was found not guilty. We regret the error.

Reporter's Note: In regard to a court report in the June 18 edition of The Republican stating that officers found quantities of marijuana in the home of Jesse McRobie, 20, Deer Park, the exact amounts found were not given and a family member stated that "quantities" was an untrue statement and that court reports indicated only a trace of marijuana was found. While we are not made privy to every statement made in court and we do not have the time to sit in court five days a week to hear all the testimony in each case, we do attempt to give facts as they are stated by police or by those charging an individual. In a sometimes futile effort to save time, reported drug bust cases in The Republican do not always list the cumbersome quantities of drugs and drug paraphernalia found. Using the word "quantities" in this case was being kind to the defendant in our opinion.

What was found, according to a report filed by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, was a tissue box containing six smoking pipes with suspected marijuana residue, one cup containing numerous suspected marijuana seeds, one film container containing numerous suspected marijuana seeds, one pack of rolling papers, numerous pipe screens, various pipe ends, and a short-barrelled shotgun.

First United To Again Sponsor Autumn Glory Festival Parade

The Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council has announced that First United National Bank & Trust, with headquarters in Oakland and branches in Friendsville, McHenry, Grantsville, Cumberland, LaVale, Frostburg, Westernport, and Barton, will sponsor the 25th Annual Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade.

The Autumn Glory Festival will be held October 8-11 in downtown Oakland and throughout the county, with the Grand Feature Parade beginning at 1 p.m. on Saturday, October 10. This parade is the largest and most well-attended event of the four-day festival, which boasts an attendance of tens of thousands of visitors.

According to Diane Wolfe, executive director of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council and festival chairman, First United National Bank & Trust sponsorship of the Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade "represents its third year of commitment to defray the tremendous costs of producing this spectacular event in Garrett County." First United has also supported the Autumn Glory Festival by purchasing Golden Ambassadorships since the program's beginning.

For more information or a free festival brochure, persons may contact Festival Headquarters, Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550; telephone (301) 334-1948.

Attacking A Double Standard...

A few years ago we were critical of the Garrett County school lunch program, as more and more junk food was being made available to students. It was alleged that, in order for the food services department to keep its head above water financially, it was necessary to sell numerous, albeit yummy, a la carte items that were loaded with fat and sugar. After these items were made available, the sale of regular lunches rapidly declined, as children were spending their lunch money on the just-described products.

Meanwhile, in the school curriculum and through numerous other public avenues, it is emphasized over and over again to our children and the rest of us how important a healthy diet is to the quality of life.

Fortunately, and finally, the school board has taken action on this double standard in our high and middle schools, thanks to the efforts and perseverance of a handful of individuals who have been serving on the Food Advisory Committee. The a la carte junk food has been replaced with almost equally yummy items that are of the low-fat, low-sugar variety. Much to the dismay of the food services director, these foodstuffs are actually selling, and selling quite well.

Bottled water, enhanced with pleasant, natural flavorings (and no sugar), for example, is presently selling at a rate of about 700 bottles per day. Pop corn, another low-fat treat, is selling well, as are baked potatoes with a variety of nutritious toppings.

It's too early to determine if this major change will be successful in the long run, but the early figures are encouraging. We have always believed that students will eat basically whatever is available to them for lunch, as long as it tastes good. It is great to be able to give them some variety, as long as that variety is nutritious.

There are a number of persons who deserve the credit for this bold move, including local nutritionist Ann Sherrard and school board member Mikal Moomau, who are members of the Food Advisory Committee, and board president Carol Clark, who has been adamant about improving the lunch menus. We also thank the many school cafeteria workers for their creativity and concern when it comes to actually preparing and providing good food for our children.

Letters to the Editor

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to the president of the Northern High School Boosters Club requested that it appear in this column.

Dear Mrs. Sines,

On behalf of the Southern High School Athletic Department, I want to thank you for the kind generosity of the Northern High School Boosters Club. The contributions to help with our senseless loss of property due to the vandalism of the football field was certainty appreciated.

Fortunately our losses were covered by the Garrett County Board of Education and the appropriate insurance policies. Therefore, I want to return your kind gift so that the athletes of Northern High School can use it to further their skills.

In the arena of competitive athleticism, it is wonderful to know that friendship of all Garrett Countians means more than county rivalries.

Sincerely,
Tom Woods

To the Editor:

In the USA 15.1 million people are either alcoholics or alcohol abusers, 107,800 people die annually because of alcohol, and, according to the last report I was able to get my hands on, 51 percent of our high school seniors are drinking regularly. (Incidently, the new report is in print; see if you can find it.)

Earlier this year I received a report from upstate New York that a 62-year-old man was convicted for the 17th time for DWI. The judge gave him 15 years to life in prison. It didn't happen in Garrett County.

Since then, a Garrett Countian was convicted for the 7th time on DWI and given three years. At $30,000 a year and up to keep a prisoner, it appears to make more sense to force cure than to keep him locked up.

Because of alcohol, a young boy lost his life before graduation and two week's ago two young ladies were badly injured, reportedly by a man who may have been under the influence. This man had lost his driving privileges because of prior convictions. He should not have been on the road; but now two more innocent people are suffering. Thank God they were both wearing seat belts.

It's time to wake up. Alcohol abuse is the cause of 83 percent of fire deaths, 70 percent of sexual abuse, 69 percent of drownings, 50 percent of murders, 50 percent of vehicular deaths, 40 percent of child abuse deaths, 72 percent of aggravated assaults nationwide, and it is no less a problem right here in Garrett County.

When you see a dangerous intersection you wonder why there is no stop light on that corner. The reason is that no one has been killed yet. But when a person dies at that intersection a light goes up. The government needs statistics before they act.

Garrett County is your corner of this world, and you don't need any more statistics. Put up your own light by getting involved. The Garrett County Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse shines pretty brightly in this respect.

After five years of serving as director/organizer of the Southern Garrett Alumni Band, I regret that I will not be able to do so this Autumn Glory. If anyone is interested in taking over that position, please contact me at 334-4839, and I will give you all the information. The notification deadline for participation in the Autumn Glory Parade is September 26.

I want to thank everyone who participated over the past five years, and all those who cheered as we made our way down Second Street.

To the Editor:

Are there any inexpensive, wooden yardsticks left for sale in Garrett County? I don't think so. Garrett County Habitat for Humanity bought and resold all the inexpensive yardsticks from Manor Home Center, Naylor's Hardware, and Fratz's Hardware. When three other Oakland hardware stores didn't have any wooden yardsticks, a volunteer went to Hardesty's Hardware in Springs, Pa., to get 80 more yardsticks. Habitat sold 260 yardsticks on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at Arrowhead Deli and at Browning's Foodland. They received $1,300 in donations. Habitat would like to thank the four hardware stores for selling them the yardsticks at a discount. They really appreciate the opportunity to sell these at Arrowhead and at Browning's. And Habitat is deeply grateful to the people of Garrett County for their generous contributions.

One lady told me, "I really approve of what Habitat is doing. I'm unemployed, but I'd like to give you this money. I wish I could give you more." Many people told us, "I have half a dozen yardsticks at home. You can keep the yardstick, but here's some money."

If you missed the opportunity of buying a yardstick from Habitat, we'd be happy to accept your contribution. We'd like to finish our 24th home this fall. The family who is buying it has already done more than 300 hours of volunteer labor for Habitat to pay for their down payment. (That's like working for seven and a half weeks at 40 hours a week in addition to your paid job.) They'd like to be able to move into their new home in Mtn. Lake Park, but we need some more contributions to pay for materials. Last week the Oakland Rotary Club put up the drywall.

Just send your tax deductible contribution to Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, P.O. Box 363, Oakland, MD.

Sincerely,
Ginny Grove

To the Editor:

We have lived in our home located 1½ miles west on Rt. 39 for four years. Like most working people, we don't always take time out for ourselves in our busy lives. With the summer quickly coming to an end, we decided to invite some friends and family over for a party. Like most parties there is a lot of food, music, and games.

Being a family outing, we were in control until an unknown, neighbor reported a complaint twice that caused us to shut down.

Doing his duty, Deputy Gnegy arrived the first time at approximately 10:30 p.m. All this time there was no music playing at all. Being the owners of the house, we were informed of this by one of our guests. We then had a truck radio playing where we were sitting around a bonfire, playing horseshoes, and could hear ourselves talk to each other over the music. We had things under control.

Once again we were warned by Deputy Crossland at approximately 11:50 p.m. After shutting down our party and telling us if he had one more complaint and came back, we would be arrested. Needless to say, who wanted to be arrested? The party was over. We have yet to know how we were disturbing anyone. Talking to surrounding neighbors, including one within 20 feet of our house, we were told we were not disturbing them in any way.

This is the first party we have had in the four years we have lived here. It's not like we have one every weekend. We were all having a good time being able to get together and "shoot the breeze," until the breeze came from a different direction. Our advice to the neighbors -- GET A LIFE!!

Jeff and Aimee Friend and the Party Animals

P.S. We will be having a company picnic this Sunday the 13th. Be prepared!

To the Editor:

Attention Grantsville residents:

I am regretfully sorry that I chose to make my residence in what 12 years ago appeared to be the nice Christian community of Chestnut Ridge near Grantsville.

Since then I have learned that your supposed friends and neighbors will invent and quickly spread vicious and disheartening lies and rumors about you and your family -- God forgive them, for I find it very difficult for me to. You know who you are, if you can live with it, I'm sure I can!

ers in the 21550 mailing area may leave items to be donated beside their mailboxes. These items will be picked up by the mail carriers as they deliver mail, and will be brought back to the post office for processing. Items may also be dropped off in the lobbies of the Oakland, Mtn. Lake Park, and Deer Park post offices.

This drive will continue through the month of September. All collected items will be shipped to disaster areas via hurricane relief efforts coordinated by WAIJ Radio in Grantsville.

Suggested items for pick-up include non-perishable food items (peanut butter, baby food, jelly, canned goods), medicines and first-aid supplies, health and hygiene items (diapers, soap, toothbrushes, toothpaste, deodorants), batteries, flashlights, radios, matches, charcoal, bottled water, paper plates, plastic eating utensils, and shoes.

Because the carriers will be collecting items in the course of their normal delivery day, their vehicles will be full of mail. For this reason, carriers will be unable to accept large items such as grills, garbage bags full of items, and other large articles. These items should be taken to a local drop-off point. One of these such drop-off points is Pleasant View Baptist Church, located on Rt. 219 South.

FRIENDS OF THE RUTH ENLOW LIBRARY

by Sull McCartney

Several years ago I was asked to speak to the Oakland Rotary Club about the Friends. After the meeting, Bob Ulino told me that we should do something to update the children's book collection at the library. He said many of the books were outdated and that he had a difficult time finding suitable reading materials for his daughter. I asked some board members with young children if they shared his concerns and their replies resulted in a decision by the Friends to try to raise a substantial amount of money to supplement the library's spending on children's books. We set a goal of $10,000 and were successful in obtaining donations for that amount. Now, thanks to the Garrett National Banks's Charity Golf Tournament, the total has reached $30,000. The Friends are committed to continuing our efforts in this area. By the way Bob, your Friends membership has expired.

Our most recent Book Endowments are from Robert and Esther Risinger and Sarah Bartlett. The number of funded endowments is now 41 for a total of almost $9,000.

I recently read The Great World by Australian novelist Dave Malouf. Basically, it is the story of two men, their World War II experience and their lives thereafter. My wife also read The Great World and we think it is one of the best novels we have read in years. We liked it so well that Brenda asked Gary Galloway, who was going to Australia, to buy us two of Malouf's earlier novels which are not available in this country. The library has a copy of The Great World. Let me know if you like it. I'll lend you the two others.

Thanks again to the Garrett National Bank for their support.

LWV THE LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

JOIN THE LEAGUE
TAKE BACK THE SYSTEM

What do we mean by "Taking Back the System?" We mean a voters' revolution, touching virtually every aspect of electing our leaders. But "Take Back the System" goes beyond elections. By empowering voters, by building grassroots citizen action, we increase your say in our nation's laws.

We work with our members to choose the critical issues to address. Then, we act. Your membership will strengthen our action -- and help us advance our goals in three key areas.

Election Reform: In the 1988 presidential election, about half the eligible electorate voted; in 1990, fewer still voted. We created "Take Back the System" to tackle the problems that are alienating the American voter. In Congress, we fought for campaign finance reform. And we won. We're pushing for "motor voter" registration. And we're winning. We've taken up the battle against negative campaigns. And we've expanded voter information through forums, voters guides, and candidates debates.

Health Care: Between 1980 and 1990, the cost of health care doubled. By the year 2000, it will double again. Health care is the number one issue most Americans want to see addressed -- and a top priority for league work. Our two-year study of health care financing and alternatives is fueling the push for cost controls and universal coverage -- in Congress and the media. Local leagues are building grassroots support for basic health care reform while providing community education on existing alternatives.

Waste Management and Pollution Control: Congress promised resource conservation in 1976, with passage of the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act. Now, it's time to deliver. We're going after specific legislation to protect the air we breathe, the water we drink, the food we eat, the natural resources we must maintain. The Clean Air Bill of 1990 was once success. Our educational publications are raising public awareness on recycling, solid waste management, and nuclear waste. And local leagues are moving ahead in their communities, expanding both the demand for and availability of recycling centers.

Join the League. In your community, your state, your county, and in your own life, a little activism will go a long way.

NEWS from THE MARYLAND FOREST, PARK & WILDLIFE SERVICE

SAVAGE RIVER STATE FOREST ROAD OPENINGS

At 53,000 acres, the Savage River State Forest is Maryland's largest. The variety of habitats found from its stream valleys to ridge tops support an incredible diversity of plant and animal life.

In order to properly manage such a large natural resource, access is a must! As such, over 200 miles of roads crisscross the Savage River State Forest. These roads provide access for forest and wildlife management personnel as well as forest visitors.

Twenty percent of the roads in Savage River are county-maintained and are used by the general public in daily commutes through the forest.

The rest of the roads located in the state forest are maintained by the Maryland State Forest and Park Service. More than 80 percent of these are open year-round, allowing access for MVA-licensed vehicles. Hunters, naturalists, photographers, and just plain outdoor enthusiasts enjoy the access to various sites in the state forest afforded by these roads.

Twenty percent of these state forest roads are gated either year-round or during certain seasons. Roads are gated to protect the forest resource in various ways: to promote road stabilization, enhance wildlife management practices, deter poachers, discourage trespassing on adjacent private lands, provide recreation, and protect state forest facilities. Roads gated on a seasonal basis are usually opened to allow hunting and firewood collection during the fall.

Below is the road opening schedule for September 1992 through January 1993. The State Forest Manager reserves the right to change the schedule, as necessary. If you have any questions concerning these openings, please call the Savage River State Forest Headquarters at 301-895-5759.

On a final note, please keep in mind to never park in front of a closed gate! By blocking the road, you hamper the rescue, fire fighting, and enforcement efforts of your state forest rangers. Don't slow the ranger's response time . . . remember, you may be the hunter or hiker who needs emergency help!

GCC ART GROUP TO EXHIBIT -- An exhibit featuring the works of 12 local artists who have formed the Garrett Community College (GCC) Thursday Night Art Group is currently on display in the Bausch & Lomb Art Gallery at GCC. According to Ron Skidmore, coordinator of the gallery, the exhibit "reflects the diverse personalities and wide range of experience and interests of the artists. The informal gathering on Thursday evenings provides a relaxed workshop atmosphere in which the artists can share ideas and criticism, experiment with various media, and socialize with other artists. For many in the group, it also helps to budget their time so that the production of artworks progresses on a regular basis." The exhibit, which includes drawings, paintings, prints, pottery, and ceramic sculpture is open to the public through September 18, at which time a reception will be held for the artists at 8 p.m. The public is invited to attend the reception as well as visit the gallery during regular college hours. Participants in the exhibit include Ken Bauer, Elee Bookout, Mary Bowman, Charley Coleman, Clint Englander, Karen Frankhouser, Caroline Haley, Mike Hoffman, Doug Roberson, Eileen Schlosnagle, Ron Skidmore, and Dick Wasicko. The exhibit is dedicated in memory of Karen Thompson, former GCC student and member of the group. Pictured are two examples of the works on display. At left is an oil painting titled "Smithsonian" by Ron Skidmore and, above, is a blue and white porcelain pinched bowl by Elee Bookout.

Two Bloomington Persons Arrested By Allegany Police

Two Bloomington residents were arrested Monday by members of the Allegany Sheriff's Department, assisted by the Allegany County Narcotics Task Force and the Maryland State Police. Tammy M. Broadwater, 22, and Bryan L. Snyder, 25, were charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) and possession of drug paraphernalia. Broadwater was also reportedly charged with obstructing and hindering a police officer.

The arrests took place at approximately 4:30 a.m. at a Gilmore residence, according to reports, at which time police officers discovered apparent drug paraphernalia. A search warrant was executed at the home, during which officers reportedly found marijuana pipes, a small quality of the illegal drug, and other paraphernalia.

Also arrested was Patrick J. Michaels, 20, Baltimore, who was reportedly wanted on a total of six warrants in Allegany County. The officers confiscated approximately $2,000 from the defendant at the time of the arrest.

ARTS COUNCIL OFFICERS ELECTED - New officers of the Garrett County Arts Council were elected at a recent meeting of that organization at Garrett Community College. State, County Jobless Rates Fall In July

Maryland's unemployment rate dropped from 6.9 percent in June to a 1992 low of 6.5 percent in July, and employment hit an all-time high, according to statistics released this week by the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED).

Garrett County's jobless rate also decreased, from 11.0 percent in June to 10.7 percent in July. The July 1991 rate was 9.7 percent.

July's state employment increase was strong enough to accommodate a continuing increase in people entering the labor market. Job seekers pushed the state's labor force to a new high of 2,716,076 in July, more than 100,000 above pre-recession levels.

July's employment increase, the second best gain of the year, marks the fifth consecutive month of rising employment. Employment advanced by 66,727 or an all-time high of 2,539,677, overtaking the previous record high set in July 1989. The number of unemployed Marylanders declined by just over 6,200 to 176,399 in July.

"Although some of the July employment gain was attributable to the federal government's efforts at summer job creation, there is also an encouraging trend in employment growth statewide," said Secretary of Economic and Employment Development Mark L. Wasserman. "Other economic indicators show that Maryland's recovery from the recession, however, remains slow and uneven."

A separate survey of businesses showed that in July, Maryland's industrial payrolls followed normal seasonal patterns, with reductions in state and local education and vacation shutdowns in manufacturing eclipsing gains in construction, health services, amusements and membership organizations. There was a significant gain of just over 10,000 jobs in local (non-educational) government, more than half of which came from federally funded summer jobs for teenagers.

Nationally, the employment rate declined from 7.8 percent in June to 7.6 percent in July.

Maryland's recovery from the recession continues to be uneven, as shown by economic data from various segments of the state's economy. Initial claims for unemployment insurance rose in July, primarily due to vacation shut-downs, while continued claims fell. The number of housing permits authorized fell, while retail sales were below last year's levels.

Unemployment in the Western Maryland region, while remaining the highest in the state, dropped from 10.0 percent in June to 9.7 percent in July. In both Allegany and Garrett counties, the jobless rate declined to 10.7 percent, the lowest rate in either county in 1992. In Washington County, where several vacation shutdowns occurred in the manufacturing sector, unemployment remained steady at 8.9 percent despite a small increase in the number of unemployed people.

Nineteenth Annual Burlington Apple Harvest Festival Slated Oct. 3-4

by Rev. I. Lynn Beckman
Burlington U.M. Homes

The down home, flavorful fun of the 19th annual Burlington Old Fashioned Apple Harvest Festival, a hint of fall colors, and an exhilarating drive across the scenic ridges and valleys of the Mountain State are three exquisite reasons to travel to Mineral County in West Virginia's Potomac Highlands during the first weekend in October.

Set for October 3 and 4, this year's Apple Harvest Festival promises a full weekend of open-air excitement including toe-tapping and inspirational music, good food, and intriguing displays.

Sunday's featured entertainment will include southern gospel artist Cindy Sites of Petersburg, W.Va. Her concert is set for a full hour beginning at 2 p.m. Cindy has been singing inspirational music professionally since 1989 when she landed her first recording contract. Since that time she has had several top forty singles including "To Obey Him" and "Plenty of Time." Her last three singles, "Thanks Again," "Day of Praise," and "Where Are You Lord?," have been listed in the top 20 on several radio stations. Cindy's latest single, released in August, is entitled "God's Way." It is also the title cut from a new album. Cindy has appeared in concert with some of the nation's biggest names in gospel music.

Saturday's featured act from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. will be noted bluegrass entertainers Gene and Joe and the Highland Grass from the Keyser area. A brother team, Gene and Joe Winebrenner formed their first band in 1963. They have appeared on WWVA's Jamboree USA in Wheeling, the New Dominion Barn Dance in Richmond, and the Big Valley Barn Dance on WSVA Radio in Harrisonburg, Va. They have traveled the country appearing with some of the top stars in bluegrass and country music. Recently they appeared with the legendary Mac Wiseman as his backup band. The Highland Grass features Bernard Wintling on fiddle, Randy Crites on banjo, Rick Mellon on bass, and Bob Riggs on dobro.

Back by popular demand on Saturday's roster will be Buckridge, a musical group from Burlington featuring traditional, country, gospel, and folk music. An added attraction will be Andy Agnew Jr., playing the hammered dulcimer. Buckridge will take the stage at 1:30 p.m.

Saturday's Grand Feature Parade is set for 4 p.m. Sponsored by the Burlington Fire Department, the parade is expected to provide nearly two hours of continuous fanfare, floats, marching units, and surprises.

The two huge big-top arts and crafts tents will again be chocked full of unique exhibits and interesting artisans. More than 100 displays are expected. In addition, the huge flea market area will be packed full of collectibles, antiques, and valuable wares.

Another popular event at recent Apple Harvest Festivals has been Saturday's Specialty Auction. Sponsored by the Burlington Homes Auxiliary, the sale features all of the fun and suspense of an old-time auction and the bargains abound. Many novelty items, collectibles, valued heirlooms, and surprises are in store. Donated items are welcomed.

Everyone enjoys the Festival food. Offered in abundance are a variety of special delights including the Festival's own appleburgers, chili, apple dumplings, cider, apple butter, roast ox, barbecued chicken, funnel cakes, hot dogs, hamburgers, sloppy joes, kielbasa, and a host of other delicacies.

For more information call 304-289-3511 or write to the Festival Headquarters, P.O. Box 96, Burlington, WV 26710.

Autumn Gospel Songfest Set At Blackwater

An Autumn Gospel Songfest will be held September 25, 26, and 27, at Blackwater Falls State Park in Davis, W.Va. Fall colors at the park are expected to be spectacular, according to a park spokesperson.

Gospel groups will be performing throughout the weekend. Artists will include Tucker County's own "Joyful Noise" and the Tucker County Community Chorus, regional favorites, "The Beacons" and "The Dodds Family." The weekend highlight will be the Saturday night concert featuring "The Perry Sisters."

The restaurant staff at Blackwater Lodge will be offering a variety of buffets and cookouts at "reasonable prices," according to the spokesperson.

Persons desiring additional information and/or concert tickets may contact Lois Reed at Blackwater Falls State Park at 1-304-259-5216 or call 1-800-CALLWVA and ask for Blackwater Falls.

Preston Historical Society Sets Fall Meeting For Oct. 10

The Preston County Historical Society fall meeting will be held Saturday, October 10.

A luncheon will be served at noon at the Terra Alta Senior Center, Washington Street. The Museum will be open before and after the luncheon and program.

Luncheon reservations are due by Oct. 5 and may be made by contacting Mrs. Violet Bishop, P.O. Box 32, Terra Alta, WV 26764; telephone 789-6613.

President I.T. "Bud" White will preside. The program will be presented by Mrs. JoAnn Dadisman of Independence. She will give an interpretive monologue of regional ghost stories. Mrs. Dadisman taught in Preston County Schools for 12 years and is now an adjunct member of the West Virginia University English Department.

The final reading and vote will be taken to make the office of curator an elective office.

Annual dues, for October 1992 to October 1993, have been increased to $3.

There are still some Historic Dates calendars that were published by the Society. The price has been reduced to $3.18, plus $1.60 if mailed.

The pictures of the West Virginia State Capitol and information sheets, made by the late Haymond Garner and presented to the Society, are still available as a package for $2.50.

The nominating committee -- McKinley Luther, Molly Zeller, and Joel Beanne -- will make a report, with election to follow.

Parking will be available on the street and off-street parking lots.

This Sunday, Sept. 13, the congregation of Brookside Church of the Brethren will be observing the church's 100th anniversary. The church was built in 1892 at a cost of $472.13, including hymnals and a Bible. Carpenter for the project was Samuel A. Sisler, who received $199 for his work.

Regular services will be held Sunday morning with Sunday School at 10 a.m. and morning worship at 11. A covered dish dinner will be held in the Aurora fire hall at 12:30 p.m. and the afternoon session will convene at 2 p.m. at the church for an afternoon of informal reminiscences by former pastors and families as well as those presently involved. Everyone is welcome to attend for the whole day or portions thereof.

UNION AMBULANCE ACTIVITIES

Volunteers are needed by Union Ambulance for the Sunday, Sept. 27, serving of buckwheat dinners at Kingwood. About 40 persons will be needed during the day and it is hoped that shifts can be shortened if there are more volunteers. Serving is to begin at 8 a.m., and preparation begins at 6 a.m. Those who can help are asked to call Cheryl Stemple at 735-6154 or call Delores Stemple at 735-5187.

An auction and craft sale are planned for October 24 at Aurora fire hall and again Union Ambulance is requesting assistance. They need donations of any type, including livestock. Any large ticket items may be donated on a percentage basis. This will begin at 10 a.m. and food will be available also. The craft committee asks that persons consider donating homemade gifts and crafts or the materials from which they can be assembled. For further information, persons may contact Ellen Harsh at 735-5468 or Neva Frantz at 735-6773.

Both of the above activities are to benefit the building fund for Union Ambulance hall.

During July, Union Ambulance personnel answered three emergency calls, had three transports, responded to one motor vehicle accident, and assisted at the July 29 respiratory program at the Aurora fire hall. Twenty-eight personnel were involved in July's service.

There were nine emergency runs, one transport, one MVA, one DOA, and four days of stand-by at the Blue Grass Festival in August, which involved 62 Union Ambulance personnel.

EMT classes are being offered beginning September 22 and meeting each Tuesday and Thursday evening from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. These will be completed in January. Re-certification classes will be held at Cortland Acres Nursing Home October 24-25 and November 7-8. For further information or to register, persons may call Linda Martin at 735-6481.

TAKING ORDERS FOR SAUSAGE

The Mt. Lions Club is planning a buckwheat cake and sausage dinner to be held November 21 at Mt. Grove. They would like advance orders for their whole hog sausage, which will be selling for $1.50 per pound. To place an order, persons may call John Calcamp at 735-3146 or Ron Bishop at 735-5256.

Volunteers Sought For Deep Creek Autumn Bike Tour

More than 200 cyclists from throughout Maryland will ride in the Deep Creek Lake Autumn Bike Tour to benefit the American Lung Association of Maryland, on September 26 and 27. In the third year of this successful fund-raising event, cyclists may choose from 15, 25, and 40 mile routes that pass through Deep Creek Lake. Swallow Falls, and Big Run State Parks.

In additional to seeking participants to ride in the bike tour, coordinator Glen Besa is seeking volunteers to help with the ride. Volunteers are needed to staff check points along the routes where cyclists will stop for refreshments, to operate support vehicles to assist cyclists, and to serve as ride leaders.

"This event is a lot of fun for the cyclists and volunteers alike. With 200 cyclists this year, our participation in the tour has doubled and more volunteers are needed," explained Besa.

All volunteers will receive a Deep Creek Lake Bike Tour T-shirt. More information may be obtained by contacting the Cumberland office of the American Lung Association of Maryland at 301-777-7317 or 1-800-222-9974 (toll-free in Maryland).

Lighthouse, Inc. Holds Successful Yard/Bake Sale

Garrett County Lighthouse, Inc. held a successful yard sale/bake sale on August 28 to raise money for recreational and educational activities.

According to a spokesman for the organization, Lighthouse helps people with psychiatric disabilities increase or maintain their level of functioning in the community through rehabilitation. One component of that rehabilitation is through social/recreational activities within the community.

"Many times consumers do not have the funds to put toward activity admission costs. Consumers worked hard together by having a yard sale/bake sale to raise money to be able to attend activities as a group. Their efforts are commended. For those who supported their efforts, we sincerely appreciate your help, stated the spokesman.

For more information regarding the program, persons may call 334-9126.

BOY SCOUTS PARTICIPATE IN DISASTER DRILL - Boy Scout Troop 22 recently participated in an organized disaster drill held in southern Garrett County. The drill's purpose was to provide refresher training for members of area fire departments, Southern Rescue Squad, The Cuppett and Weeks Nursing Home, and Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The boy scouts served as "victims," made up with dreadful wounds, as shown in the photos. Pictured above is Patrick Forman as he "receives" a head wound. Shown below in the foreground, left to right, are "injured" scouts Ricky Vecchioni, Patrick Forman, Justin Wilson, Matt Nicholas, and Mike Dehus. Youth volunteer Derick Fogt is shown in the back. Mike Dehus gets a serious chest wound in the photo at right from an unidentified Southern Rescue Squad member. The scout troop members expressed their gratitude to the organizers of the drill for allowing them to participate. "When I was being made up, I felt nervous and sick," Ricky Vecchioni said. "Just seeing those wounds and thinking of people really having them - I thanked God we have a hospital system like Garrett Memorial." Patrick Forman stated that the rescuers "treated us with great respect and safety when they were performing what they had to do." Betty Eaton, Deep Creek District chairperson, said the boys learned "first-hand about the excellent care extended by not only the volunteers in our great county, but of the care injured people receive at the scene and in the hospital."

Couples To Renew Vows At Service

Pastor and Mrs. Gail Hixon

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Lipscomb

A special service including renewal of vows will be held at the Hiway Assembly of God Church after the Sunday school hour. Pastor and Mrs. Gail Hixon will celebrate 35 years of marriage and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Lipscomb will celebrate 23 years of marriage. Both couples will renew their vows with Rev. Joseph Smith, Martinsburg, W.Va., and Rev. Norman Via, Swanton, conducting the ceremonies.

Preceding the service, special music and poems will be presented by family members and Joe DiSimone. A luncheon will then be served in the pavilion, and all friends are invited to bring a covered dish and join the fellowship.

The couples have asked that gifts be omitted.

Weight Loss Puzzles Scientists

WASHINGTON -- A Nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Although other studies and scientist may not agree, researchers in Europe found that the ingredient, a natural plant colloid, actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that weight loss with plant colloids was due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories.

While the project of National Dietary Research, aptly named Food Source One, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the formula which has since been improved with other natural colloids has been a windfall for some overweight people. A Metairie, Louisiana nurse lost 71 pounds. She stated "I never had to sacrifice the foods I dearly crave!" "Food Source One is very easy and anyone could do it." says a Niagara Falls, New York, woman who lost 26 pounds and 15 inches. "The results are great." she added.

Food Source One tablets are part of National Dietary Research's comprehensive plan to bring a rapid end to obesity in this country. A variety of nutritionally sound diet plans, specially prepared by NDR, accompany each bottle and provide a natural, drug free alternative for confronting the problem of obesity.

School Opening

attempt this, and Buckingham concurred by noting that this school system is "being watched" by other counties that may wish to try the new approach if it goes well here.

A separate food service topic concerned the use of a catering service for the schools in place of the current self-supporting system. At the last education board meeting, Ryscavage reported that the food service will be cut $16,000 in state funding. To make up that loss, Ryscavage and Buckingham suggested raising lunch prices by a nickel. This suggestion was met with immediate opposition by Moomau and board president Carol Clark. Both members asked Buckingham to re-evaluate the entire program before resorting to a price increase for students. The question was raised as to the overall cost of switching to a catering service, such as the Marriott system which serves Frostburg State University. The food service assistant said he would look into the possibility.

At Tuesday's meeting, several food service workers were in attendance, alarmed that the board may truly consider switching the system to a catering company which may end their employment. Clark was quick to inform all present that the board had "absolutely no intention" of endangering any jobs and that the members "know how important work is right now." She explained that the inquiry was an "offhand question" that was never meant to frighten anyone about employment.

Buckingham first announced that the original cut of $16,000 was actually going to be $6,000. He explained that the state had first promised the county an additional $10,000, but that the figure had never been granted, so the true loss was only $6,000. This amount will be made up by not hiring substitutes in the cafeterias when regular workers are out. The raising of lunch prices will not be needed, he said.

Buckingham also gave a report on the feasibility of hiring a catering service for the county, stating basically that the idea would not work, as it would cut out all federal assistance, jeopardize present employment, and cost the county more money.

Clark reiterated that the board would never consider the endangerment of so many jobs, and that the members truly appreciate the hard work done by all food service employees. The question of a catering service only arose after the suggestion of another increase to lunch prices. Another area Buckingham was asked to look into was his own administrative office, but he reported that his staff of four (including himself) is already over-worked and it would be impossible to operate with fewer staff members.

Work Release Program

Ryscavage gave a report on the opening of county schools and cited a problem that arose at Southern High School concerning the work-release program for seniors. At the end of each school year, students sign up for classes for the following year. Apparently too many students signed up for the work-release program, which allows seniors to leave school at noon to go to work at various establishments and companies. Because the sign-up procedure was not monitored closely, the students who had registered for work-release and did not get in the program did not have an alternate schedule planned. Therefore, there was much confusion and irritation on the first day of school among the students who thought they would be on the work-release program. Upon a closer evaluation of which students should indeed be included in the program, school officials discovered that many of the pupils are actually not eligible to participate.

Board member Beverly Murphy expressed her concern about the problem and told the other members that several parents and students had contacted her. Murphy feared that students who did not get the work-release (approximately 20-25 students) may drop out in order to continue their employment. She felt that if the error in over-registration was on the part of administration, then the administration should act to appease the ineligible students for this year, monitor the program closely, and restructure the registration process for next year.

Several students who were removed from the program on the opening day of school were at the meeting. They told board members that they had depended on the work-release situation and that they had debts to pay. The guidelines for the program state that there must be a hardship situation to allow the student to participate, such as low income. The students argued that they had never been told the eligibility requirements before the first day of school.

Moomau asserted that the situation was regrettable and that there was an administrative error involved. She explained that because of the over-registration, the school officials had to re-evaluate the guidelines closely and realized that several students did not meet the requirements. She suggested that the board re-instate the excluded students in the program for this year and follow Murphy's suggestion of monitoring it this year and fine-tuning the procedure for next year. The board then voted to do so.

Athletic Eligibility

Luther Parrack, director of secondary education, reported to the board that a question concerning athletic eligibility had arisen recently and he wished to re-evaluate the board's policy. According to Parrack, the policy states that a student who does not meet academic requirements may not participate in sports or band or any other extra-curricular activity. The interpretation of this policy was Parrack's concern, as he explained that several school coaches continued to allow ineligible students to practice with various teams, but not play in the actual game.

Parrack stated that he felt the guidelines should be followed exactly, and that a student who is ineligible should absolutely not be allowed to participate in games or in practices. He then asked the board to clarify the policy and direct him in the way they wished concerning policy interpretation.

Board member Rodney Durst said he thought students should be allowed to practice even if they are ineligible to play because the peer pressure and the activity of practice is better for a student than "sending him home to sit in front of the television for three hours." Moomau agreed, saying that the game was the true incentive for students and if they are working toward that goal but are not permitted to play until they bring up their grades, then the students may be more interested in doing so.

Ryscavage and Parrack both felt the guidelines should be more "black and white," and should mean absolutely that a student may not participate at all if the grades are not adequate.

"We're talking about our ultimate purpose here," Parrack said. "We are here to first pursue academic competence. That is the pure goal of the school system. Extra-curricular activities are outside of that goal."

Tom Vent, football coach of Northern High School, was in attendance and voiced his opinion that the practice is an important part of keeping students motivated to achieve.

"When they're with me every day, I can keep on them," Vent said. "I say, 'how are you doing?' and they say 'great, coach!' but I know if they are or not and I keep asking." Vent also told board members that he has volunteer tutors to help academically declining athletes.

Durst asserted that he felt it important to keep the students involved even if they are not permitted to play. Moomau agreed, stating that self-esteem is a very important ingredient in achieving, and that attention and activity keeps self-esteem high in students.

The issue will be discussed at next month's board meeting.

GCTA Questions Tobacco Policy

The education board passed a tobacco policy last month, banning tobacco products and their use on school grounds during the school day, as well as inside school buildings at all times. The Garrett County Teachers' Association (GCTA) has apparently questioned the policy's legality and is currently pursuing a re-evaluation of it.

According to Ryscavage, the GCTA is questioning the "working conditions" for teachers and other employees. The contract between these employees and the board apparently states that a smoking area should be provided. The issue will be discussed further.

Rams Topped In Opener By Preston Knights, 23-8

The 1992 Southern High School football campaign began on a disappointing note for the Rams and their fans, as the Knights of Preston High School defeated the Rams, 23-8, in Kingwood last Friday night.

The more experienced Preston squad took advantage of the inexperience of a number of Southern players, particularly in the first half, and built an early lead that the Rams were never able to overcome. The Knights scored 13 points in the first half of action and led 16-0 at halftime, as the Ram offense sputtered and the defense was pushed out of the way by the Knight line.

However, midway through the second quarter the Rams began to show marked improvement, particularly on defense, as the Knights were unable to record a single first down in the entire second half. Southern actually held an edge in overall offensive yardage, 190-184, in the final statistics.

Preston took the opening kickoff and, behind the leadership of quarterback David Cale and outstanding running of Joey Rodeheaver, marched 70 yards in 14 plays for a touchdown, scored by Kale on a one-yard run. Jeremy Goines booted the extra point and the Knights led 7-0 at the 7:01 mark.

P - Joey Rodeheaver, 70-yd. punt return (Goines kick)
S - C.J. Getson, 40-yd. run (Jeremy Bosley run)

A fumble by the Rams in their own territory set up the next Preston score. Cale hit K.C. Childers with a 26-yard pass that put the ball on the Rams' three and Childers carried the ball into the end zone on the next play. The attempt for the two-point conversion failed.

The ensuing Southern offensive effort was halted again and the Knights regained possession. This time the Ram defensive unit stopped the Preston offense and the Knights had to settle for a 33-yard field goal by Goines with 11:37 remaining in the second period.

The Rams first real threat to score came just under four minutes before halftime when they drove to the Preston two-yard line, but failed to score on a fourth down and goal.

The Rams' took the second half kickoff, but were again stopped and forced to punt. Rodeheaver received the punt on his own 30 and raced 70 yards for the Knights' final touchdown of the game. Goines kicked the extra point, giving Preston a 23-0 advantage at the 10:00 mark of the third quarter.

The rest of the third period and most of the fourth was all defense, as both teams traded possession several times and came up empty. Then with just 59 seconds remaining, Southern quarterback C.J. Getson scrambled 40 yards for a touchdown to avert a shutout. Senior tailback Jeremy Bosley ran for the conversion.

"The loss was disappointing, but it was uplifting to see our progress throughout the game," stated Southern Coach Fred Gregg. "Our inexperience, nervousness, and playing in our first game, on the road and in front of a huge crowd, really cost us in the first quarter. We played our positions pretty well, but our tackling was terrible. Our line play really improved, quarter to quarter, and now we have to see that it continues to improve week to week."

Gregg also credited the efforts of the Knights and their coaching staff. "Preston has improved in every area," he said. "They are a very good team and they are always well coached. Because of their size and the quality of their coaching in Brad Metheny, Preston is going to be tough to reckon with from now on."

The Ram coaching staff selected Jason Groves and David Crosco as Co-Defensive Players of the Week, Galen Glotfelty as Offensive Lineman of the Week, and Crosco as Special Teams Player of the Week.

Galen Glotfelty
Offensive Lineman of the Week

Co-Defensive Player of the Week

"Jason and David were our leading tacklers against Preston," Gregg said. "They both provided the kind of aggressive play that we expect out of our linebackers. In special team play, David also provided excellent coverage on both the kick-off and punting teams. He is a very sure tackler."

Groves is a senior (5-10, 185) and Crosco is a sophomore (5-9, 156).

Glotfelty, a 5-10, 217-pound junior tackle, earned the highest score in the system that the Southern coaches are using to grade the performance of the linemen. "If we are to be successful offensively, all of our linemen must improve their level of play," Gregg said.

Indeed, the Rams will have to perform at a high level of intensity this Friday night if they hope to notch their first win of the season against the visiting Frankfort Falcons, a 1-1 team that is coming off a tough 10-7 loss to Bishop Walsh.

The Falcons are led offensively and defensively by two seniors: halfback and linebacker Chad Silber (6-1, 185) and fullback and linebacker Brad Sisk (5-11, 170). Another standout is senior tight end Matt Twigg (6-0, 200).

The Falcons opened their season with a 33-6 thrashing of Moorefield.

"Frankfort is a wing-T team that is more power oriented than Preston County," Gregg said. "They take the ball right up the middle most of the time. We had a lot of success in shutting down Preston's inside game, so we hope to have similar success against Frankfort.

"They are always tough defensively, and I'm sure they feel they have a score to settle with us," he continued, referring to the Rams' overtime win over the Falcons last year.

When asked if he plans to change his game plan this week, the second-year head coach said, "No, we're not going to abandon our plan. We believe the plan is sound; it's just the execution of the plan that we need to improve."

Gregg said the only Southern player sidelined by injury this week is sophomore Josh Hinebaugh, who is nursing a hip pointer.

Kickoff at Southern stadium is set for 7:30 p.m.

Huskies Rally For 16-6 Win In Season Opener

After trailing 6-0 at halftime, the Northern High Huskies decided in the second half that they were going to open their 1992 football season with a victory, and went on to defeat the home-standing Westmar Wildcats, 16-6, last Friday night.

Senior running back Chris Wachter, who was named Offensive Player of the Week and winner of the Hammer Award, led the Northern rally, as he scored both of his team's touchdowns and finished with 113 yards on just 13 carries. He also added 37 more yards on pass receptions.

After a scoreless first period, the Wildcats broke the deadlock midway through the second quarter when Ray Mayhew capped a 63-yard, 14-play drive with a three-yard scoring run. Westmar quarterback Mike Bennett gained 23 yards in the drive on two quarterback sneaks.

The Huskies took the opening kickoff of the second half and engineered their own 66-yard scoring drive behind the leadership of new junior quarterback Rob Speicher, who hit Wachter with a 35-yard scoring pass on a fourth and 14 play. John Hinebaugh booted the extra point to give the Huskies the lead for good.

The Huskies' second touchdown was recorded on an unusual incident in the fourth quarter, as Wachter was nailed deep in the backfield by a Westmar defender and was stripped of the ball. However, the ball bounced right back into Wachter's arms and he proceeded to race 82 yards down the sideline for the six points. Hinebaugh's conversion kick made it 14-6.

The Huskies added two insurance points late in the game when senior tackle Jason Fazenbaker sacked Bennett in the Wildcats' end zone.

Mayhew was Westmar's leading rusher, as he finished with 77 yards one 14 carries.

Named Defensive Player of the Game for the Huskies was junior Bill Younkin, while Northern Coach Tom Vent also noted the outstanding defensive play of Alan Sebold and Fazenbaker. Hinebaugh was selected Special Teams Player of the Week.

"We played poorly the first half, but the kids came back and did what they had to do to win," Vent said. "We told them at halftime to come back out and really go after it, and that's what they did. They played very well in the second half."

Vent said he was pleased with the offensive efforts of Speicher and Wachter. "Rob really did a nice job, especially considering the fact that he is a new player, and Chris really led the charge in the second half," Vent said.

The only casualty for the Huskies was Larry Wakefield, who re-injured some ribs and is listed by Vent as "day-to-day."

The Huskies should be the favorite going into this week's contest at Hancock, a team that is 0-1 on the season having lost to James Buchanan in their opener.

Hancock has an entirely new coaching staff, with John Flowers at the helm.

"Hancock has 40 kids out for football this year, which is the most they've had in a long time," Vent said. "They can only get better."

Hancock uses the wing-T offense and has switched from a 4-4 defense to a 5-2 monster. They are primarily a running team.

"We have to make sure our kids don't look ahead on our schedule," Vent said. "We just have to go down there and get the job done."

Sailboat Racing Season Ends With Labor Day Regatta, Awards Ceremony

The final yacht racing competition of the year was a five-race regatta over the Labor Day weekend, called the Commodore's Cup, in honor of the commodores of the two yacht clubs on Deep Creek Lake, at Turkey Neck, and Deer Haven. The two commodores, Frank Wolffe and Tom Redick, ran the races with the assistance of Boat Commander, Matt Matthews.

Weather conditions were excellent, with fair winds, no rain, and even some sun on Monday. The regatta attracted a season high number of boats: 13 Lasers, 20 Flying Scots in A Fleet and 12 Flying Scots in B Fleet. The trophy winners were:

Laser -- 1. Keith MacMillan, 2. Dave Mahan, 3. Kevin Rissell, and 4. Keith Spinnenweber.

Flying Scot A -- 1. John Meredith and Melanie Kirby, 2. Jack and Sally Carpenter, 3. Don and Barbara Griffin, and 4. Doug and Audrey MacMillan.

Flying Scot B -- 1. Al Riebel, Ed Bishop, and Charles Buffington, 2. Jeremy Frank and Steve Rossi, 3. Al and Jean Thagard, and 4. John Frank and Eric Volmrich.

In addition to the Commodore's Cup, awards were presented in a ceremony on Labor Day at the Deep Creek Yacht Club on Turkey Neck to winners of the July-August Series, Season Championships, Women's Series, and several special awards.

The July-August Series consisted of the best 10 out of 18 races sailed during July and August. Trophy winners were:

Laser -- 1. Kevin Rissell, 2. Keith Spinnenweber, and 3. Tom Johnson.

Flying Scot A -- 1. John Meredith with alternating crews Barbara Meredith and Melanie Kirby, 2. Chip and Jeannette Dodd, and 3. Jack and Sally Carpenter.

Flying Scot B -- 1. Paul and Joyce Hill, 2. Marty and Iris Nahemow, and 3. Morris Willey and Vickie Fazzalore.

On the strength of their finishes in recent years, the Hills and the Nahemows have moved up to the Flying Scot A Fleet, joining skippers Sharon Wible, Tom Wolffe, and Chad Lovett, who moved up earlier in the year.

The Women's Series was sailed in Flying Scots on three consecutive Sundays, and scored on the basis of best two out of three races. Competition was close, with four boats ending up tied in points for third place. However, the tiebreaker went to the Paula Swayne boat, which actually would have won the series had all three races been counted as in a regatta. The final standings were:

Women's Series -- 1. Sally, Marcy, and Marilyn Carpenter, 2. Margaret and Barbara Griffin, and 3. Paula Swayne, Jane Mahan, and Toddie Spinnenweber.

In addition to the series awards, there were several fleet and special awards:

Fleet Season Championships, presented to the best overall finisher in the qualifying races for the combined June and July-August series: Laser, Kevin Rissell; Flying Scot A, John Meredith; and Flying Scot B, Marty Nahemow.

The Fleet 6 Participation Award, given to the Flying Scot class boat racing in the greatest number of races during the summer, went to Harry and Marilyn Filemyr.

The Captain Bly Award, presented to the skipper who was most abusive of his or her crew (or the crew most abusive of the skipper), as determined by the previous recipient, went to Marty Nahemow. The award, consisting of a cat-o-nine tails, is not highly coveted.

Finally, the Sportsmanship Award, given annually to the member of the Deep Creek Yacht Racing Association who best exemplified the ideals and traditions of good sportsmanship, was presented to Dan Muss. He received the award for his encouragement of others in sailing and racing as leader of the Novice Racing program for new racers, and of the Junior Sailing program.

Although the racing season on Deep Creek Lake is over, several of the Deep Creek Lake sailors will be traveling to lakes in other states to continue to sharpen their racing skills. Also, there will be a post season race, the Magellan Race, on Deep Creek Lake this Saturday, Sept. 12, starting at 10 a.m. This is an informal, around the lake affair, open to everyone. For more information, persons may call Ted Rissell at 301-387-6463.

Raiders Whip Rams, Jets Nip Steelers In YFL

The Oakland Raiders and Oakland Jets both opened their 1992 Mountaintop Youth Football League campaigns with victories Sunday afternoon on the Southern High School field.

The Raiders rolled over the Thomas-Davis Rams, 27-0, and the Jets edged the Northern Steelers, 6-0, in overtime.

Joel Uphold led the Raiders' offensive effort by rushing for 139 yards and scoring the first three touchdowns of the game. His first six-pointer came on a 50-yard run in the first quarter, after which he also ran for the extra point.

Later in the same quarter, he scampered 10 yards for another touchdown. The conversion attempt failed.

The score remained 13-0 until the third quarter when Justin Helbig recovered a Ram fumble on the Raiders' 40-yard line to set up a 60-yard drive that was capped by an eight-yard run by Uphold. Steve Dawson ran for the conversion to make it 20-0.

The final touchdown came early in the fourth period on a seven-yard run by Dawson. Jack Alvarez ran for the extra point.

Dawson finished with 77 yards rushing to go with his touchdown. Alvarez also grabbed an interception.

Raider Coach Dave Martin praised his entire defensive unit for the shutout.

The Raiders will be off this week and then meet the Steelers the following weekend.

The game between the Jets and Steelers was all defense through the entire four quarters of regulation play, but Oakland's Howie Crosco finally broke the ice and won the game with a 10-yard touchdown run in overtime.

The Steelers sustained a major blow when Zack Leverenz was sidelined with a tooth injury. His replacement, Jimmy Warnick, came in and recorded a pair of interceptions. Leverenz is listed as doubtful for the rest of the season.

Ben Sisler, coach of the Steelers, noted the defensive efforts of Cody Brenneman, Brad Mason, and Jimmy Dennison.

This summer at New Germany State Park, the corps constructed three multi-use bridges for vehicles, emergency rescue, and maintenance trucks, cross country skiing, and off-road vehicles. In order to prepare for bridge construction, MCC workers had to dig ditches, transport steel beams, (some weighing as much as 1,500 pounds) into remote areas. Pictured above with one of their completed bridges, in the first row, left to right, are Matthew Werdebaugh, Greg Simmons, Keith Yutzy, and Henry Rexrode. In the second row, same order, Stephen Beckman, Allen Niner, Erica Sisler, Kris Patton, and Mike Rexrode, and in the back row, same order, are Joe Schmidle, crew chief, and Barry Stephens. Not pictured is Kevin Broadwater.

BRIDGES CONSTRUCTED AT NEW GERMANY -- Maryland Department of Natural Resources, State Forest and Park Service, was fortunate to have the Maryland Conservation Corps working at 64 sites throughout Maryland. This summer at New Germany State Park, the corps constructed three multi-use bridges for vehicles, emergency rescue, and maintenance trucks, cross country skiing, and off-road vehicles. In order to prepare for bridge construction, MCC workers had to dig ditches, transport steel beams, (some weighing as much as 1,500 pounds) into remote areas. Pictured above with one of their completed bridges, in the first row, left to right, are Matthew Werdebaugh, Greg Simmons, Keith Yutzy, and Henry Rexrode. In the second row, same order, Stephen Beckman, Allen Niner, Erica Sisler, Kris Patton, and Mike Rexrode, and in the back row, same order, are Joe Schmidle, crew chief, and Barry Stephens. Not pictured is Kevin Broadwater. larger lettering for the bins (or graphics) and we've asked them to place bars on the tops of the bins so that items can be dropped in but not stolen," he said.

The problem of aluminum items being stolen after being deposited in the bins was brought up by Andersen. Since Garrett County is mandated by the state to recycle a certain percentage of its solid waste stream, the theft of those items would prevent the county from presenting an accurate count to the state.

League President Connie Margison then asked if consideration could be given to relocating one or two of the recycling bins to more visible sites in the county, such as grocery store parking lots. She explained that perhaps the misuse of the bins would be reduced with that measure.

A letter received by the league from an elderly woman who recently experienced a "frightening situation" at one of the sites was also explained by Andersen, who said the woman was depositing recyclables one day when a man's head popped up out of one of the bins. He reportedly stated that he was gathering aluminum cans and receiving one penny per can.

Margison explained that the relative isolation of the sites has allowed that kind of incident to occur.

She added that Allegany County has located its recycling bins in well-lit places and the program is reportedly working efficiently in that county.

Andersen then asked Braskey what efforts, if any, had been made to establish new markets for the recyclables.

Braskey answered that all the counties in Maryland are experiencing difficulty in obtaining adequate markets for their recyclables, noting that improvements in that area are being sought through the Maryland Association of Counties (MACo).

Thorne then reported that grant monies from the Maryland Environmental Service (MES) had been received by the county for the purpose of improving the lighting, paving, fencing, and general security of the existing sites.

"Last year we received $100,000 for the improvement of the existing facilities, and I'm currently requesting more grant funds to add a freon recycler and a tire shredder."

Discussion also centered momentarily around the status of the Garrett County Recycling Committee, whose members were charged with making recommendations to the commissioners regarding the implementation of a recycling program and which met for a period of approximately one year.

The league members wanted to know if the committee was still active in any way and if a new committee could be established to address the problems being faced since the implementation of the program.

Braskey said he would discuss the matter with the other two commissioners who were unable to attend the meeting.

ties will be located in the Southern Garrett Industrial Park in Oakland. Those facilities consist of some 38,000 square feet of manufacturing and office space, sited on six acres.

"Currently, we are in the process of re-ordering and re-stocking raw product input," stated David Elsner, managing director and executive vice president of the North American operations. "As soon as sufficient quantities of raw inventory arrive at the Oakland plant, we will resume production and full shipment capability -- we hope to be back to a high level of production in short order, and be employing some 70 persons by this time next year."

Garrett Optical is one of two manufacturing businesses located in the Southern Industrial Park that has recently been undergoing restructuring efforts and, as a result, a reported 50 of Garrett Optical's 55 employees were temporarily laid off under the previous ownership.

No official announcement has been made about the restructuring efforts of the other comapny, Mountain Fresh Meats, which has reportedly been given a deadline by the Garrett County Commissioners to come up with a viable restructing plan and timeline.

cursing that he had already paid his admission price."

"I told Rounds to quiet down at which time he raised both fists and began to jab with his left fist," said Berkebile.

Rounds allegedly responded with "Come on and I'll smack you."

Berkebile told Rounds he was under arrest and he and MacLane attempted to subdue Rounds who resisted arrest. The struggle reportedly continued and Rounds was thrown to the ground.

"While on the ground, I realized that Walter Fearer and William MacLane were also on the ground assisting us," said Berkebile. "MacLane and I were able to secure one of Rounds's hands, but unable to retrieve the other. Fearer and MacLane both grabbed the man's other arm and we able to handcuff him and take him into custody.

Berkebile continued, "Even though Rounds was obviously willing to assault anyone within reach, both these citizens were willing to put their safety aside and assist with the apprehension of Rounds."

Fearer is a service station owner and is a veteran with the U.S. Air Force, having served 21 years which included tours of duty during the Korean Conflict and Vietnam.

William MacLane is a retired Washington, D.C. police officer. He retired in 1965 after 16 years of service. He served three and one-half year with the U.S. Navy during the end of World War II.

Although William MacLane is the father of A. Scott MacLane, he said he would have come to the aid of the officers. "When you see someone needing assistance, you just react," said MacLane.

Barrack Commander Lt. Charles Hinnant was on hand for the awards presentation and said, "What these two men have done is certainly appreciated. It goes beyond what is expected of private citizens. We commend them."

Is the potassium supplement that my physician prescribed supposed to help lower my blood pressure?

Potassium supplements usually are given to counteract the effect of diuretic medicines that cause the body to lose potassium. However, potassium also may have a pressure-lowering effect. In one study, the majority of patients with high blood pressure who were placed on a potassium-rich diet were able to reduce their use of blood pressure medicines by 50%. Potassium-rich foods include fruits, vegetables, and beans.

The Golden Years

by Melissa Groves

"The human body and mind can be astonishingly healthy and functional at middle age," says Dr. T. Franklin Williams, director of the National Institute on Aging (NIA). He pointed to two sports stars in their 40s as examples of maintaining skills and durability longer than people of previous generations: Fans expected boxer George Forman, 42, to go down early when he stepped into the ring against Evander Childs, 28. But Forman lasted through the final round. And at 44, Nolan Ryan pitched a no-hitter for the Texas Rangers.

In her 40 years on radio and television, Betty White won five Emmys -- the latest for her role in "Golden Girls." At 69, she credited her career success in part to "being in the right place at the right time." And she explained why performing on TV is different from the stage and movies: "You're never talking to more than three or four people in the room. If there are more people in the room, they're talking to each other."

Remember When? December 25, 1931 – Radio audiences in the U.S. and abroad for the first time heard an entire opera, "Hansel and Gretel," broadcast from the Metropolitan Opera House in New York.

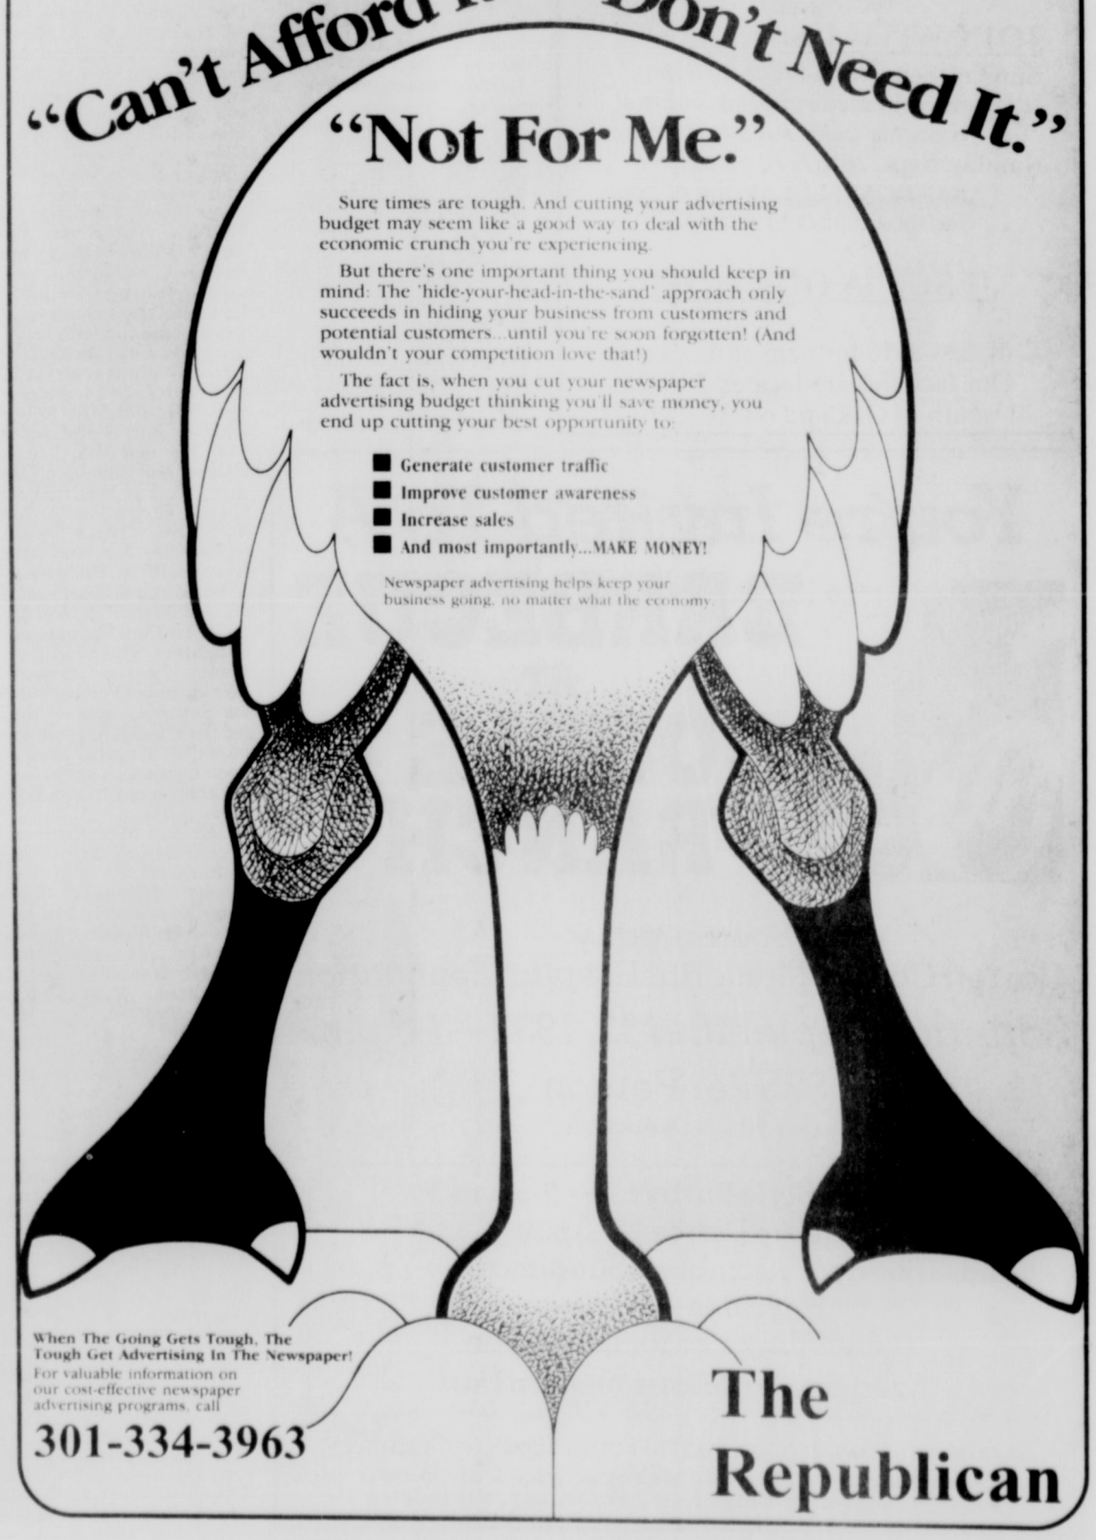
"Can't Afford It." "Don't Need It."
"Not For Me."



Sure times are tough. And cutting your advertising budget may seem like a good way to deal with the economic crunch you're experiencing.

But there's one important thing you should keep in mind: The 'hide-your-head-in-the-sand' approach only succeeds in hiding your business from customers and potential customers...until you're soon forgotten! (And wouldn't your competition love that!)

The fact is, when you cut your newspaper advertising budget thinking you'll save money, you end up cutting your best opportunity to:

- Generate customer traffic
- Improve customer awareness
- Increase sales
- And most importantly...MAKE MONEY!

KILL BIG RATTLER - Darrell Armstrong, Kitzmiller, and Sandy Harvey, Mt. Zion, were surprised while walking through the woods near Swanton looking for ginseng last week when they came within inches of stepping on this 57-inch rattlesnake. They captured the reptile, which had 14 rattles. It was the second rattler they had caught in a week, the first of which was 30 inches long with eight rattlers. Armstrong tans the skins for making belts, while Ms. Harvey prepares the meat for a gourmet meal.

GOBA Meets; Minutes Noted

The Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) met recently and members discussed a variety of items, including the annual Christmas promotion, the Fresh Air Christmas, and Autumn Glory activities. The 1993 Open Air Festival was also discussed in a separate committee meeting.

Renee Savage of First Federal announced that the annual Christmas promotion will start Oct. 10. The first drawing will be conducted Oct. 17 and the final one is scheduled for November 27. The prizes will be combinations of gift certificates totalling $100. The $50 for advertising and gift certificates from participating businesses were to be sent to Personally Yours Monogramming by Sept. 1. A $10 late fee will be added for those not made by Sept. 19th.

The Fresh Air Christmas, sponsored by GOBA and WKHJ Radio, will be listed in the 1993 Maryland Calendar of Events. It is scheduled for December 4. The Secret Santa will be promoted again this year.

A scheduled Autumn Glory event is the performance of the Silver Eagle Band from 1-4 p.m. on Friday. They will be set up on Second and Alder Streets. GOBA is seeking more crafters for the event.

The second annual Make a Difference Day will be Saturday, November 14. GOBA members are looking for ideas for this national event. Persons may contact Jack Jones or Connie Margison at 334-9211.

It was noted at the meeting that supplies and food items are being collected for Hurricane Andrew victims. The drop-off point is Pleasant View Baptist Church on Rt. 219.

The Open Air Festival of 1993 is scheduled for May 29. A committee for the event met last month to discuss ideas and plans for the festival.

Plans for next year's event include a civil war reenactment and encampment of Confederate and Union troops involved in the burning of the B&O Railroad bridges; a leisurely bicycle tour of Oakland; a canoe ride or race on the Little Yough, water level permitting; a kids' fishing derby; possibly a "sheep to shawl" demonstration; and a "great duck" regatta fund raiser.

Other events in the planning stages are the second annual Outhouse Race; possible food concessions such as French fry vendors, baked goods, barbecued chicken, and other items; foot races; and a performance by the Silver Eagle Band.

Caring Connection Receives Funding Approval For '93

The New Horizons Program of Garrett Community College, which operates The Caring Connection, has been notified of grant approval to continue the program's operation for the 1992-93 funding year.

The college will receive a $20,000 grant again this year to continue operation of an Adolescent Single Parent Model Program for the fiscal year 1992-93. The grant is provided by the Division of Vocational/Technical Education, Maryland State Department of Education, according to Barbara Frey, director of New Horizons and The Caring Connection.

The funding will be used to continue a model vocational program for adolescent single parents, ages 14 to 19, which includes outreach, recruitment, career counseling, interested testing, personal development workshop participation at both Northern and Southern middle and high schools, vocational exploration and training in both credit and non-credit areas at GCC, and job awareness assistance through The Caring Connection Program.

The Carl Perkins Vocational Education Act defines the term "single parent" as an individual who is unmarried or legally separated from a spouse and has a minor child or children for which the parent has either custody or joint custody; or pregnant teens.

Part of the grant will be used for tuition assistance for vocational training at GCC and to provide child care assistance to enable program participants to complete their education.

Adolescent single parents will be encouraged to complete their high school education if still enrolled in school, obtain their GED if they have withdrawn from high school, and enroll in vocational training at GCC in preparation for employment. For those seeking employment, job awareness training will be available and a job referral program may be used to find employment.

A self-awareness series of workshops has been developed utilizing the "Choices" format, or "Life Skills" curriculum and has been coordinated for those still attending middle or high school, and will continue to function this funding year. Similar arrangements will be made for those who have graduated or received their GED who may be interested in this self-awareness series.

Interested persons, ages 14 to 19, who meet the eligibility qualifications, may call New Horizons/The Caring Connection at Garrett Community College's McHenry Campus Monday through Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at 387-6666, ext. 171, for more information or to schedule an appointment to meet with the program counselor.

All Sewn Up

"A stitch in time saves nine." Grandma passed on this old adage at every opportunity, and truly it is sage advice even today...especially today.

At the risk of being somewhat trite, do you ever feel that your life is "coming apart at the seams"? Possibly a little something went wrong...then another misfortune . . . and on and on . . . until pessimism and fear take hold.

Take control! Allow God to help you to regain optimism; to experience the peace of mind that comes only from the unconditional trust in His power as it works in your life, even before mishaps occur.

Trust God...beginning now, and make regular worship a weekly opportunity, so that life does not become insurmountable. With God's help, your life can be "all sewn up".

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

PUT OUT YOUR HAND!
September 13, 1992

Background Scripture:
Exodus 3:1 through 4:17.
Devotional Reading:
Exodus 4:10-16.

When I was in my first pastorate in the suburbs of Harrisburg, PA, one day on the way to call in the hospital, I saw a woman hit by a car. As i pulled over to the curb, I was sure that she had not survived, for she had been thrown into the air and came down with a terrible thud. I had always been squeamish about physical injuries. The sight revolted me. So, I assumed that on this busy street there would be someone less squeamish and more knowledgeable to do whatever needed to be done before an ambulance arrived.

But, although several other people looked on with me, none made a move to go to the fallen woman's side. At last, I realized that if anything was going to be done, it would have to be me. So, for the first time in my life, I put aside my abdominal butterflies and knelt beside the bloodied woman to do whatever I could do. Miraculously, she was still alive, although I was sure she could not long survive. Nevertheless, later that same day in the hospital I saw her again and was told that she would recover and live.

AN 80-YEAR OLD FAILURE

I must confess that putting out my hand that day to touch her was one of the hardest things I had ever done. But, it seemed, I had no choice because no one else was going to do it and I knew that someone had to at least try. I had no idea how I could be of help to her, but that all became pretty academic when I put out my hand and did what I thought, for me, was impossible. I have since come to realize that most of the worthwhile things in the world have been accomplished by people who were just as scared as I was, and justt as certain they were not equal to the task.

Today, we celebrate Moses as a great man of faith, but we overlook the fact that he was certain that he was not the man for the job. Up until the time of this great wayside experience, Moses had not demonstrated any leadership or spiritual sensitivity. And, most important of all -- something we usually overlook -- when this challenge came to him, he was already 80 years old, an age long past the point at which people today think they can be of any service.

I WILL TURN ASIDE

So, what made the difference between this 80-year old failure and the man of faith we revere today? For one thing, Moses made the change possible when, seeing the burning bush, he said to himself, "I will turn aside and see this great sight, why the bush is not consumed" (3:3). Probably that one decision is what most differentiates us from Moses. Too many of us would hafve said -- and do say today -- "Hmm, isn't that strange!" and kept going. God has a message for each of us, but we will never hear that message unless we are willing to "turn aside and see," to give God a chance to speak from some of the "holy ground" in our own lives.

Perhaps another reason that God was able to reach Moses wwas that when he was challenged, he was honest about his doubts and reservations. When God proposed to send Moses to Pharoah as his representative, Moses did not beat around the burning bush: "Who am I that I should go to Pharoah and bring the sons of Israel out of Egypt?" (3:11). And: "But behold, they will not believe me or listen to my voice..." (4:1). And later: "oh, my Lord, I am not eloquent... I am slow of speech and tongue" (4:10). And finally: "Oh, my Lord send I pray, some other person" (4:13).

And, because Moses was upfront with his reactions, God was able to deal with them. To every objection Moses raised, the answer is found in God's reassurance: "But I will be with you" (3:12). None of us, by ourselves, is equal to the tasks God lays upon us. We may not have all it takes to do what has to be done; but, if we give God what we have, he will make up the difference. If we trust him, we can, if we trust him, we can, if we will, respond when he says to us: "Put out your hand...".

COVER STORY

'Delta': Temperament? What temperament?

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

Delta Burke's new ABC series, "Delta," is premiering this week, several episodes have now been taped, and Barry Kemp ("Newhart," "Coach"), its executive producer, says that he has yet to experience a single problem with his supposed-to-be-temperamental star. Honest.

Barry Kemp

"There haven't been any at all," he says. ("Delta" has a special preview on Tuesday, Sept. 15, then moves to its regular time slot Thursday, Sept. 17.) "I mean, absolutely zilch. New shows are usually difficult from a writing standpoint, because you're trying to find the characters, but from a personality standpoint, these have been among the easiest first four shows I've ever done. We're going to have our bad weeks eventually, I'm sure. We'll all get tired and frustrated or whatever. But so far it has been just terrific."

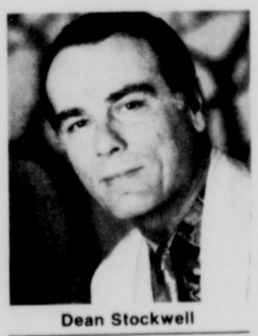
If that's the case, how did that damaging TV Guide cover story (July 4), which painted a portrait of a decidedly paranoid star, happen?

"It beats me," says Kemp. "This has been my first experience reading about something where I had been there and where I went, 'I don't know where this came from.' I was there, and it was a very easy week. Who shoots a pilot where there isn't anxiety? You expect that. But there wasn't any tension. There weren't armed guards. It was one of those situations where I think someone came to the party with a story they wanted to write, and they were going to write that story no matter what they saw."

In the series, a newly blond Burke, who is also a co-executive producer, plays Delta Bishop, who picks up and moves out when she realizes that her husband never did intend to support her country-singing aspirations. Burke sings occasionally, but the emphasis is on her distinct comic rhythms, familiar to longtime viewers of her former series, "Designing Women."

"Anytime anybody has a really distinctive rhythm, it makes it easy to write," Kemp says. "She's a little bit like Bob (Newhart) in that regard. They both have the capability of taking what can be ordinary dialogue, putting a spin on it, and making it sound much funnier than it would coming out of somebody else's mouth."

Although his star isn't a worry, the series' Thursday-night time slot is. "Obviously, it wouldn't have been our first choice," says Kemp. "You're asking Delta to bring an awful lot of people in cold to kick off a night, and that's a tall order. The last one to do that was 'Cosby.' I don't remember another 8 o'clock show that was a self-starter that really set the world on fire. But I don't think it's hopeless."



Delta Burke stars as an aspiring country singer in the new ABC comedy "Delta." It previews on Tuesday, Sept. 15, before settling into its regular time slot Thursday, Sept. 17.

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

GUY AND DEAN – Is Dean Stockwell of "Quantum Leap" related to Guy Stockwell, who was in "Adventures in Paradise"? I see similarities that go beyond their name, but my husband says they are not related. Did Dean ever star in his own series? – L.L., Traverse City, Mich.

Dean Stockwell

Dean is Guy's older brother. They are the sons of actors Harry Stockwell and Betty Veronica.

Dean Stockwell had never been a series regular until he landed the role of Al in "Quantum Leap." However, he does have a long list of film credits, which date all the way back to his days as a child star at MGM. They include "The Green Years" (1946), "The Boy With Green Hair" (1948), "Compulsion" (1959), "Sons and Lovers" (1960), "Long Day's Journey Into Night" (1962), "To Live and Die in L.A." (1985), "Blue Velvet" (1986) and "Married to the Mob" (for which he received a 1989 Oscar nomination).

MR. TIBBS – Wasn't the actor who plays Virgil on "In the Heat of the Night" in a movie with James Cagney? If so, what was the title? – M.D., Jamestown, N.Y.

Howard Rollins, who portrays Virgil Tibbs in that series (airing this season on CBS), played Coalhouse Walker opposite James Cagney in 1981's "Ragtime." Rollins' performance in that film won him Oscar and Golden Globe nominations as Best Supporting Actor that year. His other movie credits include "The House of God" (1979) and "A Soldier's Story" (1984). Rollins is also a seasoned stage performer, having appeared in a number of off-Broadway and Broadway productions, including "The Mighty Gents," "Fathers and Sons" and "Medal of Honor Rag."

CARTER'S BIG 'BREAK' – What was the name of the series in which Nell Carter played a housekeeper? Isn't she also a singer? – G.H., Winchester, Va.

Carter starred as housekeeper Nell Harper in the 1981-87 series "Gimme a Break," but it was her work as a Broadway performer and cabaret singer that led her to TV success. Carter sang in clubs and off-Broadway before winning a 1978 Tony Award for her work in the Broadway production of "Ain't Misbehavin'." Carter's other primetime series include "Lobo" (1980-81) and "You Take the Kids" (1990-91).

Family crises are at the heart of NBC movies

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

The movie industry has been criticized for being a virtual dead zone in terms of substantive roles for women, but TV is providing ample opportunities for actresses to take center stage.

NBC repeats two examples of this trend this week, beginning with "Living a Lie" (NBC, Sept. 13), which stars Jill Eikenberry as a wife beginning to entertain dangerous suspicions about her husband, played by Peter Coyote. The couple's financial and matrimonial difficulties are complicated by his possible involvement in a crime.

• More likely to pluck at the heartstrings is "In the Best Interest of the Children" (NBC, Sept. 14). Sarah Jessica Parker – currently starring in "Honeymoon in Vegas" – gives a heart-rending performance as Callie Cain, a mentally ill mother trying to regain custody of her five children. Callie suffers from recurring bouts of acute manic depression and is forced to temporarily give up custody of her children to return to a mental institution. Meanwhile, the new state-assigned foster mother (played by Sally Struthers) has developed a fierce attachment to Callie's children and begins a legal battle of nurture vs. nature to retain permanent custody of her charges.

• As "Regarding Henry" showed mean lawyers the error of their ways, "The Doctor" (Showtime, Sept. 13) features a thoughtless member of the second-oldest profession who, when laid up in his own hospital, is forced to confront the nastiness of his fellow doctors and the whole bureaucratic procedure. William Hurt stars as the doctor stricken with cancer, and Elizabeth Perkins plays a fellow patient who teaches Hurt a life lesson.

• Two literary bad apples are featured on repeats of PBS's "Masterpiece Theatre" and "Mystery!" "Masterpiece Theatre" 's "Heat of the Day" (Sept. 13; check local listings) is a rather sordid World War II tale of a British intelligence agent who blackmails a luscious divorcee into becoming his mistress in exchange for not ratting on her traitor boyfriend. Patricia Hodge stars as the unfortunate woman.

"Mystery!" features a Gothic clash of beauty and the beast in 19th-century England. "Dark Angel" (Sept. 17; check local listings) is adapted from the Sheridan le Fanu novel "Uncle Silas" and stars Peter O'Toole. Arguably attractive on the outside, O'Toole hides a treacherous beast within as Uncle Silas, who schemes to wrest an inheritance away from his comely niece.

SPORTS CALENDAR

Game picks for ABC's 'MNF' puzzle many

BY CHRISTOPHER HULL

When the Cleveland Browns host the Miami Dolphins Sept. 14 on ABC's "Monday Night Football," they'll be making their lone Monday-night appearance of the season. Not so the Sea Mammals. They're one of four teams that will show up three times on the weekly showcase game.

After this week, the next

Dan Marino

Monday-night appointment for Dan Marino and company is when the Dolphins host the Buffalo Bills on Nov. 16. After that, they entertain the Los Angeles Raiders on Dec. 14.

Washington and Dallas, who played the first Monday-night game of the season last week, each appear three times: Washington hosts Denver on Oct. 12 and visits New Orleans on Nov. 23, and Dallas travels to Philadelphia on Oct. 5 and to Atlanta's new Georgia Dome on Dec. 21. The Chicago Bears, perennially strong Monday-night draws, host the New York Giants next week and Minnesota on Nov. 2; they travel to Houston on Dec. 7.

Denver, Buffalo, San Francisco, Atlanta and the Los Angeles Raiders play twice each. Besides Cleveland, teams with one Monday-night date are the New York Giants, Kansas City, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, the New York Jets, Minnesota, New Orleans, Seattle, Houston and Detroit. That leaves New England, Indianapolis, San Diego, Phoenix, Green Bay, Tampa Bay and the Los Angeles Rams shut out entirely from the weekly spotlight.

Looking at that schedule leaves one wondering about the selection process for the weekly telecast: One of the four teams with three Monday-night dates, Miami, didn't even make the playoffs last year. At 8-8, they were edged out for a wild-card berth by the New York Jets on a tiebreaker. Conversely, Philadelphia, which narrowly missed the playoffs with a 10-6 record last year but is being picked by many for the Super Bowl this year, plays just once.

NBC has the doubleheader on Sunday, Sept. 13, while CBS will air one game nationally. The TNT Sunday-night game is Philadelphia at Phoenix.

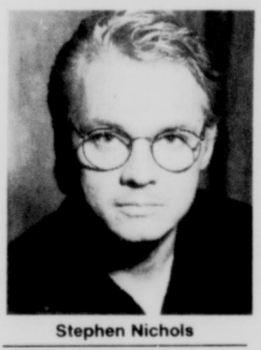
• The men's final of the U.S. Open tennis championships airs live Sunday, Sept. 13, on CBS. Last year, Stefan Edberg beat Jim Courier in straight sets to win the men's title.

• The Chicago Cubs visit the St. Louis Cardinals on ESPN's Sunday-night baseball game Sept. 13. On Saturday, Sept. 19, CBS airs one of three games: Boston-Detroit, Los Angeles-San Francisco or St. Louis-Chicago.

THIS WEEK

Robert Urich

SEASON'S Greetings: The new television season begins in earnest this week, with the debuts of many new network series and season premieres of others. Among the familiar faces returning to the tube this season are Robert Urich ("Crossroads"), Delta Burke ("Delta") and John Ritter ("Hearts Afire"). Among the new series: • On Sunday, Sept. 13, CBS previews its new sitcom "Frannie's Turn," and the new Fox comedy "Flying Blind" begins. • On Monday, Sept. 14, ABC previews the drama "Crossroads," and CBS premieres the comedy "Hearts Afire." • On Tuesday, Sept. 15, ABC previews its comedy "Delta," and CBS's "Angel Street" cop drama kicks off with a movie. • On Wednesday, Sept. 16, CBS's "The Hat Squad," also a cop drama, premieres. • On Friday, Sept. 18, ABC ushers in the comedy "Camp Wilder," CBS premieres its comedies "The Golden Palace" and "Bob," and the drama "Picket Fences," and NBC introduces the reality show "Final Appeal" and the ensemble drama "The Round Table." • On Saturday, Sept. 19, "The Edge," a sketch-comedy show, opens on Fox, and NBC premieres the sitcoms "Here and Now" and "Out All Night."



SOAP SCOOP

Soap tsunami sweeps actors in, out and back

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

A tidal wave seems to have swept out a number of actors from their soaps this summer, and there has correspondingly been a rush of new casting, with an emphasis on utilizing soap veterans.

Arriving: Stephen Nichols in the recurring role of Skyler Gates on "Santa Barbara." Nichols, of course, was the actor who played Patch Johnson on "Days of Our Lives" from 1985-90. Patch and Kayla (played by Mary Beth Evans) were perhaps the most popular soap couple of the late '80s. The soap world wept copiously along with Kayla when Patch was killed off on "DOOL" two years ago. On "SB," Nichols is playing a psychiatrist from the Far East who helps B.J. Walker (played by Sydney Penny) recover from the molestation she suffered as a child.

Stephen Nichols

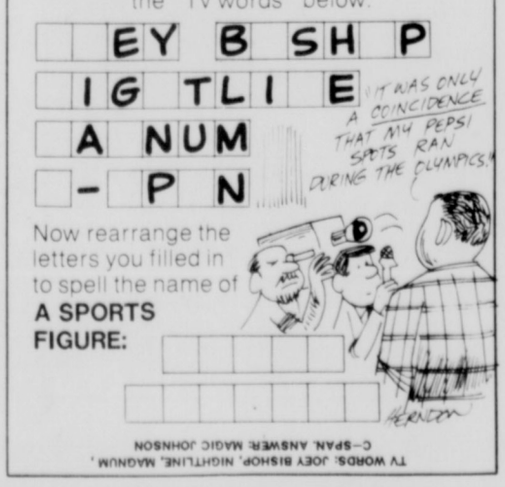
Arriving: Margaret Klenck on "As the World Turns" as Kitty Fielding, a blue-blooded woman out of the European past of Scott Eldridge (played by Joe Breen). Klenck played Edwina Lewis on "One Life to Live" from 1977-85.



Departing: Daniel McVicar as Clarke Garrison on "The Bold and the Beautiful." Get out your handkerchiefs! McVicar, whose hunky good looks make him a ringer for the late Rock Hudson, has a way of playing comic subtext. His line delivery has always somehow acknowledged that "B&B" is at heart a campy soap opera. Now that Clarke's much older wife, Sally (the divine Darlene Conley), has divorced him, there's nowhere for the character to go.

Returning: Arleen Sorkin as Calliope Bradford on "DOOL." Sorkin, who made a splash on "DOOL" as kooky Calliope long before anyone could even conceive of a show called "America's Funniest People" (which she co-hosts), is returning for a few days as Calliope. (There is a possibility that she'll stay on in the role.) Now, wisecracking Calliope is a talk-show host in New York City, to which Jennifer Devereaux (played by Melissa Reeves) is journeying to play Calliope's sidekick.

Returning: Susan Marie Snyder (who plays Julie) and Michael David Morrison (who plays Caleb) rejoin "As the World Turns." These bitter exspouses are played by two excellent actors. On their last go-round on the show, fireworks shot off as the perpetually wayward Julie made love with Caleb's brother Holden (Jon Hensley), resulting in the birth of son Aaron. Aaron, who was secretly adopted by Holden's adopted sister Iva (played by Lisa Brown), is the center of all attention on "ATWT."

In the 1991 film, martial artist Van Damme plays a dual role as Chad, a smooth karate instructor, and his twin brother Alex, a streetwise, gun-slinging smuggler. The two team together and take revenge on the men who brutally murdered their parents and separated the twins when they were babies.

There has been an addition to the Bundy brood as "Married ... With Children" begins its seventh season Sunday, Sept. 13, on Fox. Shane Sweet (l.) plays Steven Bundy, a 6-year-old who is left at the doorstep of his Uncle Al (Ed O'Neill, r.) and Aunt Peg (Katey Sagal, rear) by his loser parents (guest stars Bobcat Goldthwait and Linda Blair). Little Stevie may be a joy to the adult Bundys, but Bud and Kelly are less than delighted at his arrival.

IN FOCUS

On the season premiere of ABC's "Home Improvement," airing Wednesday, Sept. 16, Al (Richard Karn, l.) and Tim (Tim Allen, r.) who is unaware that Jill is planning a special romantic evening, engage in a peanut-rolling contest with the guys in the bar. NBC is countering with a special hour-long "Seinfeld." The ratings could provide a strong indication of which show will emerge as the eventual winner in their mutual time slot.

In the Kitchen

Baking up a Sweet September with Honey

When September arrives, the weather turns cooler, and a warm oven is suddenly inviting. Popping cookies in the oven is no longer too hot to handle, but rather the coziest, most appealing thing to do.

September is also National Honey Month, and what better way to celebrate the change of seasons than to bake up a batch of goodies featuring this delightful, flavorful sweetener. Honey also has a number of attributes that make it particularly well-suited for baking.

Honey Currant Scones are a case in point. Almost everybody loves these Scottish treats, but they can be a bit crumbly. Because honey adds natural moisture to baked goods, these scones are never dry. The blend of honey, sour cream and orange peel in the batter makes these breakfast treats distinctive and delicious.

Honey Oatmeal Chocolate Chip Cookies are chewy and moist. Honey absorbs and retains moisture from the air, so these cookies will actually stay fresher longer than other cookies. Honey also imparts a rich golden color that is particularly appealing in a cookie.

Honey's unique ability to enhance other flavors shines through in Honey Fruit Pie. Honey mellows the tartness of the cranberries and complements the creaminess of the pears.

A twist of the wrist, a measure of honey and a sprinkle of this and that transform a hot roll mix into savory Honey Bread Sticks. These snacks are fun to eat and easy to make. You'll be surprised how the different toppings change the character of the dough.

Whether it's scones, cookies, pie or bread sticks, honey has a talent for turning simple tastes into something special.

Honey Baking Basics

Because of its high fructose content, honey has a higher sweetening power than sugar.

One 12-ounce jar of honey equals a standard measuring cup.

For easy removal, coat measuring cup with vegetable oil or vegetable oil spray before measuring honey.

For best results, use recipes that specify honey.

When you substitute honey for granulated sugar in baked recipes:

Substitute honey for up to half the sugar. With experimentation, honey can be substituted for all the sugar in some recipes.

Reduce the amount of liquid in the recipe by ¼ cup for each cup of honey used.

Add ½ teaspoon baking soda for each cup of honey used.

Reduce oven temperature by 25°F to prevent over-browning.

To top off any baked good deliciously, give it a simple glaze with honey. Brush on desired amount of honey directly after removing baked good from oven. If desired, dilute honey with lemon juice, your favorite liqueur or water before using as a glaze. Allow to cool, then enjoy.

If you follow the simple rules outlined in the box (opposite), honey can be substituted for sugar in many recipes. Here's a side-by-side example of how honey can be substituted for all the sugar in a typical muffin recipe. In general, baked goods containing honey will be darker and richer in color and decidedly more moist.

Baking up a Sweet September with Honey

When September arrives, the weather turns cooler, and a warm oven is suddenly inviting. Popping cookies in the oven is no longer too hot to handle, but rather the coziest, most appealing thing to do.

September is also National Honey Month, and what better way to celebrate the change of seasons than to bake up a batch of goodies featuring this delightful, flavorful sweetener. Honey also has a number of attributes that make it particularly well-suited for baking.

Honey Currant Scones are a case in point. Almost everybody loves these Scottish treats, but they can be a bit crumbly. Because honey adds natural moisture to baked goods, these scones are never dry. The blend of honey, sour cream and orange peel in the batter makes these breakfast treats distinctive and delicious.

Honey Oatmeal Chocolate Chip Cookies are chewy and moist. Honey absorbs and retains moisture from the air, so these cookies will actually stay fresher longer than other cookies. Honey also imparts a rich golden color that is particularly appealing in a cookie.

Honey's unique ability to enhance other flavors shines through in Honey Fruit Pie. Honey mellows the tartness of the cranberries and complements the creaminess of the pears.

A twist of the wrist, a measure of honey and a sprinkle of this and that transform a hot roll mix into savory Honey Bread Sticks. These snacks are fun to eat and easy to make. You'll be surprised how the different toppings change the character of the dough.

Whether it's scones, cookies, pie or bread sticks, honey has a talent for turning simple tastes into something special.

HONEY CURRANT SCONES

2½ cups flour
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon each baking soda and salt

Stir honey mixture into dry mixture to form soft dough. Turn dough onto floured surface; knead 10 times. Shape dough into 8-inch square. Cut into 4 squares; cut each square diagonally into 2 triangles. Place on greased baking pan and bake at 375°F 15 to 20 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 8 servings.

Honey Baking Basics

Because of its high fructose content, honey has a higher sweetening power than sugar.

One 12-ounce jar of honey equals a standard measuring cup.

For easy removal, coat measuring cup with vegetable oil or vegetable oil spray before measuring honey.

For best results, use recipes that specify honey.

When you substitute honey for granulated sugar in baked recipes:

Substitute honey for up to half the sugar. With experimentation, honey can be substituted for all the sugar in some recipes.

Reduce the amount of liquid in the recipe by ¼ cup for each cup of honey used.

Add ½ teaspoon baking soda for each cup of honey used.

Reduce oven temperature by 25°F to prevent over-browning.

To top off any baked good deliciously, give it a simple glaze with honey. Brush on desired amount of honey directly after removing baked good from oven. If desired, dilute honey with lemon juice, your favorite liqueur or water before using as a glaze. Allow to cool, then enjoy.

If you follow the simple rules outlined in the box (opposite), honey can be substituted for sugar in many recipes. Here's a side-by-side example of how honey can be substituted for all the sugar in a typical muffin recipe. In general, baked goods containing honey will be darker and richer in color and decidedly more moist.

2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon each salt and ground cinnamon

Combine oats, flours, baking powder, salt and cinnamon; mix well. Beat eggs and brown sugar in a small bowl; add milk and oil and mix well. Makes 12 muffins.

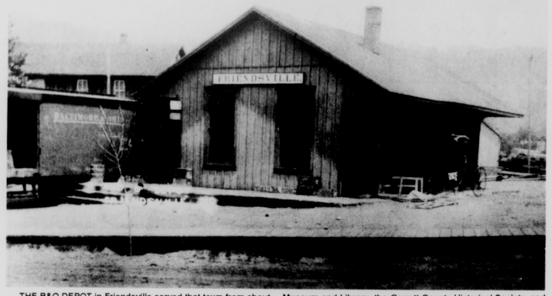
Guitarist Will Perform Spanish Music At FSU



Guitarist David Burgess will perform a program of "500 Years of Spanish Music in the Americas" during a performance at Frostburg State University's Cafe Frostburg on Saturday, September 12, at 8 p.m. in the Greenhouse of the Lane Center. The performance is free and open to the public.

According to an FSU spokesman, the program will trace the history of Spanish music, from the oldest known guitar music, composed in Spain during the time of Columbus, through the intricate dance rhythms of the Spanish Baroque, the exotic harmonies of the late 19th century, the fiery Flamenco of the Andalucian Gypsies, to some of today's most contemporary Spanish music, concentrating on styles that influenced Latin America.

Burgess has won top honors in international guitar competitions in New York, Mexico City, Toronto and Munich, as well as having performed throughout North and South America, in Europe and the Far East. He has recorded for CBS Masterworks, Musical Heritage Society, Camerata and Athena Records. He currently resides in New York City, and has performed to critical acclaim in Carnegie Recital Hall, Lincoln Center, in the Newport Music Festival, and at the Kennedy Center.

The program is sponsored by the Lane Center and Campus Activities Board, Residence Hall Association and SES Diversity Month Committee as part of the Cafe Frostburg Series.

FSU Lounge To Feature Comedian

Danny Sheehan, former host of "American Hot Trax" and featured comedian on the "Geraldo" show, will perform at Frostburg State University's Lane Center Lounge, Tuesday, September 15, at 8 p.m. The public is invited to this free performance.

Sheehan says he believes that comedy can be responsible to sensitive audience members, but above all it should be funny. According to one critic, the result of this philosophy is "a unique mixture of comedic material that stretches the limits of normal generic routines. His ability to improvise and include audience members redefines the work routine."

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources announced that Junior Ranger Programs will continue to be offered throughout the fall at Deep Creek Lake State Park.

Throughout June, July, and August, the Junior Ranger Program was offered twice weekly at Deep Creek Lake State Park. As a result, approximately 100 youths between the ages of 7 and 14 learned about the environment through the use of Junior Ranger Quest Book and advanced Junior Ranger Programs. Advanced programs cover topics such as birds, reptiles, wetlands, and the weather, among others.

During the months of September and October, Deep Creek Lake State Park will offer both Basic and Advanced Junior Ranger Programs on Saturday afternoons. The Basic Program will begin at 2 p.m and last for about an honor and a half. Then from 3:30 to 5 p.m., the Advanced Program will take place.

Participants in the program must be between the ages of 7 and 14. This program is offered at no cost; however, a small donation is accepted to offset the costs of the program materials.

Scout Troop 49 Only Two Years Old And Growing

A GROWING SCOUT TROOP is Troop 49, Grantsville, which was founded just two years ago and now has an active membership of 14 scouts. The troop will also host the fall camporee of the Nemacolin Trail District, Potomac Council, in October. Members include, pictured left to right above, front row: Adam Bach, Erik Bittinger, Jeff Folk, Donovan Bicker, Aaron Fisher, and William Miller, all Thunderbolt Patrol members. In the second row, same order, are: Greg Forney, Tim Stanton, Justin Broadwater, Doug Mayle, Nathan Rawe, and Michael Zimmerman, all Flaming Arrow Patrol members. In the back row, same order, are: Rich Zimmerman, Ron Folk, and Bill Miller, assistant scout masters, and Allen Van Sickle, scout master. Not present for the photo were new scouts Travis Brenneman and John Carey, and new assistant scout master, John Carey.

Boy Scout Troop 49 of the Grantsville area is an active and growing troop of young men, working toward the Boy Scout ideals of developing character, citizenship, and personal fitness, according to a spokesman for the Nemacolin Trail District, BSA.

Troop 49 was organized in 1990 and now has a membership of 14 scouts. The troop is advised by Scoutmaster Allen VanSickle and four assistant scoutmasters and is in the Nemacolin Trail District of Potomac Council. Troop Committee Chairman Bonnie Miller recently received a renewed charter on behalf of Bethesda Church of the Brethren which sponsors the troop. Troop 49 also received the Quality Unit Award for the first time, an award given only to troops that achieve strict standards set by the Boy Scout organization.

"Meeting weekly, Scouts have the opportunity to master new skills, set personal goals, participate in service projects, and take part in camping and outdoor experiences as they advance through the ranks of Scouting," stated the spokesman.

Troop 49 will host the Fall Camporee for troops of the Nemacolin Trail District. This event is set for October 23-25.

Any boy 11 years old or has started fifth grade and would like to join the Scouting program is encouraged to contact Allen VanSickle.

Crisis Pregnancy Center Slates Day Of Training

The Mtn. Top Crisis Pregnancy Center has scheduled a day of training for Saturday, September 19, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Center, located at the corner of Rt. 135 and G Street in Mtn. Lake Park.

The Center opened its doors in Mtn. Lake Park on July 8, 1989. The MTCPC opened a satellite center at 157 East Street in Keyser, W.Va. on September 22, 1991. The Center offers alternatives to abortion, and operates on donations with no government funding and no paid employees.

According to a spokesman for the Center, MTCPC believes it is "very important" to educate on the development of a child after conception and on abortion and how it might affect a girl/women. "MTCPC is non-judgmental, but reaches out with love and compassion so an informed decision can be made," the spokesman said. All information is confidential and all services are free. MTCPC believes in teaching chastity.

MTCPC provides pregnancy testing, counseling, maternity clothes, baby clothes, baby furniture, diapers, formula, food, transportation, referral services to other agencies, shepherding homes, adoption program, support for post-abortion and a support group for single parents.

Besides needing volunteers in the center, also needed are people to wash and mend clothing and provide transportation for the clients as needed.

Those interested in attending the training class on Saturday, September 19, or in helping in other ways, are asked to call MTCPC at 334-1058 or 1-800-866-2400.

Camping Fees To Be Charged In State Forests

Beginning October 1, Savage River and Potomac/Garrett state forests will charge $2 for regular campsites and $5 for group sites, according to Steve Hamilton, manager of Potomac/Garrett State Forest.

"We have found it necessary to charge these nominal fees because of the increase cost of maintenance," Hamilton said. "It is not something we like doing but in these difficult budgetary times there was simply no other choice if we were going to continue providing this service to the public."

Campsites affected by the new policy include Wallman, Laurel Run, Lostland Run, Snaggy Mt. Road, and Piney Mt. Road in Potomac/Garrett and the white water area, Popular Lick, Savage River Road and Elk Lick in Savage River State Forest.

Green Ridge State Forest, located in Allegany County, has been charging similar fees since January 1, 1992.

Campers using Savage River facilities are required to register at the New Germany State Forest office located off New Germany Road prior to occupying the campsites while campers using Potomac/Garrett may occupy campsites without registering at the office. Rangers will collect fees while on routine patrol in the area.

Campsites in Potomac/Garrett State Forest do not provide water or sanitary facilities and trash removal is the responsibility of the camper. A picnic table and campfire containment ring are provided at each site. More information may be obtained by calling Potomac/Garrett State Forest at 301-334-2038.

MARYLAND FARM SAFETY WEEK – Governor William Donald Schaefer has proclaimed September 13 - 19, 1992, as Farm Safety Week in Maryland. The governor's proclamation states whereas, throughout the annals of history, agriculture has been recognized as a vital source of goods and products for people -- providing a mighty foundation for human comfort, dignity, prosperity and good health. The hard work and dedication faithfully rendered by Maryland's 15,000 farm families help to make agriculture the number one industry in this state. Because those engaged in agricultural production face a high risk of occupational injury, illness and accidental death, the governor stresses that with a little care and a strong commitment to safe farming practices, farm-related accidents can be prevented. Farm families, his proclamation suggests, should examine all areas of their farms for possible hazards and correct them before tragedy strikes, that protective gear should always be used, and parents should remain cautious and vigilant in keeping unsuspecting children from dangerous areas. "Maryland is pleased to join with the Maryland Department of Agriculture in encouraging our farm families to maintain safe habits both during harvest time and throughout the year," the governor states.

1992 Maryland Tree Farm Of The Year Named

Gibson Island, a true 1,000 acre island located in Anne Arundel County at the intersection of the Magothy River and Chesapeake Bay has been selected as Maryland's outstanding Tree Farm for 1992. Gibson Island was selected by the Maryland Tree Farm Committee from more than 1,900 Tree Farms in the state as the best example of forest stewardship. Gibson Island will represent Maryland in the southern region competition. The regional winner will then compete to become the National Tree Farm of the Year.

The unique aspect of Gibson Island is that it is a privately owned corporation with a number of homesites and a large ownership of woodland, that has made its decisions using committees made up of island citizens. In 1978 the corporation entered into a formal forest management program with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources Forest Division, called a Forest Conservation and Management Agreement, for the undeveloped land. The plan was approved by the Corporation Annual Meeting. The management plan paced 348 acres or 95 percent of the corporations woodland under a forest management plan prepared by the state forester. Harry Staley, a private consulting forester of Forestry Concepts in Taneytown has been responsible for administering the plan since its inception.

The objectives of the conservation agreement were to maintain the majority of its woodlands for wildlife production, recreational and educational purposes, and for the production of quality timber on a sustainable basis. Prior to the agreement, little had been done to assure a healthy vigorous forest that provided a diversity of habitats for wildlife.

Over the years, four timber harvests have been conducted on over 150 acres to provide habitat diversity, recreation access, improved tree growth and other forest benefits. Other improvement activities have included firewood sales, thinnings, sale of pulpwood, tree planting, construction of sediment control structures, wildlife plantings on logging roads as well as a Kudzu vine control project.

According to Jonathan Kays, regional Extension specialist, Natural Resources, the ability of the corporation committees to accomplish such an ambitious management program over the last 15 years should be an example to other private corporations and community associations with woodland properties. According to Harry Staley who has managed forestry operations on the island for the 15 years, "anyone who works with committees knows how difficult it can be to retain continuity, as well as enthusiasm, with the change of personnel with each new committee. This has not been the case with Gibson Island, every committee that I have worked with has had a commitment to make the program work."

The American Tree Farm System which conducts the competition is a Nationwide program sponsored by the Forest Products Industry. The Tree Farm System is celebrating its 50th year in 1992. There are more than 70,000 tree farmers that includes more than 95 million acres of well managed forests for timber, wildlife, watershed protection, recreation and aesthetics. Maryland's 1,900 tree farms include more than 290,000 acres of managed woodland.

Private landowners or groups with more than 10 acres of woodland who want to better manage their forest may call their forester or Cooperative Extension office for more information on the Maryland Tree Farm Program. The Maryland Tree Farm Program is sponsored by the Maryland Forests Association and the Maryland Department of Forestry.

Maryland Crop Outlook Good

By September 6, corn, full season soybeans and sorghum were nearly safe from frost for this year. They are still behind normal progress, but a near average crop could probably be harvested. A couple more weeks of near favorable weather could secure the favorable harvest that has been forecast. Late planted soybeans are still questionable.

An average of 4.5 days was suitable for fieldwork during the week ending September 6, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Across the state, 83 percent of the topsoil had adequate moisture and 17 percent had surplus moisture. Subsoil moisture was short in six percent of Maryland, while 83 percent had adequate moisture and 11 percent had a surplus.

Soybeans were in mostly good condition. Most are setting pods and some are beginning to turn. Corn and sorghum are in good condition across the state. Corn and sorghum maturity continue to lag. Pastures were in excellent condition, with adequate hay supplies. Apple and peach crops were in good condition throughout the state; peach harvest is slowing and apple harvest is picking up.

Maryland's progress for the week ending September 6 was as follows, listing the item, this year's percentage, last year's percentage and a percentage for the 5-year average.

Soybeans setting pods: 74, 95, 84; turning: 4, 17, 11. Corn dough, at least 77, 98, 94; dent, at least, 49, 89, 79; mature, 8, 53, 33. Sorghum turned, 21, 70, N/A.

Hay harvested: Alfalfa, fourth cutting, 20, 39, 30; other, third cutting, 37, 29, 31. Peaches harvested: 84, 95, 88. Apples harvested: 16, 26, 30.

N/A: Not available.

WEATHER

Maryland weather for the week ending September 4 was slightly cooler than normal with moderate precipitation. Precipitation averaged 0.52 inch, ranging from 0.06 inch at Hagerstown and Smithsburg to 1.49 inches at Upper Marlboro. Regional averages were: western, 0.23; north central, 0.45; southern Maryland west of the Bay, 0.80; and Eastern Shore, 0.55 inch. Temperatures averaged 70.8 degrees, 0.8 degree below the normal of 71.6 degrees for the August 29-September 4 period. Minimum temperatures were in the 40's and 50's.

Farm Safety Week Is Proclaimed

Governor William Donald Schaefer has proclaimed Farm Safety Week September 13 - 19 in Maryland. According to national statistics, agriculture continues to lead all industries in work-related accidents nationwide. With farmers busy in the peak of the harvest season, Governor Schaefer reminds all farmers to take extra precautions to reduce the risks of farm accidents.

"Maryland is pleased to join with the Maryland Department of Agriculture in encouraging our farm families to maintain safe habits both during harvest time and throughout the year," said Governor Schaefer.

Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker urges all those involved in farm work to follow machine instructions carefully and to above all keep children away from dangerous equipment. While farm equipment can save hundreds of hours in labor, it can also have a heavy cost in injuries if the machine is not used properly. Most accidents can be prevented if precautions are followed.

"With a little common sense, we can avoid hazardous situations which all too often result in tragedy," Secretary Walker said.

PROTECT YOUR TWO BEST ASSETS WITH SAFETY GOGGLES

The annual meeting of the Garrett Community College Foundation will be held on
Wed., September 16, 1992, at 7:00 p.m. in Room 315
of the Continuing Education Center at GCC.
The public is invited.

WHY YOU SHOULD CONSIDER ATTENDING VICTORY BAPTIST CH.

Listen carefully to these scriptures: "Without faith it is impossible to please him (God).." Hebrews 11:6. "For by grace are ye saved through faith" Eph. 2:8. "Faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the word of God..." Romans 10:17.

Please note that FAITH is an absolute requirement in salvation. No one can be saved apart from faith. No one can please God apart from faith. No one possesses saving faith naturally. Saving faith is a supernatural gift that God alone imparts.

How does God impart this SAVING FAITH? Notice Romans 10:17 again. It comes by the hearing of the word of God. No one has saving faith until they hear the word of God. This is why it is absolutely necessary to attend a Bible-believing, Bible-preaching Church.

Some churches do not preach the Bible, the Word of God. Some have forsaken the King James Bible in favor of the new liberal versions that weaken the doctrines of Christ. (Check Colossians 1:14, for example, no "blood" in this verse). There are more versions of the Bible available today than ever before, but there is also more ignorance of God than ever before. We do not need more Bibles, we need to ask God for understanding the Bible that we have. I Cor. 2:14 says that "the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God..neither can he know them, because they are spiritualllly discerned". You cannot understand the Bible if you are not saved. That's why you must "hear the word...".

If you are not attending a Bible-preaching church you cannot receive faith./ You can be religious, you can go through religious activities, participate in religious programs, but YOU CANNOT BE SAVED. If you do not attend a BIBLE-PREACHING CHURCH, your children will never hear the Word. Therefore, they will never be able to be saved, born again.

You must attend a Church that still believes the King James Bible (Psalm 12:6,7). That church must also major in the preaching of the Bible, God's Holy Word. Many churches present short sermonettes, read from magazines, offer many programs, but they do not major in preaching.

But God has raised up at least one Church in Garrett County that still believes the Bible is the perfect word of God without error. And that church majors in preaching that Bible 4 times weekly. Your only hope is to receive "faith", which comes only by the "hearing by the word of God". If you do not attend church, you cannot obtain faith. If you attend a church that does not PREACH the KING JAMES BIBLE, you cannot have saving faith. No Bible, no faith!

Record Your Garden Problems

Now is the time to make a few notes on problems that occurred in your garden this growing season. Most of you are probably like me, you think you can remember the problems. But more often than not, they are forgotten by the time spring rolls around. The following are some of the problems I have seen or have had in my garden this year:

* Mosaic virus on squash and cucumbers. There was a lot of mosaic this year, particularly on cucumbers. This virus disease is easy to identify. The vines on the plants are stunted and new leaves are dwarfed and sometimes distorted. The most obvious symptom is that the leaves start turning a yellowish or silver-brown and finally the vines and leaves die. The virus is spread by aphids and cucumber beetles. Controlling these two insects will help control the disease. The most effective control is to use varieties that are resistance to mosaic virus.

* Western corn rootworm on sweet corn. The adult beetle of the corn rootworm has been active for the last 2-3 weeks. This beetle is around ¼ inch long, brownish-black with yellow stripes. It is normally found feeding on the silk. The adult beetle lays its eggs over winter in the soil. How do you control the rootworm? The cheapest and most effective method of control is to change the location of your sweet corn. The corn rootworm must have the corn plant to complete its life cycle. If you cannot change location, you will need to use a soil insecticide next spring at planting.

* Late blight on tomatoes. I have a good example of late blight in my garden. On tomatoes the disease symptoms appear on the fruit and leaves. Irregular greasy-appearing grayish areas develop on the leaves. On the fruit a grayish-green water-soaked spot will appear. Late blight can be controlled with a fungicide. Ridomil is a good fungicide. Again, grow varieties that have resistance.

One of the best control of diseases and insects is to clean the old plants off the garden. Many diseases and insects over-winter in the remains of these old plants.

Preparing Onions For Storage Crops Notes

The best varieties for storage are grown from seeds rather than sets. Harvest when the tops have turned brown and died, or in the late fall before the ground has frozen, even if the tops have not died. Remove any bruised onions or onions with thick necks and use promptly. Before storage, onions must be cured or allowed to dry down for several weeks until the skins are papery and the roots are completely shrivelled and dry. They can be spread on newspapers out of direct sunlight in a well ventilated area or dried on an open screen off the ground. If they are taken indoors at night, the drying process will be faster, as the drop in night temperatures increases moisture levels. When cured, the tops can be braided, using string for reinforcement, or put into mesh bags or open crates and stored in a well-ventilated, dry, dark, cool place.

Crellin Centennial Success Reported; Events Noted

The Crellin Centennial Celebration, held August 21-23, featured a wide variety of music and entertainment, according to event organizers. Over 1,000 people attended the celebration, which included band performances, gospel singers, a parade, and other activities.

The event began Friday night with two bands performing on the front porch of the old Stanley Supply Company Store (now Henline's Auction Sales). "J.C. and the Boys" featured Jim Hollis playing an old violin - "Old Spec" - which was brought to Crellin by the Welch family early in the town's history. Another performance was given by the band "Country Line."

During the Saturday morning parade, the Southern Garrett Marching Band and the Garrett County Bagpipers provided music. Performing in concert throughout the afternoon were the bagpipers, Crellin Youth Brass Ensemble, "Railroad," and "'A Pickin' and 'a Grinnin'." Larry P. Smith, flutist, contributed to the day as a "wandering minstrel."

Saturday's festivities closed with a gospel concert held at the Crellin Assembly of God Church. The program included the Assembly of God Quartet (Bob and Linda DeWitt and Lloyd and Sharon Decker); the United Brethren Quartet (Angie Biggs, Tammy Skiles, Jim Shaffer, and Pastor Michael Mudge); the Broadford Gospel Quartet (David Martin, Carl and Jeff Fike, and Dave Callis); Tom and Margaret Doyle; a Dixieland Band consisting of members Harold Hudnall, Delano Martin, Cliff DeWitt, Denni Rodeheaver, Lloyd Decker, David Kisamore, and Tom Glotfelty; The "Fulk Sisters" (Brenda Michael, Margaret Doyle, and Linda DeWitt); and soloists Steve Lewis, Debbie Zimmerman, Tom Glotfelty, Joan Fike, Joe DiSimone, and Michael Mudge.

Tim Miller directed a community choir for the Sunday evening church service held at the Crellin Methodist Church.

Event organizers reported that a result of the musical program of the Crellin Centennial is numerous persons' growing interest in re-establishing the Crellin Community Band and constructing a new bandstand in town. Any person who has a photograph of the original bandstand in the old "grove" (where the United Brethren Church now stands) or who is interested in joining the band is encouraged to contact Harold Hudnall at 334-4369.

Coal Exhibit At Local Library

Currently on display in the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland, is an exhibit put together by "Coal Talk," a group gathering oral history of coal mining in Western Maryland. Consisting of artifacts, maps, and old photographs, the display gives a brief view of what local coal miners would have seen prior to World War II.

The Coal Talk group has been based at Garrett Community College. Their program's aim is to preserve the history of coal mining in Garrett and Allegany counties as seen through the eyes of people who lived in the two-county area during the years of deep mining operations.

The program has collected oral histories, artifacts, and photographs. This month's display in the library is from part of the items collected.

Coal Talk's work has been funded in part by the Maryland Humanities council and the Garrett County Development Corporation.

Cindy Sites To Present Concert At Local Church

Cindy Sites, a Christian singer from Petersburg, W.Va., will present a concert of gospel music at the Bear Creek Church of the Brethren this Sunday, Sept. 13, at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Sites started her musical career at the age of 5 as a member of her family's group, the Ullery Family Gospel Singers. She played autoharp, bass guitar, violin, and piano. In 1982 she married Trent Sites, also a musician. The couple's only child, Jacqueline Renee, died in 1987, a tragedy that Cindy says "brought us closer together and to a deeper relationship with the Lord."

Mrs. Sites signed a contract in 1989 to record a southern gospel project with Tim Greene of The Singing Greenes from Boone, N.C. She also had two single releases from her first tape titled "A New Heart" which received Top 40 honors on many gospel radio charts.

The Siteses now have a son, Jesse Delano. They travel on weekends presenting concerts, with Cindy playing keyboard and Trent playing acoustic and bass guitar.

Rev. William C. Shimer, pastor of Bear Creek Church, invites the public to attend Sunday's concert. A free-will offering will be collected during the program.

Magic Formula?

Selling your home presents you with the opportunity to make a very important and informed decision - pricing your home to attract the best possible buyer in the shortest possible time. That pricing decision also brings with it a heavy responsibility. Price your home too high, and buyers may avoid making any offers to purchase it - price it too low and you may lose valuable equity.

Is there a magic formula that can be applied to arrive at the perfect price? Unfortunately not. There is a way, however, to be sure you have computed all pertinent facts into your final asking price. Call a REALTOR ®.

Why? REALTORS® have access to a world of accurate information not available to the general public. This information includes extensive data about homes which have already sold, those currently on the market, and those which were listed but did not sell. Details about financing offered, special incentives, prices, home size, and information about the condition of each home are also available.

Pricing a home realistically without this information would be like trying to cross the ocean in a washtub without a map and compass. Yet, REALTORS® generally provide this vital information at no cost or obligation to owners planning to sell. It is compiled in a format called a "Competitive Market Analysis" which illustrates the position our home would occupy in relation to other similar homes if it were on the market for sale.

The more extensive the knowledge you gain about recent real estate activity in your area, the more informed your final pricing decision will be. Remember, the final responsibility for pricing your home rests squarely on your shoulders. Although the REALTOR® may offer a suggested range in which the home may be expected to sell, those who finally purchase your home are the only ones who know for sure what the final price will be.

Arm yourself with the most comprehensive pricing information available. You'll be glad you did!

If you're planning to sell your home soon and would like information on its current value, give us a call at 387-5303 or come by our office located at McHenry Plaza.

Wengerd To Lead Garrett County Boy Scout Effort

Craig E. Wengerd, Oakland, will spearhead the annual Garrett County Boy Scout fund-raising effort, it was announced recently by Carl Belt Jr., council campaign chair. The Sustaining Membership Enrollment (SME) campaign is the annual major fund-raising effort of Potomac Council, BSA.

An active participant in community life, Wengerd is former president of the Oakland Rotary and is presently a member of the Board of Directors of Oakland Little League. He also serves as treasurer and board member for Garrett County Habitat for Humanity.

Wengerd has held several positions with the BGS&S Companies, including commercial lines producer, branch manager of the Oakland office, and his current office, regional vice president, Western Maryland/West Virginia region.

He and his wife, Linda, are the parents of two children, Kane and Kara.

Over 100 captains from throughout the six counties served by Potomac Council are charged with achieving this year's Council-wide goal of raising $78,000, which will assure the continuation of the programs offered to youth of all ages throughout the region. SME-level contributors are invited to the annual "Friends of Scouting Dinner," which features special celebrity speakers.

Potomac Council serves nearly 2,000 youth in Garrett and Allegany counties in Maryland and Hardy, Mineral, Hampshire and Grant counties in West Virginia.

Second Year Of Tech Program Slated At GCC

A number of objectives have been planned for the second year of the Tech Prep program in Garrett County, according to Jim Allen, director of technology at Garrett Community College and coordinator of the program.

During the first year of the program, seven key committees were formed, made up of personnel from the Board of Education, GCC, and the community. Many of these committees met throughout the year to begin the planning phase of the program, with the result that a tentative model for Tech Prep in Garrett County was developed.

This model restructures the high school curriculum into four career clusters: Business/Management, Life Sciences/Natural Resources, Arts/Human Services, and Engineering/Technology. Curriculum committees for the first two of these clusters were organized last year and curriculum committees for the second two clusters will be formed in October. Another major activity for the coming year will be the introduction of applied academics into the high school curriculum through a pilot program in applied mathematics, already underway at both Garrett County high schools.

During the planning phase last year, a site visit to the Southern Maryland Consortium was made by a visitation team of administrators, teachers, and counselors from Garrett County to observe a Tech Prep program already operating there in the high schools. In addition, three teacher-trainers attended the Maryland State Dept. of Education Academics Institute. Orientations to Tech Prep were held for high school and college faculty and staff, and additional orientation sessions will be scheduled during the coming year.

Other activities planned for this second year are the development of a marketing plan for Tech Prep, development of counseling and career services to support the Tech Prep Program, and development of preparatory and support services, including career development and job placement.

SPEAKS TO ROTARIANS - The Oakland Rotary Club met Thursday, September 3, at the American Legion where Tammy Manthos, shown above, was the guest speaker. Visiting Rotarians were Gary Clendenin from Bethesda and Steve Krotseng from Forest Hills. The Oakland Rotary will hold its next meeting on Thursday, September 10, at Broadford Park. All persons who assisted with the Rotary French Fry booth at the Garrett County Fair are invited to attend. Dinner will begin at 6:15 p.m.

CRIME SOLVERS

The Garrett County Crime Solvers organization is currently seeking information about the breaking and entering of a home and the subsequent theft of several personal items worth over $11,000.

A summer residence located on Rock Lodge Road, one mile south of Rt. 219, was apparently entered and used by unknown persons on the morning of June 4. The suspects slept in a bed and cooked in the kitchen, according to the report. A small blue vehicle was seen leaving the residence shortly before the theft was discovered.

Items stolen from the home included men's and women's clothing, several guns, two pairs of skis and other skiing equipment. The total loss was estimated at $3,205.

The residence was reentered on July 2. The victim left the house at 5 p.m., and upon return at 6:55 p.m. found the door unlocked. Missing from the residence were several expensive rings and a woman's wallet. Total loss in this second incident is estimated at $8,109. There were no signs of forced entry either time the home was entered.

Any person with information about this or any other unsolved crime is urged to contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor appear in court. Those who provide tips that lead to arrests are eligible for rewards up to $1,000.

Governor Notes Prostate Cancer Awareness Effort

Governor William Donald Schaefer has announced a statewide prostate cancer awareness and prevention initiative that will include a series of educational seminars and free screening tests offered by hospitals in Maryland.

"We need to make more men aware of the importance of regular prostate checkups," Governor Schaefer said. "If caught early enough, there is a greater chance that prostate cancer can be treated successfully."

Compared to other states, Maryland has the fifth highest prostate cancer death rate in the nation -- 27.8 per 100,000 males. Some 500 Maryland men die of prostate cancer every year -- deaths that are largely preventable if the cancer is detected and treated in the early stages.

Garrett County's death rate from the disease is 24.6 per 100,000, 14th highest among Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City.

In an effort to raise awareness of the importance of regular screenings, a number of urologists will offer lectures on prostate cancer and other diseases of the prostate, at senior centers, community organizations and state agencies. Hospitals in Maryland will offer free screening tests for prostate cancer during the observance of "National Prostate Cancer Awareness Week," September 27 - October 4.

The seminars and screenings are being coordinated by the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, the Maryland Office on Aging, Club Maryland -- the state employee wellness program administered by the Maryland Department of Personnel, TAP Pharmaceuticals, Inc., and the Maryland Hospital Association.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Wellness Together program will provide free screenings Sept. 11 at the Armory in Oakland and at the Flower Vale Center in Accident on Sept. 12.

In addition, the Maryland Prostate Center, a new program devoted exclusively to the early detection and treatment of prostate disease, will open on September 24 at the University of Maryland Medical Center in Baltimore.

"The Maryland Prostate Center will provide a full range of diagnostic tests, treatment options, information, and long-term follow up for men with prostate disease and prostate cancer," said Michael Naslund, M.D., director of the Maryland Prostate Center and an assistant professor of surgery at the University of Maryland Medical Center.

"Prostate cancer not only affects the patient, but also their family," said Rosalie S. Abrams, director of the Maryland Office on Aging. "Our senior centers are a great resource in helping to inform and empower the public -- particularly older men -- about this increasing problem."

According to the American Cancer Society, over 130,000 men each year are diagnosed with cancer of the prostate, a small gland of the male reproductive system located just below the bladder. The prostate's main function is to produce fluid for semen, which transports sperm.

According to the American Prostate Society, prostate cancer is the most common cancer in men, striking one man in 11. That is similar to the rate of breast cancer in women, which is approximately one in nine.

There are three tests commonly used to check for tumors of the prostate. The first of these is the digital rectal exam or DRE. The American Foundation for Urologic Disease and the American Cancer Society recommend that men over the age of 40, particularly African-American men -- who are at highest risk of developing prostate cancer, have a yearly medical check-up that includes a rectal exam.

Other diagnostic techniques include a transrectal ultrasonography (ultrasound), and a blood test called the PSA (Prostate Specific Antigen), which measures the blood level of a substance produced by prostate cells.

"Until very recently, cancer and other diseases of the prostate were issues men were reluctant to talk about, said Department of Health and Mental Hygiene Secretary Nelson J. Sabatini. "But because of courageous men like Joe Curran and Bob Dole, who have spoken openly about their experiences with prostate cancer, we have become more aware of this disease and the advances that have been made in detecting and treating it."

Curran is Maryland's Attorney General; Dole is a Republican senator from Kansas.

"I'm living proof that early detection means curable prostate cancer," Curran said. "I was back to a full schedule within a few months of my operation and these days I only feel exhausted after a few hours with my three baby granddaughters."

PREVENTION PROGRAMS FEATURED AT FAIR – Staff and volunteers from the "Buckle-Up Garrett County" project and the Garrett County Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, both based at the Garrett County Health Department, recently had a chance to meet with many people during Garrett County fair week. Visitors to the booth entered several drawings to win prizes including a $100 savings bond, gift catalog certificates, safety belt toys and games, and bicycle helmets. Barbara Nucci, Jarrettsville, was chosen as the savings bond winner; gift certificate winners included Jack Berkebile, Donald Casteel, and Roxanne Smith; and a toy crash car and crash dummy game from The Toy Chest in Loch Lynn were won by Annie Hoalcroft and Jennifer McDonnell. Participants who guessed the number of marbles in a bicycle helmet received a free helmet. Winners included Brenda Glotfelty, Joyce Porterfield, Crystal Arndt, Heather Shuttzaberger, Matt Friend, and Bryan Shaw. "Buckle-Up Garrett County" is an incentive program to encourage the use of safety belts and safety seats at all times in motor vehicles. The Garrett County Alcohol and Drug Prevention program promotes educational and recreational alternatives in a drug-free environment. More information on both programs is available by contacting the Garrett County Health Department. Shown above is Joelle Plauger, "Buckle-Up Garrett County" coordinator in front of the fair booth.

Correction Noted

In a photo cut-line in last week's edition of The Republican about the new Swallow Falls concession and the need for volunteers, it was incorrectly stated that Herrington Manor/Swallow Falls State Parks' staff currently consists of 40 park rangers and will be reduced to 10 after Labor Day. In fact, the staff included others as well as rangers and should have read "employees."

The Republican regrets the error.

GRANTSVILLE FOODLAND was recently named Store of the Year at the annual convention of Foodland stores held at Nemacolin Lodge in Farmington, Pa., and to help celebrate that achievement and recognized their customers, the store management held a customer appreciation day. On hand to give rides above Foodland's parking lot was a seven-story hot air balloon sponsored by Red Barron Pizza. In order to be considered for the Store of the Year honor, a major evaluation is made of every area of the retail operation. Cleanliness of the store, freshness of product, sanitation, and friendliness of the employees are among the areas checked. Additional awards received by the store were Best Meat, Deli, Bakery Departments, and Overall Sanitation. "This award could not have been achieved without the support of our loyal customers," stated a store spokesman. Photo at right by Craig Speicher.

CHURCH NEWS

Emmanuel's Women of the ELCA will meet Friday, Sept. 11, at 7:30 p.m. An offering in memory of Betty Buckel will be collected and all members are to bring one kitchen item (towel, dish cloth, wooden spoon). The program will be led by Maxine Legeer and Sharon Lowery.

Holy Communion will be held in all three churches this Sunday.

ZIONS' WOMEN MEET

Zions' Women of the ELCA held their monthly meeting at the church on September 1 with four members present.

The topic, "Children of Namibia: Their Needs and Gifts," was led by Leota Baker.

Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting.

Subscriptions were submitted to the devotional guide, "Christ in Our Home."

Special offerings given in memory of Robert Buckel were received from members of the group, and will be forwarded to Women of the ELCA specific ministries, designated for health ministries.

A tribute to the memory of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Baker on their wedding anniversary was made through a gift offering from Leota Baker. The offering will be designated for missionary support, also a specific ministry of Women of the ELCA.

A package was sent to the Lutheran Home in Kane, Pa., containing washcloths, invalid gowns, pot holders and bedroom slippers.

The next meeting is scheduled for October 6. The topic will be "1992 A Time to Remember, Repent and Renew," based on the 500th anniversary of the discovery of America.

NEW FALL CLASSES focusing on skills in Management and Supervision will be starting next week at Garrett Community College. Karyn Seilhamer (left), and Sandy Derato (right), were two of over 100 local employees who participated in the sharing and interaction of the management classes held last year. HOMEMAKER CLUB NEWS

Instead of holding a regular monthly meeting the Bittinger Homemakers' Club took two special outings in August.

The first event was a short trip to Garrett Community College to see the play, "Charlie's Aunt."

The second was a trip to see the Frank Lloyd Wright designed home, Falling Water, in Ohiopyle, Pa. Four guests accompanied members on this excursion. After touring the home, everyone had lunch at Glissan's Restaurant.

The time of the next meeting has been changed to 7:30 p.m. on September 22 at the home of Connie Beachy. The Homemakers' meeting and outside activities are open to all. Guests are always welcome.

The Club president said members will "miss the companionship" of Mariam Knierium until next summer.

Stroke Club To Meet Sept. 18 In Cumberland

Members and guests of the Allegany County Stroke Club (ACSC) will be treated to a special display and discussion of antique hearing devices at the next meeting, which will be held at 1 p.m. Friday, September 18, in the club room of the Kensington-Algonquin Senior Apartments, 1 Baltimore Street, Cumberland.

The guest speaker at the meeting will be Al Dittmer of the Cumberland Hearing Center, 508 North Centre Street. His collection traces the aid back almost to its beginnings when a unit weighed several pounds as compared to today's units of mere ounces. A question and answer period will follow his talk, and refreshments will be served.

A postal card questionnaire was mailed with the August Newsletter. Since these cards are self-addressed and stamped, those who have not returned their cards are requested to do so as soon as possible in order that the results may be tabulated prior to publication of the October Newsletter. It can be assumed that anyone who fails to respond does not wish to receive the Newsletter and they will therefore be dropped from the mailing list. If cards have been lost or misplaced, those wishing to continue receiving the Newsletter (beginning with the October issue) may address a request to The Allegany County Stroke Club, P.O. Box 595, Cumberland, MD 21501. Anyone who has suffered a stroke and caregivers of stroke patients may also receive the ACSC Newsletter by sending a card or letter to the above address with their name, address, and telephone number.

ACSC will sponsor a tour of the 911/Civil Defense facilities at 1:30 p.m. on Monday, September 14. The tour will be hosted by Dick Long and Gay Rembold. The building is accessible to wheelchairs and walkers. Those attending may enter via the handicapped entrance to avoid the stairs. Anyone interested in taking the tour should call 304-738-8926 or 301-729-6204 to reserve.

New stroke patients and caregivers, ar anyone else who is interested in joining ACSC or learning about strokes, stroke prevention, and care of the stroke patient, may call the above numbers or the American Heart Association (AHA) at 301-724-4011 (Allegany County) or 301-334-5865 (Garrett County). When the Garrett County office is closed, calls are forwarded to the Cumberland office.

PUBLIC NOTICE NO.: MD 2662
ISSUE DATE: September 10, 1992

The Hazardous and Solid Waste Management Administration (HSWMA) has completed a draft version of the discharge permit listed below and is providing an opportunity for public participation in the decision making. Persons who wish to present information about this proposal may submit written comments to HSWMA no later than October 12, 1992. All comments will be considered in HSWMA's final decision concerning this application. Additionally, if any interested party requests a public hearing on this draft permit, the Director will review the request and may schedule a hearing. A separate hearing notice will then be published.

If the HSWMA receives significant comments adverse to the text of the proposed permit, or if the final text is substantially different from the initial text, the Department will publish a notice of final determination in this same newspaper. This notice will announce the significant changes, if any, which have been made to the permit, and will state the procedure for requesting an adjudicatory hearing.

All information concerning permit applications and proposed permits is on file at the Department of the Environment, HSWMA, 2500 Broening Highway, Baltimore, Maryland 21224.

Upon appointment, the files may be inspected Monday through Friday between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Facilities for obtaining copies at a reasonable cost will be available.

Box 282, Bayard, WV, maintains a reclaimed surface coal mine one mile north of Tasker Corners, Md. The two outfalls authorized by this permit will discharge a variable amount of runoff from this mine to Laurel Run (Basin Code 02.14.10.05, Stream Use III-P). Proposed requirements: Reissue permit with limitations on pH and settleable solids and require additional monitoring for silver. These effluent limitations are chosen to protect the water quality of Laurel Run.

Recycling Bin To Be Located At Browning's

In response to a request made last week by representatives of the Civic Club of Oakland and the League of Women Voters of Garrett County to the Garrett County Commissioners, a recycling bin will be located at the parking lot of Browning's Foodland in Oakland, according to Commissioner John Braskey.

The request was made in an effort to provide a safer, more visible location for residents who recycle, and to help educate the general public about the proper way to sort and recycle their items. The club representatives stated they would be willing to provide volunteers at the Browning's site for this purpose.

Braskey has agreed with the representatives that a problem currently exists with recycling in the county (as it reportedly exists on a nationwide basis). He told the group last week that B&S Scrap is no longer picking up the glass items from the bins throughout the county because people are not sorting the different colors.

According to Bob Fousek, county administrator, markets for recycling are becoming more difficult to find all over the state and country but the commissioners are working with Lee Thorne, the county's recycling coordinator, in making the program more efficient, Fousek said.

Thorne has stated that glass recyclables seem to be the biggest problem at the moment, and has provided a list of guidelines to raise the awareness and to assist the public in the proper manner of choosing and sorting glass

HEALTH FARE SERVICES HUNDREDS - A health fare sponsored by the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging (AAA) was held this past weekend, offering numerous vital tests for senior citizens. The AAA hosted the fare in part with Garrett County Memorial Hospital/Wellness Together and the Garrett County Health Department. The event was funded in part by the Catoctin Association, Central Atlantic Conference, United Church of Christ. Approximately 325-350 area persons took part in the fare, receiving extensive blood chemistry work, prostate cancer screening (funded by Garrett County Memorial Hospital), height, weight, and body mass checks, as well as blood pressure, heart rate, and nutrition screening, among several others. The cost to each participant was a mere $2 donation to go toward the blood chemistry work. The AAA picked up the remaining costs, according to a spokesperson. The fare was held at the National Guard Armory in Oakland on Friday (with the armory personnel donating the use of the space), and at the Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident, on Saturday. Barbara Hornyak, a spokesperson for the fare, indicated that results of the various tests are currently being compiled and will be sent to participants soon. A detailed report on the health fare and more photos of the event will appear in next week's issue of The Republican.

Liars Needed For Festival Storytelling

A Tall Tale Liar's Storytelling Festival will be held from 10 a.m. to parade time on Saturday, October 10, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, during the 25th Annual Autumn Glory Festival. The event is being coordinated by Dr. Gail N. Herman, professional storyteller.

"The truth can sometimes be absolutely outrageous and lies can often sound truer than the truth itself," said Dr. Herman. "Fact is often sprinkled with an enthusiastic joining together of fantastic memories to create tall tales, whoppers, and first-person humorous yarns. Traditionally, from Appalachia to the Ozarks, fisherman, hunters, loggers, and industrial workers have improved on actual happenings with exaggerated marvels. While being entertained, the listener is also introduced to the teller's nostalgia for the

Thayer Sentences Three Defendants To Various Terms

Judge Fred A. Thayer of Garrett County Circuit Court handed down prison term sentences to three defendants last week, and declared a mistrial in a case involving sex offenses. He granted a new trial in another case, but State's Attorney James Sherbin decided not to further prosecute.

An Oakland man will serve a total of two years, 60 days in the Maryland Department of Corrections for various drug violations. John W. Weeks, 27, pleaded guilty in a July hearing to two counts of distribution of marijuana and two counts of possession of LSD. Thayer gave Weeks one year each for the distribution charges and 30 days each for the possession charges.

Weeks was arrested following an investigation in the early months of this year by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force. The defendant reportedly sold illegal drugs to a confidential informant of the task force and was witnessed doing so by an officer.

In a separate case, Ronald D. Wright, 23, Oakland, was sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail for distribution of marijuana. He was also charged with two counts of possession of marijuana, for which Thayer sentenced him to five days each, to run concurrently with the first sentence.

The defendant pleaded

Pennsylvania Pair Arrested On Drug Charges By Md. State Police Monday

A Pennsylvania couple, stopped for speeding Monday afternoon, were subsequently arrested on drug charges by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry.

Charged with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia were Sherry L. Harper, 22, and Keith F. Morris, 32, both of Prosperity, Pa.

The couple was initially stopped for speeding (71.5/55 mph zone) on Interstate 68. When Tfc. J.W. Hare approached the vehicle, he reportedly detected a strong odor of burnt marijuana. A search of the vehicle revealed 2.7 grams of suspected marijuana in a plastic bag, four marijuana cigarettes, and one set of scales.

Both Harper and Morris were released from custody after posting $300 bond each.

THEFTS REPORTED

In other State Police news, a number of thefts are currently being investigated.

Marvin D. Sisler, Friendsville, told police that an 18 HP Ford garden tractor, a 12 HP Gravely tiller/tractor, and a TroyBilt tiller valued at $12,000 were stolen from his property located off the White Rock Road.

The theft reportedly occurred between September 7-11, according to Tfc. J.K. Moore, investigating officer.

Gary L. King, McHenry, reported that someone removed a Suzuki 230 Quadrunner all-terrain motorcycle from his property between September 7-9. Tfc. A.S. MacLane is investigating that theft.

David C. Wilburn, Grantsville, told police that someone removed a red tool box and a grey tool box, both containing miscellaneous tools, from his unlocked pickup between August 12 and September 4. Loss is estimated at $600. Tfc. G.S. Becker is investigating.

MDOP REPORT

A malicious destruction of property case is being investigated by Tpr. M.E. Rodeheaver, who stated that Allen and Connie Sisler, Friendsville, reported that someone slashed all four tires on their 1991 Ford Ranger pickup truck.

Rodeheaver said the vandalism took place between 8:30 p.m. September 9 and 7:30 a.m. on September 10.

HARASSMENT REPORT

An Oakland woman told police Monday that she has been receiving magazines through the mail which she did not order. She also stated that she has been receiving other threatening mail. Rodeheaver is also investigating that complaint.

Tucker Graduates From FBI Academy

Lt. Donald W. Tucker, Garrett County Sheriff's Office, was among 249 law enforcement officers graduating from the FBI National Academy at Quantico, Va., on September 4. This 170th session of the National Academy included men and women from all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, six military organizations, three federal civilian organizations, and 19 countries throughout the free world.

Tucker, an 18-year veteran, is the third officer from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office to have completed the FBI's prestigious curriculum. Sheriff Van Evans and Major Harland Tichnell attended the National Academy in 1980 and 1984, respectively.

During his attendance at Quantico, Tucker distinguished himself by taking top shooting honors in the FBI's Tactical Revolver Course. He shot a score of 100 of 100 possible points in the competition of which inducts him into the FBI "Possible Club." Only 189 other National Academy students have achieved this honor since the program's inception in 1935.

Internationally famous for its academic excellence, the National Academy program, held at the FBI Academy, offers 11 weeks of advanced investigative, management and fitness training for selected officers having a proven record as a professional within his or her agency. On the average, these officers have 16 years of law enforcement experience, and usually return to their agencies to serve in executive level positions.

Deputy Attorney General George J. Terwilliger III was the principal speaker at the graduation ceremony.

Training is provided by the FBI Academy instructional staff, Special Agents holding advanced degrees, many of whom are recognized internationally in their field

Wiseman Sentenced To Eight Years For Robbing First United Nat'l Bank

The defendant convicted of robbing the First United National Bank & Trust, Oakland, was sentenced in Garrett County Circuit Court to serve eight years in the Maryland Department of Corrections. Terry J. Wiseman, 36, Oakland, had pleaded guilty to robbery in a July hearing, at which time presiding Judge Fred A. Thayer ordered a pre-sentence investigation. The defendant was given credit for time served, which was 241 days.

A condition of Wiseman's sentence is to make restitution of $1,993.35 to the bank, according to the court record.

The robbery took place on January 7 of this year at approximately 1 p.m. According to the report, the defendant entered the Oakland bank and handed a note to Gretchen Rush, a teller. The note read "I have a gun. I want $6,000 now or you die!" Mrs. Rush complied by laying a stack of money on the counter which contained a packet of "bait money" - a series of bills with recorded serial numbers.

An intense investigation by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and the FBI (Federal Bureau of Investigations) immediately followed the incident, as pictures of the defendant were published and tips were given to officers. Wiseman was tracked to California, where he was arrested a few days after the robbery.

Seventh Rabies Case Confirmed By Health Dept.

A rabid skunk brought Garrett County's 1992 total of rabies cases to seven this week, according to a Garrett County Health Department spokesperson. The skunk was submitted by Ronald Wright after his dog fought with it at his residence located in the Round Glade area, north of Oakland.

According to the report, the skunk entered an area occupied by Wright's dog on September 10 and a fight ensued between the animals. The dog killed the diseased skunk and Wright contacted the health department.

Wright's pet had a current rabies vaccination. The dog was given a booster inoculation and will be monitored for 90 days.

Although the number of confirmed rabies cases is lower than last year at this time, the health department spokesperson stressed that since only the animals that have caused exposure to pets or humans are test for rabies, persons should remember that a much larger number of rabies cases exist in the county than are reported by the

Public Hearing Set For Amendments To County Zoning Recommendations

Upon the advisement of Garrett County Planning and Zoning Director John Nelson, the Garrett County Commissioners this week stated that a public hearing on 38 text amendments to an extensive list of issues and recommendations developed by the Deep Creek Watershed Plan Evaluation Committee would receive a public hearing on October 20, at 10 a.m., in the commissioners' meeting room.

Committee members submitted those recommendations to the Garrett County Planning Commission members last spring for their review following a two-year period in which the advisory committee met to develop the recommendations.

The committee members included Ed King, who represented the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners' Association (DCLPOA); Denny Glotfelty, member and former president of the Deep Creek Business Association; Ralph Burnett, Garrett County Development Corporation; Paul Durham, Department of Natural Resources lake management; and George Brady, Planning Commission.

The committee members were appointed by the Garrett County Commissioners at the request of the DCLPOA.

According to Nelson, the four proposed amendments that will most likely have the biggest impact on the general public includes one that would require a certified site location plan to accompany all zoning permits for new structures.

The amendment reads, "The corners of all lots must be established by survey and all new structures must be located and staked out by the surveyor in the field to avoid error in the placement of the structure. . . "

Nelson stated that the main drawback to this amendment would be the cost of such a plan, which is estimated at between $200 and $250.

The impetus of the amendment, he said, came from finance companies and lending institutions which now require the site location plan before approving a loan for building purposes.

"There are many variance applications made after a structure has already been built because it was built too close to a boundary line," said Nelson, who noted that approval of the amendment would virtually eliminate those claims.

An amendment that would reduce the density requirements in town residential and town center

Tech Prep Progress Charted For GCC Trustee Board By Jim Allen, Director

The Garrett Community College Board of Trustees convened Tuesday evening and heard Jim Allen, GCC coordinator for the Tech Prep Program, chart the progress of that program.

Allen spoke of the objectives, accomplishments, and implications of the Tech Prep Program and outlined the implementation schedule. He noted that full implementation will not occur until the fall of 1994.

The coordinator told the trustees that the full implementation may seem an unnecessarily long delay, but stated that consideration should be given to the fact that implementation of the Garrett County Tech Prep model involves a complete restructuring of the entire high school program and curriculum.

Allen also detailed the five objectives of the Tech Prep project for FY '93. Briefly, they entail: 1) The development of Tech Prep curricula that are integrated with the entire school program which will provide sequential, coherent educational/career pathways linking the final two years of secondary school to the first two years of higher education; 2) The implementation of applied academics as a means of achieving the required academic core proficiencies in mathematics, science, and communications for those students whose learning styles are best accommodated by a hands-on approach; 3) The development of a Tech Prep marketing plan that promotes Tech Prep as a viable, educational/career pathway to students, parents, representatives of business and industry, and the broader community; 4) The development of methods to help students make educational and career choices, to develop an educational/career plan, and to design academic and personal counseling services that will help students accomplish their educational goals; and 5) The design of the types of preparatory and support services needed to implement and successfully maintain the Tech Prep program, including learning support, career development, and job placement programs.

The coordinator commended the joint efforts of the Garrett County Board of Education and GCC in forming a consortium for developing the Tech Prep program in the county. GCC President Dr. Stephen Herman and several members of the board echoed Allen's praise of the consortium.

The Tech Prep program is partially funded by the Carl Perkins Act which holds the belief that Tech Prep must encompass all four years of high school and the first two years of post-secondary schooling.

Allen stated that Tech Prep has evolved into a relatively complex framework for major educational reform, but in essence, it can be characterized by four key features which include:

1) The integration of career/technology and academic education.

2) The development of planned, sequential (2+2) programs of study.

3) The institution of a common core of required proficiency in mathematics, communications, and science for all students.

4) The introduction of applied academics as a means of helping students achieve the required levels of proficiency in academic core areas.

Garrett County Health Officer Rex Archer, M.D., has announced the schedule for this year's last series of low-cost rabies clinics for the vaccination of cats and dogs. The series will begin Monday, September 21, and conclude Saturday, September 26. Area residents are urged to check the following schedule for exact times and locations of the clinics in their areas:

The cost of the vaccine is $5 per animal. Dogs should be brought to the clinics on a leash and under the control of a responsible individual. Cats should be inside a wire cage or tightly secured box with air holes. While Maryland law requires dogs and cats over four months of age to have the required vaccination against rabies, animals at least three months of age can be

SMS Guidance Counselor Arrested; Charged With Sex, Abuse Counts

A Southern Middle School guidance counselor was arrested Wednesday by the Oakland City Police and charged with various sex offense counts.

Benjamin C. Thorn, 49, South Fourth Street, Oakland, was charged with second-, third-, and fourth-degree sex offenses, child abuse, and battery by Chief John K. Sines.

Those crimes, against a now 19-year-old female, allegedly occurred between January of 1984 and February of 1992, according to Sines.

Thorn, who has been employed by the Garrett County Board of Education as a guidance counselor for a number of years, was reportedly on leave since the beginning of the school year. The investigation has reportedly been ongoing for several months.

Following his arrest Wednesday, Thorn appeared before Garrett County Court Commissioner Ron Maiers who set Thorn's bond at $10,000 cash bond. By midnight last night, Thorn had posted Bond and was released from the Garrett County Jail where he was incarcerated.

CONSTITUTION WEEK PROCLAIMED -- The Garrett County Commissioners this week proclaimed the week of September 17 through 23 as "Constitution Week" in Garrett County and have urged the county citizens to "pay special attention during that week to our Constitution and the advantage of U.S. citizenship." The proclamation further states, "The independence guaranteed to the American people by the Constitution should be celebrated by appropriate ceremonies and activities" during Constitution Week, and that all citizens should "fully understand the provisions and principles contained in the Constitution in order to support it, preserve it, and defend it against encroachment . . . " Shown above, seated left to right, are the Garrett County Commissioners, Brenda Butscher, Elwood Groves, and John Braskey. Standing, same order, are Ruth Calderwood, chairperson of Constitution Week, and Martha Kahl, registrar of the Youghiogheny Glades Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

NORTHERN MARCHERS ADD TO TROPHY COLLECTION - The Northern Garrett Marching Band competed last Saturday against two other bands at the Hedgesville (W.Va.) High School "Tournament of the Stars" marching contest, and won first place in their division. The marchers achieved their highest score, a 73.65, for a first-of-the-season competition, and brought home trophies for best percussion and best marching and maneuvering. Under the direction of James Boord, the band has now begun a full schedule of fall competition which will culminate in the Atlantic Coast Championship, Scranton, Pa., on November 11. The band will travel to Frostburg State University this Saturday for an afternoon competition, and will compete in the evening at South Carroll High. See story for more details. In the photo above with their trophies, left to right, are Dana Sweitzer, Roxanne Niner, Desiree Dishong, guard captains; and Kristl Warnick, drum major. In the back row, same order, are Sean Beachy and John Bray, percussion captains. Northern Garrett Marching Band will host its own show on Saturday, October 3, at the Northern athletic field. The show will begin at 6:30 p.m. and will feature several high school bands and a variety of music and choreography. Admission fee will be $4 for adults and $3 for students. See separate story. Northern Garrett Marching Band Opens Season By Capturing Firsts

The Northern Garrett Marching Band opened its 1992 season by capturing the first place trophy in Group I at Saturday's "Tournament of Stars" marching band competition held at Hedgesville (W.Va.) High School. Competing against the bands of Berkeley Springs and Petersburg, Northern scored a 73.65 out of a possible 100 points, the highest opening score the band has ever achieved.

Other awards accrued by the band were best marching [illegible] and best percussion. High scores were also given for music and general effect.

This year's show features the musical selections "Jubilance," "The Flintstones," and "Korean." The band's director is James Boord, and guard instructor is Tina Mason. Debbie Weeks assisted Mason in choreography. Others assisting the band are Tracy Teats and Jason Nice, percussion.

The band's next competition will be this Saturday, Sept. 19, when the marchers will compete in two shows. The first will be held at Frostburg State University in the afternoon, followed by an evening contest at South Carroll High School. The band will compete at Keyser High School on the afternoon of September 26, and on the same day in evening will march at Frankfort High.

The band's full schedule continues throughout October and into November. The results and an weekly update on the band's activities will appear in The Republican.

Under the direction of Boord, Northern Garrett Marching Band has competed against bands in the surrounding tri-state area for 10 years. Local parades in which the marchers have participated include the Fourth of July parade sponsored by the Accident Volunteer Fire Department, the Grantsville Days parade sponsored by the Grantsville Lions Club, and the Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade, sponsored by First United National Bank & Trust.

The Northern band captured the Group I Chapter XIII Champion Award in 1988 and 1991, giving the members the opportunity to compete in the Atlantic Coast Championship held in Allentown, Pa., and Scranton, Pa., respectively. This championship is a competition between the highest scoring bands from North Carolina to New York, according to a band spokesperson. Northern is scheduled to participate in the championship this year on November 11.

In addition to the competitions, the band will also perform at the half-time of all home football games.

Marching Show Set For Oct. 3 At Northern High

The Northern Garrett Marching Band and the Northern Garrett Band Boosters, Inc., will host the fifth annual Tournament of Bands Marching Spectacular on Saturday, October 3, beginning at 6:30 on the Northern High School athletic field, Accident.

This year's show will feature high school bands from the tri-state area competing in groups I-IV for points, trophies, and awards such as best guard, best drum major, best marching and maneuvering, and best brass. The bands will present a wide variety of music and choreography, a spokesperson indicated.

Admission will be charged at the gate: $4 for adults and $3 for students. Concessions and novelties will be available. The community is invited to attend the event and support the young people, the spokesperson said.

Two Men Arrested In Connection With Aluminum Theft

Two Gormania, W.Va., men were arrested in connection with a July theft of $500 worth of scrap aluminum, taken from Automotive Machine in Mountain Lake Park. Raymond A. Miller, 22, and Randy E. Schaeffer, 23, were charged with theft this week by Det. Jeff Murphy of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Scott Bittinger reported the theft on July 22 when he discovered that the aluminum and copper parts, including radiators, pistons, engine blocks, and valve covers, had been stolen from behind the establishment. Police had leads from the beginning because neighbors had heard unfamiliar noises at the time of the theft.

In other sheriff's office news, a Chambersburg, Pa., man was arrested on the strength of a warrant and charged with battery, breaking and entering a dwelling, trespassing private property, and disorderly conduct. Terry L. Fike, 24, is accused of committing the crimes against Kelly Rhodes in May of this year at a residence located on Rt. 219 South. Fike was released on his own recognizance, according to the report.

Jerry L. Paugh, 29, Swanton, was arrested on the strength of a warrant last week. He was charged with kidnapping because he allegedly did not return a child to his/her parent after receiving a 48-hour notice.

John J. Hovatter, 32, Swanton, was charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI) after he failed to stop at the intersection of Rt. 135 and Weber Road, according to the report. Det. Murphy made the arrest.

David A. Evans, 30, Elk Garden, W.Va., was arrested Saturday for failing to appear in Garrett County District Court in December 1989. Evans has been scheduled to face DWI charges.

David W. Wiles, 21, Mountain Lake Park, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant for failing to make deferred payments to district court. Wiles reportedly paid $65 to the court and was released.

Dennis A. Wood, 31, Elkins, W.Va., failed to appear in district court and was then arrested on the strength of a bench warrant. Wood was to face traffic charges, according to the police report.

Name Omitted

In a photo and cutline about the recent Hospice Jail 'n Bail fundraiser that appears on page A-6 of today's edition of The Republican, one name was inadvertently omitted. Jim "Newshound" Shaffer also collected over $200 for the Garrett County Hospice program that serves the terminally ill and their families.

Search For Two Lost Hikers Is Successful

Two visitors of Swallow Falls State Park lost their way Monday afternoon and a search was initiated by State Forest and Park Service rangers at approximately 6:45. The two were found at approximately 10 p.m. in the Youghiogheny Mountain Resort area by Ranger William Thomas and park technician Dennis Shaffer.

Troy Ashby, 22, Corinth, W.Va., and Teresa Davis, 19, Swanton, apparently separated from the rest of their hiking group, consisting of four other persons, in the afternoon. The remaining four became concerned in the evening when the two had not returned.

The Department of Natural Resources Rescue Team assisted in the search, according to a park spokesperson, and the Maryland State Police helicopter was called upon at approximately 8:30 p.m. for help. However, poor visibility rendered the aircraft ineffectual in the search and the pilot turned back, the spokesperson said.

King Transferred To Colorado B&L Plant, Spirk Named His Successor

Jack King

Dave Spirk

Butch, Sumpter, plant manager at Bausch & Lomb, has announced the promotion of Jack King to the position of director of human resources at the Corporation's newly purchased company, Tropic-Cal, Inc., located in Denver, Colo.

The company markets well-known moderately priced sunglass brands including Sun Cloud, Liz Claiborne, Tropic-Cal, I Ski, and Black Diamond. Many of the sunglasses are targeted toward active sport industries, according to Stephen C. McCluski, president of Tropic-Cal.

Re-locating the headquarters from Los Angeles to Denver will allow a relationship to much closer outdoor markets such as skiing, cycling, rafting, and hiking, McCluski explained. Founded in 1963, Tropic-Cal is a wholly owned subsidiary of Bausch & Lomb. Tropic-Cal also owns Tropic-Cal (Canada) Inc. a subsidiary headquartered near Toronto, which distributes its product line.

King joined Bausch & Lomb in April 1971 and is a graduate of the first Manpower Development Training Act class at the Oakland facility. He has held numerous positions and in May of 1977 was promoted to human resources manager. He also managed the human resources function for Bausch & Lomb's Criterion Telescope Division in Hartford, Conn., from 1984 to 1987. He was called upon to manage the start-up of the human resources function during Bausch & Lomb's expansion in San Antonio, Tex., in 1987 and 1988.

King is originally from Keyser, W.Va., but has spent the last 20 years in Oakland. He is a graduate of Keyser High School, Garrett Community College, and attended West Virginia University. While in Oakland, he was involved in various civic organizations. He is past president of the Oakland Rotary club, past president of the Mountain Top Youth Football League, and member of the Southern Garrett Athletic Association, which honored him in 1988 as Southern Garrett Athletic Association's Citizen of the Year. He is a member of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation, Garrett County Private Industry Council, and chairman of the Western Maryland PIC Consortium.

King and his wife, Diane, plan to re-locate in Denver this fall. The couple has a son, Jeff, who is a senior at the University of Maryland and will be graduating in December.

Sumpter further announced that Dave Spirk will succeed King as human resources manager for the Oakland facility.

Spirk, who jointed Bausch & Lomb in November 1991, has a Bachelor of science degree in education and industrial technology from Ohio University and has extensive experience with FMC Corporation, where he held various human resources management positions over the past 14 years. His most recent assignment was director of human resources for FMC's Automotive Service Equipment Division in Conway, Ark. He was also a technical instructor in St. Clairsville and Bellaire, Ohio, school systems for seven years prior to moving to industry.

During the time that Spirk has been in the Oakland area, he has been active in the Mountain Top Soccer Association, where he serves as secretary, certified referee, and an under 16 coach.

He resides in Deer Park with his wife, Karen, and son, Derek. His daughter, Kristalynn, is a sophomore at Arkansas Baptist Medical Center, where she is pursuing a degree in nursing. David Jr., is a senior at Conway Arkansas High School.

Giving Diet Soda To Sick Children Not Recommended

According to the medical journal Pediatrics, doctors often tell parents to give children clear liquids as a fluid and nutrition source for vomiting and diarrhea. The soft drink 7-UP may be recommended. A 12 ounce serving sweetened with sucrose contains about 100 calories, whereas the diet version sweetened with aspartame contains only one calorie. A child given diet soft drinks for a prolonged period developed symptoms of starvation. The authors of the report conclude that pediatricians should "inform parents that aspartame-sweetened fluids should not be used" when clear liquids are recommended.

A Win-Win Approach...

A revolutionary approach to education is going to be implemented and tested right here in Garrett County within the next two years, and the prospects and potential of the new system are most exciting.

It's called the Garrett County Tech Prep Project and has been designed through the cooperative efforts of the Board of Education and Garrett Community College, using guidelines from the federal government and a few other similar models elsewhere in the country. The general idea is to provide each and every high school student the opportunity, the background, and the confidence to continue his/her education beyond high school toward a two- and/or four-year degree in their chosen field of study, or be better prepared to enter the workforce immediately after high school graduation if they choose not to go on to college.

All high school students will be considered tech prep students and each will be given a choice of one of four general areas of study: business/management, natural resources/life sciences, engineering/technology, and arts and human services. Each "career cluster" prepares the students to complete a two-year associate's degree after high school, or to exit directly to the workforce upon completion of the high school program. Central to all four programs will be an academic core of courses that all students must take, regardless of their chosen study cluster. Algebra and geometry, for example, will be taught in some form to all students, not just the "college prep" students.

We have always believed that every child who is capable of obtaining a high school diploma is also capable of achieving at the post-high school level, whether it is in the area of physics or automechanics, chemistry or art, math or metal work, language arts or drama. We should do everything we can to convince all of our students that they can go to college or technical school, regardless of family history, financial condition, or choice of study. To those who elect not to go to college, for whatever reason, we must give the skills and background that prepares them for a slot in the world of employment immediately upon their high school graduation. The tech prep program is designed to address both of these situations.

The methods of teaching in the program will also be altered to include more "hands-on" or "applied setting" learning. While teaching critical thinking skills will remain a priority, there will be more practical application utilized in the teaching process. Using the same example once again, algebra will be taught to all students, but in such a way to make it not as terrifying or abstract as in the past.

Besides providing better education and employment opportunities to our local young people, the program should also be of great economic benefit to GCC and to our community in general. The college will be utilized by more local residents and we will have greater numbers of skilled people in our local workforce.

It will take about two years to implement the program, but we like the philosophy behind it and, even at this early date, it appears to be a win-win concept.

Endorsement Letter Policy

We do not usually accept letters of endorsement for political candidates, simply for fear that we would be inundated with them. However, we have reserved space in our October 22 issue for as many endorsement letters as space will allow. These letters must be received by us no later than October 19. If more space is needed, we will publish the remainder of the letters in our October 29 issue; however, we will publish no letters of endorsement that are received after the Oct. 19 deadline. As always, these letters must be signed.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I watched a TV show on Channel 2 on Friday, Sept. 9. It was about 7-year-olds from different states across the U.S. The reporters asked questions like: What do you think of black people? (to a Japanese girl). She answered, "I don't like them." "Why?" The reporter asked. "Because my dad doesn't and he told me not to."

That's no excuse. It's not the kids' faults for their attitudes against other people who are different from them. It is the parents'.

If there is one bad person in a minority of people, it marks the whole group bad. What's the difference? Just colors, that's all.

I've met some great people who aren't white. Is color the difference between friends and enemies, peace and war? Yes, I think so. Just colors.

We're all the same inside and should be outside. Peace.

Sincerely,
Beth Glotfelty

BRAVO!!!!!

I would like to express my utmost appreciation to the cast, chorus, and crew of the Broadway Showstoppers for their tremendous efforts in producing and reproducing this wonderful series of musical excerpts in response to demand. What unbelievable talent right here in River City -- I mean, Garrett County! So many songs, so many actors, so much opportunity to try one's hand at performance -- this is truly one of the best types of community service. Thank you Choral Society, Nancy Learey, Ben Sincell, and all of you other wonderful people who bring this kind of show to us, over and over again.

Those involved with the Garrett Lakes Art Festival deserve much applause and recognition as well. This summer's series was fabulous -- each and every production from puppeteering, storytelling, and Celtic music to other productions such as the Symphony series -- was superb and professional. Such productions in the city are often too expensive to attend, and are rarely as intimately performed with such audience involvement as they were in GCC's auditorium during the recent series featuring Erick Friedman and Kathryn Sincell. These programs have such a fine reputation that many of my colleagues at Frostburg State University attend regularly!

I haven't heard anyone say lately that there isn't enough to do in Garrett County, thanks to the frequency and quality of the programs offered by such a wide variety of volunteers. In fact, my frustration comes from having to choose among the many activities this area offers us every day.

Once again, a heartfelt thanks to all of you on and behind stage for enriching our lives and our culture so much.

Sincerely yours,
Marci McClive

To the Editor:

There are over six million Americans alive today who have had cancer and three million of those are considered cured. Progress in cancer control has never been more exciting and to celebrate that fact the volunteers of the Garrett County Unit of the American Cancer Society are urging all Garrett County residents to take part in the first annual "Making Strides Against Cancer" event on Sunday, September 20 at the Deep Creek State Park.

Making Strides is a five-mile, non-competitive move-along-a-thon designed to celebrate the hopeful side of cancer while raising funds to further the American Cancer Society's programs of research, education, and patient services. One of the central messages of the event is that crossing the finish line doesn't matter ...crossing the starting line does!

Residents who can walk, run, roll on skates, or in a wheelchair or stroller are invited to join in the spirit of hope in cancer control and take part in this inspiring event. This year, our local goal is to have 150 participants. Participants are asked to collect contributions for their efforts and bring them with them to the event to be eligible for prizes. Individuals obtain information by calling WKHJ at 334-4272, 1-800-STRIDES, or the American Cancer Society at 722-2145. Interested individuals may pick up a brochure at WKHJ radio station or request one from the ACS office. The day of the event, registration begins at noon and the official starting time is 1:30 p.m.

WKHJ will be broadcasting live at the event and entertainment and refreshments will be provided. Making Strides is not only a terrific day of fun and friendship but also an important way for each of us to demonstrate our commitment to beating cancer. We look forward to walking with you on Sunday.

Sincerely,
Susan Athey-Oxford

To the Editor:

As a businessman, farmer, and former Secretary of Agriculture for the state of Maryland who has always been primarily interested in the bottom line, I believe that combining the Maryland Department of Agriculture with other state agencies would result in economic disaster. It would cost the taxpayers more money and in the long run it would hurt a multi-billion dollar a year industry.

The governor and the Maryland General Assembly established the Maryland Department of Agriculture in 1973 at the recommendation of a 10-member blue ribbon panel which recognized that agriculture, being the number one industry in Maryland, is crucial to the state's economic well-being, "in terms of livelihood, jobs and business activity." The same is even more true today.

The Maryland Department of Agriculture is a small department that is extremely responsive both to the agricultural community and the consumers of our state. Many of its programs such as poultry health, agricultural land preservation, water and land conservation, plant protection and weights and measures are models for the nation. It has an outstanding history of close cooperation with the University of Maryland in agricultural research and education.

As head of the agency from 1979 until 1991 I can tell you we never ran a deficit and always returned money to the state's general funds. In addition, I think it has been proven over and over again, that bigger bureaucracies are not more responsive and less expensive. Rather, they cost more. I believe in efficiency in government and not increased centralization.

In short, we cannot afford to be the only state in the union without a department of agriculture. It would hurt an industry that accounts for 14 percent of all jobs in the state. It would hurt our chances to obtain federal funding. And then there is the bottom line. In the very near future, it would cost all Marylanders more while providing them with less. It would jeopardize the number one industry in the state. There would be no one left to speak for agriculture and the consumers of Maryland. This is something we cannot economically afford to do.

Wayne A. Cawley Jr.

To the Editor:

Under the guise of Economic Development, the state of Maryland will borrow 7 million plus Allegany County will borrow approximately 4 million to fund the Rocky Gap Golf Course which will ruin the Rocky Gap State Park, as we now know it, and the Rocky Gap Festival. Even though the details have not been worked out with the developer and are therefore unknown to the state and county taxpayers, the officials are still falling for this gigantic scam. At the same time, vital services are being cut from state and county budgets because the state is broke according to the governor. There is not another golf course in the country that costs 11 million to build especially when you own the land. Further, if the idea was so great why couldn't any developer since 1987 get financing for the hotel? It's just a small 200 room hotel which will be underwritten by county guarantee, if the original ideas are carried out. The big corporations who looked at it said, "no, it couldn't succeed."

What banks are going to finance this golf course which will cost $75.00 a round to play on, according to DNR estimates? Who can afford to play on it? Who will pocket the extra millions? The real cost should not exceed 1 million for the course based on current construction costs of recent courses in this area, and nearby Pennsylvania.

It sounds like pretty big kickbacks will be available for those officials signing away our future. The little guy who pays the bill won't be able to play on the course, and will no longer be able to enjoy the park.

Doesn't anyone in the legislature have the guts to stop this ridiculous waste of taxpayer money? This is not Economic Development. It's a few minimum wage jobs that are seasonal. Golf courses and hotels all over the county are in trouble because golf is a luxury, and only two percent of the population has the time and money for luxuries. I do not want my taxes raised for the next 30 years to pay for this scam, while our grandchildren are cheated of necessary learning tools which can improve their future.

Isn't there anyone in the rest of the state who will object to this terrible waste of taxpayers dollars? Remember every taxpayer in Maryland will pay for this for the next 30 years. Write Louis Goldstein, Comptroller of the Treasury, today, and send me a copy too.

County Zoning

zones for multi-family dwellings, such as townhouses and condominiums, and apartment buildings, will also be on the agenda at the public hearing.

The proposal calls for the 10 units per acre (as spelled out in the original recommendations) to be reduced to seven units per acre in the town center zones, and the nine units per acre in town residential zones to be reduced to 6 units.

In conjunction with that amendment, it has been proposed that the minimum requirement of one acre per multi-family unit be increased from one to two acres. According to Peggy Jamison, Planner II for the Planning Commission, "What this means is that a developer must have at least two acres of land before even considering building a multi-family unit."

This amendment was proposed because the advisory committee and the Planning Commission members felt there were too many parcels in those zones being used for multi-family units, and because the original intent of the plan was for a mix of residential and commercial development, according to Nelson.

Another amendment would require that decks attached to dwellings be set back at least five feet so as not to encroach on the adjacent property.

"This amendment was suggested to minimize boundary disputes and gives a cushion to the existing requirement," stated Nelson, adding that the Pennsylvania Electric Company has "requested this for years."

An amendment that would give the planning and zoning administrator (Nelson) the authority to grant a one and one-half foot "administrative variance" will also be reviewed at the public hearing.

Nelson explained that amendment would apply only to structures built before the new zoning laws go into effect.

"The purpose of this amendment is to reduce the workload of the zoning board and benefit the property owner as well," he said.

Nelson indicated that he felt the 38 amendments to be "generally beneficial."

The advisory committee has also completed and submitted a list of recommended plan policy issued to the Planning Commission. Neither these nor the zoning recommendations, however, are subject to a public hearing but both documents are available to the public at the planning office.

Establishment of Capital Projects Procedures

Nelson also met with the commissioners this week seeking approval for a draft of the procedures and schedules for the review of capital projects in the county that are state-funded. Local jurisdictions must submit this process by December 1, 1992, in order to comply with the Growth Management Act passed by the Maryland General Assembly this year.

"We are required to implement a process by that date with which to review proposed capital projects consistent with the county comprehensive development plan," Nelson told the commissioners.

Nelson noted that a "relatively simple procedure was set forth in the recently proposed charter for Garrett County," and that minor revisions would fulfil the requirements of the Growth Management Act.

The first step would involve the head of each county agency, including the Board of Education, the Roads Department, and the Sanitary Commission, submitting an itemized list of capital projects proposed by each agency for the upcoming fiscal year that involves the use of state funds. The lists must be submitted to the county clerk at least four months before the end of the current fiscal year.

In addition, the agency must supply the clerk with an outline of proposed capital projects for the next five years.

The second step of the process would require the county clerk to submit the lists to the Planning Commission no later than three months before the end of the fiscal year for its consideration. The commission would then advise the county commissioners as to whether or not the projects comply with the provisions of the county development plan and make recommendations about each of those proposed projects.

If the Planning Commission would decide that any of the projects on the list were not consistent with the county plan, the county commissioners could still approve and construct a local constructing project inconsistent with the plan provided they determine that "extraordinary circumstances" exist with no feasible alternative.

That determination would then be reviewed by the Maryland State Economic Growth, Resource Protection, and Planning Commission.

Senior Citizens' Menus

"Eating Together" sites which operate two days per week, will use Day 1 and Day 2. The menu for the week of Sept. 21-25 is as follows:

Day 1 -- Tomato aspic on lettuce bed, chicken w/mushrooms and gravy, rice, peas, wheat bread, apricots.

Day 2 -- Tossed salad w/carrots, spaghetti w/meat sauce, garlic bread, spicy summer fruit.

Day 3 -- Apple juice, macaroni and cheese, vegetable casserole, corn muffin, melon balls or fruit cocktail.

Milk, coffee, and tea are served with all meals.

On occasion, a site may opt to make a substitution in the menu. Senior citizens who wish to eat at one of the "Eating Together" sites are asked to call the individual site to check the menu for the day and to make reservations.

Telephone numbers of individual sites are as follows: Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident, 746-8824; Bull's Restaurant, Bloomington, 359-3035; Finzel Fire Hall, Finzel, 689-8388; Old Mill Grill, Friendsville, 746-5414; Old Mill Restaurant, Gorman, 334-4865; Starner Hill Apts., Grantsville, 895-5092; Jennings Community Building, Jennings, 245-4204; Kitzmiller Community Building, Kitzmiller, 453-3445; Oakland Senior Center, Mtn. An Update From The Superintendent

By
Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Superintendent
Of Garrett County Public Schools

Evening High School

This article was written by Mr. John Ledden, Career Employability Specialist.

Evening High School is an alternative to the regular day school where students can earn credit toward graduation. Evening High School should not be confused with the GED, (General Educational Development) which offers a diploma based on examination in the major subject areas.

Evening High School offers regular high School courses needed to meet graduation requirements. The Board of Education approved curricula is followed. When students complete these courses, they receive credit the same as in day school. A regular Maryland High school diploma is awarded when all graduation requirements are completed. These students may even participate in the graduation commencement ceremonies.

Students attend Evening High School for many reasons. Some students have had to leave school early and now realize that they need a high school diploma to advance in their job or to go on to college. Others who are still in high school attend day and evening classes because of schedule conflicts or because they need an extra credit to graduate. Some students find it easier to take a course they have previously failed in Evening School rather then repeat it in day school. There are some adults who attend as a motivation to keep their children in school until they graduate.

Evening High School is offered free of charge to Garrett County residents. There is no age limit as long as the students are working toward their high school diploma. Students must meet the graduation requirements that applied the year they first entered ninth grade. good old days and perhaps even a little resentment of the machine-addicted modern society. Although tales of various occupations and backwoods life are also good reading, they only come to life when the tall teller improvises them for the listeners."

In some states, these stories were traditionally told from the "Liar's bench" where a person might go and be sure of an audience at any time of day, Herman explained.

Local and out-of-town storytellers and community people are invited to tell tall tales and "true" personal stories, and there will also be a presentation of tall tales by children. Tellers are invited to contact Dr. Herman at Route 2, Lodge Circle, Sky Valley, Swanton, MD 21561, (301) 387-9199, to register for telling tales at the event. Prizes will be awarded.

Admission to this contest is $3 for adults and $2 for senior citizens and children ages 4-12. Children must be accompanied by an adult. This event is sponsored by the American Association of University Women for the benefit of the Tapestry of Talent Student Storytelling Festival of Garrett County.

Suspect Is Arrested In Connection With 1990 O'Brien Christmas Theft

Detective Jeff Murphy of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office arrested a suspect this week in connection with a robbery that occurred on December 20, 1990. Lynwood C. Sharpless, 35, Swanton, has been charged with burglary, felony theft, and breaking and entering in connection with the theft of numerous items taken from the Ronald W. O'Brien residence in Swanton on that date.

Sharpless is accused of breaking into the home with another unidentified male and removing approximately $5,377 worth of items, several of which were wrapped as presents under the family's Christmas tree. Items taken included six shotguns, a VCR, microwave, two scanners, jewelry, binoculars, a diamond watch, and a Winchester Roy Rogers Gold Stallion Edition rifle.

The arrest follows a lengthy investigation by the sheriff's office, according to Murphy. Sharpless is facing several other counts of theft in connection with a Maryland State Police investigation and discovery of numerous stolen articles found on the defendant's property earlier this year.

Sharpless was released Tuesday on $25,000 bail, according to a Garrett County Jail spokesperson.

Two Injured In Three-Vehicle Mishap Thursday

Two persons were treated for minor injuries and later released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital last Thursday, according to a nursing spokesperson at the hospital, following a three-vehicle mishap on U.S. Rt. 219, south of Oakland.

Injured were Herbert Merrill, 70, Deer Park, and a passenger in his vehicle, Anna Boyer, 85, Oakland.

According to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, the mishap occurred when Claude E. Persinger, 58, Oakland, was operating a 1986 Ford F-150 pickup truck on U.S. Rt. 219 and struck the Merrill vehicle, a 1987 Ford Escort, when it attempted to make a left turn across traffic on the highway onto the Jasper Riley Road. Following impact, the Persinger vehicle continued on and struck a vehicle following Merrill, operated by Brenda S. Vonlehden, 29, Seven Hills, Ohio.

Neither Persinger, Vonlehden, nor her two passengers, Lorene Shaffer, 63, and Joseph Shaffer, 65, both of Parma, Ohio, were reportedly injured in the mishap which occurred during a heavy rainstorm.

Tfc. J.E. Foley investigated the 2:50 p.m. mishap for state police and charged Merrill with failure to yield the right of way when making a left turn.

Garrett County Emergency Management dispatched the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad and the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department to the scene.

DWI MISHAP

A Cresaptown man was charged with DWI and other drug charges following a single-vehicle mishap early Wednesday morning, according to state police.

Robert P. Ritz, 42, was charged with driving while under the influence of drugs, unlawfully omitting a label on prescription drugs, unlawful possession of Fiornal, and unlawful possession of Amipriptyline Hydrochloride.

According to Tfc. S.H. Anderson who investigated the 1:12 a.m. mishap, Ritz was operating a 1971 Chevrolet truck east on U.S. Rt. 40, east of the Pig's Ear Road, when he traveled off the eastbound shoulder and traveled 100 yards through a ditch. When he attempted to bring the vehicle back onto the road, the towed van he was pulling overturned and rolled.

Ritz allegedly failed several field sobriety tests and the prescription drugs were found in a Tylenol container in Ritz's shirt pocket. Ritz was taken to the Garrett County Jail where he has since been released on his own recognizance.

DWI ARRESTS

Two additional motorists were arrested for DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) this past week by state police.

Tracy L. Wilson, 22, Frostburg, was charged with DWI on September 9 by Tfc. G.S. Becker.

Gary L. Layman, 42, Grantsville, was charged with DWI by Tfc. S.H. Anderson on Monday.

Bloodmobile To Visit Sept. 23 In Grantsville

Attempting to rebuilt blood supplies depleted during the summer because of vacations and school breaks, the Johnstown Region of American Red Cross Blood Services has scheduled a bloodmobile visit for Wednesday, September 23, at the Grantsville Fire Hall. Hours will be 12:30 to 6:30 p.m.

According to Lela Bender, American Red Cross blood services chairperson for northern Garrett County, Grantsville's last blood drive, held May 4, was essential in helping the Region build adequate supplies of blood products before the difficult summer months.

"On May 4, area residents gave 109 units of blood, which helped the Red Cross build supplies before the Memorial Day weekend. On September 23, you have the chance to help Red Cross rebuild blood supplies lowered over the summer because of vacations and school breaks," Bender explained.

She noted that summertime is an historically difficult time to maintain blood product inventory because many people are on vacation, high schools are closed, and colleges have lowered enrollment. "When you collect a fifth of annual collections at high schools and colleges, you need to work all the harder to recruit donors in the summer when these sites aren't as available."

Bender added that donors of all blood types are needed to give at the September 23 Grantsville visit.

To donate blood, individuals must be at least 17 years old and in generally good health. Persons can generally donate whole blood every 56 days. Individuals with questions about donor eligibility should telephone the Johnstown Region Nursing Office at 1 (800) 54BLOOD, ext. 29.

Bender notes that the blood donation process takes about an hour, and includes a mini-physical, health history review and refreshments. "Your actual blood donation will take only six to 10 minutes," she said.

The Johnstown Region comprises 46 counties and almost 80 hospitals in Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia. The Region needs to collect at least 715 units of blood each weekday to meet patient needs.

Sheriff's Office Probes Reported Thefts, DOP

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is currently investigating several theft destruction of property cases reported to the office in the past week. One case involves the theft of over $1,000 worth of household items, and another the stealing of a "knotter" on a hay bailer. Two cases of property damage, with a combined loss estimate of $350, are also under investigation.

James Fitzwater reported the apparent theft of a Holland hay bailer knotter, taken sometime on September 10 from his Swanton property. The knotter has been valued at $1500, according to a sheriff's office spokesperson. A suspicious vehicle was reportedly seen near the equipment at the time of the theft, but a positive identification has not yet been made.

Paul Fiset, Timonium, reported to the sheriff's office that his second residence, located in the Brunson Subdivision off Sand Flat Road was apparently broken into sometime between September 1 and 11. The culprit(s) gained entry by breaking a basement window and then removed various pieces of clothing, a telephone, hair dryer, AM-FM radio and cassette player, a television set, and a VCR. The loss in this case has been estimated at $1,183.

Shirley Rivenbark, Oakland, notified police when she discovered that a retaining wall on her property had been completely dismantled. The wall consisted of concrete slabs and 2x6 wooden planks. The investigating officer noted that the planks were not splintered in any way, leading him to believe that the wall had been dismantled carefully and deliberately.

The retaining wall, which is located at the corner of High Street and Buena Vista Drive, had been hit by an unidentified vehicle in March and was severely damaged at that time as well. The damage to the wall has been estimated at $200, according to the report.

Melvin Sweitzer, Swanton, told police that on August 31 he noticed several deep scratches on his 1989 Fort LTD Crown Victoria. The scratches appeared to be made intentionally, according to the report, and the damage done to the vehicle has been set at $151.95. Sweitzer indicated to police that he has no idea who would have scratched the car, and that the vehicle is used daily and parked at several locations.

WIC, Sr. Citizen Discounts Offered By Mountain Fresh

Mountain Fresh Producers Association Coordinator Kathy Sanders reminds WIC (Women, Infants and Children) Coupon holders that they have a total of seven more tailgate markets in which to use their coupons this season. There will be four more Saturday morning tailgate markets and three more Wednesday morning tailgate markets in the Oakland Town Parking Lot before the season ends. At the Wednesday morning markets, a 10% discount will be given to senior citizens, as well.

Sanders reports that, overall, crops have been good this year and the market has been successful in providing a wide variety of fresh fruits, vegetables and baked goods to consumers.

She also stated that they had a "great response" to the annual corn roast. Door prize winners at the corn roast were Mrs. Laudermilk of Rosedale, whose guess was closest to the number of beans in a jar; Barbara Paugh of Mountain Lake Park, whose guess was closest to the number of pieces of candy in a jar; and the grand prize winner of a dinner for two at the Deer Park Inn was Sheila Hetrick.

Pa. Man Sentenced On Two Counts Of Felony Auto Theft

A Dawson, Pa., man who had been found guilty of two counts of felony automobile theft in Garrett County District Court during May proceedings was sentenced last week by Judge Jack R. Turney.

Charles A. Stimmel, 20, was handed an 18-month jail term (all was suspended by 30 days), fined $100, and placed on 24 months of supervised probation for each count. The sentence and probation will run concurrently.

Stimmel had been charged with the theft of a 1986 Plymouth Duster valued at $6,000 which had been stolen from the parking lot of the Flushing Shirt Factory on October 30, 1990. He was also charged with stealing a 1979 Chevrolet Blazer from Billy Bender Chevrolet, Grantsville, valued at $3,725. That vehicle was reported stolen on November 6, 1990. Both vehicles were recovered in November of 1990 in Connellsville, Pa. and Stimmel allegedly confessed to both thefts.

In other District Court news, a Westernport man was sentenced last week on one count of battery and one count of petty theft after he had been found guilty of those charges in June court proceedings. A pre-sentence investigation had been ordered at that time.

Robert M. Miller, 38, was sentenced to a 90-day suspended jail term, fined $100, and placed on one year of supervised probation on each count. The sentence and probation are to run concurrently. He was also ordered to pay $50 restitution to Artie Lantz and to seek addictions counseling and counseling for physical abuse toward women. He is to totally abstain from illicit drugs and alcohol.

Miller had been charged with those counts by Lantz stemming from a May 13 incident in which Miller allegedly choked her and stole $50 from her.

Roger A. Darr, 30, Midland, was found guilty of disturbing the peace and handed a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $100, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation. He was found not guilty of a second charge of impersonating a police officer.

Darr had been charged by a park ranger after a loud disturbance at New Germany State Park on July 25. The ranger heard loud cursing from Darr who stated that he was a park ranger. He was reportedly consuming beer at the time of his arrest.

Brian S. Ewers, 20, Castalia, Ohio, was found guilty of being disorderly in the public place and disturbing the peace. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Judge Turney.

Ewers had been arrested by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department and the Maryland State Police after a report of a loud disturbance at the Wisp Resort Hotel, McHenry, on August 8. Ewers was one of several persons who were arrested in the incident.

Stemming from that same incident, Patricia A. Lizzi, 38, Castalia, Ohio, was found guilty of two counts of battery, one count of resisting arrest, and one count of disturbing the peace. Judge Turney also ordered a pre-sentence investigation in her case.

Lizzi reportedly used profanity when officers arrived at the scene and told them to leave because she had paid for the room. She resisted arrest and kicked two officers in the altercation.

David A. Riedy Jr., 22, Sandusky, Ohio, was also arrested in that incident and was found guilty of two counts of battery, one count of resisting arrest, and one count of disturbing the peace. He was found not guilty of two counts of malicious destruction of property.

Riedy, when told he was under arrest, resisted several times in being handcuffed. During the altercation, he reportedly tore an officer's uniform shirt and broke the officer's wrist watch. He was allegedly yelling and cursing when he was escorted out of the hotel, causing a disturbance to a number of other guests.

Kristi A. Bope, 18, Glen Burnie, was found guilty of possession of drug paraphernalia and petty theft. Charges of malicious destruction of property, possession of marijuana, and being a rogue and a vagabond were not prosecuted.

Bope had been arrested on August 3 when state police were summoned to the Holiday Inn in Grantsville in reference to a theft from a vending machine at that location. When the manager confronted the woman, a man with her reportedly fled. She told police she didn't know the man and that she had just picked him up along the road.

A search of Bope's vehicle produced a license with the name Michael T. Neagle on it. The address indicated he lived at the same address as Bope. She then admitted to officers that she did know the man because he was the "father of her unborn child." Also found in Bope's vehicle was $307 in bills, $148.25 in quarters, $18.50 in dimes, $3.90 in nickels, and 16 cents in pennies. Police aiso found a brown, ceramic CDS pipe containing suspected marijuana residue. Bope also had two lock-picking tools in her purse.

Vernon E. Sweitzer, 41, Oakland, was found guilty of battery and was handed a 30-day suspended jail term and placed on one year of unsupervised probation. The fine was waived. He was also ordered by the judge to attend family counseling with the Garrett County Health Department.

Sweitzer had been charged by Barbara J. Sweitzer who said her husband had come home from work and started an argument with her. She stated that she asked him to leave. She also contended that he had earlier twisted her arm behind her back and threatened to break it if she didn't give him the truck keys. She said her husband was drinking at the time.

Lorri L. Donahue, 19, Grantsville, was found guilty of two counts of battery and one count of malicious destruction of property. She was handed a 30-day jail term and placed on six months of unsupervised probation for each count. The sentence and probation are to run concurrently. The fines were waived by the judge.

She was also ordered to pay restitution to Kevin Orner.

Donahue had been charged with those counts by Orner and Michelle Layton following two incidents last spring in which Donahue reportedly struck both of them and kicked Orner's truck, causing damage to the vehicle.

Nova K. Matthis, 30, Friendsville, was initially found guilty of battery, but the judge amended that sentence to probation before judgment. She was fined $25 and placed on six months of unsupervised probation. She was also ordered to have no violent contact with Steve Taylor.

A felony theft charge against Christopher J. Arnold, 19, Oakland, was not prosecuted because State's Attorney James L. Sherbin stated that there was "no

Crellin Church To Hold Seminar On Counseling

An informal seminar on "lay counseling" is being offered by the Crellin United Brethren Church on Saturday, September 26, Pastor Michael Mudge announced.

"In today's troubled world, many people do not know where to turn for help," Pastor Mudge said. "Most often, they share their burdens only with a few close friends. It is common for those friends to be left wondering if they said the right thing."

The Rev. Craig Loewen will be leading the session entitled "Tearing Down Strongholds: the Effective Art of Lay Counseling." Rev. Loewen has had a successful counseling ministry in several pastorates, most recently at the Brooklyn Park United Brethren Church in Baltimore. He now serves as assistant director of Rhodes Grove Camp. He is a graduate of Philadelphia College of the Bible and of Huntington College.

A two-hour session adapted for teenagers is to be offered from 9:30 to 11:30 that morning. The adult sessions will be held from noon until 4 p.m. with breaks. The seminar is free, and the public is welcome. Those planning to participate are asked to call the church at 334-9795 so that preparations may be made for hand-outs.

"This seminar will be most helpful to those who work regularly with other people, but all youth, parents, counselors, and church leaders are encouraged to attend," Pastor Mudge said.

Crellin United Brethren Church is located in Crellin, where Maryland Route 39 crosses the Youghiogheny River, four miles west of Oakland and six miles east of Terra Alta.

The earth rotates on its axis faster in September than in March.

GCC To Begin Pre-Reformation Course Sept. 21

How did the Reformation begin? What was the kindling that caught Martin Luther's spark and blazed throughout Europe? Whose idea was it to translate the bible into the language of the people? Why did the Protestant Reformation become a roaring, rolling tide faith and commitment? And most importantly, what really happened?

These questions and others will be addressed in the non-credit course, "Reformers Before the Reformation," presented in Garrett Community College's Center for Community and Continuing Education on Monday evenings, September 21 through October 12. The course sessions will be held from 6 to 9:15 p.m.

The instructor is William A. Durst, a Garrett County native who holds a masters of arts in religion from Lancaster Theological Seminary and a bachelor's degree from Frostburg State University. Durst has extensively researched the period preceding the explosion that was the Reformation.

Tuition and fees total $21 for all four sessions. No text is required; instead, films will be used to highlight important concepts and issues. This course is open to everyone who is interested. Senior tuition waivers do not apply to this offering.

Potential students may pre-register by phone at 1-800-695-4221 or 1-301-387-6666, ext. 169.

The GCC Thursday Night Art Group To Be Guests At Reception Sept. 18

by Joan Crawford

The current exhibit on display in the Bausch and Lomb Art Gallery of Garrett Community College represents the work of local artists who have formed the Thursday Night Art Group and who meet together weekly to work on art projects, share ideas, and socialize. A reception for these artists will be held in the gallery on Friday, September 18, at 8 p.m. The public is invited.

According to Ron Skidmore, coordinator of the gallery, members of this group all share a common goal: Make art! Their informal gathering on Thursday evenings provides a relaxed atmosphere conducive to experimentation and inspiring creative energies, along with the opportunity to share criticism which is vital to artistic growth.

The Art Group was originated in 1987 by Patricia Gould, Clint Englander, and Ron Skidmore. Since that time, the group has had several changes in membership but the constant growth and increasing dedication of its members. Currently, the group members are Ken Bauer, Elee Bookout, Mary Bowman, Charley Coleman, Clint Englander, Karen Frankhouse, Caroline Haley, Mike Hoffman, Doug Roberson, Eileen Schlosnagle, Ron Skidmore, and Dick Wasicko.

Ken Bauer is a professional artist who has received recognition for his drawing of canvasback ducks which he has entered in the Maryland Duck Stamp Contest, and more recently had artwork collected by the Ward Foundation which is a national wildfowl organization. As a wildlife artist, Ken focuses mainly on images of birds, which he draws in exact detail and delicate tonal gradations. Currently a resident of the Cranesville area, he is originally from the Baltimore area, and studied art at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Elee Bookout is a professional potter who enjoys working with porcelain and stoneware. Her career as artist and teacher is extensive with her work at the University of Maryland, the Prince Georges County Board of Education, the Corcoran Gallery in Washington, D.C. and the Torpedo Factory Art Center in Alexandria, Va. Her exhibition experience also includes the prestigious Smithsonian International, The Chicago Art Institute, and the Detroit Museum. Her awards and honors are numerous. She currently resides with her husband Jack in Accident, and operates Bear Creek Pottery.

Mary Bowman, a resident of McHenry, had never formally studied art until recently, but is a talented painter who won first place for Garrett County in the "Maryland: You Are Beautiful" Senior Citizen Art Competition this year. Her lifelong desire to make art is now realized, and has apparently been inherited by her three children, all of whom earned degrees in Fine Arts.

Charley Coleman was trained as a psychotherapist and spent many years as a high school counselor in Baltimore County, and also was the clinical director of a drug clinic in Baltimore City. His interest in art developed after he moved to Garrett County and took art classes at GCC. Charley received recognition two years ago for finishing fourth-place in the "Maryland At Work" Community College Photo Contest. He recently moved to St. Augustine, Fla., where he intends to open an Art Gallery.

Clint Englander, founder of Englander's Pharmacy in Oakland, has been very active in the arts since his retirement. He has always wanted to study art, and has successfully completed many courses in art at GCC over the past few years. He has developed a unique individual style in painting, and was instrumental in forming the Art Group for the purpose of satisfying his creative urges.

Karen Frankhouser, a resident of Oakland, has been doing artwork all of her life. She studied art at Southern High School, Garrett Community College, and then graduated from the University of Maryland with a B.A. degree in studio art. She studies mainly intaglio print-making, but has more recently worked in charcoal, colored pencil, and woodcarving. Karen is currently employed at Appalachian Crossroads where she works with handicapped adults.

Caroline Haley is a transplanted Texan who formerly taught sociology and anthropology at universities in Texas. She has had a long-time interest in ceramics, travel, and genealogy; and currently enjoys visiting potteries, looking for ancestors, and working with clay. She joined the Art Group recently for the opportunity to talk with artists and observe their work, and because she believes that it makes Garrett County more interesting.

Mike Hoffman, originally from Morgantown, W.Va., now resides in Terra Alta, W.Va. His large paintings are somewhat impressionistic, emphasizing the use of light and shadow to "bring out" the human figures. Besides oil painting, he also operates a home design business named "Four Star Design," and holds a B.F.A. degree in design from West Virginia University. Mike also likes to collect and restore antique bumper cars and to originate designs in woodworking.

Doug Roberson is a former Navy technician, originally from Rockville and now resides in Kitzmiller. He recently graduated from GCC with an A.A. degree in Fine Arts and is currently pursuing a second degree in social and behavioral sciences. His favorite mediums in art are oil painting and printmaking.

Eileen Schlosnagle was born in London, England, and lived in San Francisco prior to moving to Accident in 1989. She was educated at St. Mary's College at Strawberry Hill where she majored in drama and minored in art, and worked as a dresser in theatres in both London and San Francisco. She took the "Art in Pencil" class taught by Ken Bauer at GCC where she learned about the Art Group. Her main interest is drawing with pencil and charcoal, and wants to try painting someday.

Ron Skidmore is currently the coordinator of the Art Gallery and associate professor of Art at GCC, and was recently elected president of the Garrett County Arts Council. Originally from the Cumberland area, he attended Frostburg State University and earned a B.S. degree in art education. He then earned an M.F.A. degree in printmaking at West Virginia University. He now resides near Oakland in a home he designed and constructed. Ron's artwork is predominately landscape imagery which suggests unusual lighting conditions. Although he teaches and practices a variety of artforms, his preferred mediums are etching and oil painting.

Dick Wasicko was an engineer with the U.S. Air Force and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. He moved to Garrett County in 1986 to escape the heat and humidity in Washington, D.C. His artistic interests are mainly wood turning and clay pottery, and his works in both mediums are very similar in their shape and form. He joined the group recently because he wanted to learn more about art, and for the interactions with others involved in art.

This exhibition is dedicated in memory of Ms. Karen Thompson, former GCC student and member of the group.

Glimpse Of The Past . . .

THE FIRST CATHOLIC CHURCH in Hoyes was erected on the above site in 1853, razed in 1890, and replaced with the structure pictured above. This church was dedicated to St. Dominic and was served by missionary priests until a resident priest at St. Peter's Church in Oakland began to hold regular masses. Visiting priests stayed at the nearby Mattingly home. Later, Father Connell served the church for 23 years. The structure was razed in 1949; however the church cemetery, where the famous hunter Meshach Browning and members of his family are buried, is still maintained by St. Peter's Church. This photo, on loan by Bernadette Rausch Imblum, is published courtesy of the Garrett County Historical Society and The Republican.

"Strides Against Cancer" Event Set For Sunday

The Maryland Division of the American Cancer Society announced it will hold its Making Strides Against Cancer this weekend. The non-competitive, five-mile event allows participants to walk, run, jog, wheelchair, or be in a stroller.

Garrett County will participate as one of 10 locations statewide Sunday, Sept. 20, at Deep Creek Lake State Park. The media sponsor is WKHJ Radio, Loch Lynn.

Former and current cancer patients, their families, and the public are being invited to take part in Making Strides Against Cancer. Participants are asked to obtain sponsors regardless of how many miles they complete on the five-mile course.

Making Strides is a way to raise awareness about progress against cancer and raise money to continue programs and assistance in Garrett County. Locally, the American Cancer Society assisted 31 cancer patients, educated 2,120 adults and 2,500 youth about cancer, and educated 161 professionals.

The monies raised locally help to provide such programs and a portion goes to research. Registration and a cancer information fair will begin at noon. The event starts at 1:30 p.m. with live broadcasts by WKHJ Entertainment and refreshments will be provided.

Participants are asked to collect contributions for their efforts and bring them to the registration table at the event.

Incentives for contributions raised include squeeze bottle, T-shirt, fanny pack, sweatshirt, locker bag, designer watch, CD player, 35mm camera, 13-inch TV and VCR. Additional prizes from local sponsors will also be given away.

Registration forms and information about the event are available by calling WKHJ at (301) 334-4272 or the local ACS at (301) 722-2145. Forms may be picked up at WKHJ radio station and various businesses.

Garrett County Council Of PTA's To Meet Sept. 24

The first meeting of the Garrett County Council of PTA's (Parent-Teacher Association) for the 1992-93 school year will be held on Thursday, September 24, at 7 p.m. The meeting will be conducted in Room 308 of the Continuing Education Building at Garrett Community College.

Election of the council officers for the school year will be held. Items to be discussed include the new parent/community involvement policy that was recently adopted by the Garrett County Board of Education, and the Maryland State PTA Convention which will be held November 13-14 in Towson.

The county council is a key link in the line of communication between the local PTA's, the state PTA, and the national PTA, according to Charlotte Sebold, outgoing council president.

"The council contributes to a stronger, more effective organization by providing information, inspiration, and instruction for its member units," Sebold stated.

The council helps local units to function effectively by giving their officers and chairpersons opportunities to 1) compare methods of work; 2) receive suggestions on procedure; 3) unite in common projects; and 4) cooperate in improving the education and welfare of children and youth in Garrett County, Sebold explained.

Sebold urges all PTA's to have representatives in attendance at the Sept. 24 meeting. All county council meetings are open to the public.

"The Council doesn't work effectively without participation from all member PTA's and other members of the voting body," Sebold stated.

BUSINESS CLASS INSTRUCTOR -- Jim White, pictured above with Brenda Durst, is one of several new instructors for Introductory Small Business Classes to be offered at Garrett Community College starting in October. White, who has worked as the manager of Flushing Shirt Company in Grantsville for the past year, will be teaching the first of three classes designed for those who are currently starting or considering starting small businesses. He said he hopes to "demonstrate his philosophy that companies such as Flushing need to become involved in the community and make positive contributions that will benefit local schools and Garrett County." In addition to having over 25 years of management experience, White started and operated his own small business for six years. This new series of small business classes has been designed to enable the participants to progress from examining general small business issues to preparing a working business plan. Other classes in the series will be taught by Ann White and Sandy Major, both of whom will also provide free counseling through the Small Business Development Center to enable participants to complete their business plans. For more information about small business classes being offered this fall, persons may call Ms. Major at 301-387-6666, Ext. 180.

Local Markets To Participate In Food Festival

American Heart's Food Festival, sponsored by the American Heart Association is a week-long program involving grocery stores and senior centers. The program is designed to teach consumers how to shop for and prepare heart-healthy food. This year, Food Festival week is Saturday, September 19, through Friday, September 25.

Through the week, volunteers will be stationed at Food Festival activity centers in grocery stores and senior centers throughout the county. They'll be handing out "Turn Down Your Fat-O-Stat" pledge forms which give shoppers tips for lowering the amount of fat in their diets.

In return for taking the pledge, consumers receive the "Healthy Heart Food Chart," which lists nutritional information, such as calories and fat content in popular foods.

The following Garrett County supermarkets will participate in American Heart's Food Festival: Mtn. Lake Park IGA, Oakland Super Valu, Accident IGA, S&S Market, Browning's Foodland, and the Mt. Fresh Tailgate Market, Oakland.

For more information about American Heart's Food Festival or diet and nutrition, persons may call the American Heart Association-Western Maryland Division at (301) 334-5865.

Arthritis Forum Held At GCMH

Garrett County Memorial Hospital hosted an educational forum sponsored by the Arthritis Foundation on September 2. The 21 participants viewed a video presentation on osteoarthritis. Following the presentation, a question and answer session was held with Dr. Brad Cooper, staff physician at the Deep Creek Medical Center.

According to the book, Learning To Live With Osteoarthritis, between 30 and 40 million Americans are afflicted with osteoarthritis. This common disease, which is characterized by a progressives deterioration of the cartilage in certain joints, has been prevalent since prehistoric times. Most people, by the time they reach their 60's or 70's, will probably have some degree of osteoarthritis, but it is not exclusively a disease of older people. Many individuals in their 30's and 40's are affected as well.

The condition occurs in both sexes and may, in rare instances, be hereditary. Sometimes it comes on as the result of an injury, but again, this isn't always the case. Bone or joint injuries may precipitate the disease in some cases, but for most individuals there is simply no obvious or apparent cause.

Research has added a great deal of knowledge about osteoarthritis, but the underlying cause remains unknown. Because it is so common among older people it has mistakenly been called the 'wear and tear' disease, but osteoarthritis is not the result of normal wear and tear. In fact, the risk of developing, osteoarthritis does not correlate directly with physical activity. Excess weight, has proven to be a significant risk factor, however.

Today, the symptoms of osteoarthritis can be controlled in most cases, even though much is still unknown about the disease. Research into causes, medications, therapy, and surgery continues and progress is being made on all fronts.

For additional information on osteoarthritis and other related disorders, persons may contact the Arthritis Foundation at (301) 561-8090. The next local educational forum is scheduled for November. Details on time, location, and topic will be announced in the near future.

Rams, Huskies Winners In Cross Country Opener

The Southern High School boys' team and the Northern High School girls' team were winners in Friday afternoon's season opening cross country meet for both schools.

Southern hosted the Huskies and Bishop Walsh in the tri-meet at Broadford Park. Originally scheduled for Thursday, severe thunder storms and heavy rains forced a postponement.

The Southern boys edged the Northern boys, 27-28, while the Spartan boys finished with 84 points. The Northern girls likewise nipped the Southern girls, 28-30, while the BW girls finished with an incomplete score.

Southern's Bryan Clickener (19:18) and Jenny Reams (24:42) finished first in their respective races, but because of muddy conditions both recorded times slower than their previous best.

Northern's Richard Bowser, Dan Seaman, and Noah Rawe placed second, third, and fourth, respectively, while Matt Newcomb of Southern finished fifth in the boys' competition.

Finishing second in the girls' race was Tanya Mehanna of Bishop Walsh, followed by Northern's Susannah Matthews and Southern's Shannon Dabney and Andrea Devens.

The Southern girls captured their first win of the campaign Monday evening in a quadrangular meet with Frankfort, University, and Preston County high schools, also held at Broadford Park. The Rams actually tied for first place with Frankfort (28-28), but then won the tie-breaker. University's and Preston's scores were both incomplete.

Meanwhile, in the boys' race, the Rams placed second with 35 points behind Frankfort with 30 and in front of Preston with 58.

University's Joanna Hawkins shattered Jenny Reams's course record in winning the girls' race with a time of 22:54. The previous record was 23:24, set by Reams last year.

Krista Hawley of Frankfort placed second in 23:32, followed by Reams, Missy Hawkins of Preston, and Dabney of Southern.

The tie-breaking procedure used was the relative finish of the number six runners on each of the tying teams. Because Tammy Butt, Southern's sixth place finisher, finished just ahead of Sarah Schaller, the sixth finisher for Frankfort.

Brett Ridgel of Frankfort led the field of 29 runners in the boys' competition with a finish of 18:58. Southern's Clickener was second, followed by teammate Matt Newcomb, and Frankfort's Matt Lott and Garth Wagoner, who tied.

The Rams will travel to Bishop Walsh today and then host Keyser and University at Broadford Park next Monday. Spectators are invited and encouraged to attend the home meets.

RAM HARRIERS' SEASON UNDERWAY - The 1992 cross country season for the Southern High Rams opened Friday afternoon with a tri-meet against Northern and Bishop Walsh. Northern Boys Top Sentinels In Cross Country

The Northern High School boys' cross country team defeated the visiting Fort Hill boys' team yesterday afternoon, 38-44, while the Northern girls were edged by a single point by the Sentinels girls, 27-28.

The boys' teams were tied at 27 after the first five finishers, but Northern's sixth-place finisher, Aaron Hordubay, finished higher than Fort Hill's sixth place runner, so the Huskies were awarded the win.

Northern's Rich Bowser and Dan Seaman finished first and second in the three-mile event, with Bowser recording a time of 16:35 and Seaman just four seconds behind. Richard Ricker of Fort Hill was third at 16:55.

In the girls' competition, Northern's Bobbi Dolan set a new course record with a time of 20:12. Fort Hill's Sarah Manger was second at 20:48 and Sentinel Kim Pratt placed third at 20:58.

The Northern boys are now 2-1 on the season and the girls are 1-1. They will compete again next Wednesday in a 4:30 p.m. meet at Allegany Community College with Allegany, Jefferson, and Hedgesville.

Brandon Grady broke loose for a 25-yard scoring run in the third period and Ryan Biery booted the extra point, and Robert Murray added an insurance six-pointer on a 21-yard run in the fourth period.

Spearheading the Frankfort defense were Matt Cox and Travis Parsons.

The Rams will entertain Tucker County this evening, with kickoff set for 7 p.m.

Tipped Pass Results In Ram Win Over Falcons

Many of the Southern High School fans were leaving the stands and headed toward the parking lot in the final minutes of Friday night's home game against Frankfort, assuming that the Rams were about to record their second loss in as many starts this season. The Rams trailed by one point and the Falcons had possession of the ball with less than a minute remaining.

However, the members of the Southern defensive unit gave their offensive counterparts one more opportunity to somehow come up with a game-winning play, and that's exactly what they did with 40 seconds left on the clock.

It was at the 40-second mark that the Rams took possession of the ball by receiving a punt on their own 46-yard line. Senior quarterback C.J. Getson went back on the next play and fired a pass over the middle. The ball was tipped by Frankfort senior linebacker Brad Sisk and dropped into the hands of Southern's Mark Elliott, who raced to the end zone to give the Rams one of their most exciting wins in their history.

The result was somewhat reminiscent of last season's Southern-Frankfort encounter, a rain-delayed contest that was won by the Rams in overtime after an outstanding play by the Southern offense tied the score in the final moments of regulation play.

The Ram offense, which sputtered terribly the week before against Preston County, finally got on track, as senior tailback Jeremy Bosley recorded 132 yards on 14 carries.

Bosley took the opening kickoff 70 yards to the Frankfort 10, but the Falcon defense held the Rams and took over on downs.

Bosley opened the scoring when he broke loose for a 65-yard scoring run at the 1:12 mark of the first quarter. The two-point conversion attempt failed and the Rams led 6-0.

A 38-yard punt return by Josh Woods in the second quarter gave the Rams another golden opportunity to record some points, but again the Falcon defense held.

Then Frankfort tied the score with a long drive in the second quarter, featuring a 17-yard pass from senior quarterback J.C. McDonald to Jason Renotas that put the ball on the Rams' five. McDonald carried the ball to paydirt on the next play. Chad Silber attempted to give the Falcons a one-point with his conversion kick, but Woods blocked the attempt.

Southern responded with six more points on the ensuing drive, marching 64 yards and scoring at the 2:57 mark on a one-yard dive by Getson. Again the attempt to add two points failed and Southern led 12-6 at halftime.

Frankfort took its only lead of the game by taking the second half kickoff on their 30 and traveling 70 yards, with McDonald picking up most of the yardage himself. McDonald finished with 99 yards rushing. Silber scored the touchdown on a two-yard run with 8:33 remaining in the third quarter and then booted the go-ahead conversion point.

The Rams then moved the ball successfully and consumed nearly eight minutes on the clock, but were kept out of the end zone again by the stingy Frankfort defense.

The Falcons seemed to have the game in the bag when Getson's tipped pass suddenly turned into a 54-yard winning touchdown.

Sisk was right behind McDonald in yardage production for the Falcons, as he finished with 94 yards on 18 carries.

Named the Offensive Lineman of the Week for the Rams was J.R. Reams, a 5-11, 162-pound junior guard, who scored the highest on the coaches' rating system. Junior tackle Galen Glotfelty (5-10, 217) was named Defensive Lineman of the Week, while junior Josh Woods (5-8, 155) was named Special Teams Player of the Week for his 38-yard punt return and his block of the extra point attempt.

"Galen did an excellent job in helping to limit the inside running ability of a power-oriented team," Southern Coach Fred Gregg said.

The Rams recorded a total of 342 yards, with 136 of that through the air, while the Falcons finished with 259 yards. Getson completed 10 of 21 passes on the evening with one interception.

"We were, of course, thrilled to get the win, but something else that really pleased us was that the improvement we saw in the second half of last week's game against Preston continued through the Frankfort game," stated Gregg. "We had marked improvement in our offensive line play, in overall defense, and on our special teams. Whenever you can accomplish that it puts you in a real good position to win the game."

Gregg commented on the strong running performance by Bosley and said he was pleased with Getson's passing, calling it "very adequate and successful when it had to be."

When asked if he was frustrated about the several times the Rams came close to scoring but came away empty, the second-year head coach responded, "Yes, it was frustrating; but it was also a confidence builder for us because we saw that we could move the ball against them. It also caused them to have poor field position on several occasions."

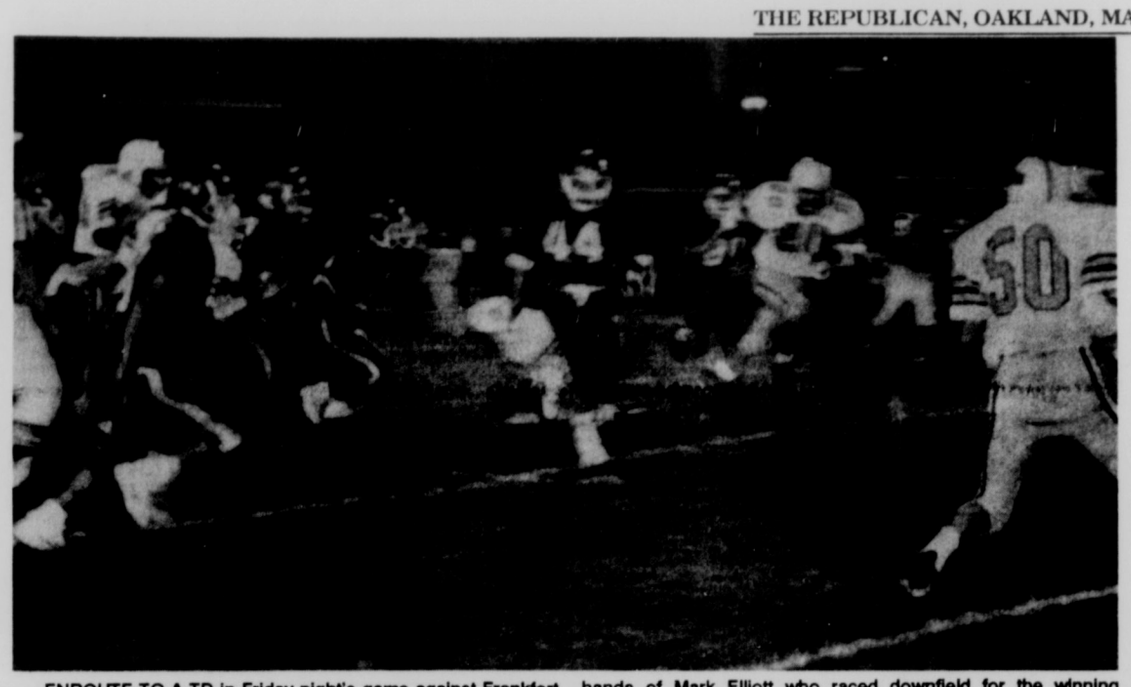
The Rams will have to play extremely well in every phase of the game this week if they hope to record their second win, as they must host one of the strongest Musselman teams ever.

The senior-dominated Applemen, who have yet to be scored upon this year, will come to Oakland with a 3-0 record. Their speedy offense has amassed a total of 93 points in those three games, with one of their wins being over a strong Martinsburg team just last week.

"Their team has been described by their own coaches as 'faster than usual,'" Gregg said, "which is really saying something for Musselman because their usual teams are always fast."

Musselman's speed and power are led by senior fullback and linebacker Andy Horner (6-0, 215), whom Gregg describes as "an excellent player," senior quarterback and free safety Roger Butts (5-10, 151), and senior halfback Chris Triggs (5-10, 161). They are primarily a running team, but can pass if and when it is necessary.

When asked what it will take to defeat the Applemen, Gregg said, "We will stick with the same game plan and keep doing what we do best. We are going to have to tackle well and contain their speed, and we plan to really mix it up on offense. We'll run inside, outside, pass...do the unexpected to try to keep them off balance."



The fact that they are coming in with a perfect defensive record does not seem to concern Gregg. "Certainly their defense will try to keep their string of shutouts going, but it also gives us something to shoot for. If we can score on them early, it will really be a confidence booster for us and it just might deflate them a little bit," he said.

Gregg praised the Applemen's head coach, Denny Price, whose teams have captured a number of state titles. "They are always one of the best coached teams we face," he said. "Most of our games with Musselman have been real exciting and a great challenge for both teams. Hopefully we can rise to the challenge this week."

The kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

ENROUTE TO A TD in Friday night's game against Frankfort is Southern High School running back Jererrmy Bosley. The Rams won the contest in the final 40 seconds of action when C.J. Getson's pass was tipped by a Falcon defender and fell into the hands of Mark Elliott who raced downfield for the winning touchdown. Jets Remain Unbeaten, Top Vikings, 13-0

The Oakland Jets of the Mt. Top Youth Football League remained unbeaten this week as they downed the Parsons Vikings, 13-0, at Northern High School. The win was the second in as many games for the Jets who are idle this week.

After stopping the Vikings on their first possession, the Jets marched the ball down the field and scored on their first possession of the game. The 11-play drive was capped by a 37-yard touchdown run by tailback Howie Crosco. The PAT attempt failed.

The Jets' next drive into Viking territory was marred by penalties and they were forced to punt. The Jets never got the punt off and the Vikings took over the ball inside the Jet territory, but the Oakland defense held again.

The Jets received the ball to start the second half and promptly drove 65 yards in only six plays to add to their lead. The touchdown came on a 14-yard scamper by Crosco. Crosco also ran for the one-point conversion to conclude the scoring.

The rest of the game was a defensive struggle in which both teams had little offensive output.

Huskies Crush Panthers To Record Second Win

The Northern Huskies upped their season record to 2-0 with ease Friday night at Hancock by ripping the Panthers, 41-0, in a game in which every member of the Husky squad participated.

The Northern defense, which has given up just six points in two games, limited the Panthers to 23 yards rushing on 28 carries and 36 yards through the air on four completions. Meanwhile, the Northern offense rolled up 220 yards of offense in a balanced effort of 170 on the ground and 50 via passing. Seven different Huskies recorded points for their team.

Junior running back Alan Sebold opened the scoring on a four-yard run in the first quarter, with John Hinebaugh booting the extra point.

Quarterback Rob Speicher connected with Chris Wachter on a 10-yard touchdown pass late in the same period to give the Huskies a 13-0 advantage.

Next it was Chris Rowe's turn to score, and he did so on a three-yard run in the second quarter. Hinebaugh's kick made it 20-0.

Rounding out the first half scoring were Bradley Williams, who hauled in a 25-yard touchdown pass from Speicher, and Hinebaugh who kicked his third conversion to give the Huskies a commanding 27-0 lead at intermission.

Coach Tom Vent and his staff played second and third string players the entire second half. Paul Edwards accounted for the first points of that half when he raced into the end zone from seven yards out. Hinebaugh's kick made the score 34-0.

Junior running back Brett Newman capped the Huskies' final drive with a 28-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter. Hinebaugh booted his fifth extra point of the evening.

Leading the Huskies' defensive charge were Rowe, who had a team-high 11 tackles, Billy Younkin, who was credited with 10, and Tim Hinebaugh. Sebold recovered a fumble.

The Panthers' deepest offensive penetration in the game was to the Huskies' 25-yard line.

"We were really pleased that everyone of our kids had an opportunity to play," Vent said. "Hancock is trying to turn their program around and I think they are beginning to do that, but it takes time. They have a new coaching staff and about 40 kids on the team this year, so things should be looking up for them in the next few years."

While Vent praised his defensive unit's efforts, he noted some concern about his offense.

"Even though we scored 41 points, our offense is still kind of sputtering, and that really has me concerned," he said, "especially going into this week's game against Beall."

Named Offensive Player of the Week was junior quarterback Rob Speicher, who tossed for two touchdowns and held for all of the extra points. This is Speicher's first year of football and second start as the Husky quarterback.

Chris Rowe, who led his team in tackles, was named the Defensive Player of the Week, while place-kicker Brad Hoover was selected Special Teams Player of the Week.

Chris Bittner was named recipient of the team's "Hammer Award," given by the coaching staff for the best hit of the game.

Most Husky fans believe that the first real test of the season for their team will be this Friday night when they host Beall. The Mountaineers are 1-1 on the season, having opened with a win over Hampshire and then falling last week to powerful Patterson, a team that came into the season ranked sixth in the state by the Baltimore Sun's preseason poll after recording an 8-1 mark last year.

"This will be a real test for our football team," Vent said. "We have only beaten Beall twice in the history of our school and this is certainly one of the better Beall teams in recent years."

One of those two Husky wins was last year on the Mountaineers' field.

Beall's most outstanding athlete is most likely Coach Bill Patterson's son, Adam, a 6-2, 210-pound junior fullback and linebacker who was named a first-team All-Area player last year. Patterson, one of seven returning offensive starters, captured the top defensive award at the University of Miami minicamp this summer by recording 70 solo tackles and 39 assists. On offense he rushed for 550 yards for a 5.2 average and scored 68 points.

Another team leader is junior tailback Todd Vogtman (5-7, 140), while the line is anchored by senior center Aaron Bittner (5-11, 213) and senior guard/nose guard Chris Vinci (6-1, 204).

Beall is a power oriented team with a very big line," Vent said. "We've had very good play from our defense so far this year, but this will be our toughest test so far.

"The Beall game has really become a big rivalry in recent years, at least for us," he continued. "I think they feel we are not on their level, and I guess when you look at the record it's understandable why they may believe that. But we've had some great practices this week and we'll be ready."

Vent said his team is generally healthy, as junior running back Larry Wakefield will be back in the lineup. Sebold is nursing a sore ankle, but will most likely play.

The kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m. "Hopefully all our fans will be there to support us," Vent said, noting that the gate will open at 6:15.

Huskies, Wildcats Fail To Score In Jayvee Contest

The junior varsity Northern Huskies and Westmar Wildcats met on the Northern gridiron last Thursday evening in both teams' season opener and battled to a scoreless tie.

The Wildcats came closest to putting points on the board by recording a first down and goal on the Huskies' one-yard line in the second quarter, but Steve Savage stripped the ball from the Westmar carrier to give the Huskies possession.

Jeremy Brenneman was the leading tackler for the Huskies and Andy Layman recorded a 23-yard interception return. Brian Heslop led the Northern offensive rushing effort by picking up 88 yards.

The Huskies will go for their first win this evening at home against Fort Hill, with kickoff set for 7 p.m.

Steelers Rip Rams, 49-0, In Youth League

The Northern Steelers rebounded from a tough 6-0 overtime loss to the Oakland Jets last week in Mountaintop Youth Football League action by crushing the visiting Thomas-Davis Rams, 49-0.

Zack Leverenz paced the Steeler offense by recording 98 yards on just 12 carries and scoring three touchdowns. His first came in the first quarter on a 21-yard carry. Cody Brenneman ran for the extra point.

Leverenz scored twice in the second period, on runs of 10 and 31 yards, and Brenneman kicked both conversions (which are two points in youth league) to give the Steelers a 23-0 halftime lead.

E.J. Scofield ran for a 21-yard touchdown early in the third quarter and Zack Rawe followed with a 52-yard scoring run. Matt Fritz passed to Chris Herman for the extra point to put the Steelers up 36-0 by the end of the third period.

A 30-yard run by T.J. Snelling and a 25-yard ramble by Adam Bach, with Fritz running for one more extra point, concluded the scoring.

Brenneman was also among the defensive leaders, as he grabbed an interception and had a fumble recovery.

Coach Ben Sisler played his second team most of the third quarter and all of the fourth quarter.

The win evened the Steelers' record at 1-1, while the Rams dropped to 0-2. The Oakland Jets are 2-0 and the Oakland Raiders and Parsons Vikings are each 1-0.

The Steelers will travel to Oakland Sunday to meet the Raiders in a 1:30 p.m. game.

Local Paintball Team Fares Well In National Open

Venom, the local competition paintball team, competed in its first national tournament August 6 and 7 in Pittsburgh. There were 68 teams that came to compete in the five-man division of the National Amateur Open. These teams came from all over the United States, as well as from Canada and Puerto Rico.

This was the biggest five-main paintball competition in the sport's history. In the preliminary round teams were put into 17 different divisions, with four teams in each division. Each division was played in a round-robin format with the highest overall points in all divisions deciding whether a team moved on toward the finals.

Games were a center flag format, sometimes called football or blisterball, where the object was to capture the flag in the center of the field and hang it in the opposing team's flag station. Games had a 15-minute time limit with 10 points for each elimination, 10 points for first flag possession, 50 points for a successful hang in the opposing station, and 20 points for a tie where neither team hangs the flag. The total possible score of any one game could not be over 100 points.

Venom team members began the day by maxing all three of their first games for a perfect score of 300. Then the divisions were re-divided and each team had to play three more games in a new division. After the second divisional play period was over, Venom had received 250 points out of a possible 300 points to finish the day with a total of 550 points out of 600 possible points.

During the second day, Venom was re-ranked as third out of the 68 participating teams as they went into the quarter final round. The field was now down to 16 teams remaining in four divisions. Venom did not fare well against a team from Boston called "The Plague" in their first game, losing it 100-20.

The next game Venom has the flag in possession and the field down to a one-on-one battle, narrowly losing 100-50. The final game Venom cleaned out the opposition, but failed to hang the flag as time ran out, but won the game with a 70-40 score. This put Venom into 10th place, missing the semi-finals by only 12 points.

Prizes were awarded up to 10th place and Venom took home a case of paintballs and five medallions.

Referees and judges from a few pro teams across the nation patrolled the field very aggressively to insure that no unfair play took place and that the event kept moving smoothly.

Venom has one more invitational tournament on its schedule this year in November in Virginia and they will begin working on a schedule for next year in the near future. The team is seeking individuals or local businesses who may be interested in sponsoring them at any of the events in which they plan to compete during the coming year. Those interested in becoming a sponsor for the team or becoming a team member are asked to contact Mike Frey at 334-6151.

"Soccer: The World's Greatest Sport"

Editor's note: Realizing that soccer has recently come to the youth of Garrett County, and that interest continues to grow, we felt it appropriate to introduce an article that might help the novice spectator watch a game in an informed manner. As such, we decided to call upon Dave Spirk to write a brief article which we will refer to as "How to Watch a Soccer Game." He has written for the Stephenville Gazette, the Arkansas Gazette, and the Conway (AR) Log Cabin Democrat on the topic for the past six years and has recently come to the area with Bausch & Lomb.

Soccer is played by more people worldwide than any other competitive physical sport. The largest TV audiences in the world have constantly been gauged as watching the World Cup playoffs every four years, and in 1994, the World Cup comes to the U.S. for the first time in its 60-year history. The reason so many people play and watch the game is twofold. First, it is very inexpensive to outfit and play, and second, there are only 17 laws of the game and not all of those even pertain to how the game is played. Let's start with a brief overview of them.

Law 1, 2, and 3 define the Field of Play, the Ball, and Number of Players. The rule of thumb is: little kids, small field, small goals, small ball, and small teams. High school ages and beyond plays on a big field, uses big goals, a bigger ball, and full-size teams of 11 players (one goalie and 10 field players). The goalkeeper is the only one who is allowed to use his/her hands.

Law 4 - Equipment consists of shoes (usually cleats) that are deemed safe by the referee. Football and baseball cleats are not allowed. Shin Guards are MANDATORY protective equipment. Team uniforms must match except for the goalie who must dress differently from anyone else.

Law 5, 6, and 7 define the field and line referees' responsibilities as well as the length of game. (Little kids-short games: adult-longer games.

Law 8 _ The ball must be kicked forward on a kickoff at the beginning of the game or after a goal is scored. If it is restarted after a foul it may be kicked in any direction. The ball must be played by another player before it can be touched again by the person who started the kick.

Law 9 - The ENTIRE ball must be over the boundary lines before it is out of play.

Law 10 - A goal can only be scored when the whole ball crosses the goal line and into the net area (unlike American football where it only has to break the plane of the line).

Law 11 - This defines an Offside penalty. We can take an entire article to talk about this because is causes more controversy than any other regulation in the game. Simply stated, it says that any player who does not have possession of the ball must have at least two defenders between himself and the goal line. It is not a penalty just to be in this position unless there is a pass to the player or he interferes with the play as a result of being in the offside position.

Law 12 - This Law defines fouls and misconduct that sometimes occur. There is to be no pushing, holding, striking, touching the ball with the hands (except for the goalie in his area). A player is not allowed to kick, trip, or jump toward another player. A player is not allowed to charge another from behind, nor may he/she charge unfairly. (Any contact that is shoulder to shoulder is considered a legal charge and IS allowed). Players may not dissent with the calls of the referee, conduct themselves in an ungentlemanly or unladylike manner, persist in fouling others even if it is unintentional, or enter the field of play without the permission of the referee. The referee will decide what types of free kick will be awarded to the offended. For more serious fouls, he may give the person who commits the foul a yellow card (caution-two of these and you're out of the game) or a red card which means an immediate ejection. When a person is ejected, the team is not allowed to substitute for him/her; they must play short-handed the remainder of the game.

Law 13 - When there are fouls or misconduct, a free kick is awarded. The referee will tell the players whether it will be a direct kick which can be shot straight at the goal, or an indirect kick which must be touched by any two players before it can go into the goal.

Law 14 - If a foul is committed in the large boxed area in front of the goal, a penalty kick is awarded. This allows only a shooter and the goalie to be involved in a shot at the goal. All other players must be at least 10 yards away.

Law 15 - When a ball goes out of play, it must be restarted with a throw-in. This must be thrown with the player facing the field, both feet on the ground, and two hands over the head so the ball doesn't spin excessively.

Law 16 - When ball is last touched by the offensive team and it goes over the goal line, but not into the net for a score, then the defending team gets to kick it back into play. The ball may be placed anywhere in the small boxed area in front of the goal.

Law 17 - When the ball is last touched by a defensive player and it goes over the goal line, but not into the net for a score, then the offensive team gets to kick it back into play from the corner of the field nearest to where it went out.

That is all there is to it! If you want to learn to apply the abbreviated rules mentioned above, I strongly encourage you to come to the Bausch & Lomb field at Southern Middle School this coming Sunday. The Deep Creek adult team, sponsored by A&A Realty, will be playing Frostburg. They are a good team with lots of experience and a 2-0 record this season. You can watch some of the laws in action and begin to understand more fully what is going on. I guarantee you it will be a worthwhile experience. Game time is set for 1 p.m.

Next week, we will focus on the positions of players and their assignments.

Adult Soccer Team Crushes Acts II, 5-0

In senior division play of the Mountaintop Soccer Association, the Deep Creek Soccer Club, sponsored by A&A Realty, pounded Acts II of Frostburg, 5-0, Sunday afternoon at Southern Middle School to remain unbeaten in the young season.

An inside pass from center forward Neil Beggy to left wing Steve Prosser set up the first goal, as Prosser nailed a head shot into the right corner of the net.

Mike Seibert, playing right wing, placed a center pass to Beggy at about the 35-minute mark and Beggy tapped it past the unsuspecting Acts II goalkeeper to make it 2-0 at halftime.

The second half opened quickly for the Deep Creek team, as Nick Heil lofted a corner kick over all defenders and into the goal at the corner post with just one minute expired.

Some 30 minutes later, Heil lofted a pass behind the defense and Mike Hoffiditz broke through the line and won the one-on-one encounter with the goalie to make it 4-0.

The final score came when right wing Eric Beisser connected with left win Raju Ahmed on a long crossing pass and Ahmed drilled the ball under the out-stretched arm of the keeper.

A&A goalie John Steele fended off a number of Acts II shots in the final period to maintain the shutout.

The 2-0 Deep Creek team will host Frostburg this Sunday at 1 p.m. on the Bausch & Lomb field at Southern Middle School. Spectators are welcome to attend, free of charge.

Jets Remain

Jet Coach Vic Compitello praised his entire defensive unit for their outstanding performance. "We had real good effort from our interior defensive line and linebackers. Our ends did a good job of turning everything inside and our secondary did a nice job of filling in the gaps. We played some people in different positions and they responded very well. That's a mark of a good football team," he said.

"Overall, we were very pleased with the effort of our young athletes."

The JV game between the Jets and Vikings was also a defensive struggle, as the game ended in a 0-0 tie. While the Jet varsity team is idle this week, the Jet JV team will play one half of a game this Sunday against the Northern Steelers on the Southern High field following the Raider-Steeler contest, which begins at 2 p.m.

COMPETITION BEGINS FOR SOUTHERN GARRETT MARCHERS - The 1992 marching season has begun for the Southern Garrett Marching Band and the members started by achieving their highest first-of-the-season score ever. The Hedgesville (W.Va.) High School band competition, "Tournament of the Stars," was held Saturday and Southern accrued 75.5 points out of 100 possible. There were no other bands in Southern's division Saturday, so the first place award was automatically given them. However, the band's guard came in second overall with eight bands competing in all, and the drum line came in third. The performing band is pictured above, with "pit" percussion members shown in the foreground. They are, left to right, Joyce Thomas, Tiffany Tepper, and Jamie Reams. Tiffany Powers is shown at left as she conducts the musicians in the competition. Powers is the band's drum major this year, along with Maria Massi. Southern's fall marching schedule is full, according to Blair Glass, percussion instructor, and the band will travel to Frostburg State University this Saturday for an afternoon contest. The marchers will compete on September 26 at Keyser (W.Va.) High School in the afternoon and at Frankfort High School in the evening. Southern Garrett band is under the direction of Richard D. Clever, assisted by Marjorie Clever. Guard instructor is Teresa Weeks.

SHS Volleyball Team Falls To BW, Fort Hill

After opening the season with a win last week, the Southern High School volleyball team dropped a pair of matches this week, losing to host Bishop Walsh on Tuesday and falling to Allegany last night, also in Cumberland.

The Rams won the first game against the BW Spartans, 15-11, lost the next two by scores of 15-9, won the third, 15-12, and dropped the deciding game, 15-7. It was the fourth win in as many starts for Bishop Walsh.

Christie Crews and Trisha Marple led the Rams' scoring with 16 points each and Sherry Niner recorded 13. Cherie Browning finished with 14 kills and Crews had seven. Six of Marple's serves were aces and Niner had five aces.

Marple recorded seven straight service points, including two aces, to lead her team in the fourth game.

Karen Potanka and Emma Tan paced the Spartans with 15 and 12 points, respectively, while Jenny Winner had 10 kills.

Last night against Allegany the Rams dropped three straight games, 16-14, 15-7, and 15-11, as the Campers ran their season mark to 3-0.

Marple and Crews led Southern's scoring effort with nine and eight points, respectively. Crews also had four kills. Gio Scalera and Kara Deneen finished with 10 points each for the Campers.

"We just didn't play well," stated Southern Coach Sue Snyder. "Our players seemed to be tired."

In junior varsity action, Southern also fell to Bishop Walsh and Allegany. The jayvee Rams won the first game against BW, 18-16, but dropped the next two, 15-3 and 16-14.

Kellie White led the Rams' scoring with 14 points, including seven aces, and Angie Elsey scored eight with six aces. Mila Arrisueno led the Spartans with 18 service points.

Against the Allegany jayvees, the Rams again won the first game, 15-13, but fell in the next two, 15-7 and 15-12.

Kelly White and Gretchen Trickett led Southern with nine and seven points, while Jennifer Knieriem and Kyler Adams recorded 11 and nine, respectively, for the Campers.

The Rams will play at Northern next Wednesday.

Coach Snyder also announced this week that the winner of the afghan, donated by Bonnie Bateman, was Jenny Wotring.

Tech Prep

Allen then explained that the Garrett County Tech Prep model embodies the four key features of Tech Prep that are briefly outlined above, but stated, "However, the model is based on a broader, more comprehensive concept than the standard definition of Tech Prep."

He continued, "A small, rural population base and limited resources make it difficult for the Garrett County Board of Education to offer a diverse range of programs. Rather than seeing Tech Prep primarily as a replacement for the general program of study, the concept is being viewed as an opportunity for restructuring the entire high school curriculum."

Under the proposed model, all high school students will be considered Tech Prep students. The distinction between college prep and career/technical students having been eliminated, and all programs of study will be grouped into "career clusters" based on the type of educational preparation involved.

In the Garrett County model, the traditional college prep program does not exist as a separate entity, but it is a pathway, or option, within each of the four career clusters that comprise the model. Likewise, each cluster also offers students the opportunity to complete a two-year associate's degree or to exit directly to the workforce upon completion of the high school program of study.

The four clusters that make up the model are: business/management, life sciences/natural resources, arts/human services, and engineering/technology. There will be a common core of applied/theoretical. The core accounts for 18 credits (or more than 60%) of the total high school program.

Allen stated that the implications of Tech Prep for the community college would be increased enrollment, better prepared incoming students, emphasis on outcomes-based curricula, emphasis on applied or contextual learning.

Further information on Tuesday's GCC board meeting will appear in next week's edition of The Republican.

Recycling Bin

Glass Recycling Guidelines

Since there is currently no machinery that automatically removes ceramics or stones from the glass or that separates glass into three colors or different glass types, that chore must be performed by the recycler responsible for collecting the glass.

Glass food and beverage containers can be easily recycled by glass container plants. Generally speaking, metal caps and lids should be removed but labels may remain. The glass should also be clean, rinsed, and dry before it is deposited in the bins.

Unacceptable materials for glass recycling include ceramic beer and wine caps, ceramic cups and plates, clay flower pots, crystal, light bulbs, mirror and window glass, heat resistant ovenware, and drinking glasses.

Rabies Case

health department.

Two rabies control measures that all persons should take are 1) have all dogs and cats inoculated against the disease, and 2) do not touch a dog or cat for at least two hours following any contact the pet has had with a possibly rabid animal.

The health department will be conducting low-cost rabies vaccination clinics during the week of September 21. (See separate story for schedule.) All pet owners are urged to check their dogs' and/or cats' vaccination records and take this opportunity to keep the vaccinations up to date, the spokesperson said.

Rabies Clinic

brought to the clinics and be adequately protected by the vaccination.

As of September 14, the Environmental Health Section of the health department has documented six positive cases of rabies in Garrett County raccoons, and one positive case involving a skunk. The health department logged 27 laboratory confirmed positive rabies cases in 1991.

The vaccination of dogs and cats is one of the most critical measures pet owners can take in protecting their families and animals from possible exposure to the deadly rabies virus, Archer stated.

GCMH Observes Nat'l Health Care Week By Recognizing Support Staff Members

In observance of National Health Care Environmental Services Week (Sept. 13-19), the Garrett County Memorial Hospital is recognizing the members of the laundry and housekeeping staff for their contribution to providing a clean, safe, and healthful environment.

"The employees of these two departments are an integral part of the success of Garrett County Memorial Hospital," said Ben Rosenthal, hospital president.

According to Tom Dunbar, director of the housekeeping and laundry department, last year alone the housekeeping staff cleaned 5,008 patient rooms, handled 1,272 cases of operating room cleaning, in addition to the everyday routine cleaning of all patient rooms and the rest of the hospital. The laundry staff processed 446,960 pounds of linen (dry weight) throughout the hospital and the Deep Creek Medical Center.

The job of the housekeeping department is to consistently provide a hospital environment that is bacteriologically clean. Members of the housekeeping staff are Rhonda Thomas, Judy Martin, Edward Rice, Hattie Shaffer, Larry Thomas, Barbara George, Linda Moon, Douglas Beavers, Sylvia Donley, Barbara Steringer, Jim Walker, Alberta Tasker, Roger Wilt, Amy Railey, and Cathy Fike.

The laundry department employees collect linen from and distribute it to all areas of the hospital where it is needed and used. The employees of the laundry staff are Mary Jo Savage, Brenda Gank, Alice Dunithan, Mary Brown, and Beulah Wegman.

The members of the housekeeping and laundry staffs receive training in the proper use of chemicals, equipment, isolation procedures using universal precautions, and fire and disaster procedures.

Man Sentenced

case" against Arnold.

Arnold had been charged with the theft by a Garrett County Sheriff's deputy who said he observed Arnold driving a 1990 red Ford Mustang that had been reported stolen earlier in the day by Susan M. Goad.

Teresa J. Moreland, 39, Oakland, was found not guilty of one count of battery and one count of animal cruelty.

She had been charged with those crimes by Sandra Moreland who stated that Teresa Moreland threw rocks at her dog and that the rocks hit her and her dog. She said they also cursed at each other.

Kevin L. Orner, 20, Grantsville, was granted probation before judgment on two counts of battery. The fines were waived and he was placed on six months of unsupervised probation.

Charges against him had been brought against him by Lorri Donahue and Michele L. Paul who stated that Orner had shoved them and had knocked Paul down onto some blacktop, leaving bruises on her arms and scratches on her back.

Thelma M. Rohrig, 24, McHenry, was found guilty of violation of probation. The judge withheld sanctions and extended her probation to October 8. She had initially been charged on numerous bad check charges and reportedly failed to make them good as earlier ordered by the court.

Richard Gregory, 27, Oakland, was found guilty of violation of probation and his original sentence was reimposed. While his jail term was initially suspended, he will now serve five days of that 90-day jail term and serve one year of supervised probation.

Gregory was arrested for violation of probation because he reportedly failed to complete the Massie Unit Program ordered by the court.

Gregory had initially been found guilty of battery on Scott Moore on April 5.

Thayer Sentences

guilty to the charges in a July hearing. He was arrested following a task force sting operation incident in September 1991.

Kenneth R. Warnick, 44, Grantsville, was sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail on the charge of fourth degree sex offense. Thayer suspended the sentence and ordered the defendant to be on one year of supervised probation. The defendant is to have no further contact with the victim.

Warnick apparently molested a 17-year-old female at her residence while he was in custody of her. The incident occurred in April.

Thayer declared a mistrial last week in the case of Homer C. Shaffer Jr., 42, Grantsville. The defendant, who was charged with child abuse, two counts of third degree sex offense, and assault and battery, was tried by a jury. The charges stem from a 1985 incident that was apparently recently reported in which Shaffer allegedly molested an 8-year-old female. The defendant was 33 at the time.

The report indicates that the defendant may have had a silver handgun at the time. The victim was reportedly frightened by the weapon, but was not threatened with it.

The count of child abuse was nolle prosequi by order of the state's attorney. The defendant's attorney made a motion of acquittal to the remaining counts, but the motion was denied and the case was submitted to the jury. The jury could not reach a decision, according to the court document, and a mistrial was declared.

A court spokesperson explained that the state's attorney has the prerogative to re-charge the defendant if he so wishes.

An appeal case ended in nolle prosequi last week, according to the court record. Christopher M. Tasker, 20, Deer Park, had been found guilty in Garrett County District Court of two counts of battery against Rebecca Baker and Frederick Polce Jr. on October 10, 1991. Tasker appealed the case and a circuit court jury again found him guilty on both charges.

Defense lawyer Richard F. Green made a motion for a new trial because of inconsistent evidence which led to the guilty verdicts. Green explained that Tasker had been accused of battering Ms. Baker at almost the exact same time as he battered Polce, according to the varying testimonies of witnesses. The lawyer asserted that it was not possible for the two assaults to occur simultaneously. Sherbin disagreed, stating that in his opinion, the events all happened so quickly that it was difficult for the witnesses to recall the timing of the incident exactly.

Thayer granted the motion for a new trial, however, and set the guilty verdict aside. Sherbin reportedly declared last Thursday that he will not prosecute this case any further (nolle prosequi).

Beckman Couple United In July 25 Double-Ring Candlelight Ceremony

Our Father's House (the log church in Altamont) was the setting for the July 25 candlelight ceremony of Lil and Steve Beckman. The couple are former husband and wife.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Gail Hixon.

Greg Brenneman, friend of the bride, was the guitarist, and the musical selections included "A Miracle," "Author of Love," "One Day at a Time," and "This is the Day."

The father of the bride is the late Raymond Unger, and the mother is Hattie Maxine Unger, Mtn. Lake Park. The groom is the son of the late Joseph Beckman and the late Flossie Mae (Sweitzer) Beckman.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Walter Unger, the bride was attired in a candlelight gown of sheer organza trimmed with Cluny lace. The bodice was embellished with lace to create a pinafore effect. Embroidered English net and pearls accented the bodice, and lace trimmed the full Bishop sleeves and formed the cuffs. The skirt was also styled in a pinafore effect with a deep ruffle hemline sweeping to a chapel train.

The bride's hair was styled in an aligned pearl clip with baby peach and ivory sweetheart roses. She wore sapphire earrings, a gift from the groom, and carried a heart-shaped bouquet of silk sweetheart peach roses, Williamsburg blue baby roses, white stephanotis, variegated spider plant, and baby's breath. Flowers were provided by Green Acres.

Mrs. Carolyn Rishell, sister of the groom, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaid was the couple' daughter, Stephanie Beckman. The attendants wore peach gowns with corsage matching the bride's corsage.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Swanton Community Building.

The six-tier, ivory, heart-shaped cake, baked by Alice and Sherri Wilt, was decorated with two-toned, creamy peach roses with a garland. The bottom tier was surrounded by silk ivy. The cake was served by the bride's best friend, Mrs. Mary Shreve, Swanton, and Connie Pritts, niece of the groom.

The bride chose an ivory designer dress as going-away attire.

Photography was provided by friends of the bride, Diana Frederick, Mtn. Lake Park, and Marvin Beckman, Swanton. Videotaping was provided by Beck Holtschneider, friend of the bride.

Niece of the groom, Amy Rishell, registered the guests and the gifts.

Relatives and friends from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Baltimore attended the event.

The couple will honeymoon at the Grand Canyon in June 1993, and will reside in Crellin.

The bride is employed at Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the Garrett County Department of Social Services, and the groom is employed by Tomar Trucking Company, Keyser, W.Va.

Lee-Eddy Nuptials Recited In July Double-Ring Ceremony In Vermont

Leigh Ann Nelson Lee and Michael Alan Eddy were united in marriage on July 11, 1992. The double-ring ceremony took place at St. John the Evangelist Church in Northfield, Vt., with the Rev. John Couture officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore R. Nelson Jr., Northfield, Vt., and Mrs. Sandra Nelson, Riverside, R.I. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Eddy, Oakland.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father.

Kathy Norkeveck, friend of the bride, was matron of honor and the groom's father served as his son's best man. Jessica Lee, daughter of the bride, was flower girl. Austin and Tyler Wakefield, Myrtle Beach, S.C., nephews of the groom, were ringbearers.

The bride and groom were transported by limousine to their reception which was held at the Steak House Restaurant in Berlin, Vt. The restaurant was decorated in the bride's colors of lavender, white and peach.

The bride is a 1983 graduate of Spaulding High School, Barre, Vt., and attended Johnson State College. She is currently serving as a sergeant in the U.S. Marine Corps.

The groom is a 1978 graduate of Southern High School in Oakland and attended Garrett Community College. He is also presently serving as a sergeant in the U.S. Marine Corps.

Out of town guests at the wedding traveled from Rhode Island, Washington, D.C., Maryland, South Carolina, and Texas.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

AURORA SCHOOL NEWS

According to recently released CTBS Scores, the Aurora 6th and 9th grade students scored well above both state and national norms in most areas tested.

The Aurora 6th grade excelled above all other county schools in the areas of reading, spelling, language, references, science, and social studies. Aurora 9th grade excelled county-wide in math, reference, science, and social studies. The Aurora 3rd grade scored well in areas of language, reference, and science.

The 1992 Governor's Summer Institute held July 27-30 at West Virginia University was attended by Aurora teachers Kirst Hayes and Delores Harsh. The theme of the conference was "West Virginia Teachers as Leaders of Change" and the attendees were teachers in grades 2, 3, and 4.

These instructors had the opportunity to select from a possible 20 sessions, many of which involved computers, new approaches to teaching mathematics, using more manipulatives, teaching using a whole language approach, using more writing in the classroom and new science programs. They were also addressed by Governor Caperton, Henry and Mary Marockie and other speakers throughout the session.

The Aurora staff would like for parents to visit their display at the Buckwheat Festival and express their appreciation to Fairfax Stone for the donation of 21 tons of gravel with which some of the driveway could be repaired. They also noted that there is a possibility of a school newspaper being published as a portion of the training in art by instructor Valerie Carlson.

The Aurora PTO organized Tuesday night following the open house and officers who will be serving are: president, Sheila Strawser; co-vice president, Tracy Bachtel and Mary Rembold; secretary, Mary Stemple; and treasurer, Pam Hinton. Committees were selected and yearly activities planned.

Activities that Integrate Math and Science (AIMS) was offered this summer at Fairmont State College and attending from Aurora were Linda Martin and Sandy Callahan. They said they found the classes "very productive," offering hands-on activities to make learning math and science fun, combining them in everyday situations. Both teachers have expressed their appreciation for the courses and say they are anxious to attend an AIMS II session in the future.

Providing help for parents lost in today's math is the idea behind a refresher course being offered to parents by Tom Wotring. At present there are 17 parents enrolled, but the class is open to those who would wish to take a refresher course in algebra. They meet each Thursday at 7 p.m. at the school and classes will continue as long as there is interest.

Aurora Junior High girls were victorious in a game played with Bruceton on Monday night, September 14.

BALL BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Ball of Dale City, Va., announce the August 27 birth of their first child and daughter. Named Cassandra Marie, the baby weighed nine pounds, eight ounces at birth. The mother is the former Traci Snyder and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Snyder of Spotsylvania, Va. Maternal great-grandparents are Mary Whitehair and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Snyder, all Horse Shoe Run. The paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan R. Ball, reside in Pennsylvania.

Cassandra was born on the birthday of her great-grandmother, Mary Whitehair, and Mrs. Whitehair has just returned from a visit with her son and family and with her granddaughter and her family.

SUNNY SKIES, CRISP TEMPERATURES, and a large crowd was on hand to enjoy the annual Potato Festival at Mt. Grove, sponsored by the Mt. Grove Volunteer Fire Department. The event featured a wide variety of food and beverages, a firemen's battle of the barrel, a cake auction, and the crowning of various royalty. See story for details.

PERSONAL MENTION

On September 13, the annual Mick Family reunion was held at the Sand Fork Elementary School at Burnsville. Normally held earlier in the year, this year's delay was an observance of the 70th wedding anniversary of Okey and Evalena Mick, both of whom are able to continue their normal chores on their farm.

Attending the reunion and anniversary celebration from Horse Shoe Run were Paul and Karen Teets, Aaron, Kevin and Amanda.

Bob and Edna Wiles, Kevin, Kathy, Melanie and Robbie Wiles, all Lantz Ridge, vacationed for two weeks in August in western states, traveling 6,000 miles in 18 states. They visited in Oklahoma City with Kathy's great-aunt, Evelyn Jackson, continued on to New Mexico where they visited Joe and Rosella Arnett in Bernalillo, saw the Painted Desert, the petrified forest, and Grand Canyon in Arizona, Grand Teton National Forest, Yellowstone Park, the Beartooth Mountains, visited in Moccasin, Mont., with Lois and Claire Knight, visited the Little Big Horn National Monument, Mt. Rushmore, and Bear Country U.S.A. in South Dakota. Their final visit before returning home was with Vic and Wanda White in Roseville, Mich.

The annual reunion of the late John L. and Dona Henline Snyder family was held September 6 at the Aurora U.M. Memorial Building with 91 family members present.

There were 50 members of the Amboy U.M. Church on a hayride Sunday, Sept. 13, which took them through the old roads and by-roads. The youngest participant was six months old, while the eldest was 70.

Maple Spring Church members met for a covered dish dinner and pound shower for the new pastor, the Daniel Hammels, on Sunday, Sept. 13, and concluded their afternoon also with a hayride.

Brenda Hartsell of Eglon is a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital where she underwent further surgery on September 14.

Mrs. Jenny Garrett of Eglon was a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital for a few days last week.

Lorain and Mary Jane Hanline of Aurora were accompanied by Stanley and Eloise Harsh of Amboy in a Monday visit to Kent, Ohio, with their mother, Mrs. Lydia Harsh, and their sister and brother-in-law, Ray and Cleota Hoisington. They found Mrs. Harsh much improved over their last visit.

SHOOTING MATCH

The Lantz Ridge Sunshine Club will sponsor a luncheon and shooting match at the Lantz Ridge Community Building on October 3. Lunch will be served at noon and the matches will begin at 1 p.m. No target guns are allowed; only 12, 16 or 20 gauge shotguns or 22 rifles can be used.

LOOKING FOR HELP

More people are needed to help Union Ambulance with the buckwheat dinner serving at the Buckwheat Festival on Sunday, September 27. Those who can volunteer some time are asked to call Delores Stemple at 735-5787 or Cheryl Stemple at 735-6154.

There will be EMT classes beginning September 22 and continuing each Tuesday and Thursday evening from 6:30 to 9 p.m. until January. Re-certification classes will be held at Cortland Acres October 24 and 25 and November 7 and 8. Persons may call Linda Martin at 735-6481 to express interest in either of these classes.

SAUSAGE ORDERS

Mt. Grove VFD Holds Successful Potato Festival

A cool autumn-like morning steadily warmed under beautiful skies Saturday as Company 7 Mt. Grove Volunteer Fire Department hosted its 11th Annual Potato Festival.

Events of the day included the Coronation, during which Melissa Frantz of Eglon was named Queen Farina. Kingly hours went to Carroll Joe Hartsell, also of Eglon. Junior Miss Farina was Maria Harsh of Amboy; Junior King was Darrell Nelson of Horse Shoe Run. "Words Of Encouragement"

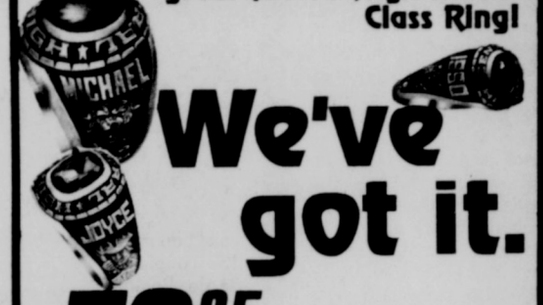
I would like to take this opportunity to share the words that made a difference in my life. "You can become or do what ever you want in life if you want it bad enough." These were the words that provided me with my goal and dream.



I quit school in the 11th grade, received my G.E.D. and wanted to go back to school for nursing. But, I felt I was not educated enough until I heard those words of encouragement.

I enrolled in Garrett Community College, transferred to Davis & Elkins, and graduated May 17th.

I want to take this time to thank my fiance for his words of encouragement, my son, family, friends and Loch Lynn Church of God for their support and prayers, Western Maryland Consortium, and Garrett Community College for preparing me for further education.

Frantz Completes Banking School

Philip D. Frantz, vice president and controller for First United National Bank & Trust, is among the members of the 1992 graduating class of the Maryland Banking School.

The Maryland Banking School is a three-year program sponsored by the Maryland Bankers Association. One week each year is spent on the campus of the University of Maryland. The curriculum covers all aspects of banking, including human resource management, economics, lending, marketing, operations, strategic planning, and asset/liability management. In the senior year students focus primarily on a bank simulation exercise utilizing the principles learned in asset/liability management. In between the annual sessions, students are required to complete several home study projects.

Frantz joined the First United staff in 1984 as a microcomputer operator and has since served as finance assistant, assistant controller, and controller. He was promoted to vice president in 1990.

Frantz is a graduate of Northern High School, Garrett Community College, and West Virginia Career College. His major area of study was in the accounting and data processing field. Since joining First United, he has also completed the three-year School of Bank Administration, held in Madison, Wis.

"Phil is a key member of our management team," stated Richard G. Stanton, chairman of the Board, president, and chief executive officer of First United. "This added general banking knowledge should serve him well as he progresses through his career."

Frantz and his wife, Sharon, resident in Friendsville.

"Death, Dying, and the Grief Process" is a five-hour course, being offered by Garrett Community College geared toward helping people who work with high-risk populations. The course will be held for two Tuesday evenings, September 22 and 29, 6 to 8:30 p.m., in the Garrett Community College Center for Community and Continuing Education.

The instructor is William A. Durst, a Garrett County native who holds a master of arts in religion from Lancaster Theological Seminary and a bachelor's degree from Frostburg State University. He has over 15 years experience working with high-risk client populations.

Although this course is primarily designed for health care professionals, all interested persons are invited to attend. Tuition and fees total $13 for Garrett County residents. Maryland senior citizens, over 60 years of age, may enroll for $3. No text is required. For more information, persons may call the Continuing Education Office at 301-387-6666 or 800-695-4221, ext. 169.

Diploma Test Offered Free To 50-Year-Olds

Since 1942 the General Educational Development program has offered adults who have not finished high school the chance to earn a diploma. To mark the 50th anniversary, the Maryland State Department of Education will offer the test free to all Maryland residents who are 50 years of age. Individuals who want to take advantage of this free testing offer should contact Patricia Baer at the Oakland office of the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College to obtain a coupon to have the $18 first-time testing fee waived. For those who are 50 years of age and have tested unsuccessfully in the past, the $12 retest fee will be waived. This free testing offer is valid through December 1992.

"This is a great way for adults to experience a personal sense of accomplishment," noted Ms. Baer, coordinator of the Adult Basic Education program. Nationwide more than 10 million adults have earned GED diplomas since the program began 50 years ago.

Anyone 16 years of age or older, not currently enrolled in the public school system, may challenge the test to earn a Maryland High School diploma.

Instructional programs which help students prepare for the GED test are available throughout the county. For more information, persons may contact Baer at 334-8304 or 387-6666, ext. 169.

New Horizons Program Submits Year-End Report

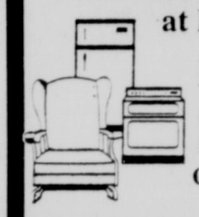
Garrett Community College's New Horizons Program recently submitted its final report for fiscal year 1992, completing 12 years of program operation at GCC. New Horizons is a program that provides special services to single parents, homemakers, and displaced homemakers.

The program provided services to 206 individuals. Services included peer and career counseling, decision making, career testing, skills identification, pre-employment skills training, vocational skills training in both credit and non-credit courses, job awareness assistance, and service agency referrals.

An unduplicated count of 138 enrolled in training consistent with their career interests, which is 67% of total participants enrolled in training. Eighty-eight program participants, or 42.7%, enrolled in credit college studies at GCC, Allegany Community College, Davis & Elkins, and Frostburg State University. Fifty-eight participants, or 28%, enrolled in non-credit training. Ten program participants graduated from Garrett Community College in May 1992, two graduated from Davis & Elkins College in May 1992, and one graduated from Allegany Community College in May 1992, representing 14.6% of the 88 program participants who remained enrolled in credit classes.

New Horizons helped participants meet training costs. Tuition/book assistance was made available to 53 participants in non-credit vocational classes, which is 25.7% of total target group, and 18 participants enrolled in vocational credit classes received tuition/books/fee assistance, which is 8.7% of total group. Seventy-eight program participants qualified for financial aid through Pell Grants. Childcare and transportation subsidies enabled 27 clients to receive assistance while enrolled in training.

There were 138 documented job referrals made to program participants. Fifty-four program participants became employed either part-time (28) or full-time (26) during the funding year, which is 26.2% of total participants.



Persons interested in learning more about the New Horizons Program and eligibility requirements are encouraged to call New Horizons at 387-6666, ext 171, weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The New Horizons Program is jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College. Grant funds in the amount of $45,000 are made available to the program through Career and Technology Education, which is 89% of the total program budget, with Garrett Community College contributing an additional $5,600, which is 11% of the total budget.

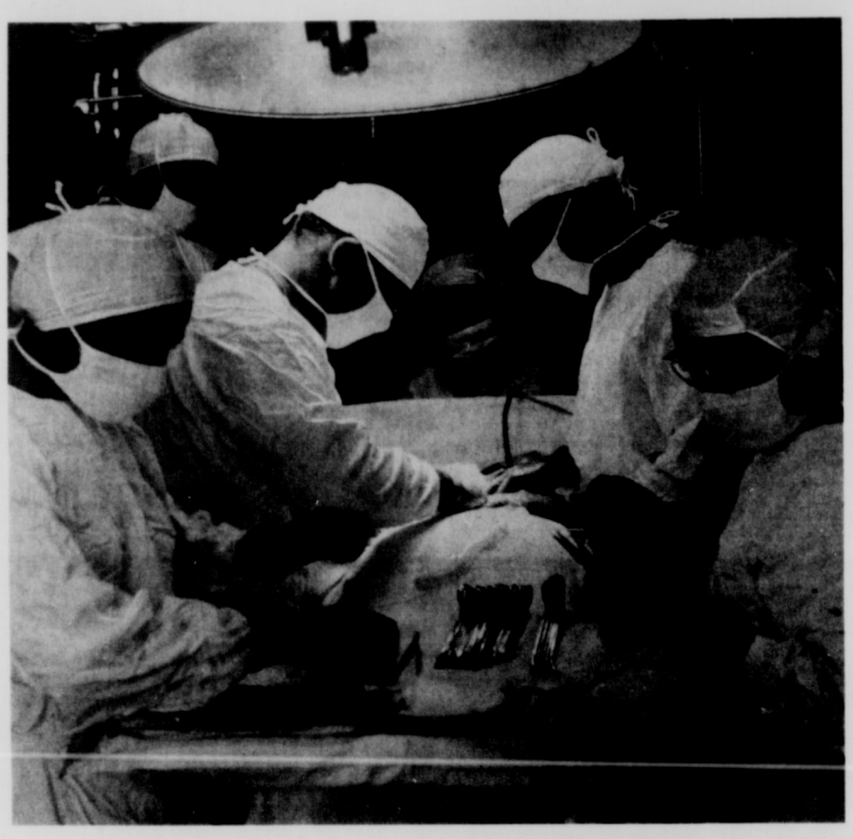
PEOPLE NO LONGER FEAR PSYCHIATRISTS



In the past psychiatric help was considered only as a last resort. People avoided going to or taking relatives to a psychiatrist, even when it was evident that treatment was needed. They would even disregard the suggestions of their family physicians. There was a feeling of shame.

This has all changed. Today, with public awareness of the problems of mental health and with the spectacular development of new medicines to treat mental disorders, people are no longer afraid to consult a physician. They realize that there is hope. We stock these new medicines as soon as they are available for prescription use.

SPIRITUAL CONDITIONING

Each shining surgical instrument reflects the bright light overhead. Gowned and masked figures move deftly and quietly. Few sounds are heard...the precise request of the surgeon...the sure "slap" of an instrument into a gloved hand...the beat of a human heart displayed on a monitor...all of this skill and technology dedicated to one purpose...the assurance that the unconscious patient in this operating suite shall be restored to health and productivity.

Yet, there is one condition which all of the skill of the surgical team cannot control, that being the condition of the spirit. It has been proven that those patients with a hopeful, positive, and faithful attitude have a significantly greater chance of survival and recovery.

Romans 12:12 instructs us to "be joyful in hope, patient in affliction, faithful in prayer." We can learn those attributes by worshipping in the house of the Lord and by the study of His Word. Begin now to practice positive spiritual conditioning. It could save your life!

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHO'S BACKING YOU?
September 20, 1992

Background Scripture:
Joshua 1.
Devotional Reading:
Joshua 3:1-7.

When I was a teenager, the pastor of our church, Mark J. Stierwald, was a person who made the Christian faith come alive for me. Like everyone else in the church, I idolized him. So, when he suddenly died of a heart attack, I was sure--along with the rest of the church--that his replacement, Paul Price, could not really take his place.

But, by the time Paul Price was moved to another church, under his guidance and inspiration I had decided to enter the ministry myself. As we prepared for his successor, Lester Updegrove, I was certain once again that our church would flounder for lack of leadership. But, in a way that was different from either of his predecessors, Lester Updegrove both capably led the church and was very helpful to me as I prepared to go off to seminary.

Looking back on this experience, I realize that in the church, as in all spheres of life, we may too often place all our faith in the messenger, rather than the one who sends the message. In my own experience, it was God who sent these pastors who was the source of the inspiration and guidance I received.

MOSES' SHOES

Perhaps that's the way that many of the people of Israel felt when Moses died. Although they had initially been suspicious of his leadership, in time they had come to idolize this man of God. When he died, many must have wondered whether the dream of entering the promised land had died with him. Moses and the promise seemed inseparable. Yes, of course, he had an assistant, a man named Joshua, but there was no way he could fill the shoes of Moses.

We can imagine that Joshua might have had some doubts, too. God was saying to him, "Every place that the sole of your foot will tread upon I have given to you, as I promised to Moses" (1:3). But that's just it: Moses was faithful to God and look what it got him--not the promised land, but death in the wilderness of Sinai. Was it not humiliating for Moses to have to die outside the promised land?

Understandable as that argument may be, it misses the point. God had not promised the land of Canaan to the Israelites for the sake of honoring or vindicating Moses, but of fulfilling his gracious purpose. God chose Moses, not to give this man personal success, but so that his will could be done through him. And so God chose Joshua for the same reason--not to make him a great man, but to accomplish his purporse. I point this out because sometimes in the church we forget the purpose of the leadership God supplies. It is not to advance the careers of the clergy and make some of them bishops. It is not to build the churches on their personalities. It is to advance the purposes of God.

WITH YOU

So, God gives Joshua this assurance: "As I was with Moses, so I will be with you; I will not fail you or forsake you. Be strong and of good courage" (1:5b,6). And again: "Be strong and of good courage; be not frightened, neither be dismayed; for the Lord your God is with you wherever you go" (1:9). It was the presence of God with Moses that made him a great leader and it will be that same presence that works through Joshua. Important as Moses was and Joshua will be, it is God who provides the power that is needed.

Back in the 1960's, I was part of a small group of Christians who wanted to start a coffee house ministry to reach some of the street people of Reading, Pa. The obstacles were formidable. I remember going to one business leader to solicit his help. After I outlined the project, he asked: "Who's backing you?" Without stopping to weigh my answer, I replied: "The Lord," "Hmm," he mused, "that's pretty good backing--I guess I'll join you."

When God calls you to take up a task for him. The key is not how capable you are, but who's backing you.

COVER STORY

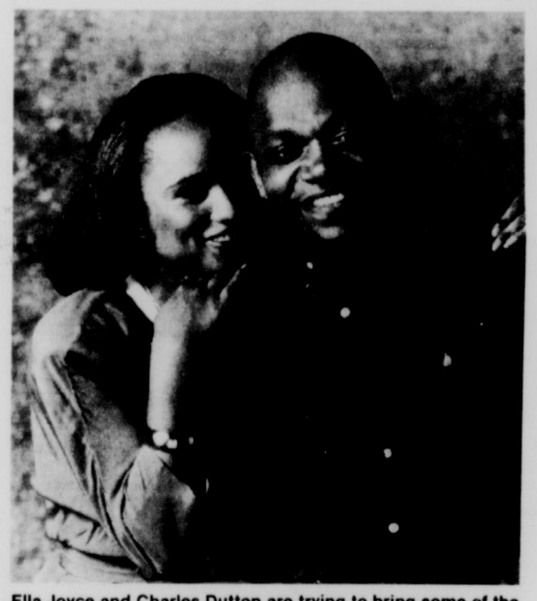
Dutton: pushing 'Roc' beyond the ordinary

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

The 1992-93 television season brings with it one of the most unusual stories of any TV year. For the first time since the 1950s, a prime-time dramatic series is airing live. The series is "Roc" (airing Sundays on Fox).

Charles Dutton

"Some reporters view it as a gimmick," says Charles Dutton, the two-time Tony nominee who plays the series' hard-working title character. "I totally disagree with that. As far as I'm concerned, it's a history-making event. It's something that hasn't been done in over 35 years. It's probably one of the only casts in Hollywood able to pull it off week after week."



It was also a cast that may have felt underutilized. "I was terrifically bored by the end of last season," admits Dutton, "I looked at going into television as a challenge, but after a year of it, there was just no artistic challenge to it anymore."

He emphasizes, however, that the show hasn't gone live simply to keep its actors, Dutton, Ella Joyce, Rocky Carroll and Carl Gordon, interested. He's hoping the change will push "Roc" beyond the conventional sitcom format. "The main difficulty is with the writing staff cranking out scripts worthy to be live – to show the difference," Dutton says. "And if the writers don't crank out those exciting kinds of scripts, then to me it's all in vain. They have to break away from the standard, silly, stupid, benign sitcom format of three jokes a page – three unfunny jokes a page. That's not just this show. That's a blanket statement across the board about American television."

Dutton, who is now 41, grew up in Baltimore. His young adult years were spent in and out of prison. "I thought I would be destined either to spend my life in and out of prison or wind up getting killed on the street," he says. "And you somehow looked forward to whatever you considered your fate or your lot in life. Then I discovered this."

"This" was acting.

"It all happened to me in prison," he says. "I started acting in prison. I discovered my humanity in prison. I spent seven and a half years the last time I was in prison. Around the fourth year, my girlfriend sent me a book of plays. I read one, 'Day of Absence,' and I thought, 'This would be a great play to put on in the talent show.' So I got 12 guys, and I organized them. I played the mayor, and in the middle of my speech, I remember hearing thunderous laughter. I paused for a second, and I looked out into a sea of men – 1,500 men. And I saw I had them in the palm of my hand. I could make them laugh, I could make them cry, I could make them think. That's when I discovered my gift."

Ella Joyce and Charles Dutton are trying to bring some of the power of live theater to television in Fox's "Roc," now airing live on Sundays.

Film on Miss America covers her life of abuse

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

In a highly unusual example of creative casting and with an explosive story line, Miss America Carolyn Sapp, plays herself in a dramatization of her life, specifically detailing her abuse at the hands of her steriod-popping boyfriend. Representing Hawaii in the 1991 Miss America Pageant, Sapp went on to take the crown. Before she was crowned, Sapp's New York Jets boyfriend Nuu Faaola (Ray Bumatai) had violently abused her as his own career deteriorated. Sapp commanded instant media attention as she shattered the saccharine myth of Miss America's superwoman perfection when she went public with the news of Faaola's abuse, including throwing Sapp out of his moving car. She continues to break through an unwritten code of silence with "Miss America: Behind the Crown" (NBC, Sept. 21). NBC airs this docudrama just two days after Sapp crowned her successor in the 1992 Miss America Pageant.

• Connie Sellecca and Kevin Dobson star in "A House of Secrets and Lies" (CBS, Sept. 20), a saga of marital infidelity and recovery. Susan Cooper (Sellecca) is an accomplished TV reporter rising through the ranks at her network whose career is constantly undermined by her husband's philandeering. Susan is forced to take stock of her husband's behavior and her chances for a happy marriage.

• Kenneth Branagh has showcased himself as the contemporary British answer to cinema's enfant terrible, Orson Welles, with his 1989 self-directed feature "Henry V" and more recently, 1991's "Dead Again" (Sept. 26), making its cable debut on HBO. "Dead Again" is an often unintentionally absurd life-after-death drama starring Branagh as an American gumshoe on the case of a pretty British mystery woman (Emma Thompson) suffering from amnesia. While Branagh manages a mean authentically slurred American accent, his evocation of a real 20th century fella is less persuasive.

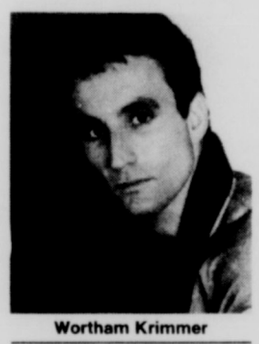
• "Bad Boys Saturday" (TBS, Sept. 26) features bad boy Sean Penn in "Bad Boys." Penn is a juvenile delinquent sent up the river to a brutal youth correctional facility where a kind of urban lawlessness rules. "Return to Macon County" and "The Choirboys" round out the night.

• Showtime premieres the 1990 film "Child's Play II" (Sept. 26). Chucky, the demonic carrot top returns to further torment his owner Andy (Alex Vincent), now living with foster parents.

Bob Saget hosts "America's Funniest Home Videos," which makes its season premiere Sunday, Sept. 20, on ABC. The "real-life comedy" series comprised of home-video footage of folks' most embarrassing moments is followed by "America's Funniest People," also making its season premiere that night.

IN FOCUS

It's Presidents Week, as "The American Experience" begins its season on PBS with "The Kennedys," a four-hour profile of the political dynasty that peaked with the election of John F. Kennedy (pictured) as president. It airs Sunday, Sept. 20, and Monday, Sept. 21. On Tuesday, Sept. 22, and Wednesday, Sept. 23, the series repeats its fine "LBJ" documentary, followed on Thursday, Sept. 24, with a reairing of "Nixon." (Check local listings.)



SOAP SCOOP

'OLTL' winds up a fine story line magnificently

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

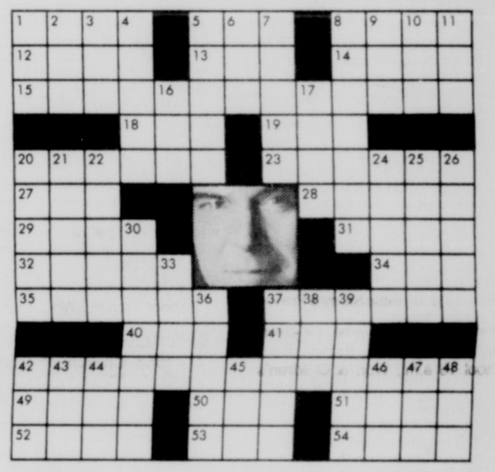
"One Life to Live" concluded its summer-long story about homophobia at the end of August with two emotion-packed episodes that are sure to go down in soap history. The second episode in particular played with the intensity of the final scenes of a prestige feature film. (The show's executive producer, Linda Gottlieb, is a veteran movie producer.)

Wortham Krimmer

The arrival of the Names Project AIDS Quilt at the church of the Rev. Andrew Carpenter (played by Wortham Krimmer) was the much-needed catalyst that reunited Andrew both with his homophobic congregation (who wrongly suspected him of being young Billy Douglas' lover) and his father, Sloan (played by Roy Thinnes).

The emotionally repressed Sloan had refused to believe Andrew's brother William was gay and had died from AIDS. One look at the quilt panel Andrew had made to memorialize William set off Sloan's memory of a painful confrontation with Andrew when the latter was a child, and his emotions came pouring out in the second episode.

Thinnes' delivery of Sloan's monologue was magnificent, and the subsequent reunion clinch of father and son was a five-hankie affair!



These episodes were exceptional soap opera – and sure to wind up on "OLTL" 's Emmy reel next year.

"OLTL" seems to have finally grasped that soaps are a medium of continuity. In the last scene of the second episode, Sloan kissed the married Viki Buchanan (played by Erika Slezak), thus setting off yet another story line, which will last long into the fall.

Previous high-profile "OLTL" story lines under the regime of Gottlieb and head writer Michael Malone, such as last fall's wife-beating story and February's death of Megan from lupus, just ended – period – like a movie. Thinnes and Slezak are such a wonderful pair of actors that the audience can't help but want to tune in for more.

For the longest time, we've suspected that the show was fattening up Viki's longtime husband Clint (played by Clint Ritchie) for the kill. The character has been used sparingly this year. And in this story line, usually liberal-minded Clint was vehemently against having the AIDS quilt displayed at his church. He even tried to forbid son Joey (played by Chris McKenna) from being friends with the gay teen Billy (played by Ryan Phillippe). The Sloan-Viki-Clint triangle should be exciting, even if the handwriting is on the wall.

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

STAR SALARIES – Who are the highest-paid actor and actress in this country? I figure they must be old-timers like Heston and Hepburn, but my daughters say I'm way off base and that they would be box-office draws like Bruce Willis. Doesn't experience count for anything? – S.T., Jamestown, N.Y.

Arnold Schwarzenegger

Box-office drawing power has always counted in the film industry, and it certainly plays a predominant role in determining actors' and actresses' salaries. According to recent estimates, Arnold Schwarzenegger is the highest-paid film actor, commanding from $12-20 million per film. (Willis is said to earn between $3-7.5 million per film.) Julia Roberts may be the highest-paid actress, garnering about $7 million for each movie in which she stars. Many top actors and actresses also receive a percentage of a film's profits in addition to their salaries. Many of the greats, such as Katharine Hepburn, who is 82, are getting on in years and are seldom seen on screen, because today's emphasis in films is generally on youth. Experience counts, but not as much as what sells tickets and videos.

CHAN FAN – I've been a fan of Charlie Chan since I was a youngster, and I'm sure I've seen all of the films in that series. But my mother recently told me that years ago there was a TV series about this famous detective. Since it was before my time, I don't know anything about it. What can you tell me? – M.F., Charleston, S.C.

"The New Adventures of Charlie Chan" was a British-produced series that ran in syndication from 1956-57. A total of 39 episodes aired. J. Carrol Naish starred as Charlie Chan, and James Hong played his son Barry. Unlike the Charlie Chan movies, in which the detective worked for the Honolulu Police Department, in this series the Chans were based in London. The sleuth was also the subject of "The Amazing Chan and the Chan Clan," a weekend-morning cartoon show that aired from 1972-74 on CBS.

CAN WE TALK? – What is the line that Joan Rivers made famous in her club acts and on TV? – L.N., Kihei, Hawaii

The phrase "Can we talk?" became Rivers' trademark, and she is still known to slip it into her talk show and live routines.

Bears' Ditka forges ahead with 11th season as coach

BY CHRISTOPHER HULL

Who is the man who has coached the Chicago Bears for the longest single stint in the franchise's storied history?

You might be more than a little surprised to learn that he is not the late George Halas, the franchise's founder and head coach for some 39 and a half seasons. The key phrase is "the single longest stint."

Mike Ditka

The man who fits that bill is none other than Mike Ditka, the Bears' current head man. The 1992 season marks Ditka's 11th year calling the shots from the Chicago sideline.

Ditka will be there again Sept. 21, when the Bears host the New York Giants on ABC's "Monday Night Football." The teams have met 40 times before in the regular season, with the Chicagoans holding a 24-14-2 edge. The Bears have also won five of the teams' eight playoff meetings.

Going into this season, Ditka's 107 wins (good for a winning percentage of .650) were more, by far, than any other coach in Bears history – except, of course, for Halas, who in three 10-year stints and one of nine and a half years (he entered the U.S. Navy after six games during the 1942 season) rolled up 325 wins and a .683 career winning percentage.

Since taking over the Bears before the strike-shortened 1982 season, Ditka has averaged better than 10 wins a season, and after a 3-6 first year, only once have the Bears lost more games than they have won.

TNT's Sunday-night game on Sept. 20, matches the Indianapolis Colts against the Buffalo Bills. This one could get ugly early. The Colts finished last year a lean 1-15; the Bills, on the other hand, are coming off a season in which they dominated the AFC and made their second straight appearance in the Super Bowl.

• With roughly two weeks left in the major-league baseball season, teams still in pennant contention are the prime viewing draws. CBS is airing one game on Saturday, Sept. 26, but at deadline, the network had not yet announced which game it would broadcast. Two likely matchups are Atlanta-San Diego and Oakland-Milwaukee. ESPN likewise hadn't yet announced its weeknight matchups, but look for the cable network to air at least one game of the Toronto-Baltimore series, which is played Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Camden Yards in Baltimore. Another likely choice will be one of the games of the Wednesday-Thursday Pittsburgh-Montreal series at the Big O north of the border.

IN FOCUS

On Tuesday, Sept. 22, "Hangin' With Mr. Cooper" makes its debut, and if advance indicators mean anything, this one is a winner. Its cast is talented: Mark Curry stars as a novice teacher, and Dawnn Lewis (front) and Holly Robinson (r.) play his roommates. They have been given some genuinely funny lines, and the series is airing in the best time slot ABC has to offer – the one that was so good to "Home Improvement" last season.

IN FOCUS

One of TV's more interesting time-slot battles takes place on Saturdays. NBC's highly acclaimed "Sisters" has its premiere Saturday, Sept. 26, with the sisters played by Swoosie Kurtz, Patricia Kalember, Sela Ward and Julianne Phillips (l. to r.), fantasizing on what life would be like if they were brothers. It faces off against ABC's sleeper, "The Commish," which also has its season premiere. Both networks will be watching the ratings.

IN FOCUS

One of TV's more interesting time-slot battles takes place on Saturdays. NBC's highly acclaimed "Sisters" has its season premiere Saturday, Sept. 26, with the sisters, played by Swoosie Kurtz, Patricia Kalember, Sela Ward and Julianne Phillips (l. to r.), fantasizing on what life would be like if they were brothers. It faces off against ABC's sleeper, "The Commish," which also has its season premiere. Both networks will be watching the ratings.

IN FOCUS

One of TV's more interesting time-slot battles takes place on Saturdays. NBC's highly acclaimed "Sisters" has its season premiere Saturday, Sept. 26, with the sisters, played by Swoosie Kurtz, Patricia Kalember, Sela Ward and Julianne Phillips (l. to r.), fantasizing on what life would be like if they were brothers. It faces off against ABC's sleeper, "The Commish," which also has its season premiere. Both networks will be watching the ratings.

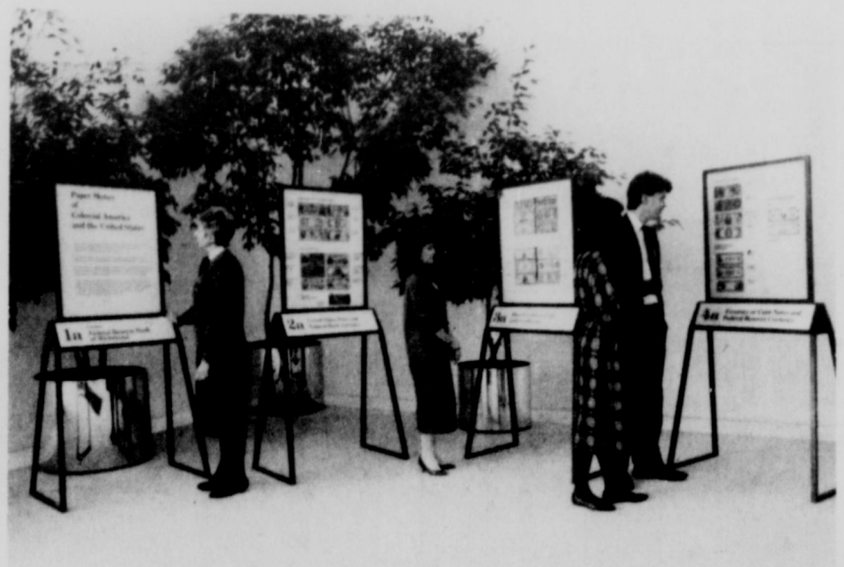
State Fairgoers Obtain Leads On Unclaimed Funds

"If you are one of the hundreds of people who picked up unclaimed property claim forms from the State Comptroller's booth at the just-concluded Maryland State Fair, don't forget to complete them and return to our office," State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said. "Out of the 10,338 fairgoers who stopped by the Comptroller's Office booth, 720 found leads on bank accounts, insurance benefits, income tax refund check and other unclaimed money worth $166,596.86."

Claim forms should be returned to the Unclaimed Property Section, Room 310, 301 West Preston Street, Baltimore, MD 21201. "Be sure to check the claim form to see what kinds of documentation should be sent in so we can process your claim quickly," Goldstein said.

Employees of the State Comptroller's Office staffed three computer terminals at the State Fair to help locate the rightful owners of unclaimed funds.

"The largest amount identified for a single individual was $5,595.55, and included in the money located for fairgoers were state income tax refund checks totaling $14,609.42," Goldstein said.



The efforts to locate owners of unclaimed funds are continuing as the Comptroller's Office participates in various outreach efforts. Unclaimed property assistance will be available at the Great Frederick Fair from September 21 through 26. Representatives of the Comptroller's Office will also participate with other state agencies in Care-A-Van projects at the Calvert County Fair on October 3, and the Carroll County Fair on October 17.

"Our ongoing efforts to locate unclaimed property owners contributed to the tremendous increase in the number of claims we paid in fiscal year 1992, which ended June 30, 1992," Goldstein said. "The Unclaimed Property Section of our office returned $5,724,346 in unclaimed funds to 8,506 individuals in fiscal year 1992, more than double the 4,232 claims paid during fiscal year 1991."

Financial institutions, insurance companies and corporations are required to report bank accounts, contents of safe deposit boxes, wages, insurance benefits, security deposits, stock dividends and other funds to the State Comptroller's Office if they remain unclaimed for five years or more.

Once money is reported to the state as unclaimed, the Comptroller's Office attempts to locate rightful owners by mail and through advertisements in newspapers and by various outreach efforts. If the money remains unclaimed, it is turned over to the state. "However, Maryland's law is custodial, meaning that there is no time limit under which you or your legitimate heirs can claim the property or its monetary equivalent," the Comptroller said.

The State Comptroller's Office has records on 160,000 accounts worth about $60 million.

GNB TO HOST COLONIAL MONEY EXHIBIT -- Oakland area residents will soon have an opportunity to view a collection of currency dating back to the American Colonial period. The collection is to be made available by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond for display at the Garrett National Bank September 21-27 and at the LaVale Branch Sept. 28-Oct. 2, according to Wayne R. Johnson, training officer. The exhibit presents a representative collection of the paper money of Colonial America and of the United States prior to the introduction of modern size currency. The more than 65 specimens include examples of Colonial and Continental notes, all major types of United States Government paper money, state bank and national bank notes, and both types of Federal Reserve currency. "There are specimens here that bring to mind some of the most significant events in the history of the United States. This is an exhibit that everyone can appreciate and enjoy. We hope that residents of nearby communities as well as residents of our own city will drop in while it is in our lobby," remarked Johnson.

Out-Of-State Scholarship Funds Frozen

The Maryland secretary of higher education has frozen funds for two financial aid programs, citing the need to reduce state spending.

Shaila R. Aery has frozen $1.2 million in financial aid payments to Maryland students going to college out-of-state. Aery also halted distribution of $750,000 for a new part-time grant program.

Aery said the final decision on funding the two programs during FY '93 could come as late as January 1993. The state is considering cuts in response to an anticipated $500 million revenue shortfall this year.

Approximately 1,100 students attending colleges in Delaware, the District of Columbia, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Vermont were to receive financial aid this year under the General State Scholarship (GSS). The grants range from $100 to $625 per semester.

An estimated 1,500 students were expected to receive part-time grants during the 1992-93 school year. The program was created by the Scholarship Reform Act of 1991 and funded for the first time in the FY '93 budget. Part-time grants, which are to be administered by individual institutions, range from $100 to $500 per semester.

FSU, Sierra Club To Host Talk On Tigers

The Frostburg State University Biology Department, along with the local chapter of the Sierra Club, is sponsoring a presentation by Dr. Howard Quigley, associate professor of biology, and Dr. Kathy Quigley, DVM, entitled "Ecology and Conservation of the Siberian Tiger in the Soviet Union" on Tuesday, September 22, in the Lane Center multi-purpose room on the FSU Campus. The presentation begins at 7:30 p.m. and is free and open to the public.

The Quigleys are participating in a joint Russian-American three-year field study of the Siberian tiger in the Sikhote-Alin Biosphere Reserve on the southeastern coast of Siberia. In the first eight months of the study, which is funded by the National Geographic Society and the Fish and Wildlife Foundation, two tigers have been captured and fitted with radio collars, beginning and effort to mark and follow and central population for information about social organization, predator-prey relations, movement, dispersal, and genetic make-up.

Howard Quigley is a wildlife ecologist specializing in carnivore ecology, with research experience in China, Brazil, Guatemala, and the western United States. Kathy Quigley is a doctor of veterinary medicine, with research experience in big cats.

The presentation, which will include slides taken on-site, will not only focus on the Siberian tiger, but also provide an inside look at the difficulties and rewards of setting up a cooperative international research project in a small Siberian Town.

The Deep Creek Lake Lionesses Club held a board meeting at the home of Janet Davis on Aug. 26. Donations to several charities were discussed and tabled until after Autumn Glory. Plans were also discussed for the Autumn Glory food booth to be operated at Broad Ford School on October 10 and 11. The club will serve chili dogs, hot dogs, sloppy joes, barbecued ham, doughnuts, coffee and soda.

The club is still collecting old eye glasses. Glasses may be given to club members or brought to the next meeting.

Club members held a joint meeting with the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club on Aug. 25 at the McHenry Community Park on Bumble Bee Road. Following a social hour and picnic, the two clubs discussed upcoming projects.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 30 at 7 p.m. at the home of Marie McCarty.

The Garrett County Crime Solvers organization is currently seeking information on the breaking and entering of a residence under construction.

Unknown persons apparently gained entry to the residence, located on the south side of Sand Spring Road in the Backbone Mountain area, by kicking in the front door. The culprits then removed a Craftsman 5,000 watt generator and a 3/8-inch Black and Decker drill. A farm wagon situated near the residence was also apparently damaged. The total loss in the case has been set at $1,815.

All leads have been exhausted in this case, and any person with information about this or any other unsolved crime is urged to contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor appear in court. Rewards of up to $1,000 are available to those who provide tips that lead to arrests.

First United To Open Office At La Vale Market

Richard G. Stanton, chairman of the Board and president of First United National Bank & Trust, and Allan Noddle, president and chief executive officer for Giant Food Stores, Inc., have announced that First United will open a full-service community office in the Martin's Store, located in LaVale. The Bank office is slated for opening in late 1992.

"Our research has told us that customers in the 1990's choose a bank primarily because of convenience," Stanton said. "They want to bank near where they live or work. If customers have the opportunity to combine their grocery shopping and banking into one trip, they will save valuable time during their week. It's the ultimate in providing quality service."

First United plans to offer a full range of financial services at its newest office. Hours will be extended to meet the needs of grocery shoppers. A 24-hour automated teller machine will be available.

Richard Pasewark, director of advertising for Giant, said, "One of our goals at Martin's is to provide one-stop shopping for our customers. Our extended services such as video rental, floral shops, and now banking make it very easy for our customers to complete several tasks at once. Therefore, it further enhances the service offered to our customers. We're anxious to have First United join our team."

According to a recent issue of Bank Marketing, there were fewer than 100 supermarket banks in 1983. At the end of 1991, the number grew to 1,203 full service bank branches.

SHS, NHS Bands To Perform In FSU Tournament

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, a professional men's music fraternity at Frostburg State University, is sponsoring a Tournament of Bands, which will feature both of Garrett County's high school bands, Saturday, September 19, at 1 p.m. at Bobcat Stadium.

The Tournament, a regional high school marching band competition, is one of several held on the East Coast. Six area bands will be competing in the FSU event and there will be an exhibition performance by the FSU Marching Band. The high schools include Allegany, Hancock Middle-Senior, Northern Garrett, Southern Garrett, Westmar, and Central (Pa.).

Professional judges are hired by the National Judges Association for the two-month season that culminates in mid-November, with the top 25 bands in each size division then competing in the Atlantic Coast Conference Championship.

Each band in the Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia sponsored competition will be individually adjudicated by on-field judges on their performance with trophies given out for best drum major, best music, best color guard, best percussion, and overall performance standings. Also, a grand champion winner will be chosen.

According to one of the event organizers, the fraternity "hopes to promote the art of music, draw potential students to Frostburg State University, and provide a unique and entertaining event to the students and residents of Western Maryland."

Admission for the event is $3 for general admission and $2 for FSU students.

It's fall — the lazy days of summer are at an end, the kids are back to the books and it's time for football again. As the pros hit the playing fields and the college stars await the kick-off, football season brings with it the traditions of marching bands, cheerleaders — and tailgate parties. And when you're planning a football party, who better to turn to for casual, easy menu ideas than former NFL player and avid cook, Lynn Swann.

For many years, Lynn was one of those playing the game rather than enjoying it at home. Now each fall, as his thoughts return to the gridiron, the former Pittsburgh Steelers star and Super Bowl™ champ looks forward to game days to combine football with his other passion — cooking. Like millions of Americans, he finds televised games provide a great excuse to invite friends over for an "at-home" tailgate party.

Of course, like you and your guests, Lynn doesn't want to miss the kick-off, so he is partial to recipes that combine convenience with great taste. That's why he uses turkey. It's an easy way to make tasty treats, and it's a creative alternative to ordinary chicken and hamburger. Since turkey is a popular party favorite, Lynn has teamed up with the people at Louis Rich®, who have been slow roasting turkey for decades, to create a great tasting, no fuss football feast.

Lynn says he's found that moist and tender turkey is the perfect ingredient for turning the so-so into the sensational. His favorite Louis Rich recipes combine imagination and delicious taste with convenience. Each can be prepared ahead of time and tucked away into the refrigerator until half-time.

Kick-off the celebration with fun and easy finger foods such as tempting Championship Turkey Crescents, which team up turkey breast with spinach, Swiss cheese and tarragon. They'll warm up the crowd and, because they are made with packaged dough, turn out perfect every time. Turkey Time-Outs, served with a variety of homemade sauces, are the perfect sideline snack and popular with kids as well as adults. Combine barbecue sauce and salsa for a different, tangy dip.

The Quarterback Sandwich provides a creative twist on an old favorite. Surprise your guests with a hearty turkey sandwich made in a crusty, round Italian loaf instead of the usual elongated sandwich bun. Layer on an array of ingredients—sliced turkey cold cuts, tomatoes, green peppers, sliced black olives and mushrooms — and then slice in wedges like a pie. And as a quick and simple side dish, try Referees' Favorite Potato Salad made with flavorful slices of turkey bacon.

For easy eating on game day, try the Football Fan Fiesta. Roll smoked turkey breast, cheese, shredded lettuce and salsa into a flour tortilla for a tasty treat that can be held in one hand. This versatile recipe works equally well as an appetizer. For simple finger food, slice each in small roll-ups and serve.

Follow Lynn's game plan for successful tailgate entertaining and you're sure to have a winning season.

Dennett Road School Receives Reading Grant

The Reading Is Fundamental (RIF) program conducted by Sharon Schwalm at Dennett Road School has been awarded one of many Waldenbooks grants to local RIF projects for outstanding service in motivating youngsters to read. The grant will be used to purchase additional books for children.

Through the work of local volunteers and the guidance of national RIF headquarters in Washington, D.C., the Dennett Road School program inspires children to read through planned reading-related activities and by making it possible for youngsters to choose and to own books that interest them, without cost to them or their families. In the 13 years since the RIF program was established in Oakland, it has enabled local youth to become the proud owners of some 19,500 books.

The Waldenbooks grant will help to continue providing a wide variety of books that awaken and nurture children's interest in reading, Mrs. Schwalm said.

Founded in 1966, Reading Is Fundamental is a national nonprofit organization that helps children discover the joy and importance of reading through a nationwide network of 4,300 local projects such as the one in Oakland. RIF also assists parents who want to encourage reading in the home.

Youth Suicide Prevention Month Is Proclaimed

Governor William Donald Schaefer has proclaimed October 1992 "Youth Suicide Prevention Month" in Maryland. The highlight of the observance will be the fourth annual Youth Suicide Prevention Conference, to be held at the Marriott Hunt Valley Inn on October 8. Dr. Alvin Poussaint, noted psychiatrist, educator, and script consultant to "The Cosby Show," will deliver the keynote address at 1 p.m.

"The loss of young people to suicide is a great tragedy, not only for their families, but their communities and our state as well," said Governor Schaefer. "The conference affords us an opportunity to seek solutions and prevent other tragedies from occurring."

This year's conference is sponsored by the Governor's Interagency Workgroup on Youth Suicide and Marylanders Against Youth Suicide (MAYS). The theme of this event will be "Surviving the 90's: Awareness, Advocacy and Action."

"We face some very difficult times with enormous budgetary constraints and greater demands for support services for families and individuals," said Nelson J. Sabatini, secretary of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH). "We need to be aggressive in our education efforts and advocacy for youth suicide prevention."

So far this year, 44 people between the ages of 15 and 24 have committed suicide in Maryland, compared to 46 for the same period last year. Also of note, officials at the University of Maryland this summer reported eight suicides at the College Park campus during the 1991-92 school year, more than in any year since 1973. There were no suicides at the school the previous year.

"This conference is an important measure in the prevention of suicide," said Henry Westray Jr., chair of the Governor's Interagency Workgroup on Youth Suicide. "Education and awareness can be powerful tools if put into action."

Dr. Poussaint is an associate professor of psychiatry and associate dean for student affairs at Harvard Medical School. He is the author of the acclaimed "Why Blacks Kill Blacks" and co-author of "Black Child Care." He has written several articles on the phenomenon of suicide and will address the theme of "Culture, Media and Education: Impact on Youth Suicide." Dr. Poussaint's appearance is being underwritten by Sheppard Pratt Hospital.

Caring Connection Recaps Successful '92 Funding Year

Garrett Community College's Caring Connection Program recently submitted its final reports for fiscal year 1992 completing four years of program operation at GCC. The Caring Connection is a program that provides special services to adolescent single parents and pregnant teens.

The program provided services to 32 parenting and pregnant individuals this past funding year. Services included career counseling, skills identification, interest testing, personal development assistance, pre-employment skills training, vocational skills training in both credit and non-credit courses, job awareness assistance, and service agency referrals.

Fourteen adolescents, or 43.75% of total program participants still attending high school, participated in "Life Skills" curriculum presented by The Caring Connection staff during the funding year at both Northern and Southern high schools.

Seven seniors graduated from high school upon completion of their education. Two adolescents were enrolled in ABE-GED classes. One adolescent enrolled in non-credit classes at GCC. Ten adolescents were enrolled in credit vocational, career advancement and transfer programs at GCC. With fourteen adolescents enrolled in high school, and unduplicated count of eight adolescents enrolled in college, and two adolescents enrolled in GED, this indicates that 75% total program participants in The Caring Connection served during FY '92 were enrolled in education.

Five adolescents received tuition assistance from The Caring Connection to enroll in credit and non-credit classes. Five adolescents were also recipients of Pell Grants

Eight or 25% of total program participants, received child care/transportation through The Caring Connection.

Adolescents and pregnant teens, ages 14 to 19, interested in learning more about The Caring Connection and eligibility requirements are encouraged to call 387-6666, ext. 171, weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

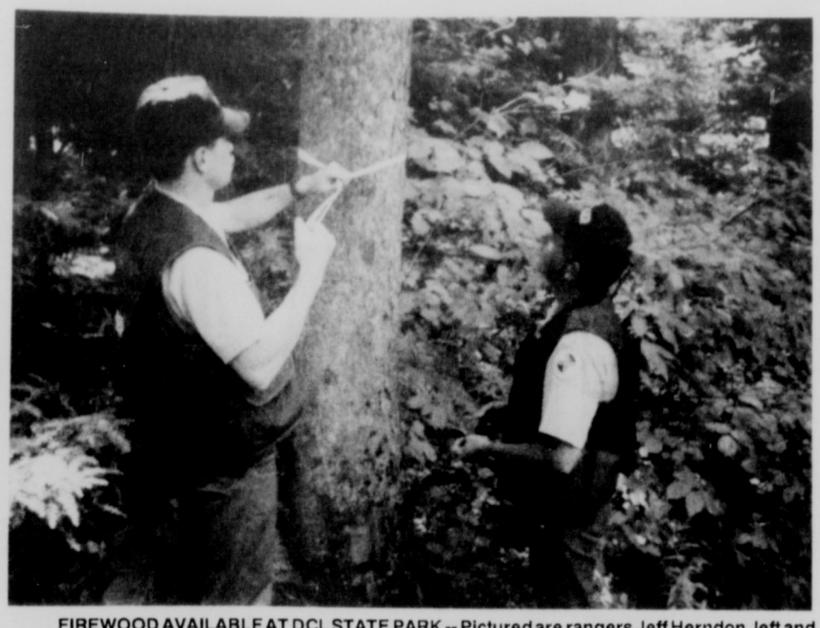
Firewood Sales Underway Now At State Park



The Maryland Department of Natural Resources has announced that firewood sales have been opened to the public at Deep Creek Lake State Park.

Following a significant die-off of trees because of disease and gypsy moth damage, a number of trees have been dropped throughout the park. The tress have been cut up into firewood length and the wood is available to the public for a nominal fee.

"For each cord wood permit, sold, we will replace the damaged trees with a new tree bought locally through a nursery," stated Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area Manager Paul Durham. "By buying some firewood for this winter from us, you will also be helping the park out."

A variety of firewood is available, including oak, cherry, hickory and maple. All of the wood is accessible and can be easily loaded into a pick-up truck.

Firewood permits may be obtained at the Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area Headquarters located at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Information on the firewood permit program can be obtained by phoning the park at (301) 387-5563. Interested citizens should call the park to determine availability.

FIREWOOD AVAILABLE AT DCL STATE PARK -- Pictured are rangers Jeff Herndon, left and Karl Christensen marking a tree for cutting at Deep Creek Lake State Park. A number of diseased and dead trees have been cut at the State Park and are available to the public through a firewood permit. The park will replant a tree for each permit sold. Information may be obtained by contacting (301) 387-5563.

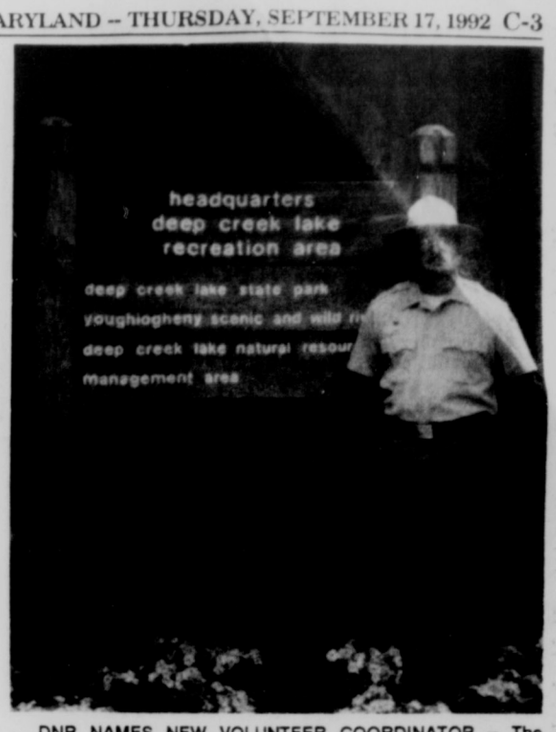
Injury Prevention Conference Being Held In Pikesville

Governor William Donald Schaefer will proclaim 1993 the "Year of Injury Prevention" in Maryland at the second Conference on Injury Prevention to be held at the Pikesville Hilton in Baltimore County, today and Friday, September 17 and 18.



"Injury is one of the most significant health problems facing our state and our nation," said Governor Schaefer. "Injury is the third leading cause of death in Maryland, exceeded only by heart disease and cancer. Like many diseases, injury is largely preventable and we must actively seek to change the view that injuries are inevitable."

Approximately 200 people are expected to attend the two-day conference which will focus attention on Maryland injury prevention developments and what communities can do to help alleviate the problem.

"This conference is designed for people from communities and various professional disciplines who have a personal or professional interest in reducing intentional or unintentional injury," said Nelson J. Sabatini, secretary of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH).

Topics will include prevention strategies, community action, resource development, media involvement, advocacy, family issues, and others. Presenters include more than 50 experts in the areas of law enforcement, medicine, media, substance abuse, traffic safety, fire safety, violence, suicide, community development, child-hood injury prevention, sports and recreational injury, and others.

The conference is being coordinated by the Division of Injury Prevention and Rehabilitation Information, Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

Maryland Department Of Agriculture Surveys For Africanized Honey Bees

Governor William Donald Schaefer has announced that apiary inspectors from the Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) have been monitoring for stray Africanized honey bees. Such bees are more easily provoked to sting and are more difficult to manage for pollinating crops.

"Our goal is to keep these bees out of Maryland bee colonies for as long as possible. Through this effort we are working to protect all the citizens of Maryland," Governor Schaefer said.

According to MDA apiary inspector I. Barton Smith Jr., his office has placed 11 bee traps along the shoreline adjacent to the Annapolis Anchorage, an area in the Chesapeake Bay where ships wait before unloading cargo at the marine terminal in Baltimore.

"Through these traps, we can check for any undetected African swarms that have flown to shore from ships at anchor. Sometimes these bees hitchhike on ships moving cargo from South or Central America to the United States," Smith said.

"So far our efforts, combined with eight traps set by the Plant Protection and Quarantine Programs of the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, have found no Africanized bees. The last Africanized honey bee detected in this region was in 1982, when a swarm of bees was eliminated from a container unloaded from a foreign ship in Baltimore," said Smith.

Honey bees were imported from Africa to Brazil during 1957 to cross with bees already present in South America in order to breed a strain better suited to the tropics. The descendants have been spreading from Brazil at the rate of 200 miles per year. This Africanized bee began migrating into Texas from Mexico during 1990. Currently, swarms of this bee have been collected near San Antonio.
